Russia Pressing Britain In Mid-east Peace Move

Three Bombs Found

Authorities later said the bombs were live, "as live as we are and very, very dangerous."

Reports said the first contained four sticks of dynamite, but details of the other two were not available. All three mailboxes where bombs were found are within a 1½-mile radius.

On New Year's Eve a dynamite bomb exploded outside a downtown government office building. It shattered windows on the first five floors of the nine-storey building, ripped a hole four feet deep in the sidewalk and knocked down power lines.

Spokesman for the RCMP and Commons protective staff said no special security precautions are being taken on Parliament Hill. There are no outside mail boxes on the Hill.

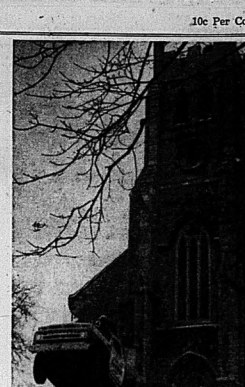
Big Four Effort Seems in Offing

LONDON (Reuters) — Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Smirnovsky met for 30 minutes today with British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart on what was believed to be a Middle East peace initiative.

Afterwards, the ambassador told reporters:

"We discussed the situation in the Middle East which has become more acute as a result of the Israeli attack on Beirut airport."



British officials declined to give any other details of the meeting, except to say that it was at the ambassador's own request.

Smirnovsky would not say whether his message had included any specific proposals for bringing peace in the Middle East.

But it was widely reported in advance that the Soviet Union was interested in mounting a peace initiative jointly with Britain, the United States and France.

The Soviet Union has recently made approaches to Paris and Washington. Smirnovsky's call at the foreign office followed closely a visit to Cairo by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko for talks with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

There also have been talks in New York recently between Soviet and Israeli representativs.

Israeli Warplanes Raid Jordan Guns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli warplanes attacked Arab positions in Jordan today to silence guns which had fired on an army patrol, an Israeli army spokesman reported.

The spokesman said the planes roared in low over the Jordan River near Beit Yosef, 10 miles south of the Sea of Galilee.

No further details of the attack were available immediately.

The army also said it intercepted and drove back a band of saboteurs who had crossed from Jordan into Israel near Massada, just south of Galilee Wednesday night.

Jordan reported earlier that armed Israeli helicopters had struck at Jordanian forces in the southern desert Wednesday and that a Jordanian soldier was killed. The same area along the Jordan-Israeli frontier was the scene of an Israeli helicopter attack Tuesday in which three Jordanian security police were killed.

Blaiberg Plans 'Birthday' Party

CAPE TOWN (AP) — Dr. Philip Blaiberg, the longest surviving heart transplant patient, planned a dinner party tonight to celebrate the first anniversary of his operation in a South African hospital.

"I feel even better than I did years before the operation," said the chubby 59-year-old dentist who received a new lease on life when Dr. Christiaan Barnard's transplant team gave him a new heart at Groote Schuur Hospital last Jan. 7.

This truck looks like it's ready to lift off. Not so. Vehicle was delivering scaffolding for interior work on St. Thomas' Church when weight of lumber lifted cab above ground.

A Happy Beginning!

For Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dowdell, the New Year began auspiciously — with the birth of a son, their fifth child. As first baby delivered at Belleville General Hospital in 1969, Shawn Robert is showered with gifts from local businessmen. But another family of five children weren't so lucky New Year's Day. Greek Airliner Hi-jacked

CAIRO (CP) — A gunman Hi-jacked an Olympic Airways DC-6 with 102 persons aboard on a flight from the Greek island of Crete to Athens today and forced the pilot to fly here, Egyptian officials identified the man as a Greek national.

The Middle East news agency quoted the aircraft's pilot as saying the man had fired a shot over his head when he tried to call Athens by radio. It said the bullet went through the cabin window.

Earlier reports quoted sources at the Athens airport as saying two Arab gunmen had forced the plane to here.

Strict security precautions were in force when the plane touched down here. The 97 passengers, who included 27 women and seven children, were taken off the plane. A crew of five also was aboard.

The plane was on a 50-minute flight to Athens from Iraklion, Crete, to the Greek capital when the gunman forced the pilot to change course.

Blizzard Isolates Southwest Ontario

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

South-central Ontario was virtually immobilized Wednesday as a snowstorm, fanned by winds up to 30 miles an hour, dumped two to eight inches of snow, blocked highways and stranded hundreds of New Year's Day travellers.

A Gray Coach Lines bus and more than 20 cars piled up on Highway 400 south of Barrie, forcing police to seal off the section for more than three hours.

Mac Appleton, 56, of Toronto was killed when he was struck by the bus which was unable to stop on the slick highway.

Meanwhile, the community of Goderich, 35 miles northwest of London, could not be reached by road and police closed all roads north of London and Woodstock because of heavy snow drifting.

Two Durham, Ont., men escaped serious injury when their light plane overshot the runway at Wiarton airport where visibility was reduced to almost zero. Pilot Kieth Hunter suffered a broken right shoulder and James Hopkins, was treated for cuts and bruises.

A Canadian National Railways Dayliner enroute to Goderich from Toronto was stranded at Seaforth when a track plow broke down. Passengers were transported the remaining 20 miles to Goderich by bus.

"Couldn't we wait outside, Richard?"

Bone-chilling Cold Hits U. S.

CHICAGO (AP) — Bone-chilling cold gripped nearly two-thirds of the United States today, its bite compounded by gale-force winds and heavy snow in parts of the Northeast.

The cold wave which broke out of the northwest early in the week drove temperatures to their lowest marks of the season completed a cross-country sweep and dropped the mercury near or below zero in the Northeast.

Bus Rams Police Car At Accident; Three Die

DORION, Que. (CP) — Three persons were killed and four were taken to hospital Wednesday following collisions involving five vehicles on the wind-swept snow-drifted Trans-Canada Highway near here.

Involved in the accidents were a gasoline tanker truck, two cars, a police cruiser and a bus headed for Ottawa, Sudbury, Ont., and Vancouver.

Dead are Albert Germain, 42, and his wife, 40, and Jean-Guy Laporte, 27, all of Montreal.

Today police gave this account:

Behind him cars driven by Mr. Laporte and Mr. Germain slowed down and collided.

Const. Roberge, who arrived to investigate the collision, stopped his cruiser behind the two cars.

The two car drivers got into the cruiser with the police constable and Mrs. Germain and the truck driver were standing outside when the Ottawa-bound bus carrying 35 passengers slammed into the cruiser.

The cruiser burst into flames.

Mr. Germain was killed at the scene. Mr. Laporte was thrown from the car and died in hospital later.

Mrs. Germain was killed on impact. Mr. Pare was hurt by the bus and thrown into the middle of the highway.

Const. Roberge escaped from the burning car by crawling through a broken window and rolling in a snowbank to extinguish his flaming clothes.

Biafra Seeking Truce to Allow Relief Delivery

UMUAHIA (AP) — The leader of secessionist Biafra, Lt.-Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu, has called for a limited truce in the Nigerian civil war to allow delivery of relief supplies and possibly open the way for peace.

Ojukwu proposed in a New Year's Eve broadcast that federal Nigeria and the Breakaway eastern region join in a cease-fire and negotiations without preconditions.

He said that despite the 18-month civil war, there is still a wide area of "great mutual advantage" between Nigerians and Biafrans. Peace talks, he said, could cover many subjects including economic relations "and even the possibility of a Commonwealth arrangement."

Ojukwu said the federal forces have gained no territory since September.

LAGOS (AP) — Government troops and police opened fire on a crowd in the west Nigerian town of Egba Obafemi, killing 20 persons, most of them civilians, the Daily Times of Lagos says.

Reports from the area said tax riots and political turmoil have resulted in the deaths of an estimated 70 persons so far. The troops fired on the crowd Tuesday after it had thrown up roadblocks, the Daily Times says.

Edmonton Businessmen Book Passages to Moon

EDMONTON (CP) — Two businessmen have booked passage and paid deposits for a trip to the moon, and say they will write off the cost as business expenses for ventures they plan 240,000 miles in space.

Jerry Bell and Vic Chernick, partners in a sales agency, said they would be interested in services of some kind, like motels, drive-in restaurants or health clubs.

"Who knows, we might even be able to persuade Hugh Hefner to establish a bunny club on the moon," Mr. Bell said.

Edmonton travel agent Ruben Dallal said he booked the passage for them, and for himself because his agency would want an office on the moon.

"It sounds ridiculous now, but it will be a reality in 10 years or less," Mr. Chernick said. "It's only good business to get into something first."

Greg Swafford, a Pan-American Airways representative in Seattle, said Tuesday the bookings have been accepted. Pan-American has received almost 200 bookings in various U.S. cities, a large number of them since Apollo 8 orbited the moon Christmas day

Same Czech Leaders in Control Under New Federal System

PRAGUE (CP) — Czechoslovakia's most sweeping government change since the August invasion left the occupied country today with similar leaders still in control and still pledged to press ahead with stalled reform programs.

Premier Oldrich Cernik's new federal government, announced Wednesday, contained no unexpected members. There was no indication that the wholesale reshuffle involved in setting up the new federal system would lead, under Soviet pressure, to a purge of progressives.

Diplomatic observers said the new lineup made no basic shift in the balance between progressives and conservatives.

The federal system gives more autonomy to the Czech and Slovak governments but leaves over-all programs in the hands of the federal cabinet.

There were two additions to the cabinet's senior ranks.

Jan Marko, 46, a relatively unknown engineer and economic specialist, was named foreign minister. He succeeds Jiri Hajek, who resigned Sept. 19 under Soviet pressure after denouncing the Warsaw pact invasion at the United Nations. Marko was one of the progressives elected to the Communist party central committee at a clandestine congress soon after the invasion.

The other new man is Jan Tabacek, also an engineer, named foreign trade minister. He succeeds Vaclav Valec, who became a deputy premier.

On key position—that of speaker of the new federal legislature—has yet to be decided, and there see some indications there may be a battle over the man to fill the post.

More than 1,000,000 Czech workers, many of them ready to go on strike to support their demands, insist that progressive Josef Smrkovsky, be retained as speaker.

Reformers still see the campaign to back Smrkovsky as a rallying point and believe that his removal would be a blow to their cause.

The federation calls for an even distribution between Czechs and Slovaks of the four top posts in the country and President Ludvik Svoboda and Cernik are both Czechs like Smrkovsky.

Communist party leader Alexander Dubcek is a Slovak and the leader of the Slovak Communist party, Gustav Husak, has insisted that another Slovak be speaker of the legislature.

Shopping Plaza Proposal

Second Bid Made To Delay Rezoning Hearing

By HARRY MULHALL
(Staff Reporter)

Belleville's glossiest commercial development has started the New Year with an unexpected hangover.

The same issue that bedevilled progress on construction of a million-dollar north-ern shopping plaza at the end of 1968 hung over into the new calendar year today.

It is a move to defer a provincial government decision on rezoning a North Front Street land package set aside for the shopping centre development.

City officials today confirmed an Ontario Municipal Board meeting had been called in Toronto tomorrow to discuss another requested postponement in the controversial zoning hearing.

It is the second such postponement sought in two months by the same applicant — Oshawa Wholesale, parent of the big Towers shopping complex on Belleville's west-ern outskirts.

City solicitor E. Guss Porter today confirmed he would oppose the application for postponement on behalf of the city.

He said he would be joined by legal counsel for Cambridge Leaseholds, the Windsor-based developer which plans the plaza.

The latest development became public less than a week before OMB hearings in Belleville to discuss the rezoning application, crucial to the plaza location.

The hearing was set for Jan. 7 — after the original OMB inquiry in Belleville Nov. 4 was delayed at the request of Oshawa Wholesale lawyers.

In Toronto, George Elliott, the developer who has directed the plaza enterprise for Cambridge, indicated he had heard of further moves last week.

"I just got wind of it Christmas Eve," he said.

Obviously angered, Mr. Elliott would not give any details beyond describing events as a "pathetic situation."

"I heard what happened and it's a terrible situation but I can't prove anything," he said.

"I don't want to say anything until I know what we're talking about.

"We want the hearing to go as scheduled," he added.

Any delays meant a loss of revenue to the Belleville community, he said.

Had rezoning been OMB-approved as first sought, some 250 workers could now be employed on the site, he claimed.

Mr. Elliott would not say when land options on the acre-age set aside for the commercial centre expired.

In Belleville, Mayor Russell Scott said the OMB was a quasi-judicial body and he was reluctant to say anything prior to tomorrow's hearing.

When the move became officially known is not clear.

Mr. Porter said he had discussed the new postponement motion this morning with Oshawa Wholesale's legal rep-resentatives, Thomson Rodger of Toronto.

"Actually, all I can say is I have to carry out the wishes of council and the wishes of council are that they proceed with the zoning change."

The zoning issue has been hanging fire since Feb. 19, 1968 when the Belleville and Sub-urban Planning Board first gave provisional approval to land use redesignation on 18 acres in the North Front Street area.

The scheme then moved upward through city council to the OMB which set a hearing for Nov. 4. On Sept. 23, city council, chafing at any possible delay, authorized Mayor Scott to make strong represen-tation blocking any public hearing by the OMB.

First reaction to tomorrow's hearing on second postponement request came from the Belleville and District Labor Council.

The council today issued a statement condemning the move as "a bad omen" to business-re by Oshawa Wholesale, and its subsidiaries, including Towers...."

"This project has been stalled far too long, and a further delay could be fatal as far as Belleville's inter-ests are concerned," warned spokesman, president Ray Bradshaw.

The statement called on Dr. R. T. Potter, MPP Quinte, to "use his office and influence" and back the city in ensuring the Jan. 7 meeting.

Earlier, however, Dr. Potter said he wouldn't interfere in the controversy.

"This is purely a local problem. I'm not going to get involved," he said. "It wouldn't do any good anyway. The OMB certainly won't stand for interfer-ence."

Well Deserved Rest

After 23 years with the department of national revenue (taxation division) a well known local accountant, Ed Shier, has announced his retirement. Two of his fellow employees, C. H. MacDonald and G. W. Graves, received pins for a quarter of a century service in the same department. Mr. Shier joined the revenue branch in 1945, following discharge from the RCAF.

IN MEMORIAM

SAGER — In loving memory of a dear mother who passed away on Thursday morning, Jan. 2nd, 1958.

Each year we think of her less,
We little thought her death so near.

Only those who have lost can tell,
The heartache of parting without farewell.

ADAMS — In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister, Maryeve Adams, who died Jan. 2, 1968.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Always dear, never forgotten.
There's not a day, dear Father,
That you're not missed.
Sadly remembered by daugh-ter Myrtle and family.

WOODCOX, Sharon Yvonne — In loving memory of our dear daughter who passed away suddenly in a car acci-dent on Jan. 2, 1967.

Peacefully at rest resting at last,
The world's weary troubles and sorrows past.
She suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God's will her home in sorrow no more.

Carl Stapley at Home: Nothing to Salvage

First Baby A Boy

Fire Destroys Home Near Belleville

In years to come New Year's Day 1969 will bear contrasting memories for two Belleville families — both with the same number of children.

For Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dowdell it will be the day their fifth child was born — showered with gifts as the first baby of the year delivered in Belleville General Hospital.

For Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stapley it likely will remain the bleakest of times — the day they and their five children were left homeless after their every possession was lost to fire.

The Dowdell baby arrived at 5.15 a.m. — a boy weighing a bouncing 8 lbs. 12 oz. The couple — whose other children range in age from eight to two years — decided to call him Shawn Robert.

As the year's first baby, Shawn Robert automatically qualified for a prize list of presents from local merchants — ranging from 40 quarts of milk to free diaper service.

About the same time, firemen were still pouring water on the ruins of the Stapley home on Highway 2, four miles west of Belleville.

Up to that time it had been a quiet New Year's Eve at the small four-room frame home behind the car repair workshop operated by the 33-year-old Mr. Stapley.

Since Christmas, he and his wife had been fascinated with a puzzle game and frequently stayed up late playing it, he said.

It was the same New Year's Eve. Shortly before 3 a.m. Mrs. Stapley went to bed. Mr. Stapley checked around the outside briefly and when he returned smelled smoke.

He awakened his wife and they traced the smoke to a small bedroom where one of the children was sleeping. Mr. Stapley believed it started in a clothes closet in the room.

Hastily awakening their children they fled outside as fire erupted through their small home.

It was burning out of control as city firemen arrived and the interior of the house was gutted—taking with it all their household and personal possessions.

The Stapleys have been living in the house for the past four years.

Tax Situation Improves in City

The City of Belleville is slowly but surely bettering its tax collection picture but still more improvement is the aim of the city treasury department.

Approximately 90 per cent of the current tax levy had been collected as of Nov. 30 with the total in outstanding taxes — both current levy and tax arrears — at that time amounting to approximately $700,000.

Since Nov. 30 the city has collected close to $100 000 and tax collector John Grohn says he is looking for the amount of uncollected taxes being reduced to $600,000 by the year end.

Mr. Grohn said the tax collection picture was improved by one per cent over last year.

But the aim of the city tax department is to eventually reduce the uncollected tax figure to $500,000.

The tax collector points out that actually there is no percentage in not paying property and business taxes when they are due. The penalty for arrears makes the practice costly to the owner and at the same time tends to increase borrowing costs for the city.

Mr. Grohn said the amount of uncollected taxes is a financial barometer for banks and other lending institutions considering loans to municipalities.

Since the Nov. reminder notices have been sent to all property owners with tax arrears.

But there is also some suggestion the city should intensify its collection methods to assure more prompt payment of current taxes.

Mr. Grohn noted that under Section 121 of the Assessment Act, municipalities may take action known as levying taxes by distress.

This means that action can be taken to collect taxes 14 days after they are due.

Trenton Fire Department To Hire Another Man

TRENTON (Staff) — The Trenton Fire Department will be hiring one extra man and is doing so could be preparing for a new 42 hour work week.

Councillor Gerald Weaver, chairman of the Protection to Persons and Property committee, asked council to give Fire Chief Cecil Ellis permission to hire an extra man to the force.

"There are times when the force has only one man available on certain shifts," said councillor Weaver.

He added that it looks as if the firefighters will be after a 42 hour week in 1969 and if this comes through this extra man will be kept on.

Currently the firefighters serve a 48 hour work-week.

Council agreed to hire the new fireman on a temporary basis as Gerald Lewis of the fire department is off duty due to illness leaving a vacant position on the force.

"With a 42 hour week this new man must be maintained even with the return of Mr. Lewis," said councillor Weaver.

He added that he believes the firemen will get their 42 hour work week in 1969.

"The firefighters do not want to work overtime to make up for being a man short, because they feel this is defeating the purpose of their struggle for shorter hours," said councillor Weaver.

"The bill for overtime last year was $3,000," concluded the councillor.

Discussion of the firefighter's demands is being held up while the department of labor decides who to appoint as chairman of an arbitration board.

Road Allowance To Remain Open

Minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. It was decided that road allowance on Boundary Island, Gull Lake, remain open; also that Council apply for interim subsidy on money spent on roads to end of September 1968, amount of $21,-312.61.

The clerk was requested to write the Ontario Hydro at Tweed asking permission to construct a lake access road to Mississagon on Lake from Highway 506 on Lot 21, Concession 7, Barrie Township, and parking lot at lakeshore.

It was also carried that clerk call County Health Inspector to inspect cottage on Kashawkamak Lake, S. L. 32, Plan 1114, Lot 7, Con. 6, which is built over the water, to see if conditions are sanitary.

Council adjourned until the next regular meeting which will be held in the afternoon.

Astrologer John Manolesco does it by the stars — foretells the future that is, as he does in the current issue of Weekend Magazine.

Among his predictions: Prime Minister Trudeau may become the first president of a future Canadian republic . . . Canada is on the way to becoming a world power comparable with the United States, Russia and China . . . and Quebec's separation is inevitable.

Well, it cannot be denied that a waning of the influence of the Monarchy in Canada is discernible. Even Prime Minister Trudeau, while he views the institution with typical pragmatism — he is neither for it nor against it — says he "suspects" the Commonwealth is an anachronism.

Mr. Trudeau will probably elaborate further on this at the forthcoming Commonwealth conference in London. From all accounts Mr. Trudeau's arrival in Britain is being anticipated keenly and this is causing something of the stir that accompanied his rise to power in this country.

To the British, as to his own countrymen, Mr. Trudeau represents a new breed of prime minister. He is both calm and urbane — the Scot in him — and volatile, as befits one who is also French, and he can shrug and gesticulate with the best of them.

Two thoughts puzzle us though, in connection with Canada and its leader as we enter 1969. If Quebec secedes, as astrologer Manolesco predicts, how can Canada possibly become a world power? We may be rich materially, but even allowing for Quebec remaining within Confederation, world power status does not go hand in hand with a population (at present) of only 20,000,000 and a national identity that owes a great deal both economically and militarily to the United States.

Secondly, if as Weekend says in its own set of predictions for the future Princess Anne becomes engaged to Mr. Trudeau (!), how then could the Prime Minister, or the country he leads, possibly be party to the break-up of the Commonwealth?

* * *

So what else will be new in 1969? Manolesco envisages further serious disturbances at all major universities. If this is the case we would urge students to think as individuals and not as a mob, to use their brains constructively and not go parading and shouting and hurling invective without knowing what it is they hope to achieve. As it is, if university students have any great causes to embrace they certainly are not presenting them to the public with much effect. If they have anything to say that makes sense, or is indicative of social responsibility, we have yet to hear it. Attacking the so-called Establishment is not good enough. Challenging adults with, "look at the mess you have made of the world" is not going to make a better society. If it is an end to war they want, history has shown that that is an impossible ideal. Wars are fought for reasons of ideology and national prestige which in turn are part and parcel of human nature. To deny these truths is to admit to cowardice.

* * *

In passing we can say without contradiction that we have not seen the last of the war in Vietnam, or of trouble in the Middle East or on the United States domestic scene — or even in Quebec. More airliners doubtless will be hijacked en route to destinations in the southern States and flown instead to Havana. Here at home we may see more strikes and an increase in crime and juvenile delinquency in the form of drug taking and other examples of eccentric behavior.

Today, the second day of January of this new year of 1969, we can also say without contradiction that there are a great many people with sore heads, from a variety of causes . . . including, yes, the grippe.

We might conclude on a New Year fashion note. Despite those dire predictions to the contrary hemlines are still on the short side and will remain so. A New York report says women will be "doing their own thing," wearing what they like, this year, and the trend will be mini or near-mini. Do we hear any word of protest?

More on the Maze That Is Parliamentary Officialese

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Presumably having skimmed over, in Lesson One, the Revised Edition of the Working Politician's Alphabet for 1969, and thus, hopefully, latched onto some of the basics of "bureaucratter" or federal funnytalk, let us proceed to Lesson Two.

But first, the real key to understanding "officialese" or parliamentary patois as it is spoken here in the nation's Capital is simply this:

Never, ever book it by using one ordinary word when three extraordinary ones in the evergrowing governmental gobbledegook will do.

Or referring to a new and improved type of automatic weapon in the armory of the defence department as "integrated third - generation hardware." The opportunities are boundless.

Get it?

The suspicion just might arise among taxpayers unlettered in this political and bureaucratic double-talk that many of the pols and mandarins on Parliament Hill and in the always-expanding complex of departments, boards commissions and assorted federal agencies could be yacking away at each other in something approaching a code.

While it may baffle the outlanders, it is not all that confusing to the insiders conversing in the tribal dialect of the federal government.

The secret is to say nothing simply.

So, on that basis, then, what follows federal decision-making would not be, as you might expect, plain ordinary action.

No indeed; nothing so easy to understand as that.

But rather, it becomes what is known as the "decision-implementing process."

Former Prime Minister Pearson started the trend, possibly on one of those days when he suffered a mental throw-back to his Toronto University professorial days.

He established a civil service school of resident intellectuals, usually referred to by non-egg-heads as "the brain bin."

Pearson's academics did their brain-storming not in committees as other more ordinary mortals might do, but in task forces, project think-outs and co-ordinating inter-departmental group-ins.

They never ever made anything so mundane as enquiries or even studies, but occupied themselves importantly with in-depth researching.

Often over what are known as working lunches which, translated, means you don't always go back to the office after the third martini.

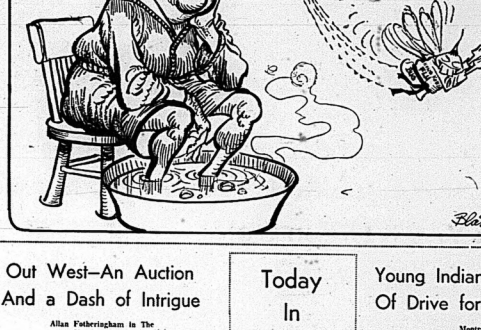
The legislative lingo comes in mighty handy for cabinet ministers as well as civil service thinkers.

As for instance when the finance minister in his fiscal reviews speaks disarmingly of "unanticipated monetary constraints," which, in ordinary people- talk means the government has so recklessly overspent, it is compelled to cut back public services and even raise taxes.

But take heart. The federal in-crowd's code has been broken. Rhodes Scholar Allister Gillespie, Liberal MP for the Toronto constituency of Etobicoke unravelled it.

He unearthed, as he phrased it, "a secret document from the darkest depths of the bureaucratic catacombs."

It works simply. Take any series of three words, one from each of the three groups of words below, and run them together for a very official and profound sound and a non-answer to anything.



For example, suggests Mr. Gillespie, try: "dynamic incremental capability." And who wouldn't respect a man who could say that?

Try it. It is easy. Just 24 words in the groups of eight each, given lingual manipulation utilization — and whammo, you've got yourself instant impact impressive.

management, monitored, unrestrictive, incremental, generative, logistical, policy, taskwise;

option, flexibility, concept, time-phase, contingency, multi-plan, program, capability.

Allan Fotheringham in The Vancouver Sun

What the world loves is a little intrigue, a dash of mystery, large sums of money involved and the only fall guy a large faceless corporation. They were ready by the hundreds last night when the doors of Maynard's Auctioneers opened at 7:30 for the preview of those much-discussed items — as the auctioneer put it — "from a home in an unmentionable city in a certain area of the Okanagan." There is an air of admiring humor to the crowd as it jostles its way in. Maynard's is milking the atmosphere with fine wit. There is the Cadillac Eldorado, $12,100 new, with a white bear-skin rug spread across the hood, topped by a tinkly chandelier. There is the wire T-Bird, $8,700 new. So it was driven by back embezzler Anne Spiller, now thinking things over in Kingston Pen? What bank teller wouldn't like to come to work in it?

Women, thin, nervous, scramble around the case where the jewelry, especially that $17,000 diamond, appears. A woman, all tweedy, and a man, all suede, wrestle eagerly at two sets of luscious golf clubs, one set in a large dark leather bag, the other in a slim fawn bag. There's the $8,000 Steinway grand in the corner with its $420 automatically-adjusting stool. A piano stool with power drive. The guard stands at the door.

We've never had anything like this since a 1936 auction in Victoria," says the auctioneer. "And the Royal Bank asked us to have a quiet auction. Oh dear." Women in cloth coats pear at fine coats, the Russian sable jacket, the Swakara lamb coat and an ocelot stole. My, it must get cold in Penticton. A city magistrate wanders about. There are five sterling silver tables, 200 smackers apiece. A $3,500 stereo set.

Color TV? Queen Anne dining room suite? A 17 foot boat? The crowd presses against the windows. At 8:15 they're lined up for 30 yards waiting to get in. We're all Alec Guinness, plotting the dash to Rio.

Today In History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Jan. 2, 1969 . . .

A branch of the Royal Mint was established 61 years ago today—in 1908—in Ottawa. Canada took over its operation Dec. 1, 1931, removing the last British government function in Canada.

1788—Georgia became the fourth state to ratify the constitution of the United States.

Young Indians in Van Of Drive for Unity

Montreal Star

The speed and effectiveness of this Indian drive for a unified voice speaks volumes for the energy of the younger Indian leaders, and the sagacity of the elders. Certainly the day of the quiescent Indian is over, and the non-Indian world must accept this fact and make an effort to understand what is at stake. The younger Indians feel that every effort to help their race has gone wrong at the point that someone else has made the decisions for them.

And the younger Indians hold the future of the race in their hands. Sixty per cent of Indians in Canada are under 21. There are already 200 at universities, and in a few years this figure will be five times as high. The prospects, therefore, are good. But decisions that could gravely affect this future are being made now. They must be the right decisions.

Letter Writing

John Parkin in The Hamilton Spectator

Letters between relations and friends these days are apt to be brief. Even so, some people keep them. They may have no particular motive for doing so — except that they are confirmed "keepers". It is a matter of temperament. Now that almost half the tenants in big cities live in apartments which have no attic — traditionally the storage places of old letters — there is even less urge to save the meagre correspondence of our times.

The big mystery is: Where did past generations find time to write interminable letters to relatives and friends?

They worked longer hours; their lives lacked many of the so-called conveniences which are supposed to give us "more leisure for living", yet they found time for long letters.

Lord Curzon, when Viceroy of India, in the early years of this century, would sit up half the night writing to his wife.

Blow to Girl Watchers In Britain

Peterborough Examiner

Office workers will occupy a $1,300,000-office block in Poole, England in which windows will be replaced with slits. How can an employer be so blind as to remove from vision the stimulus vital to a worker's morale — the window? One view that makes a body linger a little longer at the job; the sight of an open convertible that induces speedy completion of routine on a hot day; the goodies in the little cheese shop that conjure thoughts of sparkling wine and a river bank; the policeman in the middle of the intersection confusing every motorist in sight after the traffic signals have failed; and of course the girls.

A Memorable Movie

Allan Fotheringham in The Vancouver Sun

If there is still any parent around who is puzzled about the generation gap, I would gently suggest that he or she sprint downtown to see The Graduate before it closes. Here is one of the most remarkable films made: a nothing little sleeper that has ended up as the third greatest money-maker ever to come out of Hollywood on the Fantasy. When it finishes it will have been the longest regular-run movie ever to play Vancouver. Why the stampede? I dropped around for a second time the other day to refresh my memory and the same subtle ingredients were there. Part of it, of course, is the sly directing of Mike Nichols. There are the soothing, knifing background ballads of Simon and Garfunkel, poetry disguised by guitars. Most of all there's the confusion of youth.

Dustin doesnt know what he wants, doesnt know where he's going. His main reaction to adult world is ennui. There are beautiful, cruel portraits of soul-less North American businessmen and their bitch-goddess wives. But most of all there is the depressing confusion of youth. It's why the students love it. Here's someone who understands their confusion.

A Bikini Was Just Too Much

Milwaukee Journal

Patience finally ran out in the matter of scantily dressed women in England. The proprietor of a 18th century pub called the Sun Inn replaced his old sign. Instead of just a picture of the sun, a portrait of a bikini clad stunner was hung up, courtesy of the Courage Brewery. Patrons of the establishment, in a quiet village outside London, were scandalized. Protests grew and grew and the sign came down. In the laird that gave us the Beatles and miniskirts, a man again can lift his mug of ale without having a new, distracting sign swinging outside the door.

Kedrova - - Howard Married on Holiday

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Russian-born film star Lila Kedrova, who won an Oscar for her role in Zorba the Greek, and Canadian director Richard Howard of Sarnia were married Monday night in a quiet ceremony at an Indian chapel.

Mr. Howard, 25, artistic director of a Belleville little theatre group, and Miss Kedrova, 50, were married by Dr. Arthur Craig, a United Church minister in Shingwauk Chapel, on the banks of the St. Mary's River, which is part of an Indian residential school.

Miss Kedrova won her Oscar as best supporting actress. Mr. Howard, who won awards for direction at several Ontario festivals, recently completed a year studying English repertory theatre on an Ontario government grant.

Two Men Are Credited With Saving Building

QUICK indent en proof ma
The quick thinking of t w o men walking along Dundas Street East in the city on New Year's Eve is credited w f t h the prevention of a serious fire a fire department spokesman said today.

Local firefighters, answering a call to 150 Dundas Street East at 11.08 p.m. found the living room window in the front of the house smashed and smoke from the inside pouring out of it.

Inside the firemen discovered a smoldering chesterfield, chair and rug covering the floor. The burning pieces of furniture had been doused with snow carried in from the outside.

The firemen learned t h e men tried to bring the flames under control before they summoned help from the fire department.

Hydrants Hidden

A number of hydrants have been buried in the last couple of days causing a serious situation to exist in case of a fire at night, the chief explained. He asked residents to pile snow away from the hydrants when engaged in removing it from their premises.

'Hello Children!'

Burning Tree Alarms Dweller

Fire trucks raced to the scene but could find no trace of fire.

An apartment resident said a Christmas tree was being burned in the incinerator and apparently the fumes alarmed someone who turned in the fire alarm.

Police Report Quiet Holiday

GOOD RIDDANCE
of Good Furniture... Leftovers from the Biggest Christmas Sale in Our History! Help Us Clean Out ...and You'll Clean Up! It's an Old-Fashioned Barrel of Bargains!

We would like this sale to remind you of the "good old days" when steaks sold for 39¢ a pound. As for us, we got into the old-fashioned bargain spirit and slashed prices for quick action on all odd lots, discontinued numbers and display pieces. True, some of the latter items are a bit shopworn, but most items are in perfect condition. In fact, some merchandise just came in...late arrivals after Christmas...and these have been sale-priced as well. So it's out with the old (to us, that is!). To you, they are a bonanza of savings! Remember to come early for best selections. All merchandise is subject to prior sale.

Cobourg Police Use Tear Gas

COBOURG, Ont. (CP) — Police used tear gas Wednesday to capture an armed man who held them at bay for five hours from inside his home in the east-end suburb of Cloverdale.

There were no injuries.

The man was taken to a mental hospital for observation. No charges were laid. Cobourg is 35 miles east of Oshawa.

Police went to the home to investigate a complaint about a family disturbance. Shots were fired as the officers approached the house.

Two policemen wearing gas masks captured the man who collapsed while trying to open an outer screen door.

De Gaulle Calls For More Freedom For French Here

PARIS (AP) — President de Gaulle surveyed the perils faced by France in the last year and proclaimed his confidence and hope as he looked ahead to 1969.

In a listing of crises facing the world, the iron-willed 78-year-old president included this: "The free conduct of its own national life for the French people of Canada."

In his customary New Year's Eve television address to the French people, de Gaulle said:

"Leave to their accomplices and their partisans the sadness and disappointment. Because the fact that we have once more happily surmounted the tests gives us the best reasons to be confident in ourselves."

The president said that even if France is not big enough to produce space exploits, it still has a special role to play in solving the world's pressing problems. As he enumerated the problems, he outlined French-sponsored solutions that in the past have been cooly received outside France.

One of these has been de Gaulle's promotion of closer ties between France and French-speaking people elsewhere in the world.

Th Canadian government has reacted with coolness to such de Gaulle actions as his call at a press conference on Nov. 27, 1967 for the transformation of Canada's political system to project Quebec province "to the level of a sovereign state with mastery of its national existence."

In addition to what amounted to a repetition of this call, de Gaulle listed these troubles:

—"The frightful Vietnamese conflict which the Paris negotiations can end."

—"The entry of enormous China into the harmony of big nations and into that of the United Nations because it has its place there and isolation is worth nothing."

—"The establishment of a world monetary system which would be based, no longer on the privilege of one money, but on two impartial criteria: on one side the value of gold, and on the other side by a credit organization which rules out speculation."

—"Practicing detente and the co-operation instead of the cold war with Eastern Europe, which, from this fact, is in evolution."

—"The international outcome of the Middle East drama, an outcome already outlined but which absolutely must be put into effect—the big powers have the means, for this—by the evacuation of territories conquered by force, a guarantee for each side as to its correct frontiers and its security, the freedom of navigation accorded everywhere to all, and finally an acceptable fate accorded to the refugees."

Montreal Fire Kills Seven

MONTREAL (CP) — A 35-year-old woman, five of her eight children and a niece were killed early today when fire swept through a three-storey wooden tenement building in south-central Montreal.

Dead are Mrs. Therese Beaudoin; two of her sons, Jacques, 7, and Gilla, 3; three daughters, Sylvie, 6, and Ginette and Renée, 5-year-old twins; and a visiting niece whose identity was being withheld by police pending notification of her next of kin in Sherbrooke, 90 miles east of here.

The woman's husband, Marcel, 43, and a son, Jean-Claude, escaped the flames which broke out in the building on Barre Street around 3 a.m. Two other Beaudoin children were visiting with their Sherbrooke relatives at the time of the blaze which was extinguished by firemen within an hour.

School Magazine Spans Half Century

It was considered the largest and most enterprising of Ontario high school magazines.

It was important enough that "the big Canadian at present," the minister of militia, consented to contribute an autographed picture for a special war issue.

With the publication of the photograph of Maj.-Gen. Sam Hughes, editors of the June, 1915 edition of The Elevator, the magazine of Belleville High School scored the high school journalistic scoop of the year.

The 53-year-old copy of a still-thriving publication came to light a short time ago among the effects of the late William G. Wonnacott, Four editions of The Elevator, spanning the First World War years, were discovered by his son George Wonnacott, owner of W. Wonnacott and Son jewelry store.

The Elevator of 50 years ago was a 6 by 9 inch, 80 - page volume, with few pictures, most of them of the staff and of former students serving in the army.

Unlike its successor of today, the old Elevator apparently was published three times a year, at Christmas, in March and in June. The price was 25 cents a copy.

It was a serious publication, with little space devoted to student activities or humor. Most of the pages were filled with letters from students serving overseas, biographical data on students in the services and accounts of home front patriotic endeavors.

But the student magazine reflected the mood of the times. The 1915 editions opened with a lofty: "To you who were once students of our school and are now mustered for service to your country, do we, in deep appreciation of your patriotism, dedicate this volume."

Youth Parade

Social events took a grim turn in those days. In October, 1916, students held a "trench shower" in the assembly hall. They brought some 1,064 articles, with a total value of $75.20, to be shipped overseas by the Red Cross. Included were tobacco, cigarettes, playing cards and homemade candy.

"Miss M. F. Libby (the language teacher) is busily employed each week tutoring the officers and NCOs of the 39th Battalion CEF in the use of common French phrases. None of them, we are told, cares to learn German," the Elevator reported in the fall of 1915.

No wonder war occupied the minds of teenagers of the day. On the home front in the early years, war took on the stirring aspect of a pageant.

"Exeitement prevailed," wrote fourth-year student Jean Nicholson, in an article on "The Departure of the Soldiers."

Each unit leaving for camp, she recounted, marched from the armories to the station, led by a band, which played The Maple Leaf, O Canada, and The Girl I Left Behind Me, while the troops boarded the train. As the train pulled away a regimental band struck up Abide With Me.

But back at the school, the Athletic Association was the prime concern. The program included hockey, baseball, basketball, football, and inevitably, Cadet Corps.

In 1915, the Athletic Association expenditures totalled $49.43, of which $9.20 was spent on supplies, $16.35 on medals, 60 cents on telephone calls and 25 cents on the repair of a football.

"The Board of Education has been quite open-handed," recounted the editor. "They have granted $25 towards our athletics and a $10 gratuity towards defraying the expense of publishing our last Elevator."

Nor was school spirit lacking.

"Belleville High School — A growing school!" proclaimed the Elevator in 1915. "Teachers all graduates or specialists."

It backed up the boast with figures showing an increase from 228 students and eight teachers in 1912 to 325 students and 12 teachers in 1915.

The school was up-to-date in every way.

"W. J. Carter is installing electric light in a number of class rooms in the school. When completed, every room in the school will be lighted artificially," declared the Elevator at Christmas 1915.

Secondary school education in Belleville in 1915 was accompanied by two features that failed to stand the test of time.

One was a type of home and School Women's Institute, composed of "the mothers and friends of high school students." The members supplied the school with magazines, helped arrange social and literary events, provided a school skating rink and a series of cooking demonstrations by a government home economist.

The second feature, also sponsored by the Institute, "and one that promises most gratifying results", according to The Elevator, "is the appointment of a policewoman for Belleville, the first, we believe, in the province."

One wonders what became of her.

But despite the 53 year span that divides them, students of 1915 and 1968 have one thing in common.

As The Elevator put it, in the biography of one Beverley Gribble, class of 1915: "Favorite occupation — exceeding the speed limit."

Celeste Yarnall Demonstrates

Complexion First Aid

By REBA AND BONNIE CHURCHILL

Are you on a make-up merry-go-round, spinning "from one complexion program to another? Then you may be in the same dilemma as 63 per cent of our readers who complain of patchwork skin — part oily, part arid. First admit, cosmetically speaking, you're two-faced. Dermatologists often refer to combination skin as having a "T" and "O" zone. The "T" area, which is oil prone, is across brows, down nose (including sides of nostrils) and onto chin. The "O" section, the dry patches, can be traced along the forehead, down sides of cheek, along jaws, and up the opposite cheek.

Such skin requires a dual care and clean treatment or you may be in double trouble. Beautificans frequently recommend a bland soap, then a follow through with a fluid facial lotion liberally applied to dry sections and skimmed sparingly across oily ones. Now, retrace the "T" area with a cotton [illegible] dipped in skin freshener or astringent. It removes [illegible] the oil. makers [illegible] a protective film [illegible] Yardstall [illegible] "Live A Little," suggests astringent for an invigorating treat.

Cosmetics also follow a dual route. Generally speaking, liquid or creme make-ups (foundation, rouge, mascara) are applied to dry sections, while powdered types are used on brows, lids, nose and chin. Celeste, whose flawless complexion has won several photographers' awards, reminds a sprinkle of chamois will blend moist cosmetics, while a brush is an ideal applicator for powdered make-up. Also, facial blotters (mini squares of linen-like tissue) help keep oily areas controlled. If cosmetics begin to "float," blot immediately, so oil, not make-up, confes off.

A Family Tradition

Three generations of Wonnacotts to attend BCI are represented as city jeweller George Wonnacott and his son Doug examine a picture of the late William G. Wonnacott, Doug's grandfather, in a 1916 edition of Belleville High School's Elevator. The present BCI was built in 1929 on the site of the old Belleville High School.

But back at the school, the Athletic Association was the prime concern. The program included hockey, baseball, basketball, football, and inevitably, Cadet Corps.

In 1915, the Athletic Association expenditures totalled $49.43, of which $9.39 was spent on supplies, $16.35 on medals, 60 cents on telephone calls and 25 cents on the repair of a football.

"The Board of Education has been quite open-handed," recounted the editor. "They have granted $25 towards our athletics and a $10 gratuity towards defraying the expense of publishing our last Elevator."

Nor was school spirit lacking.

"Belleville High School — A growing school !" proclaimed the Elevator in 1915. "Teachers all graduates or specialists."

It backed up the boast with figures showing an increase from 228 students and eight teachers in 1912 to 325 students and 12 teachers in 1915.

The school was up-to-date in every way.

"W. J. Carter is installing electric light in a number of class rooms in the school. When completed, every room in the school will be lighted artificially," declared the Elevator at Christmas 1915.

Secondary school education in Belleville in 1915 was accompanied by two features that failed to stand the test of time.

One was a type of home and School Women's Institute, composed of "the mothers and friends of high school students." The members supplied the school with magazines, helped arrange social and literary events, provided a school skating rink and a series of cooking demonstrations by a government home economist.

The second feature, also sponsored by the Institute, "and one that promises most gratifying results", according to The Elevator, "is the appointment of a policewoman for Belleville, the first, we believe, in the province."

One wonders what became of her.

But despite the 53 year span that divides them, students in 1915 and 1968 have one thing in common.

As The Elevator put it, in the biography of one Beverley Gribble, class of 1915: "Favorite occupation — exceeding the speed limit."

A Family Tradition

Celeste Yarnall Demonstrates

Complexion First Aid

By REBA AND BONNIE CHURCHILL

Are you on a make-up merry-go-round, spinning from one complexish program to another? Then you may lie in the same dilemma as 63 per cent of our readers who complain of patchwork skin — part oily, part arid. First aid mail, cosmetically speaking, you're two-faced. Dermatologists often refer to combination skin as having a "T" and "O" zone. The "T" area, which is oil prone, is across brows, down nose (including sides of nostrils) and onto chin. The "O" section, the dry patches, can be traced along the forehead, down sides of cheek, along jaws, and up the opposite cheek.

Such skin requires a dual care and clean treatment or you may be in double trouble. Beautificans frequently recommend a bland soap, then a follow-through with a fluid facial lotion liberally applied to dry sections and skimmed sparingly across oily ones. Now, retrace the "T" area with a cotton ball dipped in skin freshener or astringent. It removes lotion from the oil-makers, leaving only a protective film. Actress Celeste Yarnall seen in MGM's "Live A Little, Love A Little," suggests first chilling astringent for an invigorating treat.

Cosmetics also follow a dual route. Generally speaking, liquid or creme make-ups (foundation, rouge, mascara) are applied to dry sections, while powdered types are used on brows, lids, nose and chin. Celeste, whose flawless complexion has won several photographers' awards, reminds a spotter or channel will blend moist cosmetics, while a brush is an ideal applicator for powdered make-up. Also, facial blotters (mini squares of linen-like tissue) help keep oily areas controlled. If cosmetics begin to "float," blot immediately, as oil, not "make-up, comes off.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris Mark 60 Years of Marriage

Congratulatory messages from the Queen, from Prime Minister Elliott Trudeau and Opposition Leader Stanfield as well as from local politicians were received by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris of Wallbridge on their 60th wedding anniversary.

But it was the personal congratulations and good wishes from approximately 100 close friends and neighbors which added the final touch for the couple's anniversary "at home" held Sunday, at the nearby former township hall.

"Our neighbors are so good to us" commented 85-year-old Mrs. Harris, whose mental alertness, quick wit and vitality belies her age.

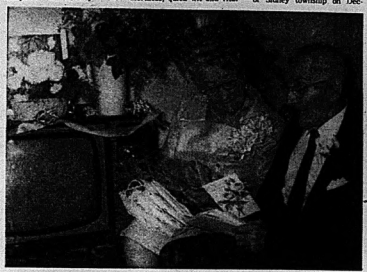
And her 89 year old husband echoed her words.

Married at the bride's home on the 4th Concession of Sidney township on December 30, 1908, the Wallbridge couple took a wedding trip to Madoc by horse and cutter.

But aware of the fact that post Christmas snow and cold weather kept many people away from their anniversary celebration this week the couple recalled there wasn't as much snow 60 years ago as there is this year.

Following their brief honeymoon, the couple returned to Sidney where they farmed on the 3rd Concession for 30 years before moving to Wallbridge. Mrs. Harris is the former Mabel Langabeer.

A choir member at the 4th concession Stone Church and at Wallbridge for more than half a century, Mrs. Harris still attends church regularly although her husband admits his attendance has fallen off in recent years.



Mr. Harris is a member of the Wallbridge L.O.L. while Mrs. Harris is a charter member of the Wallbridge L.O.B.A.

Both organizations remembered the couple on their anniversary, as did the church and the township council.

In addition to the "dozens and dozens" of cards received from friends and neighbors, congratulatory messages were received from Finance Minister Edgar Benson, local M.P.'s George Hees and Lev Girills and Belleville Mayor Russell Scott.

Anniversary gifts received by the couple included a handsome new television set from a niece in Toronto.

The couple have no children but Mr. Harris has two sisters, Mrs. Edith Tucker of Belleville and Mrs. Rola Logan of Hamilton. Mrs. Harris has a sister Mrs. Harry Pound of Clemilton, and a brother Frank Langabeer of Belleville.

60th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris of Wallbridge look over a few of the many cards and congratulatory messages received on the occasion of their recent 60th wedding anniversary. Especially proud are they of the TV set in background, a gift from a niece in Toronto.

Rutherford – Moore

Holloway Street United Church was the scene of the December wedding when Rev. William Lamb united in marriage Judith Ann Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Moore of Belleville, to Lieut. James R. Rutherford, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Rutherford also of Belleville. Rendering appropriate nuptial selections was organist Mrs. Stubbs.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a two-piece full length A-line gown and matching coat of white satin brocade. Her headdress was a double bow of beaded brocade and her three - tier bouffant veil was of illusion tulle, which extended into a cathedral train. She carried a cascade bouquet of mauve orchids, intertwined with white baby mums and stephanotis.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Nancy Jane Smith, sister of the bride, was attired in a full length gown of deep purple silk velvet with a sash of white peau de soie. Bridesmaid, Miss Susan E. Moore, sister of the bride, wore a dress similar to that of the matron of honor.

Best man was Lieut. Ian B. MacPherson. Ushers were Capt. James S. Thomson and Lieut. Brian G. Alston. All were from C.F.B. in Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan.

For the wedding reception, held at the home of the bride's parents, the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a two-piece Italian imported dress and jacket in shades of beige and gold, complemented by black accessories. A corsage of white mums sprinkled with gold added a finishing touch to her ensemble. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom chose a two-piece Italian knit suit in deep flamingo pink, with white accessories, and a corsage of yellow talisman roses.

For the wedding trip to Montreal, the bride donned a two-piece coat and dress of winter white gabardine silk wool, contrasted by black accessories and a corsage of mauve orchids.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Did you thank Aunt Mary for the Christmas gift?"

Daughter: "Oh, I forgot. If you're writing to her, will you thank her for me?"

Courtesy letters should be written promptly and by the person who received the gift. Children should not be permitted to shift the responsibility to mother.

Ann Landers

Ann's Advice on Sex Berated by Reader

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I do believe you are getting balmy in your old age. When that pathetic woman wrote that she was sick of sex — she got nothing out of it but frustration and fatigue — and went on to say she has had seven children in 14 years, you advised her to teach her husband to be a good lover. In fact, you suggested "Night School."

ANN LANDERS

Take my word for it, Ann, lessons won't help him. The teaching should have been done years ago — by parents who set an example of gentleness and affectionate behavior in the home. I know what I'm talking about because I am married to the same kind of a lummox as the woman who wrote.

We had six children in 14 years and I can tell you there is no relation between the number of children a woman has and sexual compatibility with her husband. This may sound disgraceful but I'm going to say it anyway. I feel like a prostitute. I satisfy my husband's sexual needs in exchange for financial security, respectability and the social prestige that goes with being his wife. Your suggestion that the unfulfilled woman teach her husband how to be a good lover is just plain absurd. These men don't want to learn. They are interested only in satisfying their animal passions. Period. — SICK OF SEX AND HUNGRY FOR LOVE.

* * *

DEAR HUNGRY: I've had so many thoughtful letters from wives with this same complaint that I am rethinking the problem. More later.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As a registered nurse, may I add a word of reassurance to the bride-to-be who was afraid to have surgery because she was fearful of revealing an old secret while under the anesthetic?

I have been an R.N. on the surgical ward for almost 20 years. Often the first question asked by a patient (invariably a woman) when she wakes from the anesthetic is, "What did I say?"

I always tell her, "Nothing — nothing at all." And this is the truth. I have yet to hear a patient — male or female — reveal any secrets while coming out of an anesthetic. Most of their words are slurred and unintelligible.

So please, Ann, inform your readers that if they need surgery and are holding off because of this fear, they are very foolish. — PETER BENT BRIGHAM HOSPITAL, BOSTON.

DEAR R.N.: Thanks for your letter of reassurance from a professional who is in a position to know. It was good of you to write.

* * *

Confidential to SHOULD I SUE?: You could, yes, but my advice is forget it. Suits of this kind are costly and usually they end up giving the sordid story more publicity than it received the first time around. Even a verdict in your favor would leave unconvinced those people who want to believe it.

Successful Living

Handicapped Is Frustrated

By DORIS CLARK

What is all this about the "perceptually handicapped child"?

We are told that learning difficulties that come under this heading are far more common than one might think. The figure ranges anywhere from three percent to 30 percent of the population, who have some trouble in seeing the world as the rest of us see it. The three percent are the ones who just won't make it through school.

But all can be helped; must be helped. Because the frustrations of his handicap may cause some startling defects in his developing personality.

At school he is restless, a reluctant learner and a disturbance. At home he is constantly on the go: won't settle to any task for any time at all; won't try to read.

At play he may be just too ready with his fists, and a poor loser. Or he may be too quiet, scared of looking foolish when he does something wrong, scared even to communicate.

In the past he almost always became a drop-out, a misfit in society, perhaps even a criminal or mental patient. We know better now and have made a beginning of doing better. We know now that some early brain damage or some gap in learning has meant that he sees the world differently from other children.

Best of all we know now that he can be helped. The thing is to spot the problem for what it is, and get into action.

* * *

Dear Doris: Would you please print the answer to my question in the paper because if my brothers ever found out I wrote you they would never stop ribbing me.

I'm 13. I like girls but I do not know what to say to them or how to impress them. I'm not repulsive either.

I like one girl especially but she thinks of me as just a friend. How can I get her interested in me and be popular with other girls too? — Dejected.

Dear Dejected: Don't cry, Romeo. Time is on your side. Impressing the girls takes practice. Right now you could bone up on grooming, good manners, and things about how to understand that exciting sex — girls. Send me a stamped envelope and I'll suggest some good reading on the subject.

* * *

Good looks can't beat personality, so work on what you have. From where I sit, having a nice girl think of you as a friend isn't to be sneezed at.

* * *

Confidential to Plain Jane: Only you can decide whether you can lift yourself out of the doldrums and carry on. Not every woman is in love with her husband, nor vise versa; but not every woman has five lovely babes.

For loneliness, find friends in a hobby club or church group. For new things to think about, take up a study course. For personal counselling — which could help much more than my message — get direction from the Family and Children's Services of Hastings County, 311 Front St., P. O. Box 185, Belleville.

* * *

Are you in doubt about the proper etiquette to use for your special occasion? Ask Doris, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for her reply.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

New Year Is Time to Make Bread

By MARY MOORE

Irresistible is the word for it. Whee, I read Pauline B's letter I had to make her Centennial Bread recipe: "During Centennial Year I made this loaf of bread and sold it in our roadside restaurant. Several people got the recipe from me and my family wants me to send it to you. (You know how families are.) It was originally called Plymouth Bread but I changed all the ingredients so that it would be Canadian. It is best sliced the next day after baking."

I could not resist cutting off and buttering and tasting the crust as soon as it came from the oven. Wonderful! Twenty-four hours later I had a delicious slice and the lovely honey flavor came through. This Centennial Loaf is easy and economical so yeast bakers get kneading, and start the New Year with a bang.

CENTENNIAL BREAD (2 loaves — courtesy Pauline B.)

- 1 package granular yeast
- ½ cup lukewarm water
- 2 cups boiling water
- ½ cup "wheat hearts" (farina or cream of wheat)
- ½ cup honey
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 teaspoons salt
- about 5½ cups sifted all-purpose flour

In your big mixing bowl soak the yeast in the lukewarm water 10 minutes. In a saucepan slowly stir the "wheat hearts" (or farina) into the boiling water until thick. Reduce heat and stir constantly 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add butter and honey and salt and cool to lukewarm. Meanwhile sift and measure flour. As soon as wheat-heart mixture has cooled to lukewarm add it to risen yeast liquid and add 3 cups of the flour and stir and beat until thoroughly mixed then add another 1½ cups of flour and mix in as well as you can and as long as your arm holds out. Scrape down bowl, cover and let rise 2 hours. Sprinkle kneading board with remaining flour, turn dough out on it, pick up some of the flour and sprinkle over top of dough and knead 200 times. Dough is soft but manageable. Cut it in half and shape into two loaves and place into two well-buttered standard loaf pans. Let rise 3 or 3 hours or until 1½" above rims of pans. Bake at centre of oven at 350 deg. Fahr. Now here is where Pauline and I differ. She says, "Bake one hour". I say bake 30 to 40 minutes. My loaves were deep gold and crusty after 30 minutes baking. So you have to use the "tapping test". That is knock on the top of the loaf when you think it is done to listen for the hollow sound. But, if you are in doubt a longer baking will do no harm. Cool on racks, wrap and store 24 hours, then slice and serve this deliciously different loaf. Thank you Pauline.

Yule Theme At Study Guild Meet

The home of Mrs. Stan Else on Northwood Crescent was beautifully decorated to represent the "True Spirit of Christmas" which was the theme of the Christmas meeting of the Women's Study Guild that evening. Mrs. R. Bettie was chairman for the meeting at which Christmas messages and greetings were read from Mrs. J. Cochrane, the president, who was absent due to illness, and from Mrs. A. Wells, a former member, who included a donation for the adopted child, Marylene Cohen, of Marseille, France. Mrs. Else introduced the devotional period by reading a poem by Eugene Field and an article written by Amy Bolding. In it, she suggested "we should take a good look at Christmas and see what we find amidst all the glitter and show. We should think first of Christ on the anniversary of His birth." Two thought-provoking questions — "Have you made your Christmas list yet? and "Did you leave Him out?" led most appropriately into the theme of the program, — "The Spirit of Christmas".

Mrs. Meredith Daley introduced the program, and read poems and excerpts written by various authors, beginning with "The Greeting" by Giovanni about 1513 A.D. and concluding with a story entitled "There is a present," — which present was the gift of faith. Mrs. O. B. Ragsdale continued the program with the reading of a condensed version of the beloved story of The Other Wise Man by Henry Van Dyke.

Hostesses, Miss Josephine Tickell and Mrs. L. W. Wilkins served Christmas refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting.

PM Ready to Whip Government Into Gallop

OTTAWA (CP)—For 8½ months, Prime Minister Trudeau has been quietly but firmly gathering in the reins of government.

Now he is about to whip that government into a gallop. Not a mindless gallop, but one on a fast—and carefully prepared—track.

Somebody may get run over, perhaps even a cabinet minister or two, perhaps the parliamentary opposition.

During his early news conferences after he took over the prime ministership April 20, Mr. Trudeau placed a lot of emphasis on overhauling the system of parliamentary government. It seemed almost an obsession.

"Why doesn't he do something instead of fiddling around with the formation of cabinet committees and the like?" was a fairly common reaction on Parliament Hill.

But Mr. Trudeau declined to rush any major new legislation into Parliament. Perhaps he had in mind the disastrous "60 days of decision" which followed former prime minister Pearson's assumption of office in 1963.

He revamped his own office, about trebling the prime ministerial staff.

One reason previous administrations made plain, ordinary political goofs was that too many duties were chasing too few aides.

Mr. Trudeau overhauled the cabinet system. He reduced the number of cabinet committees and gave them increased powers. This gives the cabinet more time for the big decisions.

He said Dec. 23 that the cabinet is reaching many more decisions in much less time than previously because its committees meet at fixed times and after adequate preparation.

There is more time for preparation because Mr. Trudeau decided that all ministers, even himself, should attend the Commons question period three instead of five times a week. He attends every day.

The opposition complained about this roster system nearly every day. But Mr. Trudeau persisted.

When Conservative Jack Horner said the "rooster was defeeding his roster" the prime minister retorted that the last one who should make such a remark was the MP for Crowfoot — Mr. Horner.

Mr. Trudeau provided more public funds to enable the opposition to increase its staff of researchers which in turn would enable it to clobber the government more forcefully and effectively.

The prime minister set up a system of regional desks in his own office to report to him on the thinking, needs and complaints of the various areas of Canada. There was considerable grumbling about this from MPs of all parties on the grounds these desks were usurping their duties.

Nearly every second of Mr. Trudeau's time is programmed in advance. It has to be a near-crisis for anybody to get in to see him without an appointment made long ahead.

When the government proposed Commons rule changes to which the opposition strongly objected, Mr. Stanfield said: "The computer stops here."

Mr. Trudeau's chief of programs is 23,000-a-year Jim Davey of Montreal, a former—and current—computer expert.

After reorganizing his own office, the cabinet and some government departments, Mr. Trudeau took on the biggest reorganization job of all—the reform of Parliament itself.

The big majority of the proposed rule changes had all-party agreement. Indeed, the opposition suggested many of them.

As foreseen, there was a fight on one proposed change—rule 16-A—which would have permitted the government to set time limits in advance on all debates, on legislation where there has been prior agreement on time allocation by all parties.

In the end, the government withdrew 16-A for further consideration by an all-party committee on procedure.

But Mr. Trudeau has said he still wants such a rule, even if a modified one.

In effect, he has offered the opposition a choice between two amendments: The government setting time limits in advance on debates but in two stages instead of the originally proposed one stage; or the British system which permits the government to set limits on only one or two pieces of legislation at a time.

Another fight looms on this point soon after Parliament reconvenes Jan. 14. Mr. Trudeau says he wants a fast decision.

Even part from still-to-be-approved time allocations for debates, both government and opposition estimate the new rules approved Dec. 20 will save 40 to 50 sitting days each session.

Mr. Trudeau says that before the end of June he wants to get through Parliament some 40 bills in some 80 sitting days.

During the 60 sitting days between Sept. 12 and Dec. 23, the Commons passed 12 bills. But it spent only 26 days on legislation, 43 days on other matters.

Many of these other matters will be taken out of the Commons and sent to committee so that the proportion of time spent on them and legislation may be almost reversed when the session resumes.

While all these things were going on, the various government departments, under Mr. Trudeau's orders, were reviewing all their policies and programs.

Most notable of these reviews concerned foreign policy and defence. But there were many others: on housing, information services, the economy, social security programs, Indians, labor, the constitution, prices and incomes, offshore mineral rights and sports.

The review by cabinet of these reviews is scheduled to start this month.

Mr. Trudeau says that if these departmental reviews don't shape up to cabinet's liking, they will be sent back to officials for further review.

Consequently, no quick decisions on such problems as foreign policy and defence are expected.

Mr. Trudeau will not return to Ottawa from the London Commonwealth prime ministers' conference until Jan. 15. Parliament Feb. 10-12 is the postponed federal-provincial constitutional conference.

Thus it may be well into spring before specific Trudeau policies and programs begin to emerge.

With all these reforms, reviews and talks in at news conferences and meetings with university students, one would think that Mr. Trudeau was communicating pretty well with Canadians.

But he says he's not satisfied, although he receives advice in this respect from communications theorist Marshall Mc Luhan.

"There is one area which still leaves me quite uncomfortable and it's my relationship with the public," he said Dec. 21.

Apart from the June 25 election result, he hastily added.

The Liberal caucus was trying to act as a communications conductor between people and government. So were committees of cabinet ministers, backbench MPs and the Liberal Federation of Canada.

But "the juice is not coming back and forth and not flowing as smoothly as I thought," Mr. Trudeau said.

Howe Makes Move; Ties for Point Lead

By MICHAEL BENNETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

But Coach Billy Reay believes the five-foot, eight-inch centre plays it as big as anyone in the National Hockey League and Wednesday night the 16,666 fans at the Stadium couldn't argue with him.

Martin, who came to Chicago at the end of the 1965-67 season in the controversial three-for-two trade with Boston Bruins, scored two goals Wednesday night to give the Hawks a 4-3 win over Detroit Red Wings.

It was the seventh win in eight games for Chicago and left the club in a third-place tie with Toronto Maple Leafs who thrashed Oakland Seals 7-3. In the only other game Wednesday, Los Angeles Kings and St. Louis Blues played to a scoreless tie.

Montreal Canadiens regained sole possession of first place in the Eastern Division Tuesday with a 4-3 win in Pittsburgh against the Penguins. Detroit clubbed Minnesota North Stars 6-3 in the only other game New Year's Eve.

GORDIE HOWE

Bobby Hull, with his 24th goal of the season, and Bobby Schmautz scored the other Chicago goals. The goal for Hull left him with only a share of the NHL scoring leadership he has held since early in the season. He and Gordie Howe of Detroit, who picked up a goal and three assists Tuesday night, both have 50 points.

Mike Walton, who missed seven games with the flu, Murray Oliver, Larry Mickey, Ron Ellis and Dave Keon also counted for the Leafs who outshot the Seals 45-26. Charley Hodge was hit for six Leaf goals before Coach Fred Glover replaced him with Gary Smith.

Oakland's Gary Jarrett scored on Bruce Gamble in the first period and Billy Hicke and Ted Hampson added the others against veteran Johnny Bower who took over in goal in the third.

In Los Angeles, Jacques Plante was at his best, picking up his fifth shutout of the season as he kicked out 31 shots. It was the second time this season that the six-time Vezina Trophy winner has blanked the Kings.

Plante collected his first shutout in St. Louis Oct. 12 when the Blues swamped Los Angeles 6-0. He now has a career total of 68.

The tie left St. Louis with 10 points and a nine-point lead on Oakland in the Western Division. The Kings have 29 points and are in third place.

Third-period goals by defenceman George Savard and Jean Beliveau gave Montreal the win Tuesday night in Pittsburgh. John Ferguson and Jacques LaPerriere got the other goals for the Canadiens, who now have 49 points, two more than Boston.

Billy Harris, Bob Woytowich and Gene Ubriaco replied for Pittsburgh, in the Western Division cellar with only seven wins and six ties in 35 games.

Goalie Rogatien Vachon, playing in his first game since he broke a bone in his right hand Dec. 3, stopped only 20 shots as the Canadiens held a 50-21 margin in shots on goal.

Frank Mahovlich almost equalled Howes heroics Tuesday night by scoring three goals for the Red Wings. Alex Delvecchio added a goal and four assists in the 12 scoring points for the night.

Nick Libbett scored the other Detroit goal. Billy Orr, Fred Goldsworthy and rookie Danny O'Shea counted for Minnesota

Helmet Too Flimsy: Doctor

TORONTO (CP) — A helmet worn by a New Brunswick teen-ager who received fatal head injuries during a hockey game was too flimsy to prevent serious brain damage, says Dr. John F. Fekete of Fredericton.

"The protective headgear of an amateur hockey player is a rather flimsy affair which, in many cases, instead of protecting the head, appears to invite carelessness and violence on the part of the opposing players," Dr. Fekete writes in the current issue of the Canadian Medical Association Journal.

"Being made of thin plastic material, however, it does not have enough rigidity to give adequate protection against any but the slightest blow. The type of helmet used by the player who died could be compressed easily by one hand."

Dr. Fekete refers to the April 21, 1968, death of a 16-year-old Eric Graves of Dartmouth, N.S., who was wearing a helmet during an organized tournament in New Brunswick.

College Birthday Party

Tubes Cool After Nine Grid Hours

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The television sets across the land are cooling today after nine solid hours of New Year's Day college football bowl games.

It was the 100th anniversary of college football in the United States and when it was all over:

—Ohio State's Buckeyes had rallied from a 10-point deficit to whip Southern California 27-16 in the Rose Bowl to clinch the collegiate football title before 102,063 fans in Pasadena, Calif.

—Texas quarterback Jim Street had burned a dazed Tennessee secondary with two scoring bombs to Charlie Speyer as the Longhorns trampled the Volunteers in a 36-13 Cotton Bowl rout at Dallas.

—Penn State had taken advantage of a second chance and shaved a gambler's disdain for the odds to slip past the Kansas Jayhawks 15-14 in the Orange Bowl at Miami.

The curtain-raiser on all the bowl activity was the Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston, Tex., New Year's Eve when Southern Methodist Mustangs clipped Oklahoma Sooners 28-27.

Queen Snubs Medal Winners

All the other British gold medalists received something in the Queen's New Year's list, announced yesterday. But the winners of the three-day team event — Maj. Derek Allhusen, Richard Meade, Sgt. Ben Jones and Jane Bullen — were not mentioned.

Sports writers called it "a curious omission" and "a major bosh."

Col. Mike Ansell, chairman of the British Horse Society, commented: "I can only assume that it is a matter of policy not to honor team sports, and this was very, very much a team victory. All the same, I am very disappointed their success could not be marked by an honor."

Wednesday's list also included awards of members of the Order of the British Empire (MBE) for five Olympic Gold medallists — 400 metres hurdler David Memory, clay pigeon shooter Bob Braithwaite, middleweight boxer Chris Finnegan, and flying Dutchman yachtsman Lieut. Rodney Pattison and Iain MacDonald-Smith.

Signed Hull For Hawks

HAVELOCK, Ont. (CP) — Bob Wilson, chief scout for Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League, died Wednesday at his home in this community 26 miles east of Peterborough. He was 66 and had been ill for some time.

Wilson, best known as the man who discovered and signed Bobby Hull with Chicago Black Hawks, had started also as a scout for Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins.

He worked for the Seals since 1966-67, their final year in the Western Hockey League and assisted then general manager Rudy Pilous and coach Bert Olmstead in selecting players in the NHL expansion draft.

Canadian Teams Drop Games To Europeans

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The two Canadian teams competing in the Ahearne Cup and Star Cup hockey tournaments were beaten Wednesday night and Swedish teams took the lead in both events.

The Eastern Division of Canada's national team, strongly favored to win the Star Cup after two impressive opening victories, lost the tournament lead in a tough match in Goteborg with Vaestra Frolunda. The score was 4-1.

* * *

Vikings Sink

WINNIPEG (CP) — Sweden's visiting Vikings hockey team was swamped 11-4 Wednesday by the western half of Canada's national squad.

The Winnipeg-based Nationals jumped to a 6-0 lead in the first period, were outscored four goals to one in the second, and came back with four unanswered goals in the third.

Fran Huck, smooth-skating centre for the Nationals, scored four goals and Billy MacMillan three. Other marksmen for Canada were Ted Hargreaves, Chuck Lefley, Jim Irving and Wally Kozak.

In the Ahearne Cup competition, Victoriaville Tigers, Allan Cup champions, lost 6-3 in Helsinki to Finland's top club, Helsingfors.

Derek Holmes scored the only goal for the national team.

Gordie Howe's HOCKEY

Slumps can be puzzling things for a hockey club. There is never a cut and dried reason and to break one, it takes sweat. Lots of it.

Suddenly, for no apparent reason, a team gets hot. It goes game after game without a loss and no one can really point a finger to why.

To me, it's the complete reverse of a slump and I realize this sounds like remarking on the obvious. However, I don't mean it that way. It's like this: When a team goes into a slump, players start pressing. They worry about losing.

When a team is on a winning streak, it's the opposite. Suddenly the uniforms start feeling lighter, the shots start bouncing in and after a while you are convinced you will never lose another game.

Take St. Louis Blues. They went 13 games without a loss in a string that was finally halted by the Chicago Black Hawks. The Blues are a team which has given the Red Wings a lot of trouble, but during that streak we were unfortunate enough to bump into them twice. They were flying and we were fortunate enough to tie in one game when Alex Delvecchio scored in the final minute. In the next one, in our own building, we took it on the chin.

But, I bet, while the Blues were in that streak, even their manager-coach Scotty Bowman would be hard pressed to give a reason. It's too many things. Good goaltending. Strong defensive play. Goals at the right time.

And, at the same time, luck. Things like a puck hitting a post and going in instead of hitting a post and bouncing away. Then after a few games, a team starts making its own luck. You think positive. That's when the uniforms start feeling lighter.

But when you are in a slump, Uph. There are times when you don't even want to put the uniform on.

Put Second-half Clamps on O.J.

Sparkling Defence Gives Buckeyes Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (CP-AP) — Coach Woody Hayes guided his Ohio State Buckeyes to a 27-16 victory over South California in the Rose Bowl Wednesday, then packed for a nice, quiet trip to Vietnam.

It was Hayes' third Rose Bowl victory and it will be his fourth goodwill visit to the battle front.

"This is my greatest bowl victory," Hayes said. "After all, both teams were unbeaten."

It was the final college game in the illustrious career of halfback O. J. Simpson and he led the way as the Trojans stunned the bucks by opening a 10-0 lead in the second quarter.

He gathered in three passes from quarterback Steve Sogge for 53 yards before the Buckeye defence stiffened on the three-yard line and Ron Ayala had to settle for a 21-yard field goal.

Minutes later, Simpson electrified the 102,063 fans by breaking off left tackle and cutting back to the right on an 80-yard touchdown gallop.

Simpson ripped up the Buckeyes for 137 yards on 18 carries in the first half but Ohio got to him in the second half, limiting him to 34 yards on 10 carries.

The teams were tied 10-10 in the half, then Jim Roman put the Ohio State team ahead with a 25-yard field goal.

Ohio steamed ahead with two touchdowns in the final quarter. Southern Cal collected its final touchdown with 45 seconds remaining and with it a protest from Hayes that drew the Buckeyes a 15-yard penalty.

Sogge led USC 52 yards in seven plays, the last a 19-yard pass to Sam Dickerson in the end zone. Dickerson and Buckeye Mike Polaski came down wrapped around the ball and officials gave the completion to the offensive team.

Hayes stormed onto the field to protest but by then the overall issue had long since been settled.

The defence in the second half was fabulous. It was about as good as our best effort earlier when we beat Purdue 13-0."

The alert Ohio defence, which has been the key many times in a perfect 10-0 season, recovered two fumbles that led to touchdowns and picked off two of Sogge's aerials.

Southern Cal actually outgained Ohio in total offence with 366 yards to the Bucks' 302. Simpson's 171 net fell 24 yards short of eclipsing the Rose Bowl record of 194 set by Iowa's Bob Jeter against California in 1959.

Former Eskimo Coach Puts Tennessee on Ice

DALLAS (CP-AP) — The coach praised the team and the team praised the coach as Texas Longhorns celebrated their 36-13 romp over Tennessee Vols in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

Texas quarterback Jim Street spoke of the two big bombs the Longhorns executed and said:

"Coach called the first pass. I called the second one."

Head coach Darrell Royal said he came up with something new in the pass Street threw to Charles (Cotton) Speyrer that went 28 yards for a touchdown.

"It was a new play. Tennessee was on the ropes then and never got off."

Royal has a history of bringing "something new" into the game. As head coach of Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian Football League in 1953, Royal was the man who introduced the split T formation to Canadian ball.

Speyrer and Street, after their first-half success with the long bomb, came right back in the second half and this time it went for 79 yards and a touch down.

Royal said the first touchdown pass unfolded off the triple option. Street could have run or handed off.

The second time out, it was a pass play all the way.

"We noticed the safety was firing into the line and not paying attention to me," Speyrer said.

"Coach told me to blow past him. It worked pretty well.

"On the second one, we noticed the defensive backs were reacting quickly, so about 12 yards down and I jigzed to the inside. When they reacted, I went to the outside."

Royal, who had predicted the game would be a toss up, looked at the scoreboard and said:

"Really, I didn't expect anything like this."

Warriors Finally Get Royals' Number

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rudy LaRusso and Nate Thurmond paced San Francisco Warriors to a 106-101 victory over Cincinnati Royals Wednesday night in a National Basketball Association game—their first decision in three games with the Royals this season.

LaRusso had 25 points for the Warriors and Thurmond 24. However, Oscar Robertson's 37 points were the high for Cincinnati and the game.

In the only other game Wednesday, Boston Celtics defeated Phoenix Suns 93-87. Boston's balanced attack saw five players score 13 to 17 points, with John Havlicek and Bailey Howell scoring 17 each. For the Suns, Dick Van Arsdale top man with 22 points.

In Games Tuesday night, New York downed Baltimore 121-110, Cincinnati edged Boston 114-112, Philadelphia defeated Milwaukee 128-107 and Detroit beat Los Angeles 127-107.

NHL Scoring Derby

Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings broke out with a goal and three assists to take the lead in the National Hockey League scoring race on the last day of 1968—but it was a lead he couldn't hold into 1969.

Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks came through with a New Year's Day goal to move into a tie with Howe. Each has 50 points—Howe on 17 goals and 33 assists and Hull on 24 goals and 26 assists.

Sports On All Fronts

TORONTO (CP) — Oblivious to snow squalls and near-zero temperatures, a crowd of 7,507 turned up at Greenwood Raceway Wednesday for the opening day of the 1969 harness racing season.

Armbro Egan, which earned $10,944 in 1968 on four wins, nine seconds and four thirds in 32 starts, captured the featured sixth race by half a length over Gov Stone. The two horses paired for a $38.60 exacta. Armbro Egan paced the mile in 2:12.1.

The daily double combination of Widower's Pick and Coat Lou returned $198.60 as the crowd wagered $439,119.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Russia's national hockey team is scheduled to arrive Jan. 13 in Montreal where it will begin an eight game exhibition series with Canada's Nationals.

A revised timetable issued by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has the Russians playing their first game against Canada at the Montreal Forum Jan. 17.

The remainder of the schedule calls for games Jan. 19 in Toronto, Jan. 21 in Vancouver, Jan. 22 in Victoria, Jan. 24 in Ottawa, Jan. 26 and 28 in Winnipeg and Jan. 30 in Ottawa.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former Los Angeles Dodger pitching great Sandy Koufax and Ann Widmark, 23-year-old daughter of actor Richard Widmark, were married Wednesday at the Widmarks' home.

Koufax, 32, long considered one of Los Angeles' most eligible bachelors, announced the couple's engagement shortly before Christmas. He quit baseball after the 1966 season because of an arthritic left elbow.

Filion Escapes Pileup

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Herve Filion, world harness racing driving champion from Anjers, Que., registered his 406th win of 1968 Tuesday night, driving So Long's Prince to victory in a special New Year's Eve refreshment trot and pace event at Windsor Raceway.

The victory for So Long's Prince, owned by Filion's mother, was his 11th in 29 starts. All nine horses in the non-wagering race which preceded the regular program were due to retire New Year's Day at the age of 55.

During the race, drive Herbert Craig of Blenheim, near Chatham, was taken to hospital after a three-horse pileup. Craig, 71, also was due for mandatory retirement Jan. 1 under a Canadian Trotting Association regulation.

Now that 1968 B.C. (Before Champagne) means little more than an eggnog stain on your best trousers, we should turn our bloodshot eyes to the 365 solunar instalments that lie ahead.

And, having come to the conclusion that my Calgary Stampeder prediction would have held up had the Grey Cup game lasted three days longer, I have declared myself eligible to use the guillotine as a headrest once more.

Should none of the following come to pass, I hereby vow to turn all my shares in the Oakland Seals over to a deserving charity — like the Montreal Canadiens.

HOCKEY — The Boston Bruins will not only win the Stanley Cup . . . they will capture the final series in THREE games, a feat unprecedented in the modern annals of the National Hockey League. The coming year will also see Gordie Howe benched for indifferent play, Bobby Hull go into a brief-er-than-72-hour retirement, and Sweeney Schriner reactivated by the Toronto Maple Leafs in their never-ending attempt to maintain the club's youth program.

BASEBALL — One team in each of the major leagues will earn a bye under the new pre-World Series playoff system by virtue of sporting the longest collective sideburns in their respective division. Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau will either be selected as the new Commissioner of Baseball or will have all of the 1969 World Series Games played on the site of Man and His World. Because of a fear that pitchers are beginning to dominate the game, the strike zone will be limited to a corridor four inches by three, at a height not to exceed 76 centimetres below the batter's armpit.

FOOTBALL — The 1969 Grey Cup champions will be the Edmonton Eskimos, who will beat the Ottawa Rough Riders 64-63 in a sudden-death period played on the Thursday following the regularly-appointed game time. The postponement will be forced by a riot in Vancouver's Empire Stadium by students of Simon Fraser University, protesting segregated washroom facilities (i.e. - for males and females) on campus. Tommy Joe Coffey, who will be traded back to the Eskimos by Hamilton's Ti-Cats, will kick the game-winning point — a single from the eight yard line on a fake Statue of Liberty play. Ottawa will lose the services of flashy Vic Washington, whose 1968 Grey Cup ball-handling will land him a tryout with the Harlem Globetrotters.

BOXING — Toronto's George Chuvalo will fight Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight championship of the world, and the winner will retire immediately after the title bout.

THOROUGHBRED RACING — All entries in major United States track classics will have to undergo compulsory injections of pain-killing drugs before post time. Any horse passing the urine test after the race will be automatically disqualified.

OLYMPIC GAMES — There will be none.

ELSEWHERE — Elasticized tow ropes will create a furor in water-skiing circles . . . minor penalties will be instituted in cricket for rough play . . . obscenity will be legalized in professional sport . . . and Clarence Campbell will be canonized.

B.C.I. Invitational

Over 200 to Compete In Grappling Tourney

By MALCOLM JOHNSTON
Staff Sportswriter

STAFF — If you've ever been on the receiving end of a Guillotine Pin, you'll appreciate what's going on at Belleville Collegiate Saturday night.

The defending Ontario championship squad from Bunting Memorial Collegiate of Alliston will be featured as Belleville Collegiate hosts its first High School Invitational Wrestling Tournament.

The powerful Banting squad will be one of 15 on hand as over 200 wrestlers from all over the province compete in 12 weight classes, starting at the 97 pound class and progressing up to the unlimited weight category.

The list of entries includes Banting Memorial, Anderson High School of Whitby, Dunbarton Collegiate of Pickering, Queen Elizabeth Collegiate of Kingston, Peterborough Collegiate, Campbellford, Brighton, Cobourg, Napanee, Moira Secondary, Quinte Secondary, Centennial and the host school, BCI.

The matches will be scored on a points system, with points varying according to the degree of difficulty of the manoeuvres accomplished by the wrestlers.

A wrestler who pins his opponents shoulders to the mat for three seconds wins the match, and if there is no pin, the wrestler with the highest point total is the winner.

Each match will consist of three two-minute periods with no rest allowed between periods. The referee is the sole judge of the match unless a tie occurs.

In the event of a tie there are two one-minute overtime periods, with the referee and two judges deciding the winner of the match.

There will be two matches occurring at the same time, and there is no limit to the number of entries from one school in one weight class.

The tournament gets underway at 11 o'clock, with the finals starting at approximately six o'clock in the evening. Spectators are welcome.

Coach Dougal McCamley Sorts Them Out

Morrisons Begin New Year Friday In Trenton Tilt

The Belleville Morrisons are hoping the new year has more in store for them than the old one did as they prepare for a pair of weekend encounters in an effort to rebound in the new year and vacate the cellar of the six team Eastern Ontario Junior "B" hockey league.

Belleville travels to Trenton Friday night for a game against the third place Golden Hawks and returns to this city for a Sunday afternoon tilt with the Cobourg Cougars, who have 14 points and are tied with Kingston Frontenacs in the race for the fourth and last playoff spot.

The Morrisons suffered a pair of tough 4-3 losses last weekend, the first coming on Friday night in Belleville against Kingston, and the second Sunday in Peterborough at the hands of the league-leading Don Blyes.

Coach Floyd Crawford hopes to have a full squad dressed for the weekend games and will likely bolster his team with a player or two from the minor hockey system in Belleville.

Ron Fuller, the team's leading scorer, missed last weekend's games but is expected to be back in uniform this weekend and will try to add some scoring punch to the Morrison's attack.

Belleville, with seven points in 17 games, only trails Kingston and Cobourg by seven points, and a pair of weekend wins would greatly enhance their playoff chances.

Mo-Hawks Brace for Vital Weekend Tilts

The Mo-Hawks are battling for a playoff spot and the weekend promises to be an exciting one for senior hockey fans in Belleville as the locals play two important contests.

Friday night the Mo-Hawks play host to the Oakville Oaks at the Belleville Arena, and Saturday they travel to Kingston for a game against their arch-rivals and chief competitors, the Kingston Aces.

The Mo-Hawks are currently in seventh place and trail sixth place Kingston by only five points as they fight for the sixth and last playoff spot in the eight team OHA Senior "A" hockey league.

Belleville has a score to settle with the fifth place Oaks who have defeated the locals twice previously this season. A win Friday night would mean two valuable points, and also, sweet revenge for the Mo-Hawks, who are coming off a 61 thrashing of the Aces Sunday at the Belleville Arena.

The game at Kingston promises to be a battle royal as the Mo-Hawks have beaten Kingston four times in Belleville this season but have lost all three games in the Limestone City.

The Aces are strengthening their club for the playoff race and have recently signed forward Bob Rawson, the club's leading scorer last season with 39 goals and 20 assists, and defenceman Bob Olajos.

Rawson is expected to play Saturday night after missing the first half of the season with a back injury, and the Kingston management is counting on him to add some punch to the Aces' attack. Olajos, a veteran of senior hockey in Kingston, also sat out the first portion of the schedule.

Coach Davey Jones said "We're starting to score a few more goals and we've been playing well, so there's no reason why we can't win both games and push ourselves right into the middle of the playoff picture."

"We're improving all the time, and the younger players like Andy Teeple, Al Ferguson and Ron Riley are gaining confidence as they start to score more points," he added.

Jones said that the Mo-Hawks will work tonight in preparation for the weekend's games, but he did not know as yet if any players will miss either of the weekend encounters.

The schedule smiles on Belleville this weekend, for the Kingston club, who have not won a game on the road this season, and make the long trek to Collingwood Friday night for a game against the fourth place Kings.

The Mo-Hawks could not be blamed for hoping that the long trip will produce some workout Aces Saturday night.

THE PICK OF Punch

Today's Jokes Not Serious Enough: Punch Editor

"Hurry them up a bit. We're down to the good Scotch."

LONDON (AP) — The "whiskid of Fleet Street" Wednesday became the new editor of Punch, Britain's most famous humor magazine. He promptly complained that today's jokes aren't serious enough.

"The kind of humor I like is the thing which makes me laugh for five seconds and think for 10 minutes," said 35-year-old William Davis.

"People long for something which shows up all the absurdity and pomposity we have in this country and in other countries.

"There have never been so many targets, and I want to have a go at them."

His persistent deflation of politicians as financial editor of The Guardian brought him to the attention of Punch management.

"One of the things I want to do is arrange a world conference of humorists in London this year," he said. "Humorists are deadly serious people. They slink around all the time and don't seem to find anything funny.

"I think if we got a bunch of humorists together to discuss the problem of humor, all looking deadly serious, it will make a nice change from all those international monetary conferences, which are really very funny."

"I was brought up to look on the cheerful side of life, and I go looking through the papers and they're all miserable. We're wallowing in it, in this country particularly.

"Crisis was the big word of 1968. We absolutely adore it. Everything is a crisis. Isn't that absurd?" ...

Davis said Punch had got out of touch and no longer has much impact on British life. Its circulation is 115,000 weekly.

He said people now tend to identify Punch with dentists' waiting rooms and hardly anyone remembers its bland suburban jokes about cricket and tea parties.

"We've been going for 127 years and now we've become part of the establishment. It's got to be anti-establishment and it's got to tilt at windmills all the time. That's what Punch was when it started."

One of Davis's first steps to get Punch in touch again was ordering the installation of a powerful shortwave radio in his office. He said he'll listen to radio programs in Europe and the United States.

Pensioners Pawns in Battle

LONDON (AP) — The High Court declined Wednesday to intervene in a takeover battle for Britain's most widely read Sunday newspaper. The News of the World.

Justice Robert Megarry refused to grant an injunction to three News of the World pensioners which would have prevented 600,000 pension fund shares from being voted in favor of a link-up with News Ltd., an Australian publishing group.

The judge said the pensioners were being used as pawns in the fight for control of the giant organization.

The pensioners had sued Sir William Carr and two other News of the World directors, trustees of the pension fund, to stop them from voting 578,596 pension fund shares—six per cent of the total stock—in favor of the News Ltd. linkup and directing them to vote against the proposal a a meeting of stockholders today.

Justice Megarry was told the shares could be vital in deciding the battle for control.

News Ltd., headed by Rupert Murdoch, is fighting British Labor lawmaker Robert Maxwell's Pergamon Press Publishing combine for control of the News of the World, which claims the world's largest Sunday newspaper circulation, more than 6,000,000.

Free Press Eroded

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Press freedom throughout the world was further eroded during 1968, the International Press Institute said Tuesday, in a year-end report.

The IPI, which has a membership of more than 1,500 publishers, editors and journalists on five continents, said in a survey signed by acting director Anthony Brock:

"Ironically in human rights year, the people's right to information, which is what press freedom means, has again suffered losses.

"Apart from more dramatic encroachments on liberty of the press such as arrest of journalists, expulsion of correspondents and closure of newspapers—and there have been many—there has been a widespread whittling away of the press's ability to fulfill its role, springing largely from lack of appreciation of what the function of the free press should be."

Czechoslovakia proved "how vital press freedom is to other human freedoms," the survey said.

The report praised the achievements of Czech and Slovak journalists "with no experience of free reporting and open criticism" for the means and skill with which they brought the facts to the people.

The report said virtually no area of the world escapes criticism.

"In no less than 14 out of 27 South American countries and islands south of the United States—Mexico border, press freedom is either non-existent, subject to restrictions which make it difficult for journalists to fulfill their role, or limited by the use of pressures."

In the United States the survey referred to what it called "a disquieting development . . . Despite disproof of any direct connection, it has been felt that the media, by publicizing violence and particularly in the case of television by being present during it, in some measure incite the violence they report."

It added that following the Chicago Democratic convention riots, during which 34 newspaper men were injured, "public opinion polls found wide support for the police action and little for the newspaper man who it was apparently felt were as much to blame for what happened as those who struck them."

Sulzberger Sure Children Will Keep Tradition

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Hays Sulzberger's will expresses confidence that his four children will preserve the tradition of New York Times, which they eventually will inherit.

Sulzberger, 77, chairman of the board of The Times, died Dec. 11, leaving an estate of more than $1,000,000. He was publisher of the newspaper for 25 years.

Sulzberger's will, dated Feb. 9, 1965, was filed for probate Tuesday in surrogate's court. In it, Sulzberger noted that his father-in-law, Adolph S. Ochs, had decreed that control of The Times pass to the four Sulzberger children after the death of Mrs. Sulzberger.

"My wife and I," Sulzberger wrote, "have complete confidence that they will fulfill the public trust that they will then assume."

Irish Civil Rights Advocates Picked Up by Antrim Police

ANTRIM (Reuters) — Civil rights advocates on a 72-mile march rode through this Northern Ireland city in police vans after extremist Protestants blocked their way and refused to let them walk through.

The impasse occurred at a bridge on the outskirts of Antrim when the 60 marchers, mostly students, tried to enter the town after a 12-mile trudge from Belfast.

The march was planned as a small-scale copy of the pour people's march on Washington. The marchers plan to walk 72 miles from Belfast to Londonderry to protest alleged discrimination against Roman Catholics.

Police hastily formed a cordon between the rival groups and an argument began over whether the marchers should be allowed to walk through the town.

The Protestants beat a huge drum throughout the discussion. Finally the students accepted the compromise solution put forward by police. They agreed to travel through Antrim in police vans.

The marchers spent the night at a hall at Randalstown, outside Antrim, and will continue their walk Thursday.

Protestant leaders warned that similar confrontations would take place at every town on the route.

Non-lethal Weapons Industry Expands

NEW YORK (AP) — An axe that spits tear gas, a grenade that doesn't explode and a shotgun that fires wooden slugs are among the latest weapons being purchased by police in an effort to maintain order and control crowds without killing.

"Most of the police departments in the United States haven't been properly equipped for this sort of thing," said J. J. Mascuch, president of Breeze Corp., whose Federal Laboratories subsidiary produces a variety of non-lethal weapons.

U.S. law enforcement agencies spent an estimated $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 on non-lethal weaponry in 1968, compared to about $1,000,000 the year before, and spending is expected to reach $12,000,000 by 1972, says Equity Research Associates.

Equity, a New York-based investment adviser, said in a recent study of the law enforcement market that while "Americans have continued to accept lethal weaponry as the only practical police tool until recent times, greater public awareness of violence and social disorder has generated a more critical mood. . . .

"Growing belief that the value of life exceeds that of property, an increase in the number of juvenile offenses, and drastic modification of state death sentences have been major symptoms reflecting or causing a sense of dissatisfaction with police dependence on lethal weapons."

To meet this change in mood, the police, while still relying heavily on such items as night sticks and guns have turned to other crowd-control weapons such as the shotgun which shoots wooden instead of metal pellets.

"It doesn't cut the skin, but it gives a hell of a shock," Mascuch said.

His firm also produces a billy club that can fire a tear-gas tainer of tear gas attached to its head.

"You smash a crack in a door, then push a button and shoot tear gas into a room," he said.

A plastic tear-gas grenade that can be fired from a shotgun, thrown by hand or rolled down a street has been developed by United Industrial Corp.

"Some ordinary tear gas grenades are in a metal container that can explode in a person's face and blind or burn him," a United spokesman said. "The plastic grenades are non-explosive and non-burning, but they still can control a crowd."

Bangor Punta Corp. has five divisions that make a variety of public security devices, ranging from hand guns to drunkometers to tear gas to chemical Mace.

Chemical Mace, says Equity, is "one new weapon that has already achieved widespread success."

"The Mace is an aerosol dispenser which produces a mist of tear gas and other disabling chemicals which produce immediate but harmless irritation of eyes and skin. Police using the spray have found that both attacks on policemen and the use of force by police have been greatly reduced."

Sharp Meets Brains

OTTAWA (CP) — A group of European affairs experts from the Canadian academic world will get together with External Affairs Minister Sharp this weekend for a half session tied to Canada's current foreign policy review.

The meeting, to take place in Hull, Que., across the Ottawa River from here, could have an important bearing on the development of Canadian policy towards Europe.

Policy towards Europe, particularly Canada's role in the Atlantic alliance, is at the core of the top-to-bottom review ordered by Prime Minister Trudeau shortly after he took over as head of the government last spring.

Government informants declined to say how many political scientists from the universities will take part in the weekend discussions, but said they will number about 15. Mr. Sharp will have an equal number of officials assisting him.

The talks get under way Friday evening and last until Sunday.

The European part of the policy review covers relations with both Western Europe and the Soviet bloc. It is expected to culminate in the publication of a white paper some time in the coming year.

Other major sections of the policy reappraisal include relations with China, with Latin America and with the United Nations.

Meanwhile, the review of Canada's relations with the UN is expected to get under way in earnest in January. Heavily involved in it will be George Ignatieff, ambassador to the UN for the last 2½ years. Mr. Ignatieff has been named Canada's chief disarmament negotiator at Geneva, but is not expected to take up his new post for some months.

Trudeau Praises Services

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau told an interviewer interested in his bachelorhood Wednesday that he may have a change in mind for 1969.

On a more serious note, Mr. Trudeau told the CBC interviewers there is "a serious morale problem" in the armed forces because of their uncertain future arising from the foreign policy review, and the unification program.

He said he could do nothing to reassure servicemen except to say they are undervalued by the average Canadian.

Foreign policy and defence decisions will be reached on the basis of furthering the society which Canadians want. Final decisions are months away.

On another point, he felt "the whole concept of diplomacy as a career is a little bit outmoded."

There is a need for a basic re-examination of the function of the diplomat, he said. He should be much closer to the people, more culture-oriented.

He said concepts of diplomacy partly hinge on the early days when a country needed people abroad to send news dispatches back by telegraph. Now you can get it in a good newspaper.

Ottawa Mailbox Dynamited

OTTAWA (CP) — Police are searching the area around a downtown building housing federal government offices where a dynamite bomb placed in a mailbox exploded New Year's Eve.

No one was injured but the blast shattered windows on the first five floors of the nine-storey building, tore a five-foot crater in the street and caused some damage to ground floor offices.

It was the first such blast in Ottawa though a number of similar incidents have taken place in Montreal. Many of the Montreal explosions have been ascribed to separatists but police here said they have no idea how or why the bomb was placed.

Two bombs exploded in Montreal later Tuesday night.

HILDA'S COLUMN

Here's an interesting thought from Mr. G. B., London: "Statistics show that in a city the size of London, with a population of 185,000, nearly 40,000 are diabetics, another 20,000 are on special diets due to heart disease, thyroid disorders and blood pressure problems. Why hasn't someone thought of the idea of having all the foods and beverages for special diets all in one place?"

That's a very good suggestion, Mr. B. In fact, many Loblaw stores now have dietetic sections and this is one area we are hoping to expand in the future. Ethnic foods, too! Thanks for your suggestion.

Hilda Wilson

P.S. May I take this opportunity to thank my many new friends for their Holiday greetings —and to wish you all the very best in 1969.

Lutherans May Delay Confirmation Until 16

NEW YORK (AP) — A dramatic break with long-time tradition has been proposed for Lutheran churches. The proposal would allow children to share in the Lord's Supper before they're confirmed as mature members of the church.

Their time of confirmation also would be delayed until age 15 or 16 when they could make a more responsible decision about accepting Christian obligations.

The changes, recommended by a joint commission of the three major branches of Lutheranism, would sharply modify practices prevailing throughout most of Protestantism since the 15th century.

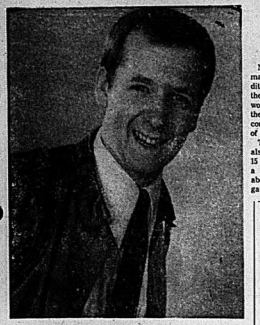
Under the long-standing system, young people customarily are confirmed about 12 or 14 after varying amounts of instruction, with eligibility for communion withheld from them until that time.

The proposals were drawn up in four years of work by a 15-member joint commission headed by Rev. C. Richard Evenson of Minneapolis.

The findings are being submitted to the 17,000 local congregations of the Lutheran Church of America, the American Lutheran Church and the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, which have a total of 9,000,000.

This is more than 95 per cent of the Lutherans in the United States.

Congregations were advised not to launch the changes before final action on them, anticipated at the 1970 and 1971 church conventions.



Confirmation is observed in churches which baptize infants. Anglican, Presbyterian, Lutheran, Methodist, the United Church as well as Roman Catholicism and Eastern Orthodox, but not by Baptists and others who don't baptize infants.

In it, a baptized individual personally commits himself to the faith, confirming baptismal vows usually taken for him earlier by his parents, and assumes his full duties in the Christian cause.

The commission proposed that baptized children be admitted to communion as soon as they can appreciate its meaning, at about ages 10 to 11 and that confirmation be delayed until 15 or 16, with three years of instruction before.

At that older stage, the report said, "most youths have found an emotional perspective" and "intellectual capacities for thinking and reasoning" enabling them to make a sounder decision about identifying with the Christian community.

Your Dollars

Can You Buy House?

By KEN WEERES

Eventually most families face the question, "Should we buy a house?" To settle this important decision there are several things you should consider. Obviously the alternatives are to rent an apartment or house or to buy a house. Each alternative has advantages and disadvantages.

If your job requires you to move frequently you would probably be ahead to rent. Trying to sell a house in a hurry often results in accepting a low price or even taking a loss. Moreover, should you be unable to sell, you will have a large sum of money tied up.

Also, the cost of maintaining a house can be large. It is recommended that 2 percent to 4 percent of the purchase price of the house be spent each year on maintenance. The older the house, the more you will spend on repairs.

There are also the costs of taxes, insurance and utilities to consider. Moreover, a lawn mower, sprinklers and garden tools are also required. Small items, perhaps, but they quickly add up to sizeable amounts.

When you own a house you must be prepared to spend your full time cutting grass, shovelling snow and general repairs. If you find this unpleasant work, and you would rather have time to pursue a hobby or other interests, you may be ahead to rent.

On the other hand, there are many advantages to home ownership. You slowly build up an equity in tangible property which may be considered a form of savings. But the savings may be small if you are in a neighborhood which becomes depressed or you are forced to sell quickly.

There is also the pride of ownership, a feeling of planted roots. And finally, if you have a large family a house may simply be necessary.

It is generally conceded that most houses are bought, not on a financial basis but rather for philosophical reasons. The owning of property, of being able to call some land your own, is often more important than any financial disadvantage which may exist. However, older couples who live alone are usually farther ahead to rent.

Suppose you do decide to buy a home? How much should you pay? A general rule of thumb often used is that the cost of the house should not exceed 2½ times your gross annual income. This principle must be used only as a guide, subject to your family tastes and preferences.

To compute the amount you can afford, deduct all monthly expenses including food, clothing, savings and so on from your monthly take-home income. The amount remaining is the maximum monthly payment you can afford for mortgage payments, taxes, insurance and other household costs.

Before deciding on a home consider your income and expenses in the future. Make allowances for increased expenditure due to family growth, education or taking care of elderly people. What about your financial stability? Is your job secure with a good future income potential? If the wife is working, will she continue to do so?

What size of down payment can you make? If you have a large down payment, you can buy a more expensive house than someone with a small down payment, although both are making the same income. But don't put all your money into the down payment. Be certain there is enough left for moving costs, lawyer's fees, new drapes, repairs and so on.

In buying a house be certain you do not buy one more expensive than you can afford. If you find it necessary to scale down your ideas on your standard of living — do so. It is better to have a smaller house and financial stability, than an expensive house and live in a financial straight jacket. You don't have to buy the ultimate dream home now. Many people do not buy a house for once and all, but change as their needs and income changes.

A house is probably the largest investment you will make. Moreover, any decisions you make will affect your life for many years. It is worth your time, and will make better use of your dollars, if you give your decision the thought it deserves.

Winnie's Friends Attack The Soldier

LONDON (CP) — Six associates of Sir Winston Churchill during the Second World War have attacked the controversial play Soldiers, saying it has "caused distress and grief" to his family and close friends.

But they avoid referring to it or playwright Rolf Huchhuth by name.

The production, which stars Canadian John Colicos in its current London Run, ir branded "a propaganda play" by John Colville and the others involved in the statement published Wednesday.

The signatories write that their criticism of the German author's play "is that the playwright has undermined his own efforts by basing his argument on a series of misrepresentations, distortions and errors of fact."

IT WORKS BECAUSE IT SWINGS!

That's the principle behind the pendulum clock, invented in 1657. Earlier clock were found only in cathedrals and public squares; today it is a rare home that doesn't contain at least one time-keeping device. The days of the sundial and the hourglass are gone and the modern world depends upon accurate clocks.
If the days of your older clocks are gone it your house, chances are that a home somewhere in this area would love to use it.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock market moved up firmly in active mid-morning trading today.

The industrial index gained .72 to 189.65, less than two points below its record last month. Advances outran declines by a clear lead.

In industrials, Bank of Nova Scotia rose ¾ to 27, Dominion Stores ½ to 17, Moore Corp. ¼ to 32¾ and Alcan ¼ to 34.

Among the most active stocks, Toronto Industrial Holdings, newly-listed Tuesday was up 20 cents to $2.20 and Noranda ¼ to 34¾.

Nickel producers continued to advance following their price increase for refined nickel. Inco and Falconbridge gained ¼ each to 42 and 108 and Sherritt Gordon 10 cents to $9.00.

Gulf Oil Canada lost ¼ to 45¾. The company today changed its name from British American Oil Co.

To Your Good Health

Type of Shoe Not Vital Factor

By Dr. George C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please discuss the pros and cons of various types of shoes and the effect they have on children's feet — Cowboy boots, tennis shoes, sandals, oxfords.

We're talking about normal feet, aren't we?

For the average healthy child, I don't hold any particular brief for any special type of shoe but I'm very fussy about the importance of correct fit.

Boots, tennis shoes, and sandals, generally speaking, are worn for reasonably short periods, but with them, again, the important point is proper fit rather than the type of shoe.

Oxfords? Fine, after the age of 2 or 3 years. Before that a high shoe is used because it stays on better. Ankle protection is not necessary.

A guide for proper fitting of shoes is to feel the toe through the shoe. (X-ray fitting of shoes has pretty well disappeared and ought to disappear entirely.)

A shoe should be the width of a thumb longer than the child's foot and the width of a little finger wider. The heel should fit snugly.

The size of children's feet should be checked frequently, because youngsters grow in spurts, and the feet at times can grow far more rapidly than the shoes were cut. Unless you are careful about this a youngster can be walking around in shoes that don't fit him. Too often youngsters take this in stride, cut up their toes, cram their feet into little space, and don't complain. They have to do the watching for them.

Poorly fitting shoes, principally meaning shoes that are too small, can start a host of troubles, some of which may last all their lives: weak arches, corns, calluses, hammer toes, cramps, foot pain not to mention blisters and such troubles.

The big point is proper fit. For that, I have found that stores featuring children's shoes usually are very well-qualified to see that the fit is proper. Just remember to check-shoes from time to time and see that they still fit.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How can you tell the difference between flu and an ordinary cold? — J. P.

In severe flu, you're sick enough so there isn't any doubt and fever is present. Severe aching is a common symptom.

In mild cases of flu, there is no positive way to tell the difference, except by very complicated laboratory studies of samples of the virus that is present.

Treatment for mild flu is the same as for a cold.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What would cause a metallic taste in the mouth? I have this almost constantly. — Mrs. M. E. D.

This may result from medications, particularly iron, and iodine or iodides. If you are not taking medicines containing these, remember that both elements sometimes are included in vitamin preparations.

Another possibility is interaction between metallic fillings in teeth; sometimes smoking is a factor; in some cases nervous disorders are involved and sometimes mild sedation solves the difficulty.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all mail from his readers but because of the great volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Thosteson uses reader's letters in his column whenever possible.

Man Shoots Four Persons -- Commits Suicide

WESTERNVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Ralph MacLachlan, a meat cutter who shot and killed his estranged wife and three other persons in a Wednesday night rampage, put a bullet brough his head today as officers closed police reported.

Mrs. MacLachlan, 33, was shot as she and members of her family sat at their home in this central New York village. Her sister, Jane Turke Ringrose, 35, and Mrs. Ringrose's 13-year-old daughter Barbara were killed at the same time. The other four occupants of the house were wounded before MacLachlan left.

Police said he then ran to the next-door home of Mrs. James Pepper, apparently to try to get the Pepper automobile. Mrs. Pepper's 10-year-old son James was fatally wounded. Mrs. Pepper was critically wounded with shots in the head and spine.

Two other of her children saved their lives by hiding in a closet.

Police said MacLachlan stole a jeep from a service station and began a flight into the rough country of the Catskill Mountains that sit just above Westernville.

Early today, the blue jeep was spotted by state troopers Dominick DePaola Jr., and Thomas Buck and they gave chase.

MacLachlan fired three shots through the windshield of the troopers' automobile, then retreated inside a tractor sales house in the hamlet of Boonville, 10 miles east of Westernville.

DePaola and Buck were reinforced and volleys of shots were exchanged before MacLachlan shot himself to death.

No motive was established immediately but police said MacLachlan and his wife had been separated for about two weeks. MacLachlan, 37, was a six-foot, two outdoorsman.

A young girl called Oneida County Sheriff's Deputy Hames Campbell at 10:34 p.m. Wednesday and he screamed:

"Three people have been shot and I'm going to be shot next."

Campbell said: "I don't know what happened. She let out a scream and that was the last I heard."

Cynthia Ringrose, a young girl, was taken to hospital with what doctors called multiple wounds. Robert Ringrose was admitted with wounds in the chest, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Turke—parents of the dead women and owners of the house in which three of the deaths occurred—were shot more than once.

Floats Are Beautiful

Rose Bowl Parade Is New Year's Tradition

NEW YORK (AP) — You might say with a certain degree of truth that if you've seen one Rose Parade, you've seen them all—the slow-moving floats with their millions of flowers, the smiling girls, the proud bands and horses, the jarring commercial flavor of an occasional entry of TV stars in conspicuous spots.

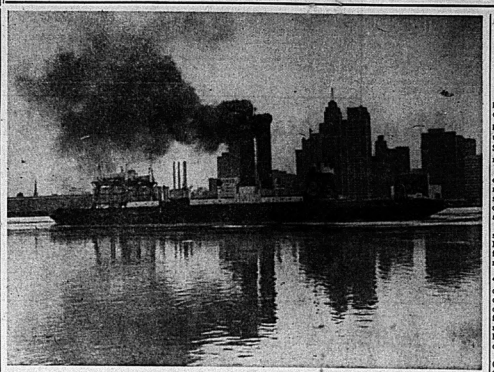
It matters not at all because watching Pasadena's annual day in the sun, followed by marathon football viewing, has become an established New Year's Day tradition.

This year, it seemed, the floats were more beautiful and more elaborate than ever.

Then began the really serious viewing of the day that continued without pause until close to 11 p.m. EST—the college football games.

As for the occasional football viewer, though, the big game is the tradition. This year, if one listened to NBC sports announcers Curt Gowdy and Kyle Rote, the program should really have been called The O. J. Simpson Show.

The University of Southern California's great running star did make a touchdown with an 80-yard run but the afternoon was claimed by Ohio State, who won 27-16.



The half-time entertainment by the two universities was impressive and both bands performed with the precision of the June Taylor Dancers.

If all those games were not enough, NBC carried the viewers on to Miami for the Orange Bowl. By that time there must have been a lot of tired eyes which was a shame since it was the most exciting game of the lot with Penn State winning it 15-14 in the last 15 seconds.

Both networks have plenty of practice covering parades and football games and both do uniformly excellent jobs.

From the occasional football viewer, however, comes a mild complaint: Occasionally a player will be writhing in agony on the field after a play and the program cuts away for a couple of quick commercials, returning when the play is about to be resumed. Nobody bothers to inform the vast and concerned audience about the condition of the injured player.

Now, with the holidays behind, television can slip happily into its second season with a handful of new shows replacing the dropouts—starting next Sunday when My Friend Tony replaces the Phyllis Diller Show on NBC.

Pope Paul Seeks Peace for World

TURIN (AP) — Pope Paul pictures himself as a man deeply determined to seek world peace by spiritual means in an unusual interview given to La Stampa, one of Italy's leading newspapers.

Speaking at a private audience, the 71-year-old pontiff told reporter Arrigo Levi he "really spent a black day" when Israeli commandos raided the Beirut airport last week.

The interview ranged over such diverse subjects as the Pope's view on youth, the time flight by the American astronauts and world disarmament.

Levi said the pontiff gave a "precise and rich report on the conditions of peace in the Middle East, a peace which can only be born from generosity, from the general will to interrupt the chain of violence, perhaps by the agreed intervention of the great powers."

Pope Paul said the Roman Catholic Church has been trying to achieve peace through spiritual means since the time of Pope Benedict XV, who reigned from 1914 to 1922.

He also said he was particularly comforted by the rapprochement between Catholic, Protestant and other churches and their co-operation in such organizations as the United Nations.

He said such co-operation was "unthinkable yesterday, preferable today," and pointed to the general acceptance of Jan. 1 as a world day of peace upon the Vatican's suggestion.

The Pope said one of the first priorities for progress toward peace was a limitation of nuclear weapons "which terrorized humanity." He also favored trade and aid from the richer countries to underdeveloped nations, and he said the underdeveloped nations should be helped to achieve self-sufficiency.

On other subjects, the Pope had these comments:

—Modern youth: "A wave of worry, rebellion and protest" is troubling youth. This hides "a desire for sincerity, justice and renewal," but many youths these days have "serious attitudes."

—The astronauts: "The pictures on the earth which came from space ... were clear, obvious invitations to the unity of the human species."

He reports that the Pope is anguished: "We religious men are firmly persuaded that a secret, and therefore incalculable, but strong, but good and fatherly Providence plays a part in the destinies of humanity. Therefore, we always have hope."

Cancer Society Will Alter Its Promotional Approach

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Cancer Society has decided to change its promotional approach in the fight against cancer.

The new education campaign features seven "safeguards" against the disease instead of the seven "warning" signals that for 30 years have advised people of cancer symptoms.

Dr. A. J. Phillips, head of the society's education committee, said Tuesday the education scheme has been redesigned because people became afraid when they discovered a cancer symptom and backed away from doctors.

The new approach will tell people what they should do to prevent cancer—but not what to look for in the way of symptoms. Dr. Phillips said in an interview

Alterations in all cancer literature and films are going into effect now.

The revision resulted from four surveys involving more than 9,000 men and women over the age of 21. Answers indicated that fear created by a cancer symptom kept people away from doctors' offices.

The last survey, involving 2,577 men in 1967, showed 81 per cent believed fear was the reason people did not report symptoms to doctors.

After weighing the results, the society decided last June to alter its education program and going on the commercial circuit or on television until two years after distribution.

by November a new slogan emerged—Cancer Can Be Beaten. The old one was Fight Cancer with a Check Up and a Cheque.

The seven safeguards that go with the new slogan are:

—Have a regular check up.

—Don't smoke cigarettes.

—Have your dentist check for abnormal conditions.

—Avoid excessive exposure to sunlight.

—Regular self-examinations of breasts for women.

Regret Movie Rejected

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal branch of the Canadian Society of Cinematographers said Tuesday it deplores the action of Odeon Theatres Canada in refusing to screen King Size, a film depicting the hazards of smoking.

In a statement it asked State Secretary Gerard Pelletier to investigate the matter and requested that Christopher Dimon, Odeon Theatres president, explain to the minister the actions of his screening committee.

Roger Racine, president of the Montreal branch, said he fears that Canadian audiences may be arbitrarily denied access to the work of Canadian artists involved in making films.

King Size is a $60,000 National Film Board sequel to the award-winning short, The Drag, and was ordered for the federal health department's anti-cigarette smoking campaign. Its first showing was scheduled for Toronto's Carlton-Odeon theatre Dec. 25.

However, Odeon Theatres rejected it as being "irrelevant" and "not much of a short," said Ed Gaspar, the theatre's assistant manager.

Under distribution contracts, the film cannot be shown in schools until six months after

Strictly Personal

One Can Read Too Much

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

Looking back on the last half-century, we can see that most changes were due to technological advances and our rapid adaptation to them, and most problems due to the rigidity of our institutions and their hostility to change; if, in the future, we could learn to be more critical of our technology and more flexible in our institutions, we might achieve a tolerable balance between the demands of change and the necessity of order.

• • •

One way to achieve balance in our public attitudes is indicated by Dr. Joshua Lederberg, the Nobel laureate in medicine, who suggests that "instability of family life, the estrangement of the generations, and the shallowness of human communication are more prevalent and cumulatively more serious diseases than violent crime, and must be given equal account . . . in any lament of human deterioration."

• • •

While it is true that most people should read more, it is also true that, just as those who ride all the time lose the facility for walking, those who read all the time often lose the capacity for thinking — which accounts for the stunning unoriginality of so much "scholarship."

• • •

Medicine seeks to extend the average age of death, so that people may live longer, which is laudable; but we cannot have "death control" without birth control, and must choose between fecundity and longevity.

The greatest and most dangerous fallacy still existing in this world of 1969 is that unilateral national defence is in any way feasible as a means of avoiding war, deterring war, or "winning" war; rather, without the reformation and strengthening of some such agency as the UN, the more the international system expands its offensive and defensive capabilities, the more likely the outbreak of an irreversible catastrophe.

• • •

Passions don't change; just names do; the charge of "communism" will lose a million votes for a man, by people who can't even define the word; the same was true two centuries ago, as Defoe wrote: "A cry of 'Popery' will bring a hundred thousand men to horse, not knowing whether the Pope is a man or a dog."

• • •

Except for basic necessities, people don't buy products, they buy fantasy-fulfilments; buy the average American car which is too long to turn, too big to park, too expensive to repair, and too powerful to control!

• • •

It's generally believed that the familiar "Happy Birthday To You" song is in the public domain, when actually the seven most popular versions are all copyrighted by ASCAP and "belong" to private hands.

• • •

Women talk to inanimate objects: when the phone rings, a woman says, "I'm coming, I'm coming," as though the phone can hear her; and I have even heard women talk to their hair while drying it.

Jean Dixon's Horoscope

For January 3

Your birthday today: The keynote for the coming year is healthy self - interest. Opportunity (or crisis) crops up, inviting action to improve or defend your position. Much of this will be your reward or retribution for decisions and actions taken some time ago. Today's natives often have more than their share of bad breaks. They usually have a gift for political or financial schemes and are seldom deceived in such matters.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Your home affairs conflict with your business or profession; decide early which is to take your attention. Expect no special considerations; give yourself time to think.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Abide by your routine commitments. Do your share of community, family duties. This evening concentrate on study, meditation.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): The more important people around you are not likely to see things your way. Stick to regular activities, slow down a trifle, listen more consistently. There is much to learn.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Your world is a bit edgy, so there is no point in your urge to fight city hall. It is an error to assume your activities have come to general knowledge or approval. Keep travel simple an organized.

LEO (July 23—August 22): Economy is more important than usual. Bargains are not quite what they may seem.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22: If you accept difficult moods from everybody else without getting thorny yourself, necessary tasks can be done with briskly. Do all the ammenities simply, skipping nothing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): There is little that will alleviate the undercurrents of tension; accept the passing mood as just that. New equipment is apt to balk for no apparent reason. Take it easy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Watch your change and your supplies. Formalities intrude on your time and efforts. Moderation in diet and exercise will turn out to be helpful by evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Stay with the most conservative approaches and wait for a more volatile time. Squabbling can deteriorate into bitter quarrels. Get the weekend organized as quietly as you can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Your impatience may show clearly. Take time to think where your actions may lead. You'll be happier at a later date if you can make concessions now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): See yourself as facing some temporary handicap; make the best of it. Older people and bossy rovable comment. Stay on the surface this evening.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Get busy catching up neglected routines, correspondence, errands. Local news abounds with subtle nuances that are seldom fully, but don't gossip.

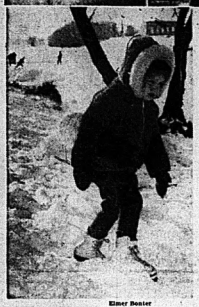
Lebanon Invites Russians to Visit

Elmer Bonter

BEIRUT (AP) — The Lebanese government has virtually invited Soviet warships to visit Lebanon and told the U.S. 6th Fleet to stay away, Beirut newspapers reported today.

Government officials said they had no confirmation of the reported sharp switch in Lebanon's traditional pro-Western policy.



Right - wing newspapers said Premier Abdulla Yafi expressed the view that U.S. Navy ships would be unwelcome because Washington's recent decision to sell 50 Phantom jets to Israel.

The reports said the government let Moscow know Soviet ships could visit Beirut if the Soviet government asked.

Missile Sale to Arabs Stirs Storm in Britain

LONDON (Reuters) — A political storm erupted here today over a British deal to supply Jordan with anti-aircraft missiles said to be worth £6,000,000 pounds ($15,000,000).

Former defence minister Emanuel Shinwell said it was incredible that the British government had given permission for exports of sophisticated Tigercat missiles to Jordan.

"The British government has gone mad—stark, raving mad," declared the veteran Labor party member of Parliament, who was defence minister in 1950-51.

Shinwell's attack came as the Northern Ireland firm of Short Brothers and Harland confirmed it was selling its guided weapons system to King Hussein of Jordan under a recent agreement.

"I cannot imagine anything more calculated to increase tension in the Middle East," Shinwell said.

The Tigercat, a solid-fuelled rocket fired from a mobile trailer, is particularly effective against low-level air strikes of the kind used by Israel to knock out Arab air bases in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Informed sources here said the first Jordanian Tigercats would be in position later this year and could counter-balance the supersonic Phantom fighter-bombers promised to Israel by the United States.

The foreign office and defence ministry here declined comment on the Jordanian order, but the government clears all arms exports. It may regard Tigercat as essentially a defensive weapon.

The missile, with a range of 3½ miles, can also hit land targets, and its maritime version, the Seacat, now is in use with many navies.

Canadian Fears New War Any Day

AMMAN (Reuters) — A senior Canadian official serving with the United Nations said in Jordan Thursday he fears another Middle East war at any time.

Lt. Col. James Johnston, 48, chairman of the Jordanian-Israeli Mixed Armistice Commission, said in an interview he was expressing his personal views on the Middle East situation.

He said there is a threat that, without premeditation on the part of Arabs or Jews, another war might break out at any time.

"I personally would like to see the great powers, rather than dwelling on abstract terms, taking more interest and practical steps to solve the area's tragic issues," Johnston said.

Johnston said his commission was in a delicate situation and was not functioning effectively. There were, he said, no U.N. observers along the present ceasefire line because Jordan feared this might give it a de facto status.

Gunman Killed

TORONTO (CP) — David Hamill, 61, of Toronto was killed Thursday night by police after a gun battle on a north Toronto farm.

Police said today the battle started over an argument involving the watering of three ponies and some pigs which Hamill boarded at the farm owned by George Harold Magee, 54.

Police said Hamill became angry at Mr. Magee and returned late Thursday with a rifle.

Constable R. Mitchell shone a flashlight toward Hamill, ordering him to drop the rifle, but Hamill fired. The constable fired back, hitting Hamill who was dead on arrival at Scarborough General Hospital.

Maginot Line for Sale To French House-hunters

PARIS (AP) — The French government has come up with a proposition for dampness lovers, sunshine haters and people who just feel terribly insecure—a nice little apartment buried deep in the Maginot Line.

Th line is a 300-mile long series of mostly underground fortifications along the German border that was supposed to keep out Hitler's armies in 1940, It didn't. Since, Maginot has become synonymous in France with Folly.

The order went out Thursday to the government property office to begin a publicity campaign to get the Maginot Line sold.

A property office spokesman insisted that life in the Maginot might have its advantages.

"Something nice for the summer, maybe," he said. "Cool, you know, and a little bit different. In fact, there are actually nice views across the Rhine from some bunkers."

Tenant Without Rebate Can Take It off Rent

TORONTO (CP) — Municipal Affairs Minister Darcy McKeough said Thursday the effectiveness of the province's municipal tax rebate system is greater than anyone could have expected.

He told a news conference more than $100,000,000 has been paid out to 2,000,000 separate households and about 99 per cent of Ontario's tenants have received their rebates.

He indicated tenants who have not received their rebates could deduct the amount from the next rent payment because "it seemed like a sensible thing to do."

The rebate plan, approved by the legislature last spring, is a tax-credit system designed to give each homeowner and tenant a property tax reduction averaging between $45 and $60 for 1968.

Mr. McKeough said if any tenant has not received from a landlord what he is entitled to, his department is ready to handle any inquiries.

"We are doing anything we can to help tenants check on their eligibility," he said.

Mr. McKeough also told the news conference that the rebate system may be changed this year. He said it could be absorbed into a revised tax structure and a decision could be expected soon.

After a cabinet meeting Thursday, it was announced that all 20,000 tenants of Ontario Housing Corp. projects in 70 municipalities also will get the rebate.

"He opened the window, took a deep breath and down he went!"

Demolition experts remove bomb from mailbox in west-end Ottawa, near the Canadian Bank Note Company which prints the country's currency. Dynamite bombs were found yesterday in mail boxes in three different locations. (CP Photo)

'Very Dangerous' Army Experts Dismantle Bombs

OTTAWA (CP) — City police said today they are "making progress" in their investigation of a bomb explosion that damaged a government building here New Year's Eve.

But Ottawa police inspector Gordon Hobbs said he would not go into details of any leads police have gathered.

Meanwhile, army demolition experts dismantled "three explosive devices" found Thursday in three other mailboxes in west end Ottawa.

The bomb components, including dynamite sticks and alarm clocks, were turned over to city police after the army experts took them apart in a secluded area at a military testing ground outside the capital.

"They were alive," Inspector Hobbs said of the home-made devices.

Police said no other devices have been reported so far today in city mailboxes. And the flood of crank calls to city stores and offices with phoney threats of other bombs being planted apparently had ceased.

Police were steadfastly refusing to make any statements as to who might be responsible for the New Year's Eve blast or for the placing of the three other bombs.

"We don't want to start any wars," Inspector Hobbs said. He said neither he nor any of the city force, under pain of losing their jobs, would be making any such statements.

Similar explosions in Montreal have been atributed both to Quebec separatists and to labor-unrest.

Thursday's bombs were described as "live" and "very, very dangerous" by Master WO Omer Steele, who teamed with Capt. Tom Havard to extricate the bombs from the mailboxes and load them into a protective trailer.

They were taken to the armed forces testing centre at nearby Orleans, where they were placed in an open field more than a mile from the nearest building.

A number of crank telephone calls warning of other bombs were received by offices, businesses and police after the three bombs were discovered and reported in the news.

One call resulted in the evacuation of customers and employees in a west-end Simpsons-Sears store. No bomb was discovered, and the store reopened about an hour later.

Other calls warned of bombs near a hospital and a building housing government offices, but they proved to be false alarms.

Thursday's bombs were discovered by employees of a firm which picks up mail for the post office department. The men found wires leading from three mailboxes to the ground. Inside the wires led to unmarked paper bags.

Shopping Plaza Hearing Date Postponed Month To Feb. 4

Commercial rivals of the northend plaza project have once again successfully delayed a government decision crucial to location of the big shopping centre in Belleville.

Oshawa Wholesale today successfully applied for postponement of an Ontario Municipal Board hearing on proposed rezoning of plaza - optioned property.

Oshawa Wholesale successfully complained it had only received eight days notice of the rezoning hearing.

The company was entitled to 10 days notice, said OMB chairman J. A. Kennedy.

The hearing, scheduled for Belleville next Monday, has been deferred almost a month — to Feb. 4.

The new date was the earliest possible the OMB could conduct a new hearing, Mr. Kennedy said.

Oshawa Wholesale is the corporate parent of Towers — the westend shopping complex which has opposed location of the new commercial outlet in the city.

It's the second time Oshawa Wholesale have successfully blocked the hearing — which will decide on rezoning for commercial use 18 acres on which the project is planned.

The original hearing was set for Nov. 4, at that time, Oshawa Wholesale lawyers won a postponement to Jan. 7 so the grounds they were not sufficiently briefed on the case.

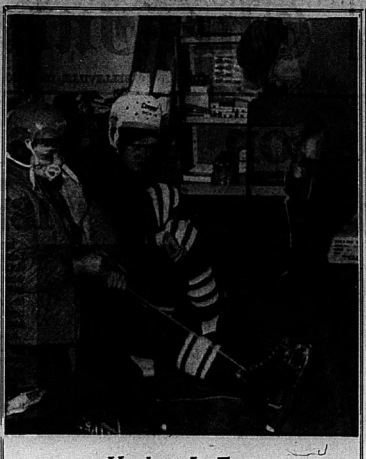
Mrs. Kennedy, who personal ly heard the Oshawa Wholesale application this morning said the hearing was "not very" lengthy.

Opposing the delay were city solicitor E. Guss Porter, and legal counsel for the plaza developer, Cambridge Leaseholds, of Windsor.

Pressure Drop Causes Alarm

Yesterday's fire alarm at the Regency Towers on Victoria Ave. apparently had nothing to do with the incinerator after all.



City firemen reported today that Christmas wrappings were being burned in the incinerator at the time but a surge or drop in pressure in the building waterline, was believed to have triggered the building alarm with result that the fire department was called.

A Monumental Task

It's winter, and no place is immune from unexpected harassment as the weather turns suddenly vicious. Hardly a spot is guaranteed against the need for cleanup operations — as this scene demonstrates. Following recent heavy snow storm in Belleville, workers clear snow off gravestones outside Bridge Street West monument company.

Hockey Is Fun

During the holidays from school the Slaven brothers, like the thousands of other youngsters in the Quinte area devote most of the daylight hours to recreation outdoors. Here Steve and Billy make ready to play hockey on the river. Their father, Bill, helps them dress for the occasion.

She is survived by her husband Simon Fortier, and by her daughters Mrs. Joseph (Irene) Brough, Flinton, Mrs. Merlin (Lillia) Turcotte, Marlbank and a son Donvil (Bud) Fortier.

The body rested at the Cassidy Funeral Home, Tweed from Thursday Jan. 2, then to St. John the Evangelist Roman Catholic Church, Flinton, where Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. Peter J. Murphy.

Interment was in the Parish Cemetery.

Mrs. Fortier was a patient in the Hotel Dieu Hospital before being transferred to the St. Mary's of the Lake Hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

MUSGRAVE — In loving memory of our beloved mother and grandmother Isabella Walker who passed away Jan. 4, 1968.
Sweet memories of a loved one.
You cannot have one mother,
Patient, kind and true,
No other friend in all the world,
Will be as dear to you.
For all her loving kindness,
And her many deeds of love,
If all the world counts you,
To your mother you'll always be one.
So all we can do dear mother,
Is go and tend your grave,
And leave behind our token of love.
The tender memory we have made.
—Sadly missed by her loving children and grandchildren Mary Amelia, Mabel, Jack, Ted, Len and Gertie families.

STEWART — In loving memory of a dear father W. M. Stewart who passed away Jan. 4, 1967.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they'll wipe out never,
The memory of those happy days
When we have spent together.
—Ever remembered by daughter and granddaughters Donna and Stephen.

THOMPSON — In loving memory of a dear husband and father Lynden Thompson, who passed away Jan. 4, 1967.
His smiling face and pleasant way,
In life were dear to all,
And his kindly heart for many,
And died beloved by all.
Some days are hard to bear,
Some day we know not when,
To sigh is in vain,
To weep is useless.
Never to part again.
Sadly missed and always remembered by his wife Helen and daughters Nellie and Lynden.

BASHOTTE — In loving memory of a dear grandmother, Clara Bashotte who passed away Jan. 4, 1967.
Time, her smile is gone forever,
And her hand was rested, touch,
Still we have so many memories,
Of the one we loved so much,
Her memory is our keepsake,
With which we'll never part,
God has her in His keeping,
We have her in our heart.
—Ever remembered by son-in-law Ralph and family.

Education Director Meets With Staff

Identity of Hastings County's new director of education is expected to be revealed Monday night at the first business meeting of the new county board.

The public meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the board room of the former Belleville Public School Board, 208 Bridge Street East.

James Clarke, chairman of Hastings County Board of Education said this morning the announcement of the new director's appointment must await receipt of his resignation by the board now employing him.

The director met this morning at the Public School Board office with 10 business officials and superintendents from the county to draft an agenda for Monday night's meeting.

It is understood almost 30 applications were received for the director's position, including one from Lloyd Dennis, co-author of the Hall-Dennis report on aims and objectives in Ontario education.

Since its first ceremonial public meeting Dec. 10 for swearing-in formalities, the board has met about four times in closed sessions. About three meetings of the temporary committee set up to hire a director have been held.

As agreed at the Dec. 10 meeting, the board met as a committee-of-the-whole several times before Christmas to interview candidates for the director's position. The man appointed will serve as chief executive officer of the board as well as director.

Board member Macdonald Smith said this morning appointment of other officials had not yet been considered by the board.

"We will appoint the new director, then look to him to make recommendations on the officials he feels necessary for smooth operation of the county system," Mr. Smith said.

Another item expected to be discussed at the Monday board meeting is the location of headquarters of the new board.

R. G. Dulmage, former business administrator of Bay of Quinte District High School Board has been acting as interim secretary of the Hastings County Board of Education since Dec. 10.

Christmas Exchange Officials Plan to Distribute Clothing

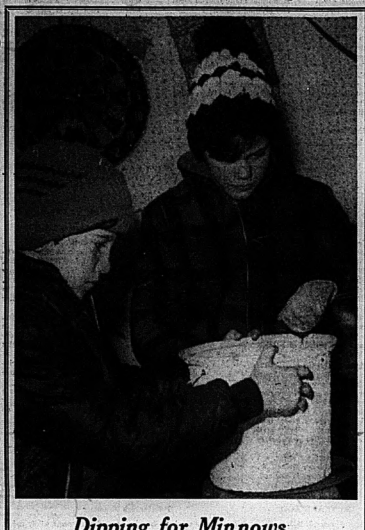
Volunteer workers for Belleville's 1968 Christmas Fund are beginning the consolidation on their clothing operation. To meet the needs of more than 30 families who require various clothing items, a special project is under way.

On Monday, these families will visit St. Andrew's Church Hall where volunteers from the Women's Hospital Auxiliary will be on hand to help them select clothing. This special stock of used clothing was donated by a number of Bellevillians in response to an appeal by CJBQ and the Intelligencer.

Additional volunteer drivers are still required to bring these families to the church hall, and to take them to the Opportunity Shop where clothing items not available from the special Christmas stock will be provided.

Arrangements have also been made with a local shoe store to provide those items of footwear which are not available from either source.

Letters have been sent to each of the families referred to the Christmas Fund where clothing was indicated as an additional need, and follow-up telephone calls are being made to inform them of the arrangements for distributing the clothing.



But the Christmas Fund's volunteer director, Mrs. Selma Bochnek does not feel that the clothing depot will become an annual affair.

"The need for warm clothing is not a Christmas need," she emphasized. "Nor is the need for bedding and other household items which we have just filled. We are asking one of our local social service agencies to follow up all 421 families listed with the Christmas Fund so that their needs will be met as they arise.

"It is unthinkable," she continued, "that in a community of this size more than 50 families should not have adequate bedding and towels, and that more than 30 families should be insufficiently clothed. This problem will not be allowed to continue."

The Furniture Exchange's volunteer director, Mrs. Mary McLaughlin, reported that in the first year of operation, it had been impossible to meet the need for used furniture and appliances. "We have never had any need for storing items," she said.

"The moment furnishings or appliances become available, they are delivered to someone who needs them." Chests of drawers and refrigerators were cited as the two items which continued to be in great demand throughout the year.

Dipping for Minnows

The girls in the family usually turn to giving their mother a hand with the housework. Not so in the case of Nancy Blaind who spends the time she's away from school classes working behind the counter at her father's sports shop. Her assistant at dipping minnows is Don Rushlow holding the pail.

Trenton clerk comptroller O. W. Larry swears into office three new councillors and the new PUC Commissioner. They are incumbent Paul Tripp, Stanley Ketcheson, newly elected councillor, incumbent Duncan McDonald and Frank Barry, PUC Commissioner.

Mayor Appeals to Councillors

TRENTON — In an inaugural address to Trenton Council yesterday, read in the mayor's absence by Councillor Duncan McDonald, Mayor James MacDonald appealed for "council to work and think together."

The mayor was absent from the inaugural meeting due to illness but all councillors were present with the exception of Gerald Weaver.

In his address Mayor MacDonald stated that municipal government was more complex now than it ever has been and added that the shadow of uncertainty that surrounds regional government makes the operation more difficult.

"Our objective for the new year should be to better understanding among councillors," he said.

"Eastern Ontario is coming into its own and Trenton must be prepared to go along."

"I have made no promises in my address because I believe the current uncertainty of municipal government does not permit this."

Sworn into office were incumbents Paul Tripp and Duncan McDonald along with new councillor Stanley Ketcheson.

Councillor Ketcheson was mentioned in the mayor's address as "coming to council with an excellent recommendation from the board of education."

The 15 year veteran of the board came third in a six man race for three vacant council seats. Councillor McDonald topped the polls in the Dec. 2 election with Paul Tripp running a close second.

Also sworn into office was Frank Barry who was acclaimed to the position of chairman of the Public Utilities Commission.

New committees were formed for 1969.

The general government committee is being handled by Stanley Ketcheson, chairman, with Douglas Kinney and Ted Parker, as members.

Ted Parker, Stanley Ketcheson and Gerald Weaver, were nominated to the finance committee, with Ted Parker as chairman.

Sitting on the community services committee will be chairman Douglas Kinney, with Stanley Ketcheson and Duncan McDonald as members.

The protection to persons and property committee will be headed by Gerald Weaver, with Paul Tripp and Douglas Kinney as members.

Duncan McDonald will be the chairman of the public works committee, with Ted Parker and Paul Tripp as members.

Douglas Kinney will be in charge of Traffic Control.

Duncan McDonald was nominated to the court of revision.

Under the property tax rebate program announced in 1968, by the Ontario Government a percentage of residential property taxes were rebated to owners with landlords being required to pass the payments along to tenants.

In Belleville the tax rebate was $52.40 but earlier this year it appeared some landlords had still not passed the payment along to tenants. The rebates were to be paid by Dec. 30.

City tax collector John Grohn said he had received a number of telephone calls from tenants.

"We've had sporadic complaints from tenants but on the whole calls have been less than expected," said Mr. Grohn.

"But the fact that we received the calls indicates some tenants must be encountering difficulties."

He said tenants still waiting for rebates after the New Year can swear out an information at a police station, Crown Attorney's office or with a justice of the peace.

This was the action advised by Ontario Municipal Affairs Minister Darcy McKeough in an interview Tuesday night.

Mr. McKeough said that once the information has been sworn, it is turned over to a Crown attorney, who will take defaulters to court if he feels the plaintiff has a case.

Yesterday Mr. McKeough indicated that tenants who have not received their rebates could deduct the amount from their next rent payment because "it seemed like a sensible thing to do."

The deadline for rebate payments to owners and tenants was Tuesday and since that time there has been confusion in several municipalities on how to handle complaints from tenants.

His comments came after hundreds of tenants in Metropolitan Toronto telephoned police stations and Queen's Park in an effort to get their tax rebates from slow-paying landlords.

Landlords who did not comply with provincial rebate legislation by midnight Tuesday night are liable to fines up to $200, in addition to the rebate which averages about $56 in Toronto.

Sales Aren't Affected

The increased tab which went into effect for 1969 automobile licences hasn't affected early season sales of plates.

Local licence issuer George Olsen said today that approximately 1,200 sets of auto plates had been sold since the new markers went on sale November 1. This is an increase of about 200 sets of plates over the same period last year.

"I thought that the increased cost of plates this year would affect early season sales, but it has not worked out that way," said Mr. Olsen.

The cost of licence plates for an eight cylinder is now $35.00 — up from $25.00 last year, and $27.50 for a six — up from $20.00 last year.

First Meeting Slated

The first week in January traditionally sees the inaugural meeting of Belleville city council — but this year there is a difference.

Monday, Jan. 6 will see the first council meeting of the year but without the customary inaugural ceremonies it will be little more than "just another meeting."

The reason is that Belleville's city council and mayor are elected for two years and 1969 merely sees members finishing out their two year terms.

The meeting is called for the customary 4 p.m. starting time. Mayor Scott says he may have a few remarks to start the New Year.

Council appointments to standing committees and the various other city boards and commissions — including the Belleville Industrial Commission — will be made at the meeting.

Hospital Closed To Visitors

Visiting at Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital has been suspended until further notice.

Administrator William Cooke, said the step was necessary due to colds and viruses which may be carried by visitors.

He said that the staff has already been reduced by the illness and many of the patients have been affected.

Mr. Cooke feels that this is the only way that a further spread of colds can be prevented.

Cold Outlook

The United States weather bureau in its 30-day weather outlook released Monday, predicts below-average temperatures for most of Canada, although northern Ontario and Quebec will have near-normal temperatures. British Columbia and southern portions of Alberta and Saskatchewan will experience very low temperatures. The outlook calls for moderate precipitation over most of the country with heavy precipitation over Quebec and the Maritimes. (CP Newsmap)

Where The Money Goes

Once it was The Canada Council, not to mention The Company of Young Canadians, that between them were draining off a goodly sum in tax dollars, for the country's arts set on the one hand, and the Indians and other have-nots on the other.

Now, as a reading of today's Ottawa Offbeat column reveals, it is the National Museum which has its hand out. It wants $300,000 to finance a few cool projects. And that column for that, and then wonder why it is the Government keeps pleading poverty when it comes to financing necessities.

In the circumstances we can only marvel at such beneficence, particularly when not only the Government's own advisers, including the Governor of the Bank of Canada, but other authorities are continually sounding warnings about inflation.

Only last November a delegation from The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, led by President A. S. Leach, presented its annual policy statement to the Government.

The Chamber's 15-page brief said in part: "It is not only vital that we contain inflation per se, but even more so, to ensure that our record is no worse, and preferably better than the United States and other trading partners. . ."

After stating that Canada's recent performance in this regard had not been encouraging, the brief went on to urge a system of priorities for all government programs.

"Inflation," it said, "threatens both growth and equity. It is fostered by a pattern of Government expenditure which peaks at the same time as private spending and private investment. It is the responsibility of government at every level to keep a realistic balance between wants and programs in terms of current capabilities.

The meaning of the Chamber's brief is clear, particularly when it reminds us that resources are limited, that growth of the economy depends upon productivity and efficient use of resources, and that "waste and unproductive expenditure can and do occur on a substantial scale."

Shades Of 1984

It might have been Orson Welles scaring people out of their wits again, with a piece of radio fantasy about invaders from outer space landing in New Jersey — that was back in 1938 — but here was a latter-day announcer reminding us of 1984.

It was New Year's Day and the Prince Edward County scene had a desolate wintery quality about it, and this voice on the radio was saying that we had only 15 years to go until 1984.

That is to be the year of Big Brother, the year democracy finally gives way to an all-encompassing totalitarianism and a world of automatons.

At least, that is the way author George Orwell saw it in his startling book on that theme.

Its title again . . . yes, "1984." Ominous-sounding isn't it. Say it out loud and it has a sort of thunderous quality, like the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse galloping across a darkened sky.

Probably the reality will be nothing like as fearsome as the fantasy. After all, there is a touch of 1984 in the way society operates today. We live in a democracy, but in effect the political fate of 20 million people lies in the hands of a mere 600 representatives in Ottawa, and the actual decisions with even fewer. Now regional government is on the way and rural areas which hitherto have enjoyed direct representation will no longer be served in this way.

Life is becoming more automated and people less and less people-orientated. It is the age of technology. Yet when 1984 arrives there may be an escape route — to the moon. Will Big Brother be on the watch there too? Who knows . . . we do know, however, that 15 years remain in which to ensure that such a society does not evolve. The alternative? Well, 1984 of course!

Museum Wants $300,000 for Some Way-out Research

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Funny how things work out — or, as often don't — in an empire as large as the federal government's.

It long since has become so vast, its communications often seem to be breaking down.

And the pre-occupied of one department of empire does not always know — maybe does not even want to — what the governor of another section of it is doing.

In fact, the communications failure has got to the critical point where few of them even seem to be plugged into the East Block where the Supreme Ruler of All the Canadians promulgates his edicts and ukases.

Like in these inflationary times when Edgar Benson, keeper of the treasury keys, is busy beating off the money demands of the empire's provincial governors with piteous pleas of poverty, and may end up of a couple of dozen of his fellow federal procounsels starts throwing around the loot in such a way as to arouse suspicions that things are not really as terribly tight as he claims.

There is Not-So-Gentle Ben, standing guard at the treasury doors crying that there is not so much as a dime to spare.

And worse, tottering the hatin-hand provincials are convinced that if they are really that strapped, why don't they finance with his finance, spending not a nickel on anything that is not of the most urgent, life-or-death necessity.

Cut spending until you simply can't stand the pain, he lectures them, and then do as I have been doing, and cut some more. So what happens?

Out comes pro-consul Benson's companion - around - the - cabinet-table, State Secretary Gerard Pelletier, with a staggering list of some intriguing things on which the National Museum tells him it would spend $300,000 as necessities of such urgency as can't possibly be denied.

Now, in the fine freehanded spending world of federal financing, $300,000 is little more than a drop in a bucket as far as large as Lake Superior.

Except that the provincial governors, crying that they haven't where their next nickel is coming from, are certain to be a bit upset when they learn Ottawa out of that $300,000 of "urgently necessary" federal spending is being done for such things as providing pianos with folk music.

Yep, you heard it right the first time: some place life or love in the National Capital has got to have an appreciation of music.

Or why else would the Museum be signing research contracts with the University of Ottawa for a study to determine the effects of melody on plants!

For there, in the labs of Ottawa U. Dr. Ernest Weihberger, associate professor of biology in those halls of capital learning is busy, here and now, conducting what the Museum describes as "constructive experiments" on what folk, country, vocal and instrumental music does to seeds and growing plants.

Will a few rocking bars of The Beatles speed the germination of seeds?

Only Dr. Weihberger may get to know, and the National Museum declines to say in the waiting world of agriculture.

But hold.

There are other Museum grants for the deserving researcher.

Gilles Picard of Ottawa gets one for his researching of a bibliography on the influence of British regionalists that served in colonial Canada.

Dr. B. M. Garner of the University of Montana gets one for the investigation of the "psychic co-religion beliefs of the Stoney Indians of Alberta."

There are a dozen others, every bit as interesting, intriguing and even arresting as to say nothing of their urgency or necessity that should hold up the provincial people with a warm glow of understanding when Ben Benson starts telling them again next month it's the federal government in cutting spending to the bare bleached bones.

Tax, Spend and Borrow

Winnipeg Tribune

Government in Canada has been following a policy of tax, spend and borrow. It has now reached the point where one-third of all the goods and services produced by 20 million Canadians go to keep Ottawa, the provinces and the municipalities in the style of spending to which they have become accustomed.

That means that the average Canadian will spend the first four months of the New Year working for government. Only on May 1 will he have a chance to make a dollar to support himself.

So far neither the federal government nor the provinces have shown any real awareness of the gravity of the situation. Ottawa is supposed to be cutting back but in fact is raising tax rates and going farther in the hole than ever. The provinces are near the limits of both their taxing and borrowing powers. Both spending and revenues increased 17 per cent this year while provincial deficits and borrowing requirements remain in the same mess as last year. Provincial estimates for 1969 show that education costs will rise 22 per cent, welfare costs 26 per cent and health costs (without taking medicare into account) will rise nine per cent. There is little evidence of retrenchment in these figures.

A Possible Link In Kennedy-King Deaths

Peterborough Examiner

The nagging suspicion that the assassinations of President John Kennedy, Senator Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King were all organized by the same group, returns again to plague the peace of mind of the American public.

Certainly the most recent statements by James Garrison, a southern state district attorney whose extravagant claims have at times seemed surprisingly convincing substantiation, will do nothing to abate the disquiet: Garrison claims all sorts of evidence to link the three killings, and while 10 Canadians this speculation seems wildly unjust to the accused in two of the cases, there can be no doubt about the effects on the public.

. . . Despite the palpable exaggerations and lack of supporting evidence of some of the wildest claims, it is undeniable that a sound basis exists to suspect that there is indeed a link between the three killings. So long as that suspicion remains, the effort of the investigating officers is unfinished, and it is this aspect which lends enormous significance to the coming trials of the men charged in the last two assassinations.

The Way Men Are

Richard J. Needham in The Globe and Mail

It's the same with individuals, too. One man chooses a life-style which makes him materially rich, another chooses a life-style which keeps him materially poor. Some are angry and others with less, others are placid; some are efficient, some aren't. You can't change men, any more than nations, from the outside: it must come from inside, they must have a strong quality which, another choice of men, and fewer nations, have any such desire, you know what I think you're going to be reading in the papers for the rest of your life.

Letter to the Editor

The Bible In Outer Space

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

We read in the paper about the woman who wants to "remove prayer from outer space."

The same lady was responsible earlier for having prayer removed from the public schools in the United States. According to her, scientific advancement and Bible knowledge do not go together.

It is rather strange how some people will react to another person's faith under certain circumstances.

Personally, I admire the astronauts for their moral courage in reading the Bible and for witnessing to their faith in God while in outer space.

I also feel that the astronauts as well as any other individuals are entitled not only to practise but to propagate their religion according to their consciences and knowledge.

I hope this freedom will never be curtailed on this continent.

U.S. Strongly Critical

Israeli Attack on Airport Jolts Neutralist Lebanon

By ROD CURRIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Israeli attack on Beirut's civilian international airport could not have come at a worse time from the standpoint of Israeli-American relations.

Only a few days before, the United States had "with great reluctance" agreed to sell Israel 50 Phantom jet fighter-bombers, in accordance with her long-standing pledge to maintain an arms balance in the Middle East.

Even more serious, the Israeli attack was against a country with which the U.S. has close relations and which has traditionally been regarded as a reluctant participant in Arab political intrigues. Lebanon was not a belligerent in the six-day Middle East war in 1967.

In a rare burst of unanimity, world opinion is virtually single-minded in deploring the Israeli attack in which helicopter-borne commandos destroyed 13 planes in reprisal for an Arab guerrilla attack on an Israeli airliner at Athens airport last Thursday.

The attack Israeli argument that the Beirut attack was intended to prevent any further harassment of Israeli civilian planes carried little weight in most quarters.

Even The New York Times, a staunch supporter of Israel, termed the act "a flagrant over-reaction." And the Washington Post, after noting the Israeli raiders took care to protect innocent bystanders, comments that "there is not much else" in the raid "to distinguish it, morally, legally or otherwise, from the act of terrorism that it was intended to avenge."

The extent of Washington's annoyance was defined by Ambassador J. R. Wiggins at the United Nations where he said the U.S. was prepared to support Security Council action to condemn Israel's "act of arrogance."

The Israelis argue that the two Palestine refugees flew to Athens from Beirut, that the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine took credit for the attack and that the front has offices in Beirut and, allegedly, training bases elsewhere in Lebanon.

Accordingly, Israel held the government of Lebanon accountable—although the guerrillas themselves, for what it is worth, denied any connection with the government.

It is this judgment that is held in question even by Israel's friends.

As with other Arab governments, that of Lebanon is weak and under steady pressure from extremists inside and outside the government. Even if it had the political will to deal with such "liberation" forces it could hardly be held accountable for the deed of a pair of guerrillas in another country.

It is possible that the Lebanese and other Arab governments might find ways to control such terrorism to some extent if they could offer their people any real prospects for a Palestine settlement.

Barring this, no deal harshly with liberation forces would risk the collapse of the existing regimes in favor of others that would be more extreme.

As always, the Soviet Union is seen as the key to any substantive movement toward a lasting peace in the area. But Moscow has ignored U.S. pleas to halt arms shipments to Arab countries, saying it will consider the matter only after a settlement has been reached.

It is the Soviet position that finally prompted the U.S. to agree to the sale of the Phantoms to Israel after many months of deliberation.

Executive Claims...

Investment Climate Must Improve

MONTREAL (CP)—Quebec has the potential for growth says a business executive, but its investment climate must be improved if jobs are to be found for the rapidly expanding labor force in the province.

About 31,000 young Quebecers are joining the labor force annually and there just aren't enough new jobs to go around, the manager of economic activity must accelerate at a faster pace if the situation is to be remedied.

And the fuel needed for economic acceleration is investment, which has not kept pace with leading provinces such as Ontario.

René K. Larsen, manager of the Quebec division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said the province has also been losing control in Quebec but there will not be enough of jobs to absorb the tremendous growth in the labor force.

The Quebec work force, mostly French speaking, generally is not mobile and cannot move easily to job opportunities in other parts of Canada or even in the United States.

Capital investment means more jobs. But constitutional and language issues in the province do little to encourage any kind of stability conducive to investment.

Mr. Larsen was commenting on the association's 13-month review of the investment picture in Quebec which showed that the unemployment rate was six per cent of the labor force in November in the province compared with 3.7 per cent in Ontario and 4.3 per cent in Canada as a whole.

"One of the basic requirements for the attraction and retention of capital is stability. While potential investors may understand and sympathize with sectional aims, they are reluctant to expose their capital to such incalculable risks as may be engendered by arbitrary political action or by inflammatory public statements."

Mr. Larsen stressed, however, that the investment situation in Quebec is not as bad as had been indicated in many speeches in recent months. But "the picture could be better."

Total investment in Quebec declined by $23,000,000 from 1966 to 1968, when it rose by $940,000,000 in Ontario in the same period. However, 1969 was a year of massive preparations "while potential investors may understand and sympathize with sectional aims, they are reluctant to expose their capital to such incalculable risks as may be engendered by arbitrary po-from $10,468,000,000 in 1958. Quebec's investment declined to $4,000,000,000 from $4,920,000,000 during the period while that of Ontario is created to $7,420,000,000 from $6,000,000,000.

Quebec fared somewhat better than Ontario and the rest of Canada in the investment in manufacturing during the three-year period.

While Canada's investment in new plant and equipment in the manufacturing industry declined to $2,614,000,000 and investment in Ontario dropped to $1,150,000,000 from $1,420,100,000—Quebec's investment was down only slightly, to $654,600,000 from $666,300,000 in 1966.

During this period the gap between Ontario and Quebec in investment in new manufacturing plant and equipment was narrowed, with Quebec's figure in 1968 totalling an estimated 23 per cent of Ontario's compared with only 21 per cent in 1966.

However, Quebec recorded an investment of $4,313 per member of its labor force compared with Ontario's $5,46", indicating that Ontario's investment is directed towards a more capital-raised economy than Quebec's.

And there is a higher proportion of government investment in Quebec, about 25 per cent of the total, compared with about 18 per cent government investment in Ontario.

People Won't Claim $12,000,000

The post office department has $12,000,000 it can't convince Canadians to claim.

"We just wish someone would come and get it," a department spokesman said Thursday.

The money is in about 1,500 post office savings banks which Canadians opened and no deposits accepted for the existing 200,000 accounts.

Since that announcement, the spokesman said, about 20,000 accounts have been closed out but that 178,000—with that estimated $12,000,000—remain untouched.

About 308,000 of the accounts had been inactive for more than 10 years and of some 90,000 active accounts 73,000 had balances of less than $100.

Depositors will continue to receive 2½ per cent interest on their deposits up to Dec. 31, 1969. On that date the banks will officially cease to exist.

The banks were established to encourage people of modest income to save. Since their founding other financial institutions have come into being.

As of Jan. 1, 1970, accounts of $35 or less that have been inactive for 30 years will revert to the Crown and not be recoverable. Accounts not that old may be recovered and accounts of more than $25 will be recoverable in perpetuity.

Chicago Gunman Shot

CHICAGO (Reuters) — A gunman who took a police station on Chicago's south side Thursday firing a pistol, but was killed when a wounded desk sergeant grabbed a revolver and returned the fire. The gun battle erupted when Fred B. Roti, 30, entered the station and ordered everyone there hands. Sgt. Lewis F. Jones, who despite his wounds shot his assailant, said he had never seen the man before.

Trust Legacies Will Be Taxed

OTTAWA (CP) — New estate taxes will be applied to legacies left in trust to a wife if the terms provide for payment to the children or for cancellation of payments to the widow if she remarries.

An estate willed to a spouse would remain exempt from tax however, if it included a condition that the recipient must survive the donor for up to 120 days or a period of six months if the estate left to the spouse should be used to pay death duties or other taxes payable by requests.

Explanation of the way the new estate-tax system will be applied was included in an announcement Monday by Finance Minister Edgar Benson.

The announcement said questions have been raised and "taxpayers have expressed concern that they would not know whether their planned estates in their wills until they knew how certain common provisions would affect their tax liability."

Mr. Benson said he was providing answers to some questions now because it would be impossible to publish the new estate-tax legislation until after Parliament reconvenes Jan. 14.

The new system of levying death duties, outlined in the federal budget last Oct. 22, would end taxing of estates left to a spouse.

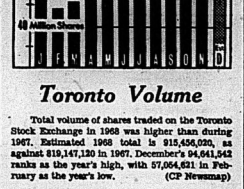
It would be applied to estates inherited as a result of a death after Oct. 22, but would not be retroactive to inheritances before that date.

Lawyers and estate agents have been in doubt about a new policy which states there must be outright inheritance—in effect, an unconditional inheritance—by a spouse if the estate is to be exempt from taxation.

Monday's announcement made clear that an estate would be liable to taxation if it included child-benefit or remarriage conditions.

However, tax would not be applied to an estate between spouses if it included so-called protective disclaimer provisions a clause specifying that the residue of an estate—the portion willed to the widow or widower—should meet the taxes on other bequests.

—Also covered by the announcement:



—All the assets of an estate willed in trust to a spouse—the spouse receiving all the income from the trust fund—would be fully taxable if the will included provision for the trust's capital to be used for the benefit of the children.

—Likewise, all the assets of an estate left to a widow would be taxable if the will provided that payment of income from the trust should cease upon her remarriage.

—An estate would remain exempt by reason of being considered an outright inheritance even if the will contained a common disaster provision—a condition that to inherit, the spouse must survive the testator by 30, 60, 90 or 120 days, but not longer.

—A trust left to a spouse would not become taxable even though the residue assets left to form the trust should also be used partly to pay tax on other bequests in the will.

Vancouver Volume

Estimated total volume of shares traded on the Vancouver Stock Exchange during 1968 was 500,000,000. In January 22,310,472 shares were traded and the year's high was reached in November when over 70,000,000 shares were traded. (CP Newsmap)

Air Canada Shows Profit; 'Healthy Growth' Is Forecast

MONTREAL (CP)—Yves Pratte, chairman and chief executive officer of Air Canada, says the airline expects to continue its "healthy growth" in 1969 after recording its 15th profit operations in 18 years in 1968.

Mr. Pratte said in the company's annual review released today the airline will provide increased service in both passenger and freight operations in 1969 and will continue to modernize its fleet of 107 jets and turbo-prop aircraft."

The airline enjoyed a successful year, carrying more passengers, freight and mail than ever before. However, domestic traffic figures have levelled some what after the extremely heavy travel during Centennial Year.

The company carried 4,107,000 passengers on scheduled flights in 1968, an increase of 1.3 per cent over 1967. Air freight increased 36.5 per cent to 116,873,000 ton miles. Air express increased 16.3 per cent to 7,-898,000 ton miles and air mail rose 6.3 per cent to 23,811,000 ton miles.

Available seat miles on scheduled flights increased by 20.2 per cent to 9,893,825,000, while revenue passenger miles totalled 5,821,857,000, up 7.7 per cent. Total ton miles amounted to 711,383,000, an increase of 11.5 per cent.

Introduction of additional jet aircraft, especially the long-body DC-8s, resulted in larger capacity. One result was that total load factor dropped to 58 from 62 per cent. All performance figures for 1968 are based on 10 months of actual operation and forecasts for November and December.

In 1968 Air Canada took delivery of three 139-passenger DC-8s and three 196-passenger DC-8-61s, increasing its DC-8 fleet to 27 aircraft. Deliveries of 94-passenger DC-9 aircraft totalled 18 while six 79-passenger DC-9s were returned, to McDonnell-Douglas Corp.

The airline also started a program to retire its fleet of Vickers Viscount and Vanguard aircraft. Five of the airline's 23 Vanguards have been removed from service and seven of the 39 Viscounts have been retired. More of these aircraft will be removed in the future.

The company will take delivery of 13 long-body DC-8-63s and eight DC-9 twin jet aircraft in the next 17 months. And through the first few years of the 1970s, the most modern aircraft available will be added to the fleet.

Mr. Pratte said Air Canada is currently concentrating on improving frequency of service to its 61 destinations in North America, Europe and the Caribbean. He said it is also concentrating on expanding the volume of its air freight business.

New terminals are being completed in London and Winnipeg, and the terminal in Toronto was doubled in capacity during the year. Frequency of all-cargo service has been increased sharply.

Apollo 9 Rolls To Launch Pad

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (Reuters) — Apollo 9, the 363-foot spaceship taking three astronauts into earth orbit next month in a moon landing rehearsal, rolls from the assembly building on to the launch pad today.

The spacecraft and the giant Saturn V rocket—which together weigh more than 3,000 tons—will take all day to reach the launch pad 3½ miles away.

Astronauts James McDivitt, Davis Scott and Russell Schweickart—due to orbit the earth in Apollo 9 for 10 days beginning Feb. 28.

The main purpose of the flight is to space test the lunar module, the section of the Apollo spacecraft that will eventually ferry two men from their orbiting mothership to the moon and back.

Space workers, spurred on by the successful circumlunar flight of Apollo 8 in December, have spent weeks building the new Apollo from sections supplied by manufacturers in various parts of the country.

The assembly hangar, believed to be the biggest building in the world, covers eight acres and houses work platforms as high as three-storey buildings. It is 716 feet long, 518 feet wide and 525 feet high.

Apollo 9 moves to the launch pad on a 6,000,000 pound tracked vehicle.

This putting it mildly, is what Dr. Katherine R. Cooke, sociologist with the forestry and rural development department, really thinks.

The truly poor in Canada, she said in an interview, number in the millions. The number of rural poor in a country with one of the highest living standards in the world was a "real disgrace."

Dr. Cooke, born and raised in the United States, lives in Canada because she loves the country and cares about its citizens, particularly its poor.

There is a map of Canada on her wall with circles around sections where there are pockets of poor people. These include, particularly, sections of the North and parts of Manitoba and New Brunswick.

"By and large our comfortable middle class just don't know what is going on," she said. "We don't see the extreme poor going back and forth to our homes, and many rural poor are isolated."

Dr. Cooke has seen and talked to many of these families on her frequent field trips.

They carry on with such courage. Strangely, they always point to someone who is worse off than they are.

"There is always a feeling of self-preservation. They just can't admit their situation is hopeless."

Dr. Cooke says a mother who works to augment a meagre income is better off than the one who doesn't. "But in my poverty' area they have no jobs for anyone."

She finds that interviewers like herself must make people understand that they are there to help. "After all, they are not in a zoo, are they?"

Dr. Cooke explained that the regional plan in her department is to work with 10 federal agencies, 10 provincial committees and seven local groups to decide on programs of help.

This includes improvements in basic living, such as improved utilities, upgrading of education and skills, and better schooling for the children.

Parents, she said, must see the benefits in their children.

"I believe in the family and local co-operation. We are not in the army, just making plans from the top. All this is interlocking of groups works surprisingly well."

Dr. Cooke doesn't believe in relocating families unless the father has new skills and a good job to go to. "Why exchange poverty in rural Manitoba for the slums in Montreal?"

Born in New York state, Dr. Cooke did undergraduate work at "a famous small eggbasket school," Reed College in Portland, Ore.

Because she was married in 1944 and had three children, she did not receive her doctorate until 1958 at Cornell. Her studies related to social changes in the community.

After a stint at the Canadian agriculture department, she joined the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Administration (ARDA) in 1965.

Her enthusiasm for her present job is contagious. She is "treated like a real professional" and is excited by all the technological changes in the world today.

She likes music, fossils and rocks and the pace of Ottawa after New York City.

Dr. Cooke doesn't think the poverty of many of Canada's citizens is hopeless.

"It is improving. I have to believe in my planned regional assistance. I don't want to be a woman who is a trouble-maker.

"But I believe in tacks on chairs. I think small fires to make officialdom move are useful. There is a fine line. But someone has to fight for these people.

New Legion Officers Elected

During the evening, the retiring president, Elwood Wilson gave a summary of the year's work. He was tendered a vote of appreciation for his efforts. Plans were made for a business meeting early in January, 1969.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

A.N.A.F. LADIES' AUXILIARY

The December meeting of the A.N.A.F. Auxiliary, was held in the main auditorium of the A.N.A.F. club recently.

President Alice Storms conducted the meeting.

The Auxiliary received many Christmas cards from various ladies' auxiliaries in Ontario. There was a good turn out of members even though several of the auxiliary members are on the sick list.

Plans were made for the Provincial Command meeting which will be held in Belleville Jan. 24, 1969.

President Storms wished everyone season's greetings.

Mr. Mrs. Elmer Vivian Hold At Home on Anniversary

An important event took place at the Neighbors' Aid Hall, 2nd. Thurlow when Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vivian, R. R. 6 Belleville were "At Home" to relatives, friends and neighbors, afternoon and evening, Dec. 29, on the occasion of their 60th. wedding anniversary.

The hall was appropriately decorated with gold and white wedding bells, streamers and silver tinsel. A three-tier wedding cake and silver tea services graced, lace covered tables.

A yellow mum plant from the Neighbors' Aid, a white mum plant from the Quinte Women's Institute, an artistical arrangement of roses in green mountain container from Shannonville U.C.W. unit; also a beautiful floral arrangement from Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McMechan and floral table arrangement of roses, carnations and mums from son Gordon, Verna and family, added greatly to the home-like atmosphere of the hall.

The school (now Neighbors' Aid Hall) is where Mr. Vivian attended in the community where they have farmed and always resided, with the exception of a few years spent in the United States.

Mrs. Keitha Kelly, sister of the "groom" who played their wedding march was present to enjoy the occasion.

A message of congratulations was received from the Queen; Clarke Rollins M.P.P. and Mrs. Rollins had previously visited them in their home and presented them with an illuminated scroll from the provincial secretary and a message of congratulation from Ontario Premier John Robarts; also from Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, Robert Stanfield, Lee Grills M.P. and Mayor Dr. J. R. Scott.

They also received many congratulatory cards and gifts. During the afternoon, Mrs. J. Dowding, president of Neighbors' Aid extended congratulations. At this time an appropriate address was read by Mrs. Arnold Mitchell and the bouquet couple were presented with two swivel rocking chairs and an electric clock presented by Mrs. Gene Stratton.

A lovely silver casserole was presented by brother Ken, Myrtle and family. A sterling silver necklace and heart pendant with diamond set and diamond tie pin were gifts from their son Gordon, Verna and family to their parents.

For all these gifts both Mr. and Mrs. Vivian made suitable replies.

Mr. Vivian was a member of the Shannonville Agricultural board for many years, Mrs. Vivian is a member of the Second Line Neighbors' Aid, Quinte Women's Institute, and always sang in the local Second Line quartet many years ago.

Refreshments were prepared and served by the Second Line Neighbors' aid group.

Tea was poured by Mrs. Keitha Kelly, Mrs. E. Leeming, Mrs. H. Grills, Mrs. A. Mitchell, Mrs. J. Dowdle, Mrs S. Ray, Mrs. A. Greatrix and Mrs. K. Vivian.

In the evening chairman Fletcher Reid called the gathering to order and a short program was presented and included: community singing piano solo, Marlene Reid; Tap dance, Laurie Sine, duets, Fred and Arnold Mitchell, and piano duet, Marlene Reid and Laurie Sine.

F. Reid on behalf of Thurlow council expressed sincere congratulations to the "bride and groom" of 60 years.

Their only son, Gordon now a sporting-goods merchant recalled in humpion, on behalf of himself, wife and family expressed sincere thanks to the Neighbors' Aid Women and all who had helped to make this day a memorable one.

Others spoke briefly including Arnold Mitchell and Thurlow reeve, Horace Casey, who congratulated them on their 60 years of married life — and of their keen interest in political life, starting with the Thurlow council.

During the day telegrams were received from their granddaughter, Beverly Anne and husband in France, from a cousin Mrs. Hobbs in Hampton, New Hampshire and one from the Vivians in Florida, who also sent a bush of the home grown fruit.

The last doet — "The End of a Perfect Day" — was a suitable ending to such a happy occasion.

"I'm hoping it won't interfere with my job," said Mrs. Connelly a 25-year-old housewife who teaches at St. Luke's Roman Catholic elementary school.

But her new clothing, she said Thursday—on the second day—is "the most practical thing women ever wore."

She prepared the dress after watching the nuns at St. Luke's in their long habits. Hers is a floor-length loose bell-sleeved affair in bright print, cinched in at the waist with a leather belt. Over this, she has a bright green, flap like overgarment. On her feet are bright pink sneakers.

There are no zippers, snaps or buttons.

Because she has two babies in diapers, Mrs. Connelly said she has complained about the short tight skirts, high heels and conventional underpinnings while tending to a mother's chores.

What is the effect on others?

"I went to the post office and nobody even noticed me," she said.

Bride - to - be Entertained At Shower

On Saturday evening, Mrs. Ralph Jeffs and daughters Jean, Joyce and Joan entertained 25 women in honor of bride - to - be Miss Donna Knight.

The rooms were decorated with pink and white streamers, bells and floral bouquets. A decorated wedding veil held a large assortment of miscellaneous gifts.

Miss Jean Jeffs conducted the program, and later a contest. Selections were read by Mrs. Percy McMullen, Mrs. Vernon Harry and Mrs. Robert H. Hoard. Miss Lorraine Jeffs contributed organ music, and Mrs. Ross Jeffs entertained with a story.

Miss Knight opened her gifts, and later voiced appreciation and thanks. Her sister, Mrs. Tom Hoskings, Belleville and her mother assisted her when a decorated hat was fashioned from ribbons and bows. At the close, Mrs. Jeffs and daughters served dainty refreshments.

New Spring Fashions to Feature Numerous Pleats

By the end of the first full day of the New York Couture Group showing Thursday, the 200 fashion reporters had seen little in the way of change.

The one message that all the ready-to-wear designers and manufacturers — whose collections ranged from a low of about $3 to a high of about $700 — got across was pleats.

There were tiny knife pleats on swirling skirts, short and long; side panel pleats to give skirts a smooth line and free moving fit; and even inverted back pleats topped by half belts.

Marie McCarthy, designing for the firm of Larry Aldrich, opened the afternoon session with a series of short and swingy dresses, many featuring either snug inset midriffs or belts.

Most of the difference in the clothes came in detail, not in basic shape, however. One dress was gathered with a sash, another with a belt. One had a side closing, another a front closing.

Davidow promised a "newer, younger feeling," but again only the details were different.

David Crystal showed numerous variations of his nowfamous simple sport shirtwaist with a crocodile embroidered on the left breast. The dresses now come in step-in as well as available for children as well as adults.

Reader Requests Information Regarding Poem

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: When I was a child, 60 years ago, there was a beautiful poem in a school reader about a river. It compared it to mortal life: Trickling through the grasses. So the brook began.

River, river, brimming river.

Broad and deep and still as time.

Seeming still yet still in motion.

Tending onward to the ocean.

Just like mortal prime.

Through a channel dark and narrow

Like life's closing day.

Still Hunting.

Dear Hunting: And you'd like us to join you in tracking it down! Readers? Who can go back to 1909 for us?

* * *

Dear Doris: I would like some exercises for the neck and throat. As I get older mine is starting to droop. — Droopy.

Dear Droopy: Dot T. contributes these muscle toners:

1. Lie on floor on stomach, propped up on elbows. Head cupped in hands. Very slowly turn your head to the left as far as it will go without uncomfortable strain. Hold for five seconds; repeat to the right.

2. In sitting position, drop your head slowly until your neck is limp and your head sags on your chest. Roll your head all the way around, keeping your neck limp and letting the weight of your head stretch the neck muscles.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "I didn't like it when the lights were turned out at your party."

Daughter: "We were just sitting around the fireplace telling ghost stories. Don't you trust me?"

Some rules for teen-age parties should be enforced calmly, firmly and consistently — and the "no lights out" rule is one of them.

Mother: "You may have odd lights for your party, but remember our rule. They must not be turned off completely or I'll have to come down and turn them back on."

More Married Women Now Working In N.Z.

WELLINGTON (Reuters) — Only one married woman in six goes out to work in New Zealand but the rate is increasing.

Most of the newly-married young women refuse to take jobs after the honeymoon. Often women who would like to work have domestic ties, but they are being encouraged to do so and opportunities are opening for training or retraining in various skills.

Every year the proportion of married women in industry goes up. In 1966 married women totalled nearly 118,000 or 41 per cent of the total female labor force.

This percentage compares with 25 per cent in 1951, 33 per cent in 1961.

Yet it would take an increase of more than 70,000 to bring the New Zealand labor force into the same proportion of married women in employment as in advanced countries.

Labor Minister Thomas Shand made this point when speaking at a reception held by the Wellington branch of the Federation of University Women.

"Many older women who would like employment but are deterred by a lack of training or re-training," he said. The Government's interest of society, facilities for training of this kind must be provided."

Ann Landers

Bubble Gum Chewing Source of Irritation

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Here's one I'll bet you've never had before. What can we do about a 45-year-old woman (mother of three, grandmother of two) who works in an office, makes at least $7,000 a year and is never without a tremendous wad of bubble gum in her mouth?

All day long we listen to snap, crackle and pop. But that's not the worst of it. She makes enormous bubbles, some the size of a volleyball. When outsiders come into the office and see this, they are often too shocked to speak.

This morning I was engrossed in some tedious tabulating and this nut yells, "Help!" I dropped everything and ran to her desk. Apparently one of her larger bubbles had burst. She had gum in her hair, on her glasses, in her beads and even on her earrings. The entire office was disrupted for 15 minutes trying to separate her from the gum with spot remover, ink eradicator and lighter fluid.

What can be done about this ridiculous situation? P.S. Her father owns this business. — J.L.K.

DEAR J.L.K.: Thanks for the P.S. I would say you also are stuck.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am the mother of a normal, healthy, happy, well-adjusted little girl. Lorraine is three years old and as pretty as a picture.

The problem is that whenever I ask her to do something she doesn't want to do, such as take a nap or put her toys away, she becomes very angry and inflicts pain on herself.

This child has banged her head against the floor, bitten herself until her lip bled, and pulled chunks of hair out of her head. Yesterday I left her with a sitter because I had to go to see my mother in the hospital. Lorraine scratched her face with a barrette until the blood ran.

Shall I spank her or ignore her? Please advise me. — SAN JUAN FUERTO RICO.

DEAR SAN JUAN: Your opening sentence contradicts the rest of your letter. A child who bangs her head on the floor, bites her lip till they bleed and pulls chunks of hair out of her head is neither well-adjusted nor happy. She is frustrated, angry, anxious and perhaps emotionally disturbed. Punishment is not the answer. This little girl should be evaluated by a doctor. Ask your pediatrician to direct you.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Repeat Chocolate Cake Recipe

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I've used so many of your recipes and one of my favorites is a chocolate cake recipe. I have lost this somewhere and cannot remember all the ingredients. This chocolate cake had some instant coffee in it, cocoa, and part of the sugar was whipped in with the egg whites, with cream of tartar folded in last. It was a nice light batter and the cake really improved with age. Could you please oblige me with a copy — because my family loves it too. — Mrs. Jean C.

ANSWER: I recognized the cake you described as being the one from my friend, Margaret Duddy. I am glad to repeat it for you here.

Batter fills an 8 x 8 x 2" pan to perfection.

½ cup cocoa
½ cup hot water
1 cup sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder (1 tablespoon)
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
two-thirds cup sugar
2 teaspoons instant coffee
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup cooking or salad oil
3 eggs, yolks and whites separated
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
one-third cup sugar (second amount)

Stir cocoa and hot water over heat until blended. Remove from heat and beat until smooth. Let cool. Sift together into large bowl sifted cake flour, baking powder, baking soda, the two-thirds-cup-amount of sugar, instant coffee and cinnamon. Make well in center and add salad oil, cooled cocoa mixture and egg yolks. Beat until batter is smooth. Add cream of tartar to egg whites and beat until foamy. Gradually add sugar — third - cup - sugar amounts and beat until whites are very stiff and will stand in stiff peaks. Fold into batter evenly.

Pour into 8 x 8 x 2" wax-paper-lined and buttered pan. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes, at centre of oven. Let rest in pan for 5 minutes, then turn out on rack, peel off paper and let cool.

MINT FROSTING: two tablespoons butter, 2 cups icing sugar, 2½ tablespoons evaporated milk or table cream, 10 drops green food coloring (optional), ¼ teaspoon peppermint extract, shake of salt. Beat until of spreading consistency. When spread on cake if desired, sprinkle top with chocolate shot.

A NEW FABRIC hits the lingerie field. Crepeset nylon, with the look of crepe and all the easy-care qualities of nylon. Shown here in the perfect under-theme for sheer blouses and dresses, a camisole chemise with lacey trim. Colors are white, coral, toffee brown.

New Fabric in Lingerie Field

Nothing should be permitted to come between a woman and her dress, except a well fitting slip.

Today's clinging wool knits and this season's crepes and sheer fabrics put new emphasis on slip selection.

This season a new lingerie fabric makes its debut, and has already achieved instant success. Here's a new synthetic fabric becomes an overnight hit there has to be a good reason for it.

Crepeset nylon, introduced recently in lingerie and sleepwear by Kayser, is a new nylon tricot with the look and feel of a silky crepe. It's opaque, quick drying, and stays fresh and wrinkle free. Because it's a fabric with just a bit of "body," Crepeset comes between a woman and her dress in a way that effectively reduces the cling and that unattractive, hip-and-rear-revealing look.

The new styling Crepeset is in a full slip with a well cut bodice, trimmed with hand shaped lace applique. It's used again in a "petticulotte" —cut like a wide bodied culotte with a lavish lace trim and perfect underlining for fuller skirts.

The newest lingerie item, and perfect, streamlined base for suits, is the up-dated "teddy," cut like a brief chemise slip plus a pant section and a domed crotch. This is a dual purpose slip and pant that insures a smooth line and cuts out the bulk of extra fabric round the legs.

Kayser makes the teddy in Crepeset nylon, and also uses this fabric for a brief mini-slip with a built-up shoulder, giving a well-groomed look under sheer blouses and dresses. There's also a petti-slip for those women who prefer this type of garment.

Fashion conscious women know that certain outfits call for certain lingerie styles. There's no one purpose slip that goes with everything.

French Expert Advises Anglo Saxon Contact

PARIS (CP) — Mrs. Peirrette Sartin, a French specialist in employment questions, says contact with "the Anglo-Saxon world" has helped Canadian women even those in Quebec province.

"Contact with the Anglo-Saxon world has for a long time given the Canadian woman, even in Quebec, an independence which women in Latin countries do not know," Mrs. Sartin writes in the newspaper Le Monde.

Now teaching at Laval University in Quebec City, she says the Canadian woman has learned to have herself recognized and respected as a person and not only as a function or object."

"The nearness of the United States has served to make her aware of the irresistible development of a world given over to science and technical progress and of the need to make adjustments or be overwhelmed by it," writes the French expert.

She also considers that the Canadian woman has become aware of the need for educational development.

"But when one measures the road travelled in less than 10 years by Canadian women, and especially by Quebec women, it is possible to hope that, if young women follow in their elders' footsteps, they will enjoy success, without discrimination, in education and the professional life."

Department Set Up To Teach Good Housekeeping

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP) — This city has set up a practice house where mothers who will move into Dartmouth's first public housing units in the spring can learn how to be good housekeepers.

The house, believed to be the first of its kind in Canada, is in an area scheduled for urban renewal. It was acquired by the city's welfare department and equipped partly by donations.

Mrs. K. W. Johns, the welfare department's nutritionist in charge of the practice house program, said she needed a house with an atmosphere similar to the homes of the women it would serve.

She will give lessons in low-cost cooking using inexpensive utensils and will teach mothers how to use and take care of electric stoves, refrigerators, automatic washers and dryers.

Good housekeeping practices, care of children, personal hygiene, sewing and repair of clothing will also be taught.

D. Scott MacNutt, welfare director, said the civic administration has recognized that to be poor in Canadian society means more than a lack of material possessions.

If people are to be encouraged to learn more money to meet material needs, they must also be encouraged to acquire the cultural appetites that demand such incomes.

"In this case culture can mean an appreciation of home cleanliness, personal hygiene, inter-personal relationships and other social graces we too often take for granted."

Mrs. John said an enthusiastic group of about 25 women who have been taking her cooking classes in the past have formed the Dartmouth City Mothers Club, and are using the practice house as a meeting place.

She hopes the 25 mothers in this low-income group will be the leaders in practice house programs. She plans to have as many as 10 mothers taking classes at the house.

Dartmouth's first public housing development will provide 96 units. There will be eight buildings with five three-to-four bedroom units in each.

Mrs. Johns started low-cost cooking classes three years ago after she conducted a survey of eating habits of the welfare department's clients. She found the women she visited were much on their own: they didn't go outside their homes and they had no friends or relatives.

The mothers in the club now are involved in a variety of projects. The have held parties for their children and are planning some for teen-agers. They raise money for entertaining at rummage sales, teas and coffee parties.

The club plans to provide one hot meal a week at the practice house for 15 to 20 old people whose names are provided by public health nurses. The Navy Wives Association will bring the elderly guests to the house.

Mrs. Johns said she and three other nutritionists have been successful so far in trying to persuade civic officials here and in neighboring Halifax to provide a room in public housing developments where good housekeeping practices can be taught.

U.S. Congress, Still Under Democratic Control, Resumes Work

WASHINGTON (CP-AP) — The 91st Congress, still under the control of the opposition Democrats, opens for business today with challenges to the leadership of both major parties in the Senate.

The Senate leadership contests are to be settled before the formal ceremonies and oath-taking that marks the start of the two-year session.

The House of Representatives settled its leadership problems Thursday as Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts easily defeated the challenge of Arizona Democrat Morris Udall. Republican Gerald Ford of Michigan won re-election unopposed as minority leader.

In the Senate, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, in a move regarded as a first step toward a possible 1972 presidential bid, strongly challenged Louisiana's Russell B. Long for the No. 2 Democratic job of whip.

The House may have to grapple with the problem of whether to seat New York's Adam Clayton Powell, ousted in 1967 after being accused of misusing federal funds.

Powell has twice been re-elected by his Harlem district since he was denied his seat in the 90th Congress.

Some Republicans are planning to move to seat the New Yorker after the 435 in the him $40,000, strip him of seniority and censure him. Others said they oppose seating him and it takes only one objection to force a roll call.

The top Senate posts in each party remained in the hands of Democrat Mike Mansfield of Montana, majority leader, and Republican Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, minority leader, who were unopposed.

The Democrats control the House 243 seats to 192 for the Republicans and hold a 57-43 margin in the Senate.

With leadership contests and other formalities out of the way, the House and Senate will meet in joint session Monday to canvass presidential election returns.

Both houses have before them a proposal to raise their own pay and the salaries of top federal officers including the president.

The pay raise proposal would provide a $50,000 increase for Republican Richard Nixon, making his salary as president $150,000. It would have to be passed by both House and Senate and signed into law before he takes the oath Jan. 20 or he would not be eligible for it until he runs for re-election.

Besides re-electing Ford as minority leader, House Republicans again chose Leslie Arends of Illinois as whip.

The Democratic caucus gave McCormack 178 votes to 38 for Udall and four for Representative Wilbur D. Mills (Dem.-Ark.), a non-candidate who seconded McCormack's nomination.

House Republicans had only one major leadership contest—for the chairman of the House Republican Conference, a post greatly increased in importance while it was held by Representative Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, the defence secretary-designate.

Great Legislative Cleanup Likely in Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — If Parliament goes by the script, the next few months could see one of the great legislative cleanups of Canadian history.

The Commons comes back Tuesday, Jan. 14, with "revolutionary" procedure rules in effect and a list of legislative items that has been accumulating for months or years.

As outlined by Governor-General Roland Michener's throne speech, the plan was to get Parliament operating efficiently, then clean up the legislative backlog to make way for new programs.

The backlog, along with a few new proposals, made up a list of 47 items on the government's schedule.

The Commons cleared away 12 of these in the fall but most of the big ones remain, along with a few prickly additions.

The House program for the resumed session hasn't been released yet, but the Criminal Code omnibus bill, a massive 126-page document that will be one of the main hurdles of the session, is expected to be one of the first up for debate.

Another is the drugs bill, designed to cut prices by injecting more competition into the manufacturing of drugs.

Both these bills have been bobbing along in the legislative stream for more than a year since they emerged in December, 1967.

The drugs bill had a high-priority tag in the late days of the Pearson administration last March, but it has had only 40 minutes of debate so far this session.

The bill was set for second reading debate before Christmas, however, and should be one of the early ones in 1969.

Even more prominent is the proposed Canada Development Corp., a perennial item on Liberal legislative programs since 1962.

When Parliament opened Sept. 18, officials said draft legislation had been prepared to set up the corporation and that a go-ahead decision had been made by the cabinet. But the draft has yet to be introduced.

Another item still to appear on the order paper is the labor bill that grated on many nerves—even among Liberals—during the last session.

It would have broadened the scope of regional bargaining units and was attacked by the Canadian Labor Congress on the grounds that it would have permitted the splitting off of Quebec units from national labor bodies.

The bill is expected back later this winter, in amended form, after study of the Woods committee report on labor-management relations. That report is due on Labor Minister Mackasey's desk any day now.

Also still to be revived is the national anthem, expected to be adopted by way of a government resolution. A committee in the last session recommended the approval of O Canada with the first of the "stand on guards" deleted, but the committee report was not adopted by the House.

In all, there are nearly 40 legislative items to come in about 80 sitting days available for handling legislation.

Some are minor and would slip easily through a Parliament working under the speed-up atmosphere of new rules.

In the other category will be the official languages bill, making French and English official languages under federal jurisdiction, two budget resolutions on estate and income taxes resulting from the fall budget, and a bill creating four new government departments.

And at least one large fly is still in the ointment: Rule 16-A, which proposed debate-limiting rule that angered the opposition before Christmas and was sent back to committee.

Without it, the government's formula for a smooth-functioning Parliament isn't complete. And the opposition has made plain that 16-A or any rule similar to it won't go through without a fight.

Many Clues Hidden In Words' Meaning

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

To many people, the study of words seems a remote and academic pastime: bearing little relation to the real world. Actually, however, it is in words and their changing use that we find important clues to the social and psychological drifts of the society.

For instance, what do all the following words have in common: bawd, concubine, coquette, courtesan, hag, harlot, hoyden, shrew, termagant, wench and witch?

Of course, they are all demeaning words for women, and today are used only in reference to women. But the really interesting thing about them — and many more — is that originally they were used to denote either sex.

Over the last few centuries, however, these words became pejorative only for women, which indicates how male chauvinism in the real world translated itself into the verbal downgrading of the opposite sex.

Bawds, concubines, coquettes, courtesans, and harlots initially referred to both men and women of loose sexual practices. Chaucer, Wielif, Beaumont and Fletcher Shakespeare, and countless other writers use these terms interchangeably for either sex. Then they suddenly die out as words applying to men, and become "feminine" only.

Why should a "hag" be only an unattractive old woman, when there is no correlative term for such a man? Why should a "termagant" become only a female who rants and rails, when just as many men are nags? Why should a "shrew" be only a woman, when masculine shrews abound everywhere? And a "witch" was at first bisexual; that is why so much Elizabethan literature referred to it "she-witch" when such was intended.

Only 200 years ago, the word "hoyden" was more often applied to a clownish, ill-bred man than to a girl; now it is exclusively used to designate a certain type of female. We really have no masculine equivalent — even such Victorian terms as "cad" and "bounder" were quickly dropped from the language of fashion.

Our speech accurately reflects the prejudices of the ruling group. Since the rulers and the rich and the educated (who directed language) generally lived in cities, we developed such words as "villain," which meant a rustic, "heathen" and pagan," which also indicated those who dwell in the country; "boor," which meant a farmer; and many other such words which downgraded rural inhabitants.

The use of a word wrongly understood can affect great events. Some believe that Darwin's "The Descent of Man" evoked such a storm because "descent" seems to indicate a dropping down from the ages; when he really meant it in the sense in which we speak of "descending from royalty."

Housing Report May Face Opposition

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal housing inquiry proposals for dealing with Canada's home shortage could encounter opposition on financial and constitutional grounds when they are presented to Parliament later this month.

Seeds of criticism began to sprout Thursday when it was learned the inquiry's report Transport Minister Paul Hellyer is recommending bigger and more flexible government-backed mortgages and direct federal aid to municipalities to assemble and service housing land.

One government authority responsible politically for raising the ceiling on the amount of individual mortgage loans under the National Housing Act would do little in itself to make housing more readily available to the mass of families.

Inquiry members have suggested in the past that the ceiling on NHA loans—provided through banks, mortgage companies or the government's Central Mortgage and Housing Corp.—should be raised to $25,000 from $18,000 on new homes, with perhaps a proportionate increase for loans on existing homes, now $10,000.

Aim of the increases would be to make house-purchase easier in high-price metropolitan areas, encourage renovation of older homes, and make the jump big enough so builders will not simply raise their prices almost automatically as they did after adjustments in the NHA loan ceiling in 1965 and 1963.

However, bigger mortgage loans might also mean fewer NHA loans because there is a limit on the total amount of funds available, an authority commented.

To help attract more investment funds into the mortgage market as well as to meet diverse financing needs of homebuyers, the inquiry is suggesting a greater variety in the terms of mortgages available.

In addition to NHA mortgages with interest fixed for 20 or 25 years, mortgages renegotiable at five-year intervals, or with interest rates more frequently by to match prevailing rates in the money market, would also be made available. Mortgages might be stretched to 30 or 35 years for some mortgagors.

Mortgages open for periodic adjustment of interest rates would be designed to allay fears among investors that inflation might wipe out any gains over a period of years.

In suggesting direct federal financial assistance for municipalities to assemble land and service it with sewage, roads and other amenities, the inquiry means to meet complaints that municipalities in the red lack funds to allow some expansion of housing.

However, the provinces—increasingly jealous of their right to control such matters—have insisted in recent years that federal aid be channelled through municipalities through provincial authorities.

In the past, the provinces have complained CMHC was letting the provinces in on programs already arranged with municipalities only late in the game, despite the fact that the provinces usually were committed to spend money.

CMHC usually loans 75 per cent of the cost of programs of land assembly, block servicing, public housing or sewage treatment, with the provinces putting in, either 17½ or 25 per cent and the municipality paying any balance.

Quebec Digs Out Of Drifts

MONTREAL (CP)—Snow removal crews throughout Quebec province today continued their battle a gainst wind-whipped snowdrifts which had partially paralyzed road and rail transportation since New Year's day.

Provincial police reported major highways open with secondary roads expected to be cleared later in the day in the wake of a 48-hour wind storm which stranded hundreds of road and rail travellers, crippled bus travel and caused an estimated $50,000 damage to the Man and His World site.

At the height of the storm Monday, hundreds of cars were abandoned on highways and in ditches as motorists sought shelter in motels, service stations and restaurants.

Police said about 200 cars and 500 passengers were stranded on a 30-mile section of Highway No. 9 between her and St. John.

CP Rail and the CNR reported trains immobilized by hard-packed snowdrifts.

His son, Dr. Charles G. Rand, 51, an associate professor of medicine at Western, said Thursday the retired justice sat down in his office at the university after walking up a hill to visit friends.

"He turned very pale and appeared to faint. It was over very quickly," he said.

Defence Spending Declines

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence spending dropped by almost $50,000,000 in the first eight months of the current fiscal year but other government spending pushed the total almost up almost $770,000,000 from the same period last year.

Interest charges on the public debt jumped by more than 16 per cent to $1,010,200,000 in the eight months ended Nov. 30 from $866,800,000 in the same stretch of 1967.

In November, the government ran a surplus of $33,500,000 after spending $880,200,000 during the month to bring down the deficit for the year that began last April 1 to $49,000,000.

Tax-collecting May Be Placed Under Independent Commission

OTTAWA (CP)—Officials say the government is preparing legislation to put Canada's tax collecting machinery under an independent commission and remove it from a department role in policy decisions.

The national revenue department would be abolished as such, but its staff would continue to do the job—working for an independent agency.

The move was recommended in the 1967 report of a royal commission headed by Kenneth Carter, Toronto accountant and tax consultant. His report could find no good reason why the revenue department should be a branch of government headed by a full-time minister, whose primary concern is politics.

Target date for introducing the change as draft legislation in Parliament is late March or April, an informant said.

The move is believed to be timely, since Jean-Pierre Cote, now revenue minister, is recovering from a serious heart operation. The department has been operating under acting ministers for several months.

If on his return to good health, Mr. Cote is able to carry on cabinet responsibilities he will be given another post. But the revenue ministry would be dropped.

The department has two divisions, taxation and customs, headed by a deputy minister and operating more or less apart except for some common administrative services.

Mr. Carter's report said taxing operations should be carried on by a board of revenue commissioners to ensure that they are not only impartial but have every appearance of being impartial.

He said a commission would be an "independent, non-political tax agency free of ministerial direction," ruling out "any attempt to exert political influence on the taxing authority."

The independent commission would report to Parliament like a Crown corporation and probably would be headed by someone with judicial—rather than political—qualifications.

Mr. Justice Rand Dies

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Ivan C. Rand, 84, former justice of the Supreme Court of Canada famed for the labor relations formula named after him, died of a heart attack Thursday in his son's office at the University of Western Ontario.

At the time of his death, Mr. Rand was taking a holiday from work on a royal commission on labor relations being prepared for the government of Newfoundland.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Known as the man who found a compromise formula to end the union shop squabble 30 years ago, he recently stirred a storm of controversy with a report on industrial disputes in Ontario that was termed retrograde by labor leaders.

Before his retirement from the Supreme Court of Canada in 1959 at age 75, Mr. Rand was considered one of the greatest judges ever to sit on a Canadian bench.

His son, Dr. Charles G. Rand, 51, an associate professor of medicine at Western, said Thursday the retired justice sat down in his office at the university after walking up a hill to visit friends.

"He turned very pale and appeared to faint. It was over very quickly," he said.

Fish Become Booming Business For Bay of Quinte Operator

By BOB DUNNETT
Staff Reporter

Fish are becoming a booming business for plant operators in the Bay of Quinte area.

At Bay of Quinte Fisheries, located opposite Zwick's Island Park, four men are busy handling about four tons of fish per week.

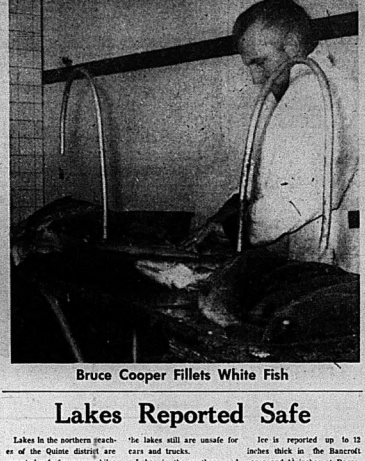
Mr. Cooper said yesterday that oysters, clams, lobsters, and shrimps are brought in from the East Coast. He buys the rest from the fishermen in this area, and these are shipped to Montreal, Toronto, New York and Chicago.

The biggest per centage of the fish caught are white perch, yellow perch, and carp. Some white fish are being caught, but they are not too plentiful.

Mr. Cooper said that the coarser fish such as carp are shipped in the round, or headed, depending upon their weight, but prestige fish such as white fish and pickerel are filleted, before sale.



Mr. Cooper said that he would like to see a stronger local market — especially for the more numerous fish, such as perch.

He said that most of the fish are caught in the Bay of Quinte and the Eastern end of Lake Ontario.

At present Mr. Cooper employs four men and they handle about four tons of fish a week. He hopes next year to expand his operation so that he can freeze and store greater quantities.

Hope Promoted

Insp. Del Hope, the man who has investigated every serious fire in the Quinte district for the past seven years, is being promoted by the Ontario Fire Marshal's Office.

Insp. Hope has been stationed in Belleville since 1961, and has headed every major fire probe in much of Eastern Ontario during that time.

He now has been appointed intelligence officer to a newly-formed branch of the OFM office dealing with criminal activity.

Insp. Hope will be succeeded by Insp. Paul McKerracher who handled investigations into the recent Front Street fire that destroyed David's Furniture and Appliances.

Permits Increase

City building inspector Grant Stickle reported yesterday that 394 building permits were issued with a construction value of $6,067,135.

This compares with 316 permits issued in 1967 with a construction value of $3,447,-628. Last year 302 residential units were constructed in the city up about 80 from the year previous.

The Dec. building total amounted to $537,850, including 32 residential units valued at $283,000.

Lakes Reported Safe

Lakes in the northern reaches of the Quinte district are reported safe for snowmobiles as scores of ice fishermen prepare for a weekend of winter fishing.

This is the big year for snow vehicles and many likely will be used by sportsmen to traverse bush and frozen lakes in reach fishing huts.

Dept. of lands and forests officials warn, however, that the lakes still are unsafe for cars and trucks.

Stepped up traffic is expected on many lakes this weekend. Trout season opened with the New Year. However, since the holiday came in midweek, most fishermen are believed waiting until the weekend before breaking ice on their favorite lake.

Ice is reported up to 12 inches thick in the Bancroft area and 14 inches at Dacre. Further south, it thins to 11 inches at Tweed. Lakes in the Napanee - Kingston area have only three to four inches of ice — and are not considered safe.

In the bush, there is 32 inches of snow in the northern Quinte townships, 18 inches south of Highway 7.

Prospects 'Brightest Ever'

Mayor Scott Predicts Unparalleled Expansion for Belleville

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

The year 1969 will be a busy period construction wise for the city of Belleville.

In fact Mayor J. Russell Scott in a New Year's prediction sees the city enjoying an expansion period never before paralleled in the history of the municipality.

Lending credence to his prediction, the mayor pointed to a scheduled multi-million dollar program of municipal works and services, institutional and residential construction along with industrial prospects claimed to be the "brightest ever" for the Quinte city.

New institutional construction in the works for Belleville this year includes the new administration building at Belleville General Hospital to cost an estimated $2,500,000 and the Edith Cavell School of Nursing at an estimated $800,000.

Then there is the new secondary treatment plant addition in Foster Ward and a new city water plant addition at an estimated $1,800,000.

This year will also be a bridge construction year for the city with two structures, the long proposed Dundas Street bridge over the Moira River, and the first phase construction for the proposed Sidney Street bridge.

These two structures are expected to cost at least one and a half million.

Also scheduled for this year is construction of the new sanitary sewer up the bed of the Moira Park to serve the Hillcrest and Northeast Industrial Park area of the city.

An industrial expansion project at American Optical Company is already under way while the new CN freight marshalling yards to serve the entire Rideau area will also go ahead this year.

Still awaiting approval from the Ontario Municipal Board is the much talked about plaza development for the city's North Front Street area.

Mayor Scott terms this shopping plaza and hotel complex, and also the proposed Unemployment Insurance Commission regional office as distinct possibilities.

The above pretty well takes care of planned municipal and commercial construction, but the city will also see a big program of residential construction.

Among the proposals is the construction of two large apartment blocks for the city's West Hill district, and also the construction of 96 low rental houses and 45 senior citizens dwelling units by the Ontario Housing Corporation.

Tender proposals for the low rental and senior citizen housing units are now being called.

The low rental housing proposal calls for the construction of 26 two bedrooms homes, 54 three bedroom homes, 10 four bedroom houses and six five room dwellings.

In addition to the low rental and senior citizens housing construction there is expected to be considerable activity in private building, the volume to equal if not surpass last year's healthy construction.

"There never has been so much building in the history of the city" Mayor Scott said.

City building inspector Grant E. Stickle reports a construction total of just over $6,000,000 for 1968 of which 302 residential units accounted for well over on half, the total.

By contrast in 1967 there were only 159 residential units constructed with a total building value for the year of $3,447,628.

City Assessment Commissioner Leighton Thompson reports a healthy growth last year in taxable assessment.

Subject to possible court of revision changes, the total added to the city's assessment roll in 1963 was $2,200,000 which the assessment commissioner refers to as a "good natural growth."

This boosts to about $113,000,000 the city's assessment on which the 1969 tax structure will be based.

But in addition to the construction program for municipal services and housing, Mayor Scott is confident the city is due for a period of industrial expansion which will surpass any previous activity.

He said there have been more enquiries from potential industry in the past three months than in the previous 20 years. He is confident that some of these industries will locate here.

"The best way to get industry is to deserve industry — and we have proved that we can get industry," he said.

"The city is going to go ahead," he added.

While confident of an unparalleled influx of new industry to the city, Mayor Scott said at the same time council would have to give consideration to the provincial government's white paper on regional government.

He hoped that a special committee would be set up by Hastings county council to meet with a city council committee and make a complete study of problems.

Mayor Scott said it would be much better to arrive at local conclusions as to what was wanted rather than take what was handed out.

"My belief is that we should meet this inevitable legislation (regional government) with an alternative acceptable to the government and which would be to local advantage."

Mayor Scott foresees the possibility of amalgamation — definitely not annexation — of the city of Belleville with adjoining municipalities and possibly taking in Frankford, Sidney and Ameliasburg township.

"We must do something jointly about sewers, water and utilities, if we are to enjoy the fullest possible expansion, he said.

The only way this could be accomplished, he said, was to take advantage of amalgamation in a joint venture to amicably work out something to the advantage of all in each of the communities.

Under the amalgamation proposal Mayor Scott envisions, Belleville would still have its own city council to look after strictly municipal problems while a second level of government, or "county super council" would look after regional problems.

Construction Figures Totalled

City Assessment Commissioner Leighton Thompson and Building Inspector Grant Stickle confer on city's construction value totals for last year. The building inspector said over $6,000,000 in new construction was reported with $2,500,000 being added to the assessment roll.

Electronic Accounting Machine

A new electronic accounting machine costing approximately $50,000 went into operation at city hall with the New Year. New machine does payroll, accounts payable, and will do monthly budget reports. City tax collector John Grohn and operator Mrs. Evelyn Yott confer at machine.

Japanese Team Outscores Juniors In Tour Opener

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) - -The Japanese Selects scored a 10-8 victory over New Westminster Royals of the British Columbia Junior Hockey League in an exhibition hockey game Thursday before 1,900 fans.

Japanese forward Koji Iwamoto scored six goals and set up another. Other Japanese scorers were Melvin Wakabayashi with two and Tadoshi Nakamura and Hisashi Kasai.

Mickey Wilson and Ray Wallis both scored twice for New Westminster and singles were registered by Ron Pepper, Barry Lewicki, Al Knight and Wayne Goss.

The Japanese team will play Kingston Merchants of the Eastern Ontario Intermediate League Jan. 17 in Kingston.

Glasgow Fans Injured

GLASGOW (AP) — Twenty-one soccer fans were taken to hospital Thursday after a handrail collapsed at the end of the game between Glasgow Rangers and Glasgow Celtic at Ibrox Stadium.

The sell-out crowd of 80,000 was filing out of the stadium when the rail gave way and dozens of persons tumbled down a stairway leading from the terraces.

Until the mishap, it was the quietest Rangers-Celtic clash for years.

In past years there always has been trouble on the terraces when the two teams played. As many as 70 persons have been arrested during one game for fighting or throwing bottles.

The Rangers won Thursday's match 1-0.

But Celtic maintained their position at the top of the First Division despite their defeat and now have 29 points from 19 games.

Dundee United, the only British team unbeaten at home this season, drew level on points with Celtic with a 2-1 win over Dundee through goals by Mitchell and Hogg. Bryce scored for Dundee.

Gayle Blew In

Police said Thursday two Toronto hotels are trying to track down a man who racked up bills of more than $250 Nov. 30. A spokesman for one hotel said the man —who registered as the National Football League player—left—without—paying—and asked for his autograph.

While the man was making yards here, the real Gayle Sayers was recuperating in Chicago from an injury.

Cowboy Coach Curious About 'Runner-Up' Game

MIAMI (AP) — Dallas coach Tom Landry isn't sure what to expect from his Cowboys Sunday when they meet Minnesota Vikings in the runner-up playoff of the National Football League.

Landry is curious to see how his players react after their crushing 31-20 defeat by Cleveland Browns in the Eastern Conference championship game two weeks ago.

"I'm not really sure how we'll react," said the only head coach Dallas has had since it came into the NFL in 1960. But this second place game, I don't know what will be."

The 44-year-old Landry observed that to play a real top game you have to have intensive concentration.

Landry said he had no doubts that his team would recover from the bruised ego suffered in the Cleveland game.

"We'll recover in time. You have to recover in this business. It's a new experience for us. A lot of our players have put in eight years or more to get this far. I would be surprised if we didn't play well."

Both teams report they are in good health, with everybody ready to play.

Landy indicated he was puzzled by the Cowboys' flop in Cleveland.

"We were favored and should have won, but we didn't," he said.

"We'll have to take a close look to see if we lack something and analyze and study every aspect of our team."

Grant Says Team Pride To Mean Top Viking Performance

MIAMI (AP) Coach Bud Grant said Thursday he'll be surprised if his Minnesota Vikings don't play well Sunday against Dallas Cowboys in the National Football League's runners-up playoff in the Orange Bowl.

The 41-year-old Grant, former head coach with Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian League, rejected a popular conception that the players are flat for this annual game between the second-place teams of the Eastern and Western conferences of the NFL.

"I know we're not going to be flat, and I'm sure Tom Landry (Cowboys coach) isn't going to let Dallas forget this is a football game," Grant said. "There is far too much pride among the players to let themselves get down."

Grant, in his second year as Viking coach, directed his squad to the Central Division title, but lost the Western Conference championship game to Baltimore Colts, 24-14, at Baltimore two weeks ago. Dallas captured the Capitol division, then was upset by Cleveland Browns in the showdown for the Eastern crown.

First Time Ever

Habs Embarrassed By Pesky Penguins

By SCOTT BUTTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Coach Red Sullivan of Pittsburgh Penguins may have been wasting his time trying to find a leader for his National Hockey League club. At least, it sudden-ly looks that way.

Until the Penguins blasted Montreal Canadiens 5-2 Thursday night, Sullivan thought he needed one standout player to inspire the rest of the team.

But Thursday night, it was vigorous checking and a spirited team effort that helped the Penguins defeat the Canadiens for the first time ever.

In other NHL action Thursday night, Boston Bruins moved into a first-place tie with Montreal in the Eastern Division by downing New York Rangers 4-2 and Chicago Black Hawks and Philadelphia Flyers played to a 2-2 tie.

Pittsburgh's victory was watched in astonishment by 16,104 fans at Montreal. In seven previous encounters between the two teams this season and last, the Canadiens had six wins and a tie.

Residents of last place in the Western Division, the Penguins refused to give the usually nimble Canadiens any skating room and kept them constantly off balance with conscientious forechecking.

In addition, the Penguins were opportunists as two of their goals came with Montreal a man short and a third when the Canadiens held a man advantage.

Pittsburgh scorers were Wally Boyer, Ken Schinkel, Bob Woytowich, Bill Harris and Jean Pronovost. J. C. Tremblay and Dick Duff connected for Montreal.

The Penguins jumped into a 3-1 lead in the first period and led 5-2 at the end of the second. There was no scoring in the final period.

Bobby Orr of Boston had the kind of night many older defencemen dream about, but never achieve. He scored one goal, assisted on another and played almost perfect defence.

Ron Murphy, Ed Westfall and Derek Sanderson scored the other goals for the Bruins, who hold a game in hand over the Canadiens. Reg Fleming and Vic Hadfield replied for the Rangers before 17,250 New York fans.

Sanderson's decisive goal, midway through the second period, was set up by Orr's pass. Then, the 20-year-old Orr scored an insurance goal, his 11th of the season, at :18 of the final period.

Bobby Hull scored one goal and assisted on another for the Black Hawks to move two points ahead of Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings in the battle for the scoring leadership.

Hull, playing with a broken jaw, has 52 points on 25 goals and 27 assists. Howe, idle Thursday night, is second with 50 points on 17 goals and 33 assists.

Moose Hair, Feathers Make Bill Clapp's Day

A Flair for Flies

By MALCOLM JOHNSTON
Staff Sportswriter

Moose hair, polar bear hair, bucktail and feathers are some of the unlikely materials which make fishing a year-round hobby for Bill Clapp of Belleville.

An ardent fisherman, Bill ties flies as a hobby to fill in the winter and prepare for the summer fishing season. Fly tying is a delicate task which requires patience, imperturbation and the use of tools such as a magnifying glass, scissors, hackle pliers and a hackle gauge.

Wet flies, which are imitations of bugs who skim across the water, and dry flies — imitations of minnows — are the two major types which Bill makes. He also makes popper bugs, water flies, deer hair flies, wet hair flies, bugs, mice and others with which he experiments on various kinds of fish.

Bill, who believes a man should go fishing whenever he gets the time, has been tying flies since he was a boy. He utilizes rooster hackle, peacock hurl, feathers, cork, silk floss, chenille, yarn, embroidery floss and thread. He dyes all his own materials when he practises his hobby.

McClane's Standard Fishing Encyclopedia is his guide, and he follows the patterns as close as possible, but he improvises to fit the materials available to him. Whatever materials he cannot get from nature he purchased from Anglers' Specialities in Toronto.

Fishing methods are now more sophisticated than ever before, and Bill stresses the use of good tools, the ability to experiment and avoid conformity, and the use of nylon thread, which is waterproof and much stronger than standard cotton thread.

Ice fishing attracts Bill's attention in the winter and the Hastings Drive resident likes the fact that snowmobiles enable one to fish in places that can't be reached in the summer months without great effort.

You may think Southern California lost Wednesday's Rose Bowl because Ohio State outplayed them by a 27-16 margin . . . or because the Buckeyes managed to find some grabbable creases in O. J. Simpson's sweater . . . or because Ohio State were, indeed, the pick of the college grid crop that they had been cracked up to be.

Not so.

At least part of that 11-point edge has to be attributed to the culinary skills of an anonymous chef in a downtown Los Angeles restaurant.

It seems the proprietor of the restaurant is accustomed to inviting players of each participating Rose Bowl squad to dinner on separate evenings each year just prior to the annual classic.

Southern Cal players were the first to sit down to the knife and fork orgy, and the Trojans didn't stagger away from the table until they had put away a whopping 275 pounds of moo-meat.

Our rough calculations would indicate an intake of eight to ten pounds per Trojan for the evening's glut.

(Did you notice how the Buckeye defenders seemed to have so little trouble overtaking Southern Cal ball-carriers?)

Speedster O. J. Simpson's 171 yards gained would indicate he either didn't show up for the meal, did show up but didn't have seconds, or that he's blessed with a metabolism that could assimilate raw whale blubber.

But here's the clincher.

The Buckeyes were due to cross napkins the Thursday before the gala Rose Bowl shindig.

They declined the invitation.

A spokesman for the resaurant management said he had been informed the Ohio State squad was adhering to so strict a practice schedule it would be unable to provide Southern Cal with a Beef Bowl challenge.

Let's just say that they played a vital part in the 11-point "bulge" that was the Rose Bowl margin of victory.

Then again, any Trojan worth his salt would never lose sight of the classic admonishment: "Beware of Greeks bearing gifts."

• • •

Speaking of athletic eating accomplishments, the day of heroic or bizarre diets seems a thing of the past.

Today's athletes live in an era of "high-protein-this" or "dehydrated-super-energetic-that."

The burly Vancouverite would sit down to two dozen eggs and a pound or so of bacon, and wash it down with a few litres of milk for his lighter breakfasts.

Then there was Didier Pitre, the early Montreal Canadiens' eccentric, who, it was claimed, swizzled a bottle of champagne between periods.

Them were the daze.

Of Two Races...

Mo-Hawks Would Settle for One

STAFF — Belleville's Mo-Hawks are also-rans in two Senior "A" races at the moment, but the locals would settle to finish "in the money" in just one of them.

The eight-team senior loop's latest scoring statistics released today show the club's high-scoring point-getter — playing coach Davey Jones, with 13 goals and 13 assists — is well back of the circuit's top ten grouping of players with 35 points or more.

But the Mo-Hawks, whose league-low goal production of 78 has picked up of late (16 in the last four games), are more interested in keeping within striking range of the league's sixth and last playoff spot.

They get an opportunity to do just that tonight when they play host to the Oakville Oaks at 9 o'clock in the Belleville Arena.

Corby Adams of Barrie Flyers has held the Ontario Hockey Association Senior series scoring leadership for much of the season and he's still on top.

Adams has a three-point lead on Joe Hamley of Collingwood Kings with 21 goals and 30 assists for 51 points. Hamley has 17 goals and 31 assists for 48 points.

Bob Forhan of Barrie and Ron Hergest of Galt Hornets are tied for third place just with 42 points each. Moe Galand of Orillia Terriers, the scoring leader with 26, and Howie Dietrich of Galt are tied for fifth place with 40 points each.

The leaders: (Legend: O—Orillia, B—Barrie G—Galt, C — Collingwood, K—Kingston)

	G	A	Pts
Adams, B	21	30	51
Hamley, C	17	31	48

GORDIE HOWE'S HOCKEY TIPS

An attacker trailing his stick past the net after a shot is always dangerous. He can easily tap in a rebound — the "second chance" goalies always have to guard against.

The goalie has no choice but to freeze the puck in situations like this. That causes a faceoff in his zone — another danger — but there's no alternative.

Wing Bid Fails

Petes Score 10 To Retain Second

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Red Wings trimmed Montreal Canadiens 3-0 Thursday to extend their Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league-leading streak, but their effort was not enough to catch the offence-minded Peterborough Petes in second place.

While the Red Wings stretched their victory string to nine games and cut off the Habs' Canadiens' own unbeaten stretch at seven games, the Petes mowed down eighth-place London Knights 10-2 before 3,005 fans at Peterborough.

The wins left the Petes two points ahead of the Red Wings and four points behind the league-leading St. Catharines Black Hawks, who did not play Thursday.

Centre Dave Gilmour scored two of the Red Wing goals and assisted on the other scored by Ron Climie. Gilmour scored the winner at 2:06 of the second period, deflecting a long drive from defenceman Lee Carpenter behind Canadiens' goaltender Wayne Wood.

Climie's goal, his 25th of the season, came just 16 seconds after the start of the third period and Gilmour scored again about three minutes later.

Rick MacLeish sparked Peterborough's biggest goal production of the season with three goals and two assists and Dale Power contributed one goal and four assists. MacLeish came close to increasing his big night when he hit the goal post three times and missed again on a breakaway.

Seven Celtics In Two Digits

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston's balanced scoring paid dividends Thursday night as the Celtics dumped San Diego Rockets 107-95 in one of three scheduled National Basketball Association games.

Paced by John Havlicek and Tom Sanders with 23 points each, seven Celtics hit the double-figures column to offset a poor night by the Rockets Elvin Hayes.

In other games, Atlanta's defence held Chicago Bulls to one field goal in the fourth quarter in a 106-88 Hawks victory and Cincinnati Royals squandered a 30-point lead then rebounded for a 113-109 win over Milwaukee Bucks on the strength of Oscar Robertson's 26 points.

Won First Shot

Max Baer Honored Among Ring Greats

NEW YORK (AP) — Max Baer, who won the heavyweight crown in his first shot and lost it in his first defence, has been elected to boxing's Hall of Fame.

Baer, who died at the age of 50 in 1959, was the choice among the modern fighters announced Thursday.

Also selected by special committees were the late Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, former light heavyweight champion for five old-timers, and Jacob Hyer, a claimant of the American heavyweight title in 1816, for the pioneer group

Baer lost the crown to James J. Braddock in one of the great upsets of all time. Braddock, who had once quit the ring, was 30 when he won the title on a 15-round decision in Baer's first defence.

O'Brien won the light heavyweight-title in 1905. He never defended it, preferring to fight in the more lucrative heavyweight division. He died in 1942.

Hyer, a New Yorker in the bareknuckle area, claimed the American heavyweight crown in 1816 but his claim never was fully recognized.

His son, Tom Hyer, was the first recognized American heavyweight champion. The son was picked for the Hall of Fame in 1954. The Hyers are the first father-son combination to be elected.

IT WORKS BECAUSE IT SWINGS!
That's the principle behind the pendulum clock, invented in 1657. Earlier clock were found only in cathedrals and public squares; today it is a rare home that doesn't contain at least one time-keeping device. The days of the candle and the hourglass are gone and the modern world depend upon accurate clocks.
If the days of your older clock are gone in your house, chances are that a home accessory in this area would love to use it.

Anti-smoking Show

Board Wants to Withdraw Movie from Circuit

OTTAWA (CP) — Its artistic pride wounded by a movie chain's rejection of its latest anti-smoking film, the National Film Board wants to withdraw the color cartoon, King Size from the movie theatre circuit.

This would lift distribution restrictions on the $40,000 film to permit schools and television to show it.

Dr. Hugo McPherson, NFB head, said in Montreal he does not want to talk about the withdrawal proposal because it still is under discussion with the federal health department, which bank-rolled the cartoon.

Ever since an announced Christmas Day first showing of the film failed to take place, the issue has generated a fair amount of public controversy.

The Montreal branch of the Canadian Society of Cinematographers demanded in a statement that State Secretary Gerard Pelletier investigate. It also suggested Christopher Salmon, president of Odeon Theatres Canada Ltd., explain the theatre chain's actions to Mr. Pelletier.

Odeon's vice-president, Frank Fisher, said King Size was turned down because "we don't think it's entertainment.

Mr. Fisher denied that King Size was ever booked into any Odeon theatre.

The National Film Board, which had hoped to repeat its award-winning success of the anti-smoking film, The Drag, said its announcement of the Christmas Day booking at Toronto's Odeon Carlton theatre was a mistake.

Meanwhile, Barry Mather, New Democrat MP for Surrey and an ardent anti-cigarette campaigner, suggested that the Commons health committee should take a look at the veto on King Size during the committee's current investigation of smoking.

He said Thursday that if no theatre chain allows showing of "this health film—and my information is that it is very entertaining—the CBC or CTV television networks should be interested in picking it up and letting the public see what was banned."

The Drag, also made by NFB for the department, won an academy award nomination and carried off prizes in at least six international film festivals.

Under distribution contracts, King Size cannot be shown in schools until six months after going on the commercial theatre circuit, or on television until two years after.

Frontier College 'Oddball' Says Head of Organization

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Eric Robinson, principal of Toronto-based Frontier College, admits he heads an "oddball organization" whose success in helping uneducated workers in Canada's North is hard to evaluate.

But he believes the college has done its job each time one of its teachers improves the lot of an illiterate, semi-employed man in a logging or mining camp.

The college's 100 teachers are university students who have applied for the summer post or been recruited. They travel to mining or lumber camps—after a short briefing in Toronto—and hold bunkhouse classes in their off-hours.

The only pay is their labor wage. But a special category of teacher-counsellors, who hold full-time classes, receive $500 a month from the college's yearly budget of $95,000.

Dr. Robinson said in an interview Thursday that more than 1,300 lumberjacks and miners enrol each year in the five-month courses and "500 or so receive our certificate of study."

"It's hard to evaluate the success of an oddball organization like us, but we figure that if only three illiterate men graduate from 18 months unemployment to steady jobs, the tax saving alone within two years will pay for a 20-man course."

The college was founded in 1899 by Alfred Fitzpatrick, a Presbyterian minister who concluded that northern men would find teaching more valuable than preaching.

Half the college's budget comes from the federal government, Ontario, Quebec, British Columbia and Alberta. The rest comes from private and corporate donations.

Five years ago the college began programs of community development and adult education at Elliot Lake, Ont., where closure of uranium mines created wide-spike unemployment, and at Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island, where adult Eskimos were jobless. Both now are permanent, government-run centres.

Winter posts this year are at Fort Hope, Ont., 200 miles north of Lake Nipigon; Cat's Bay near Corner Brook, Nfld., and at Fort Smith and Resolution in the Northwest Territories.

BELLEVILLE COMMITTEE FOR LADIES' AUXILIARIES

Bill Henry of the 17th Belleville Eastminster Church troop, showed his pictures of the first Arctic Jamboree, held at Yellowknife, N.W.T. He was the only scout to attend from the Belleville District — one of a total of 800 boys from across Canada, the U.S. and the Philippines.

Another scout, Stephen Lepp, explained to the audience how he helped for a week last summer with the Scout Service Corps at Man. and His World, in Montreal.

Both boys were thanked by Mrs. J. White of the 18th Belleville Auxiliary.

Greetings were expressed by Arnold Webb, the District Commissioner and John Weberdink, president of the District Council.

Mrs. Harry Thomson, chairman of the nominating committee brought in the slate of officers, who were installed by Mr. Welberdink.

Due to the fact that there was no president, Mrs. Don Dawson, 4th Belleville chairman of the program, volunteered to be the president.

The slate of officers is as follows: first vice-president, Mrs. R. Halpin, 13th, Belleville; treasurer, — Mrs. J. Caxon, first Canniffon and Corbyville; past president, Mrs. J. Gadd, first Belleville; contact chairman, Mrs. George Grant, 6th Belleville; publicity, Mrs. A. Jordan.

Other officers included: supply secretary, Mrs. Chester O'Hara, 6th Belleville; membership, Mrs. J. Wilson, 12th Belleville; program, Mrs. D. Dawson, 4th Belleville; uniform exchange, Mrs. T. Colyer, 17th Belleville; social conveners, Mrs. Crewson, Mrs. Charlton, 17th Belleville.

The nominating committee consisted of Mrs. H. Dowbenn, 21st Belleville; Mrs. G. Bell, 17th Belleville; Mrs. J. White, 18th Belleville; Mrs. J. Gadd, first Belleville.

The women of the 17th Belleville were thanked by Mrs. Gadd and Mrs. Dayson, for being such gracious hostesses, and for providing a lovely lunch.

The next regular meeting is planned for Jan. 15, at St. Margaret's-in-the-Hill with the 8th Belleville women as hostesses.

Employees Reject Arbitration

TORONTO (CP) — Kealey Cummings, president of the Ontario Hydro Employees Union, Thursday rejected voluntary arbitration as a means of settling a contract disputes with Ontario Hydro.

The union, Local 1.000 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, represents 9,700 hydro employees in Ontario.

Mr. Cummings, replying to a telegram from W. H. Bagnes, Ontario Hydro labor relations director, called voluntary arbitration "diametrica'y opposite to free collective bargaining."

A union vote, which will be counted Jan. 27, will decide whether hydro employees will start a rotating strike, similar to a lengthy walkout in 1967 by Hydro Quebec employees.

In his telegram, Mr. Barnes said disruption of normal work patterns could "seriously impede the supply of electric power to the people and industries of Ontario."

A union spokesman said the main issue is equal pay for workers across the province, whose pay cheques now vary by as much as six per cent in different areas.

Also at issue is a recent company announcement that cost-of-living provisions included in labor contracts for the last 10 years would be cancelled, he said.

The employees' last contract, which expired April 1, paid linesmen $3.85 an hour. Salaries for office workers ranged from $73 to $209 weekly.

The jet, which landed in Havana at 1:05 a.m., EST today, was the first plane to be hijacked to Cuba this year. Last year there were 20 hijackings to Cuba, 14 of them from the United States.

Eastern Airlines said its DC-8-61 carrying 138 passengers and eight crew members left New York's Kennedy International Airport at 9:52 p.m. EST and was due in Miami at 12:30 a.m.

About an hour before Flight 401 was scheduled to land at Miami International Airport, Capt. Dennis Vanbuss radioed the Federal Aviation Administration at Jacksonville, Fla. FAA supervisor Harold Jensen said Vanbuss reported: "I am going to Havana."

The plane at that point was 60 miles east of Jacksonville.

There was no immediate word on what went on aboard the plane.

Most hijackings have featured a man with a gun, who threatened a crew member and ordered the pilot to fly to Havana. None has resisted.

The FAA said the Eastern plane was cleared direct to Cuba soon after the hijacking was reported.

In addition to Vanbuss, the crew included First Officer J. R. Cooper and Second Officer T. F. Walby in the cockpit, all based in New York.

After landing in Cuba, hijacked planes usually are flown to Miami by the crew while passengers go by bus to Varadero — a three-hour ride—and are picked up there by planes sent from Florida.

The last previous hijacking to Cuba, also an Eastern plane, was Dec. 19, 1968, when a jet flying non-stop from Philadelphia to Miami was diverted.

The age of air piracy began April 16, 1959, when four former Fulgencio Batista policemen, running from Fidel Castro's firing squads, seized a plane with 22 passengers aboard and forced it to fly to Miami.

Four other Cuban planes were hijacked that year and three others taken in 1960.

Then the cycle was reversed when, May 1, 1961 an American of Puerto Rican birth seized a National Airlines plane over Florida and forced it to land in Havana.

Two Cuban planes were forced to Miami that year, and three others hijacked to Cuba.

One each was hijacked in the next three years but in 1968 the hijackings increased sharply with 20 commercial airliners to Cuba, three others attempted, and seven private planes taken from the United States to Cuba and two others attempted.

Protestant Extremists Battle With Catholics

MAGHERA (Reuters)—Police waded in with nightsticks early today to end a five-hour Catholic-Protestant donnybrook in this little market town 30 miles northwest of Belfast, Northern Ireland's capital.

Onlookers said scores of persons suffered minor injuries in the riot. Five of the 150 policemen involved were slightly hurt.

About 1,000 Protestant extremists—many of them ousidirs who came to oppose a civil rights march—rampaged through the town of 1,110 people and some later clashed with local Roman Catholics.

Cars were overturned, windows smashed and the office of a lawyer was wrecked.

Ninety civil rights marchers, who passed through Maghera Thursday on the second day of a 72-mile walk from Belfast to Londonderry, were not involved in the brawl.

The marchers, mainly students from Queen's University in Belfast, spent the night in a hall on the outskirts of town.

Reporters cvcering the march took refuge from the mob in the town's only hotel. The angry crowd smashed the hotel windows.

As the riot developed, steel-helmeted police formed a line to prevent the Protestants from marching down the main street toward the main Catholic section of Maghera.

Local Catholics poured out of their homes and started to mass on their side of the police line, as both sides threw bricks and bottles over the cordon.

Most of the rioters dispersed soon after midnight, but an hour later several hundred formed ranks again and, when fresh clashes broke out, police waded in with nightsticks.

The student march was intended to draw attention to Catholic grievances over alleged discrimination in housing and employment in Protestant-dominated Northern Ireland, a semi-autonomous part of Britain.

Londonderry, where they were heading, is the centre of minority grievances and dozens of persons have been injured there in factional clashes during the last three months.

But Home Affairs Minister Capt. William J. Long held a midnight conference with police chiefs in Belfast to discuss the fighting and consider fresh pleas.

Sunday School Lesson

Mark's Second Chance

CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

When Enrico Caruso first auditioned for opera, he was so nervous he broke down and wept. The audition was a major failure. But he came back to become the greatest tenor of all time.

Many successful writers people who get up off the mat, and go on to win the fight. John Mark was such a man. On his first attempt to live dangerously for his faith, he "chickened out." But he came back to be a trusted fellow-worker of the man who had been his severest critic. And he lived to write what most scholars agree is the first written account of the ministry of Jesus.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for January 5: "The beginning of the good news," Mark 1:1-20.

John Mark owes his success to a second chance. The first time he was invited to go with Barnabas and Paul on a missionary journey, he went part way, and turned back. (Acts 13:13) Whatever the reason, it disrubed Paul so much he absolutely refused to let John Mark accompany him on his second journey. (Acts 15:36-40)

Barnabas was more lenient and perhaps more understanding. He was willing to give Mark a second chance. And the second time Mark made good. He became an inspiration to all who get a second chance.

The world is full of people who failed the first time around, but who profited by their experience and went on to heights of glory in later years.

Mark is an excellent example of this. He so proved his worth that Paul later relented and called him a fellow-worker (Philemon 1:24). To the Apostle Peter, he became like a son (1 Peter 5:13) If Barnabas had not given him a second chance, we might not now have the Gospel according to Mark in our Bibles.

Mark, like all the Gospel writers, provides the account of Jesus' ministry by giving a brief account of John the Baptist's amazing career. John's religion, however, was mostly one of warning. He thundered about the judgments of God. Jesus once characterized John's approach by saying he wailed, but so many did not mourn. He likened his own joyous faith in God by saying it was more like piping for a dance. (Matthew 11:17)

Prophets of doom are a dime a dozen. And the world would be foolish to close its ear to what many of them are saying. But what about a joyous faith? Why has religion lost its excitement for so many? Is it because it seems pale contrasted to the glitter of worldly success? There is no more abiding joy than the joy of a person who has found peace through faith in God, and is trying to live in love and peace toward his neighbor.

John can be called the accusing finger of God. Jesus, on the other hand, can be called the outstretched hand of God. From the moment of His first public act of commitment, He felt He was living under the blessing of God's supreme approval. (Mark 1:11)

Of course, there were elements of inward struggle. There always are for sensitive people. Who can begin any great venture without facing serious questions he must resolve? Jesus resolved them all in the direction of His mission for God.

Jesus' ministry was not only exciting and rewarding, it was courageous. John's favorite text was, "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." (Matthew 3:1-2 RSV) To illustrate the need for repentance, John pointed an accusing finger at the king himself. For his forthrightness he was jailed and killed. When John's voice was silenced, the king at least thought he had heard the last of that text. But, lo and behold, John's cause was all Jesus needed to trigger His own public ministry. The first thing He did was to repeat John's text, only He added, "And believe the gospel." (Mark 1:15)

Gospel means good news. It means the good news of God's love. It was this Jesus had in mind when He spoke of the Gospel.

While John was still in prison, he sent friends to talk with Jesus. And Jesus paid John a tremendous compliment. No greater person has ever been born, But He added a strange remark. "Yet he who is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he." (Matthew 11:11 RSV) What did he mean?

The least Christian knows what John did not know. He knows about the crucifixion and resurrection of Christ. He knows that this is basis for hope John did not have because he did not live long enough to see God's love illustrated in these two mighty acts.

In life today, people must get beyond the stage where they are always pointing the finger of accusation at others. They must get to the place where they are willing to reach out an outstretched hand of forgiveness and love.

Blaiberg Celebrates

CAPE TOWN (AP) — Dr. Philip Blaiberg celebrated the first anniversary of his heart transplant operation Thursday night with a dinner party featuring a cake with a single candle.

The cake, with the legend "to Phil from Chris," came from Dr. Christiaan Barnard, the South African surgeon who performed the transplant on the 58-year-old retired dentist last Jan. 2. Blaiberg is the world's longest surviving heart transplant patient.

Blaiberg celebrated the start of his second year of a new life quietly swimming and sunbathing at a Cape Town beach with his wife Eileen and daughter Jill, 21.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For Jan. 4th.,

Your birthday today: Adjustment is essential to success. Much of your daily routines take on dramatic character. Unexpected temporary competition is the norm this year, and the temptation is to respond in like way. Pause to think before rising to the bait. Today's natives tend to be ingenious and especially skilled in presenting dreams of the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Get right after your regular Saturday routines; leave business matters out of it! You need a change of pace for better morale. Give thought to health.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): You can find help for almost any problem or project if you start early and are realistic. Journeys encounter delays and confusion. Agreements are very deceptive; wait.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Focus your attention on family and home. Money takes up discussion with few decisions reached, which is about par for the course today.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): You'll find yourself able to persuade other people to see things the way you do. Cultural interests actively; you've had too many other matters on your mind too long.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Something you've always suspected will quite likely come into public view. Refrain from saying, "I told you so," especially if you've had any dispute about it. Try to have music around you all day.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): There's a vision in conversation: anything you say is taken a little sharper than you intended. Proceed slowly to serve your own healthy self-interests. Tonight listen rather than talk.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): It's time for attention to your home and loved ones. Check over matters of investments. Settle on a plan for improvements and replacements.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 — Nov. 21): Young in spirit is the word; seek expression of your feelings. Review the past week, make notes, of loose ends and set a definite time for tidying up. Have the decks clear for change coming before long.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Personal agreements made today last well; just be sure you progress far enough to have a real deal. See about replacing worn or outmoded clothing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): The emphasis is on your preparation for constructive effort. The evening is a good time for making peace if you've got any argument still going.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Double check your facts before you proceed with action. Your information is likely incomplete; allow a broad margin for error. Choose entertainment this evening where some riddle of logic is featured.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Seek creative activities, but just do what you must. Dramatize turn of incident, comes naturally; you don't have to contrive anything.

Wilson Ready to Meet Trudeau For First Time

THE LITTLE WOMAN

LONDON (Reuter) — British Prime Minister Wilson will meet Canadian Prime Minister Trudeau for the first time this weekend, and Wilson is attaching considerable importance to the encounter.

The pair will have two days of informal talks as a prelude to the Commonwealth prime ministers conference which opens in London Tuesday.

Three themes may dominate the Anglo-Canadian summit meeting—Rhodesia, Nigeria and NATO. The Canadian public has shown lively interest in Nigeria, and Wilson may want to explain why Britain continues its policy of providing arms to the federal government in Lagos.

Under Trudeau, the Canadian government has shown signs of impatience with the British approach on breakaway Rhodesia. Trudeau also has been looking closely at NATO with the possible objective of reducing the Canadian contribution, an aim that hardly squares with Britain's desire to strengthen the Atlantic alliance.

Wilson's decision to invite the Canadian prime minister for special bilateral talks emphasize the pivotal role Canada now plays in the 28-nation Commonwealth. Under former Prime Minister Lester Pearson, Canada acted as the trusted middleman in holding the Commonwealth together and patching up compromises at some of he family meetings.

Although engrossed lately in its own internal problems, Canada has long pursued an outward-looking foreign policy concerned with bridge-building between continents and aid for developing countries. Close relations are cultivated with Africa and Asia, a task made easier by Canada's lack of a colonial past.

Inside the Commonwealth, Canada, Britain and New Zealand are playing leading parts in a program, launched six months ago, to provide technical assistance to developing countries. The program is administered by a Canadian, Gordon Goundrey, stationed at the Commonwealth secretariat nl London. Goundrey is senior economic adviser to the government of Botswana and has acted for other African countries, including Kenya, Zambia and Tanzania.

Biggest Battle Against Disillusion

TORONTO (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said Thursday the greatest general problem facing his government is establishing confidence in the people of Canada that the parliamentary system can work, solve problems and meet crises.

In an interview broadcast nationally by CTV, Mr. Trudeau said his biggest battle is against people becoming disillusioned with Parliament, or disillusioned with the possibility of democracy meeting today's challenges.

"I sense that there is a kind of doubt in the Western world as to whether their countries can solve their problems, and I think the first thing we must establish is a confidence in the people and a confidence in the men on Parliament Hill . . . that we can do the job."

He told interviewer Charles Templeton, director of news and public affairs for CTV, that "during the last election period . . . there was a kind of wondering whether the government of Canada could really work."

"What we're trying to do is to establish that big government is important and that if big government is to respect freedoms it must be run in the right way," he said in the television interview recorded Dec. 18 in his Ottawa office.

Trudeau Sinatra Of A PM

LONDON (CP) — Pierre Trudeau—"This Sinatra of a premier" as one newspaper described him—is being depicted by the press, radio and television as a man of mystery whose moves are largely unpredictable.

"With Trudeau here one thing to expect is the unexpected," says The Daily Sketch, adding that no Canadian prime minister "has ever visited Britain behind such a torrent of extraordinary publicity as this man who steps off his jet at midnight."

This "torrent" of publicity suggests that even Canadians are not too sure what to make of Trudeau whose known activities here include weekend talks with Prime Minister Wilson, attendance at the Jan. 7-15 Commonwealth prime ministers conference and a "teach-in" of Canadian students in Britain Jan. 12.

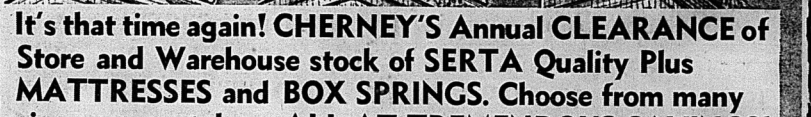
However, informants said today that Trudeau also will have various other engagements, including private talks with key Commonwealth leaders as he seeks information to develop his own form of Canadian foreign policy.

In a cool, 30-minute recorded performance on BBC television Thursday night, Trudeau summed up to an interviewer his concept of the 28-country Commonwealth as "a club" which produces some benefits. And since he could not think of a better replacement, "I'm rather tolerant towards it."

This lukewarm endorsement, which coincides with Britain's own official view of the Commonwealth, may, however, shadow Trudeau's plans to increase financial aid for the Commonwealth secretariat, headed by Arnold Smith of Canada. Informants said Trudeau will endorse a general strengthening of the secretariat as a central body for administrating help for underdeveloped members and providing more information to all member countries.

The low-key BBC interview, taped at Ottawa before Christmas, indicated that Trudeau is still searching for a course of action on recognition of China, on the future of Canada's place in NATO and other delicate issues which touch on Canada's relations with the United States and other allies.

The interview threw little light on Trudeau's approach to such issues as Nigeria, Rhodesia and the explosive racial issue. Commonwealth officials had hoped that Maj.-Gen. Yakubu Gowon, chief of state, would personally lead the Nigerian delegation to next week's conference but Gowon has pulled out, sending his finance commissioner instead. This may reduce the prospects of ironing out planned secret peace negotiations on the Biafran war outside the conference hall.



Afro-Asian delegates will be looking for support from Trudeau, just as they sought support from his predecessor, Lester Pearson. It was Pearson who rescued Wilson from Afro-Asian rage during the previous meeting, held two years ago. There is some question in British circles whether Trudeau will be eager to play the Pearson role in the new conference.

The Times, in a report by Ottawa correspondent Hilagr Brigstocke, says the comfortable days of Anglo-Canadian relations have gone, probably forever. Brigstocke, as well as other representatives of British newspapers, suggest that Trudeau is largely an unknown quantity in Canada, "let alone outside the country."

Murder on Highway

Sisters See Husbands Cut Down by Gunmen

Elmer Bonter

Shivering Through Night

Autos Halted In Ottawa Area

CARP, Ont. (CP) — Two sisters watched in horror as three young men gunned down their husbands on a deserted stretch of highway near here Friday night.

Ontario Provincial police have not released the names of the two dead men, but have started an area-wide search for the killers.

Inspector R. K. Chalmers from the Lang Sault detachment of the provincial police, called the double killing "the most bizarre incident I've ever encountered."

He said there appeared to be no motive for the shooting. The victims were not robbed.

Police said the killers, dressed in ski jackets, walked over to one car and struck the wind shield with a rifle butt.

The shooting occurred just west of the intersection of Highways 44 and 17 on a straight two-lane section with bush on each side. The nearest house is about a half mile away.

Carp is 25 miles west of Ottawa.

The two couples were driving to visit relatives in Almonte and were travelling in separate cars. They were flagged down by the occupants of a third car.

The two men got out to approach the car and were cut down by a hail of bullets. One of the women remained at the scene while the other drove to a service station to call police.

One of the victims is an Ottawa man said to be in his 30's. His brother-in-law, in his 40's, was a Michigan resident.

Chief Inspector J. S. McBride and Inspector W. A. Armstrong of the criminal investigation branch of Ontario Provincial Police are in Ottawa heading the investigation.

The three gunmen, who fled in a late-model car, evaded numerous police roadblocks in the area. The search has been extended to all of Ontario, Quebec and the northern United States.

The two bodies were taken to an Ottawa hospital where an autopsy was ordered to discover what type of weapons were used.

An officer at the scene said it appeared the wounds were inflicted by a .22-calibre rifle and a shotgun.

New Quakes Shake Iran

TEHERAN (Reuters) — Fresh tremors hit devastated Khorassan province in East and northeast Iran today, only 24 hours after an earthquake left an estimated 50 dead and 300 injured.

The death toll was not officially confirmed immediately but reports said that 2,000 persons were left homeless and 800 houses destroyed.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: A storm centre over James Bay will dominate Ontario weather today and Sunday. Brisk northwesterly winds sweeping down across Northern Ontario are giving partly cloudy skies with local snowflurries and occasional snow squalls around the Great Lakes. Other than a gradual moderation to the winds on Sunday, little change is expected through the period.

Catholic Marchers Attacked By Londonderry Protestants

LONDONDERRY (CP) — Some 150 Roman Catholic civil rights marchers clashed today with Protestants six miles outside Londonderry on the last leg of their four-day protest march on the troubled Northern Irish city.

At least 12 persons were injured, some seriously, by a hail of rocks and gasoline bombs thrown by the Protestants.

Some of the marchers scattered into the fields alongside the road. At least five were caught and severely clubbed by the Protestants, police said.

The battle followed a night of fighting here in which at least 35 persons were injured. At one point, police used water cannons to drive rival Catholic and Protestant factions apart.

The march is being held to spotlight grievances of Northern Ireland's Catholic minority over alleged discrimination in housing and voting.

On Friday night, brawling erupted here and in the nearby village of Claudy. This followed a riot in the market town of Maghere Thursday night.

In Londonderry, scene of several factional clashes last year, hundreds of Catholics milled outside the Guildhall where more than 1,000 militant Protestants, led by firebrand preacher Ian Paisley, were meeting.

Lebanon Fears World War

BEIRUT (AP) — Charging that Israel may spark a third world war, Lebanon announced Friday that it plans to put its manpower on a military draft footing.

Defence Minister Hussein Oweini told a news conference his government has approved the principle of conscription and is moving to draft the country's youth.

Ouweini appealed to all countries to rally together to try to head off an all-out war.

He vowed that if Israel follows up its commando raid last Saturday on Beirut airport, Lebanon will fight back with all the means at its disposal.

Czechs Told to End Demands on Regime

PRAGUE (AP) — The 21-member presidium of the Czechoslovak Communist party today issued a stern warning that "public ultimatums and demands" in this occupied country are getting out of hand.

A declaration that apparently followed an all-night meeting of the party's top leadership hinted that Czechoslovakia might suffer further Soviet intervention if "certain elements" continue to campaign for the return of freedoms lost in the Soviet invasion last August.

It called on the country to unite behind party decisions in November and December that allowed reforms planned before the August Warsaw Pact invasion to "normalize" relations with the Kremlin.

"The implementation of these program objectives will be possible only if we proceed in a well thought-out manner, both in internal and external relations," the declaration said. "Society cannot continue to live tossed by conflicts and tensions on the brink of political crisis.

"A dangerous situation has been arising recently. In the last few weeks there have developed broadly based campaigns which are evoking distrust toward the party and state leadership and are bringing to a head problems which in their consequences might endanger the basic interests of our nations and our state."

Captive of Viet Cong for Five Years Wants to Fight Again

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Maj. James Rowe, who escaped from the Viet Cong after five years' captivity, says he can hardly believe he is back in the United States.

"I'm still back on the chopper," Rowe said Friday, referring to the helicopter that rescued him. "I haven't really caught up, with what's happening."

He arrived at Kelly Air Force Base in his native Texas. After a news conference, he was taken to Brooke Army Medical Centre where doctors will examine him.

"I never realized how valuable freedom was until I lost it," Rowe told reporters. "It's like being alive again."

He recalled how he was confined at night to small thatch-roofed prisons with bars for walls.

"All the hooches (shacks) you live in are cages," he said, of the buildings he occupied during his captivity.

He said he stayed inside the "cages" as little as possible.

"During the day, I was out of leg irons and I could move freely." The five-foot six-inch officer said he weighed about 165 pounds when captured along with two other American soldiers on Oct. 29, 1963. He said he now weighs about 140 pounds but his weight dropped to about 125 during the first six months of his imprisonment.

He said his diet for the five years primarily was rice and fish twice a day. He said there were never "any overt threats" on his life.

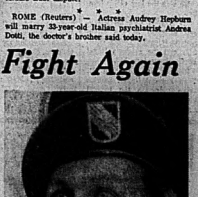
"The guard became unconscious," he said.

Then a helicopter he heard near where he was being held in the Mekong Delta and was whisked away.



"I celebrated Christmas, New Year's and everything else on the 31st when I got away," he said.

He never heard any news that wasn't propaganda, Radio Hanoi, the Viet Cong's Radio Liberation and the Viet Cong cadre constantly reported Communist victories. There was never any word of Communist defeats, he said, adding that he never believed any of the propaganda. "Everything I've heard since I've been a captive is victories (for the Viet Cong)," he said.

Rowe said he already has asked to be returned to Vietnam.

"I feel that the experience I have gained over the past five years would be beneficial and would enable me to do something of benefit in the effort which is being made in South Vietnam," he said.

"I've gained a wealth of knowledge which I never would have had and never could have gained in any other manner."

Major James N. Rowe

Allies Hope to Free More Prisoners

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have launched sweeps in the U Minh Forest in hopes of finding more prisoners held deep in the Viet Cong sanctuary.

So far, one American and six South Vietnamese have been rescued.

South Vietnamese headquarters said today five government soldiers were found Friday in a small prison camp of bamboo and thatched huts. Last week, U.S. Maj. James Rowe and a South Vietnamese officer took advantage of military sweep in the forest to break free after five years of captivity.

Spokesmen said South Vietnamese forces, supported by U.S. helicopters and naval patrol craft, have been making "intensified probes" in the U Minh Forest for more than a month.

The forest lies along Vietnam's southwest coast in the Mekong Delta on the Gulf of Siam. It has been Viet Cong sanctuary since the days of the war against the French.

In addition to the seven prisoners, operations in the forest have turned up dozens of Viet Cong supply depots containing thousands of rounds of small arms ammunition and mortar shells.

Spokesmen said the forest guerrillas have seldom offered serious resistance and have suffered a steady drain of casualties in small skirmishes. But the area is still under Viet Cong domination.

A South Vietnamese battalion sweeping the northern fringes of the forest turned up another arms cache today—the third significant find in three days. It contained 39 machine-guns, bazookas and mortars and 48 rifles, enough heavy weapons for a main force battalion.

The South Vietnamese also reported a successful ambush early today in the upper delta, about 30 miles south of Saigon. Government soldiers surprised a band moving by sampans, killed 25 and captured 59 carbines and sub-machine-guns left behind by the fleeing survivors.

Shopping Plaza Delay

Mayor, Solicitor Argue All Parties Notified in Time

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

The already stormy passage of Belleville's non-food plaza project hit some unexpected undercurrents today.

The latest issue was city hall spokesmen asserting themselves in defence of the city after yesterday's OMB decision to delay a crucial rezoning hearing originally scheduled for Tuesday until Feb. 4.

Mayor Russell Scott and city solicitor Gess Porter says city hall staff followed OMB instructions in mailing notices of the hearing.

Yesterday's postponement approved an application by Oshawa Wholesale, parent of the westend Towers shopping store which is a leading opponent of the new plaza project.

OMB chairman J. A. Kennedy told The Intelligencer yesterday that counsel for Oshawa Wholesale claimed insufficient notice had been received of next Monday's hearing.

Both Mayor Scott and Mr. Porter say notices mailed from city hall were within the time limit set by the OMB.

And the city solicitor, who opposed any delay of the hearing at yesterday's OMB meeting, says Oshawa Wholesale's lawyer also submitted it would be engaged with a court case in Western Canada during the time set for the Jan. 7 hearing.

Both city spokesmen trace these details in refuting the charges over serving of the notices:

On Dec. 17 an OMB official notice was received at city hall setting Jan. 7 as the date of the meeting.

With the document was a list of names of all interested persons and parties to be notified of the meeting.

E. GUSS PORTER

OMB instructions required that notice of the hearing "be mailed at least 10 days prior to the hearing," said Mr. Porter.

According to Mayor Scott, the list of names was obtained on two separate sheets of paper.

Notices were mailed Dec. 19 to all persons named on the first sheet. Oshawa Wholesale was among recipients of notices mailed on this date.

However, it was not until Dec. 27 the second page "was noticed" and other notices sent out.

It was still 11 days before the Jan. 7 rezoning hearing, and came within OMB mailing instructions, says both city spokesmen.

Dec. 27 being Friday the notice was not received at the Oshawa Wholesale solicitor's office until Monday eight days from the hearing.

MAYOR J. R. SCOTT

During the New Year's holiday it became publicly known that a delay would be sought by Oshawa Wholesale and the OMB granted a hearing yesterday.

Mr. Porter, along with legal counsel for the plaza developer, Cambridge Leaseholds, of Windsor, appeared at the meeting to oppose the application.

During the hearing, says Mr. Porter, Oshawa Wholesale's counsel "did argue that the notice given by the city was insufficient . . ."

But "he also stated he was and would be for another 10 days engaged in a case in Western Canada and could not possibly be in Belleville during the week of Jan. 7."

As city solicitor Mr. Porter "submitted that there is a bad one to default by the city in giving notice to Oshawa Wholesale Ltd. and its counsel, which is true."

It was the second delay won by the rival shopping enterprise. Oshawa Wholesale successfully sought to postpone the first rezoning hearing when it opened in Belleville Nov. 4.

The new date delays a decision on rezoning a North Front Street land bloc to house the plaza. However, Thursday Mr. Kennedy gave assurance to Dr. R. T. Fuehr, MPP, Quinte that he was concerned about any further delays and decided to personally hear yesterday's submission by Oshawa Wholesale counsel.

Dr. Potter also said the OMB chairman promised if he had to postpone the hearing it would be to the earliest date possible.

Blaze Is Fought In Vacant Store

By ELMER BONTER
Staff Correspondent

TRENTON — Fire burning in a vacant store on Front Street generated a pall of smoke that overhung the downtown business section for four hours late yesterday.

Town police encountered numerous traffic problems as the result of the accident. To prevent more confusion they sternly warned outlookers away from the scene.

The building was formerly occupied by the LaMore Bros. firm as butchers here for nearly a half-century.

Samuel Potts, the new owner, had started men at work renovating the premises earlier this week.

A woman with a cat said it was the third time fire had forced her and her pet out of a dwelling.

Belleville fire department, called upon under the district mutual fire aid system for aerial ladder to protect nearby properties.

Firefighters played water on the roof of the burning building and adjacent properties from the aerial.

The fire was contained inside the store and never broke through to open air.

Tin covering the inside and exterior of the former LaMore building prevented the fire from spreading. But the shielding posed difficulties for firemen attempting to reach the core of the fire. Trenton fire chief Cecil Ellis said.

The adjoining Toronto Dominion Bank branch, recently remodelled, was undamaged by smoke, fire or water, a fire department official said.

During the night firemen kept watch over the gutted building to guard against any renewed flareup.

Dear brother of Mrs. Ogden is resting at the John R. Bush Funeral Home, 19 Hillcrest Ave., Belleville. Funeral service will be held in the Chapel on Monday, January 6th at 1 p.m. Interment in Belleville Cemetery.

Entombment in Melrose Cemetery vault.

BIRTHS

COONEY — Mr. and Mrs. McCooney are pleased to announce the birth of their baby daughter, Tina Margaret Rose on Friday, January 3rd at the Belleville General Hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

NOYES — In loving memory of a dear mother, Evelyn Noyes who passed away Jan. 4, 1967.
What would I not give to clasp her hand
Her dear sweet face to see,
Hear her voice, or by her smile,
That meant so much to me,
Her memory we shall always keep,
Her footsteps we cannot see.
Sadly missed by son Harold A. Noyes and family.

NOYES — In loving memory of a dear mother, Evelyn Noyes who passed away Jan. 4, 1967.
God saw you getting weary,
He saw your every pain,
He closed your tired eyes,
And said, "Rest now in vain."
Now you are free from suffering,
Now even a goodbye,
But in our hearts we know it,
And only God knows why.
Sadly missed by beloved daughter Dorothy, Alex and Steven.

CARDS OF THANKS

Mrs. George Cunningham, wife of Amelias-burg's reeve, and Mrs. Leonard Root, Consecon, took a spin in a modern version of the open sleigh during the Christmas tree burning last night in Amelias-burg.

Winter Unemployment Said Matter of Habit

Winter unemployment is a matter of habit as much as climate, says Grant Harvey, chairman of the Belleville and district winter employment campaign committee.

Warm weather brought busy life to a mainly agricultural community, explained Mr. Harvey. Winter, predictably brought suspension of most activities.

It's a characteristic that carried over into later years as ways of life changed.

"For many years, contractors believed that construction had to cease during the cold winter months and, for years the highest level of winter unemployment existed in the construction industry."

Developments of on-the-spot abelter for workers have notably changed this situation in recent years.

"The construction industry deserves much praise for its contribution to the nation - wide attack upon winter unemployment," said Mr. Harvey.

However, he solicited community - wide support for his committee in helping abate the season unemployment problem.

There are economic advantages to winter works projects, he added.

Suppliers sometimes offer discounts to encourage business; the job can be completed more easily, since there is no premium demand for workers and craftsmen.

The committee, a 14 - man group of municipal, business and community leaders, meets under the aegis of the Canada Manpower Centre.

Picton Council Still in Dark As to Jarvis' Status as Clerk

PICTON (Staff) — The day of reckoning is approaching in Picton, at least for town clerk Andrew Jarvis, who last December threatened to resign at the first council meeting of 1969.

Mr. Jarvis threatened to resign after a political advertisement in the Picton Gazette signed by the Citizens Information Committee was published before the Dec. 2 elections.

According to Mr. Jarvis the article, which traced council events in the town for the past 20 years, cast doubts upon the integrity of the council, mayor and town officials.

As a former member of council Mr. Jarvis said that the first matter of business facing the new council would be to act on his resignation - unless the members of the Citizens Information Committee made public their names.

And now in January, 1969, the names of members of the committee are still not public.

In interviews last month Mr. Jarvis said he had no comments to make on what his actions would be at the first council meeting. But he did point out he was still the town clerk of Picton.

Yesterday the town clerk would not comment but Picton Mayor H. J. McFarland said that he had received no indication from Mr. Jarvis that a resignation would be imminent.

Agendas for council are not released to the press before the actual meeting and even the councillors and the mayor have not received their copies as yet.

However, giving some indication of what's to come in 1969 was Mayor McFarland.

He said that the $5,000,000 food industry he has been working on is progressing well and that it is now in the stages of arranging financing.

The mayor also indicated that the Proctor-Silex plant in Picton may be expanding for the third time during the next few months.

Patrick Appointed Assistant

TWEED — Norman Patrick, former district forester for this region has been appointed executive assistant to Department of lands and forests deputy minister G. H. U. Bayley.

Mr. Patrick headed administration of the Tweed forestry district for three years until he was called to Queen's Park in late 1963.

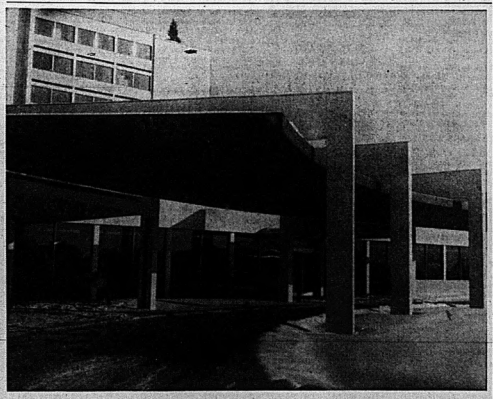
His new appointment now has been officially confirmed by the department.

He has been succeeded as district forester by A. H. Peacock.

Canadian Won

BURNABY, B.C. (CP) — Janet Terry, 16 drew raves from her home town when she returned after leading the Canadian women's gymnastic team to a narrow victory over the Cubas team in Havana. Janet finished third in individual points, while the Canadian girls amassed 172.30 points to the Cubans' 169.80.

Belleville Couple Hurt In Mishap



NAPANEE — A Belleville couple were taken to hospital at Kingston after their car was involved in a mishap at Highways 2 and 123 about 12 miles east of here yesterday.

Relatives said Mr. and Mrs. Frederick MacAuley, Prince of Wales Drive, were bringing their 11-year-old son Kevin home from hospital after ear treatment when the accident occurred.

They said the car went off the road as Mr. MacAuley, 37, swerved to avoid an oncoming vehicle.

Mr. MacAuley suffered spine injuries and his wife, Susan, a bruised back. Kevin escaped with a bump on the head.

All three were admitted to Kingston General Hospital.

At Last - - Big Day at BGH

New wing of Belleville General Hospital will definitely be opened Feb. 23, hospital governors chairman H. A. Hamilton confirmed today. Ontario health minister M. B. Dymond will officiate at ceremonies on new project — ultra modern entrance of which is shown above. Opening day, originally set for late last fall, has been twice deferred.

Banker's Advice

Where the economy is concerned everyone is agreed that Canada must continue to maintain not only high productivity but a competitive position in world markets.

The latest reminder comes from L. G. Greenwood, president of The Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce. Capital, Mr. Greenwood told a recent meeting of shareholders, has been an extremely important source of growth for Canada. In recent years it has accounted for a larger percentage of total growth in this country than in the United States, Britain or the countries of northwestern Europe.

Then comes these words of warning, voiced so often yet they bear repeating: "... Capital tends to flow to those areas of the world where the investment climate is relatively favorable and there is a high level of economic performance. But this condition cannot be sustained where costs and prices are rising too rapidly and strong inflationary pressures persist.

"It is true that we have been fortunate this past year in the sharp rise in exports that has taken place, but this has been due in part to special factors. The gains that have been made in foreign trade have been hard won and must not be allowed to slip away because of our failure to keep our costs and prices competitive."

Those are the fundamentals of a healthy economy as outlined by the bank president. This new year, as in the past, calls for hard work and increased productivity, stability on the labor scene and no extravagant wage claims.

What To Wear!

Governor-General Michener sported a new uniform at his New Year levee in Ottawa and formal morning clothes were the norm. But three young men in sweaters, observers say, made it to the party.

Could this be the thin edge of the wedge, the start of a new trend? Perhaps not, for even Prime Minister Trudeau (vacationing in the Caribbean and an absentee) has been curbing his extravagant excursions into the sphere of casual dress.

More surprising than the young men in sweaters at the federal "do" was the feat of John Reid, a 49-year-old graphic designer who attended Lieutenant-Governor Ross MacDonald's levee in Toronto wearing a business suit, sky-blue turtleneck and matching beads.

Even without the turtleneck and beads, Mr. Reid cuts an impressive enough figure. With a fine head of silver-grey hair, and sideburns and mustache to match, he has that "distinguished" look. But the poor man was in a room full of business executives, clergy and military clad with appropriate formality.

The Globe and Mail reporter at the function wrote: "Many gave Mr. Reid the once-over. Some seemed impressed by his elan; others were frankly — and audibly — incensed."

Seeking allies in this frosty atmosphere, Mr. Reid is reported to have ended up conversing with the reporter, a union official making his eighth consecutive appearance at the event (no invitation is required) . . . and Mr. Macdonald.

Of the lieutenant-governor, Mr. Reid said later: "He is a gentleman. I felt he put himself out to be gracious — though I didn't have a word to say to him."

Which speaks volumes not only for Mr. Macdonald, but for the office he holds. It is a measure of the man that he regarded his guest not with dismay but as a person, unorthodox in dress perhaps but nonetheless a person.

The others, according to Mr. Reid, "didn't know if I was a slob who had walked in off the street or a celebrity who had escaped from the Johnny Carson show."

The incident tells a lot about human nature — about good manners and graciousness, and not least about fear, (the kind of fear exhibited by people when confronted by anything that does not fit into their conformist world.

Czechs and Slovaks Divided Over Leadership Issue

By FRED COLEMAN

PRAGUE (AP) — The unity of the Czech and Slovak peoples, which has been the key to resistance to Soviet pressure since the August Warsaw pact invasion of Czechoslovakia, appears to be cracking.

The strain is coming over a new government to take office shortly. Czechs and Slovaks are divided over a leading position in this government, threatening a split that could play into Soviet hands.

By standing firmly together immediately after the invasion, Czech and Slovak leaders forced the Soviet Union to return Communist party leader Alexander Dubcek from arrest in Russia to his job here. This unity prevented formation of a regime of Soviet collaborators.

Since then, more orthodox Communists willing to make compromises with the Soviet Union have gained prominence in party organs, weakening Dubcek's authority.

In their view compromise is the way to restore good relations with the Soviet Union and preserve the independence of their country.

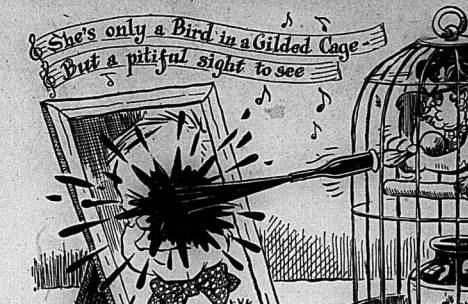
FORMING NEW REGIME

Cernik, whose government resigned Sunday, is forming a new regime to take office in the New Year.



But the key question is who will head the new Federal Assembly, or Parliament.

The present assembly chairman, Josef Smrkovsky, is the most prominent progressive in the Czechoslovak leadership. The Soviet Union has continually snubbed him in public and made it clear privately that it wants him demoted, informed sources say.

The public has taken the view that Smrkovsky is the first target in a campaign that could lead to other reformers, including Dubcek.

Husak, with the support of the Slovak party he leads, has demanded that a Slovak head the new assembly. Smrkovsky is a Czech.

The Czech press, Czech workers and other Czech organizations have rejected Husak's arguments. And some unions have threatened a general strike if Smrkovsky is ousted.

By One Who Got It

The Anatomy Of Hong Kong (Maybe) Flu!

Pat Wheelen in the Windsor Star

For the ordinary run of cold or flu I have either contempt or mild sympathy, depending on whether it's me or someone else who has it. I have recently experienced a bout with the Hong Kong variety (maybe) which leaves me with nothing but respect for the wily Oriental.

It struck with deceptive mildness one morning early last week. Despite a slightly sore throat and a general feeling of punkiness, I went to work on the usually workable theory that most bugs can be scared away by a show of defiance.

Within an hour I was home, within half an hour of that in bed, and within 15 minutes of that contemplating certain melancholy aspects of a not entirely well-spent life. By nightfall, matters were out of my hands. The doctor had been alarmed. Cigarettes and the means of lighting them had been placed out of range of my failing grasp. Certain long-standing disagreements on domestic matters had been settled by my capitulation. I was beginning to think well, if not quite lucidly, of some of my enemies.

The doctor, an old friend, proved brutally factual. It was not, so far as he knew, even the greatly-feared or highly-touted Hong Kong flu. A bit of a cold, with a temperature, some cough. The sort of thing that is going around these days. But the thing to do was to take it easy, stay in bed, take aspirins, lots of liquids, try thi's new cough medicine, and get this prescription filled. And don't rush out as soon as you begin to feel a bit better.

That raised a new possibility — eventual recovery — which I hadn't considered. That, and the casual attitude of an experienced professional man who obviously hadn't panicked at the most alarming signs. I experienced a relapse back toward normality.

It turned out to be necessary, too, for the second day proved the wors'. Comfort-destroying chills, a fever, no appetite, a cough, and a kind of nasty fatigue which kept you wanting to go to sleep but never quite let you get to sleep for more than a few minutes.

One of the great pleasures of minor illness — that leisure which allows you to have a slow breakfast and then go back to bed without qualms of conscience — was notably lacking. In the first place, I didn't particularly feel like getting up. In the second, I couldn't tell oatmeal from coffee, except by visual testing. In the third, I was so tired that going back to bed was a necessity, not a luxury.

The prescription turned out to be one of those wonder drugs — you wonder how the drug store dares to charge so much for such a small pill. It had no noticeable effect, other than probably psychological. But what with psychology, time, asthma, fruit juice, and the well-known superiority of Western determination over Eastern resignation, I began to recover.

Recovery has been, on the whole, satisfactory. And I have learned a valuable lesson. It's wonderful how the drug stores dare to charge so much for pills.

County Merger Problems

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

Some negotiation has been going on this year between the county councils of Bruce and Grey with an eye to merging the county health units of the two counties.

From either side of the boundary between the two counties there is logic in the idea. The two together would make a unit of suitable size for public health administration.

The discussions have at least temporarily broken down. Bruce is unable to reach agreement with Grey, has been turning its attention toward parallel plans for a merger of the health units of Perth and Huron counties. Some Bruce councillors have been thinking out loud that a three-county merger of Perth, Huron and Bruce might be the answer.

Uncertainty about the organization of this particular county function illustrates the general uncertainty which hangs over all functions of the counties, for as long as the province's plans for regional government remain unsettled.

Any suggestion that Bruce unite with Huron and Perth for health unit purposes is bound to raise some interest in Waterloo County. One of the proposals of the Smith report on taxation in Ontario is that Huron, Perth and the west end of Waterloo County be merged into one unit for regional government. New Hamburg is a long way, from Tobermory.

A short look at the map is enough to reveal that Bruce and Grey together would make a compact area, while Huron and Perth together would make another, but that to try to weld Bruce to Perth would not make sense. Even with Huron as the link, it would be narrow, east to west, but 160 miles north to south.

The Bruce councillors have the right idea when they try to get forward with at least one aspect, the public health branch of county merger. They are not looking in the natural direction when they turn south toward Grand Bend and St. Marys to find a link-up.

Their best move is to try once again to come to some negotiated arrange ment with Grey County, the natural partner to Bruce in larger regional undertakings.

U. K. Experiment

Electric Mini-Bus' Debut

Kingston Whig-Standard

The Northern England industrial city of Leeds may be the first town in Europe to operate electrically powered mini-buses under a scheme to ease traffic congestion and reduce noise and fumes in city centres. The plan is clear illustration of how technology can be used to try to meet the complex problems inherent in urban living today.

Commenting on the minibus plan, Leeds Corporation Transport General Manager, Thomas Lord, said "The idea is for motorists to leave their vehicles in car parks on the city's perimeter and use electrically powered mini-buses to convey them to and from the main shopping and business areas in the city centre." The report also noted and would also serve the main transport termini and carry passengers with late connections to cincts. "We shall try to persuade private motorists who at present bring their cars into the city centre not to do so, unless there are special reasons for so doing," he said. "The persuasion will take the form of limited parking in the city centre and the high cost of parking there."

Keep Touch

Bell Telephone News

Your telephone can be a worry-chaser for you during this time of visiting and parties. Show your baby-sitter where to find your Fire, Police and Doctor's telephone numbers. Leave the number where you can be reached right beside the telephone. It's a good idea to give the sitter the name and number of a close friend or relative as well, if you find you're going to be later than expected phone and tell your baby-sitter. Then she can call her home so her folks won't worry.

Rude Reaction

Davis Socks It To The Students

Peterborough Examiner

Parents who shrink from the prospect of taking rebellious youth by the ear into the woodshed and pounding home the theories of good manners will be grateful for the dressing down that Education Minister William Davis has given to university students.

In a speech to 250 student journalists attending the annual conference of the Canadian University Press he gave a caustic lecture on the pitfalls of revolt, chastised hooligans who act before they think, and indicated that the young sometimes were making themselves look silly by trying to copy their elders.

And like most fathers who put argumentative children on the carpet, he stumbled occasionally over a few points at issue and retreated into pomposity.

"Perhaps young people are in a way envious of the older generation who have married (in protest) for valid purposes in the past," he said. Perhaps they intend to emulate their forebears in France and Mexico who seem to have causes that are better founded."

The students reacted with predictable sullenness and rudeness; they hissed and heckled and asked questions for the purpose of embarrassment rather than enlightenment. This is of course is a certain indication that much of what Mr. Davis said constituted medicine that was distasteful to the patient.

It was not unreasonable for Mr. Davis to criticize students for trying to control university government rather than participate in it; for impeding democratic process with violence and obstruction; for allowing campus newspapers to become the private preserves of student extremists and party cliques.

But this is not the age of reason. Davis voiced the excitement, martyrdom and collective intimidation are the modern stimuli. The small minority is cowed, drowned by the shouts of anarchy; argument is an invitation to violence; principle is unacceptible to hatred; individualism is betrayal of the mob.

Mr. Davis voiced the great anxiety of the times when he said: "Any person or organization which is aware of the righteousness of the cause can too readily become the oppressor, as the history of revolutions bears eloquent witness."

Toronto Minister Sees Need For Total Service Churches

TORONTO (CP) — To woo back dwindling memberships, churches must branch out into total service—build Saturday centres containing church, apartments, shops, gymnasium, nursery, family counselling and other social services, says a Toronto minister.

And they should build them even if it means tearing down their present church buildings.

Terrence Storey, 45, a former naval officer and house builder before becoming a United Church minister several years ago, says such total-service towers would not only boost church membership and ease the housing shortage, but also benefit the ecumenical movement, since their chapels would serve all denominations.

As he sees a typical 400-mitre centre, it would have two underground parking levels, shops on its main floor and an all-denomination sanctuary open from early morning to late evening for meditation and regular services.

There would also be an employment-referral office, student counselling, family and marital counselling, baby clinic, day nursery, an office for legal advice, an information centre and possibly a credit union.

On the second floor would be a gymnasium-auditorium, suitable for sports, meetings of scouts, women's clubs and theatre groups, wedding receptions and banquets. A library and language centre would be incorporated.

"We could get a cross-section of them all in one building", Mr. Storey says. "What I am envisaging is a church complex dictated by the needs of the community.

"It has to be as ecumenical as possible. We are past the stage of bigotry in denominations."

He says financing would come from a 90-per-cent Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. Loan, with the rest raised by the church. Rent from the 400 units would pay off the mortgage.

Every level of government should be involved in the projects, he says, and social agencies should provide and pay for the services they offer within the structure.

Mr. Storey says during the last 10 years most urban churches have watched their sound financial position crumb'e into a growing deficit as members dwindle. Many are dipping into financial reserves built up in past decades, and some are amalgamating to burde the crisis.

"This is the situation we are facing not only in inner-city Toronto but in inner-city Edmonton, Calgary and throughout Canada.

"It is because the people feel the church is no longer involved in 'where they live.' How are you going to get across to them if they are hungry, if they have marital problems or housing problems?"

He urges: "Once it sees the need clearly, I don't think any church should hesitate even if it means demolition of a beautiful church building. The needs of the people are foremost; the needs of the church are secondary.

"We exist in an age of crisis —either we serve and survive or abdicate and die."

CANDLE CONFIDENCES

"There's husbandry in heaven, their candles are all out." — Shakespeare.

* * *

"Use your imagination!" — urges a TV commercial.

So via imagination, let's pretend a candle is confiding the following:

"Here am I shedding a soft glow on guests and hosts alike seated around this Belleville dinner-party table, which I have the honor to grace. As I burn away, my thoughts wander and I find myself thinking with a certain pride all that it means to be a member of this old distinguished, cosmopolitan and versatile family: the candles.

"We have a history that lights its way down the centuries: when candles were and are still used to stray through the catacombs of Rome; right on (all the while faithfully serving at many religious ceremonies and such holidays as Christmas) through Victorian times.

"Admittedly, the Victorian era was fascinating with candlelight. A house in Park Lane of London, in which lived members of the prominent Sasson family (rivals of the Rothschild's financially) ritually lighted, before a banquet was served, wax candles in their high chandeliers, by a major-domo with his slender brass wand, in a room declared by Max Beerbohm, famed writer and critic, "too long for less than a thousand diners."

"And it was the poet of this family, Siegfried Sasson, who wrote, mentioning an invalid: 'I thought how strange we grow when we're alone.

"And how unlike the selves that meet, and talk. And how the candles out, and say good-night.'

"Or, let us go to Italy, where in Victorian Rome at Casa Guidi, home of Robert and Elizabeth Browning are welcomed for the evening Sophia and Nathaniel Hawthorne (who had just written "The House of Seven Gables) and led into "the candle-lit dressing room with tapestries, painting and carved Italian furniture," and Sophia, as she wrote later in her diary was "startled by Mrs. Browning's vital hand clasp from so seemingly a frail hand."

"Meanwhile, in Russia Tolstoy speaks of a gentleman's enjoyment of unwrapping a new pack of cards, shuffling them as a "footman placed four fresh candles on the table," in "The Death of Ivan Ilych", while in another story "The Kreutzer Sonata" mentions the throwing of candlesticks by a jealous husband."

"And speaking of stories, brings to mind the collection of stories in a book entitled, "Brief Candles" written by Aldous Huxley, whom you may recall died in 1963. A few years before his death he suffered a heavy loss, whereby a fire destroyed in 20 minutes a life-time collection of letters, manuscripts, diaries and other irreplaceable papers. Of these depersonalized fragments he said:

"It is hard, but it teaches detachment: . . . this demands the real thing." And . . . 'a curious thing about losing everything is that I now have no past. I often used to pick up my old diaries and letters and things came back to me that I had completely forgotten. Now, I can't do this—so it follows that I have not a past.'—a very interesting condition. Maybe it is an object lesson that one shouldn't live in the past.'

"Yes, we candles have in our time witnessed centuries and are mentioned in literature from the early scriptures on, by Shakespeare and countless poets and writers right up to the present day, and such references always please me, such as recently found in V.S. Pritchett, "Foreign Faces" and reads in part.

"In Spain the Castilian wind is . . . kind in spring, grateful in summer, but deadly . . . on winter nights. It is the proverbial wind that will not blow out a candle but will kill a man."

The Christmas season is the time to be home with family — but sometimes a letter has to do. Mrs. E. Fitzgibbon, of 18 Ridley St. E., reads a letter from her grandson, Pte. David Kellar, who has been with the American Army in Vietnam since mid-August. Nineteen-year-old Pte. Kellar is one of the many Canadians serving in that country. Mrs. Fitzgibbon was especially pleased with souvenirs of Vietnam she received at the same time.

Pant Suits Not Included In New Spring Collections

NEW YORK (AP) — With everyone primed for pants, pants, and more pants, the New York Couture Group pulled a switch Thursday and opened its spring showing with a collection that did not include a single pair of slacks.

Instead, the Jo Copeland collection for Petula featured lots of soft, feminine and easy-moving dresses — many of them with pleats—suitable for wear in almost any situation.

It's not that Miss Copeland doesn't like pants.

"Miss Copeland thinks they are not for street wear," said a company spokesman, "and our line is for going out."

One style touch running throughout was pleats. Little ones and big ones. Stiff ones and soft ones. On blouses and in skirts.

Inverted pleats peeped from under long, to - the - hip jackets which topped two- and three-piece suits. Lots of tiny pleats swirled on a black chiffon sleeveless evening dress with man-tailored collar and tiny green jewelled ropes circling the waist.

Hemlines on the dresses which cost from about $125 to $700 . . . were about three to four inches above the knee.

Ben Reig offered either-or suits, composed of fitted jackets shown with contrasting pants or matching skirts. Reig also featured crepe pants and pajamas for evening.

Another kind of compromise was offered by Brunell which presented loose, "elephant-legged" evening pants topped by tunic-like dresses which can be worn alone.

Travels To Learn

CALGARY CP — Melanie Sirikhanphan came all the way from her native Thailand to learn how to make pancakes after her mother opened a Bangkok branch of a North American chain of pancake houses. "People in Thailand love to eat and will try anything," she said. "We have lots of pizza parlors."

Children's Wear Fashions More Exciting Than Adults

NEW YORK (AP) — Grown-up girls may have to take a back seat to their little sisters in the fashion department this spring.

The children's wear collection which ended the Friday showing of the New York Couture Group was fresher, brighter and more exciting than the ho-hum adult cliches previewed earlier in the day.

Joseph Love featured cleverly designed, easy-to-care for styles for girls from about three to 12.

The Love collection included several floppy-legged, tunic-topped pants suits—old hat in the adult lines, but adding a new style touch to children's play clothes.

For the romantics, there were matching costumes called Julie Eisenhower and Jackie Onassis. The Julie outfit was for girls about 10; the Jackie costume for four-year-olds. The style included a pink bonded lace dress worn over pants and sashed and bowed in pink ribbon. The commentator suggested the outfits as possible bridesmaids' wear.

Earlier Friday, the adults got their chance. Murray Neiman, designing for Hannah Troy, featured "vestee" suits with tiny bolero tops over full skirts and contrasting blouses.

There were a few new touches in Neiman's evening wear. One costume featured a short yellow dress topping see through pants, a reverse on the usual combination. Another, dubbed Shades of Scheherazade, was of white sari cotton dotted with gold.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Harry Barton, announce the engagement of their daughter Diane Elizabeth to Mr. Paul Francois Poirier, Toronto. Mr. Poirier is the son of Mrs. Arthur Leonard Poirier, Halifax, Nova Scotia and the late Mr. Poirier. Wedding will take place in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Saturday, February 1, 1969, at 5 p.m.

• • •

Previous to her marriage, Mrs. Milton Bell, (nee Carolyn Mitchell) was entertained at several events. A miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. Harry Walker and Mrs. Roy Pound at the home of Mrs. Harry Pound; a miscellaneous shower was also held at the home of Mrs. Fred Middleton, assisted by Mrs. Gene Sherman. A kitchen shower was held at the home of Mrs. P. Halsey, given by Miss Sue Halsey; and a miscellaneous shower was given by Miss Margaret King and Mrs. W. Heinz at the Neighbors' Aid Hall; and a miscellaneous shower was also held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Diebold. A presentation was made by the teaching staff of Prince Charles School where the bride is employed. A wedding rehearsal party was given by the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Mont Bell, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hall.

• • •

• • •

Previous to the marriage of Mrs. Denton R. McBride (nee Margaret Chumbley) she was honored at three miscellaneous showers including one held at the home of Mrs. J. Sheridan, Belleville with Mrs. M. Daniels and Mrs. J. Mattis as cohostesses; at the home of Mrs. J. Burleigh in Kingston with Mrs. R. Rae as co-hostess and at the home of Mrs. C. Scott in Belleville with Mrs. D. Scarlett and Mrs. W. Storms as co-hostesses; also at a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. F. Shadlinger of Belleville with Mrs. G. Mowat as co-hostess. The bride was also honored at a presentation given by the staff of the Belleville Dental Lab.

MR. AND MRS. MILTON N. BELL

Bell — Mitchell

Rev. H. M. Davis officiated at St. Mark's United Church, Canadian, when Carolyn May Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manley Mitchell, of R.R. 6, Belleville, became the bride of Milton Nelson Bell, son of Mrs. Mabel Bell, of Belleville. Rendering appropriate musical selections was organist Mrs. Harry Farnham. Soloist was Miss Elizabeth Woodcock.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of satin brocade, featuring a round neckline. A full-length chapel train was attached to a matching jacket, while her four-tier veil of silk illusion fell from a headdress of white rosebuds and tulle leaves. She carried a bouquet of pink delight roses and white mums.

Bridesmaids, Miss Janice McFarlane, of Melrose and Mrs. William Salisbury, Toronto, were attired identically to the matron of honor. All attendants carried white fur muffs, centred with small corsages of pink tinted mums.

For the wedding reception held at the Gilead Community Centre, the mother of the bride received the guests wearing an A - line fuchsia crimplene dress, with matching jacket, and brown accessories. A corsage of miniature pink carnations completed her ensemble. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom wore a three-piece royal blue dress with silver trim, and black accessories. Her corsage was of complementing blue tinted miniature carnations.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, and points west, the bride chose a hatted white and navy dress over which she wore a cerise coat, black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Upon their return, the couple will reside in Belleville.

WEDDING

McBRIDE — CHUMBLEY

Christ Church, Belleville was the setting on Saturday, Dec. 28, at 2 p.m., when Margaret Jane Chumbley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Chumbley was united in marriage to Denton Richard McBride, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McBride, Ottawa.

Rev. Canon R. B. Wright officiated at the ceremony and wedding music was provided by church organist John Withers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pale blue and silver coat and dress ensemble with pale blue flowered hat and she carried a deep pink bouquet of roses.

The bride's only attendant was her sister Mrs. Joan Burleigh of Kingston who wore an emerald green silk shantung dress with silver bow headdress. She carried a bouquet of pink and white chrysanthemums.

Donald Maulds of Ottawa was groomsman while John Burleigh of Kingston ushered the guests.

For the wedding dinner and reception at Johnny's Restaurant at the Belleville Plaza, the bride's mother welcomed the guests wearing a brown wool dress, brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a rose shade suit, black feathered hat, other black accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Ann Landers

Mom Wants to Help Daughter Lose Weight

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How can a mother motivate her child to lose weight?

Our lovely daughter Isabelle is 11 years old and weighs at least 25 pounds more than she should. I know she will be an unhappy and lonesome teenager unless she slims down. The boys all want her to play football because she is a good runner. Poor Isabelle can't be too old to play football and the boys will stop coming around.

I have tried to talk to her as a friend but for some reason I'm not able to get through to her. She listens politely and agrees to try to do better. Immediately after one of our little talks she goes on an eating binge and is worse than ever. I am a size 10 and can eat anything I want and I never gain an ounce. This child takes after her father's family. They are all fat.

Please tell me how to help Isabelle. I worry about her future. — STYMIED MOTHER.

DEAR STY: The first thing you can do is stop talking to Isabelle about her weight. Many obese girls (especially those who have size 10 mothers) use food as a weapon.

Tell your daughter that when she decided she wants to slim down to let you know and you will make an appointment with a doctor who will put her on a diet. Say no more about it regardless of what she eats. Nagging and policing are useless. Dieting demands enormous will power and consistent effort. It's a very tough battle for those who have habitually turned to food for comfort.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm in my late 20's and have three wonderful children and a husband who would do anything in the world for me.

I used to drive better than I do now. I'm a nervous wreck and I want to drive again. The trouble is, the few times I have driven and my husband has been with me, he has made me so nervous I almost had an accident. I've driven with the children in the car and had no trouble. When I drive my mother and the neighbor lady to the movies and church, I get along just fine. The only person that makes me jumpy behind the wheel is my husband.

We have only one car and I could have it all day if I could drive my husband to work and then go pick him up. But I go to pieces and do foolish things when he's sitting beside me. Do you have a solution? — MRS. JITTERS.

DEAR MRS.: The solution is so obvious I can't understand how you failed to see it. Let your husband drive himself to work. Sit beside him. When you go to pick him up, slide over and give him the wheel. Now — aren't you ashamed?

Confidential to JUST WONDERING: Yes, dreams do mean something but I am not qualified to interpret your dreams — and neither is your 14-year-old girl friend.

Successful Living

Daughter Carbon Copy of Possessive Mom

By DORIS CLARK

Twenty-one-year-old Cathy Bell is a pretty girl. Yet her drab personality makes her an uninteresting person to know. Her possessive mother has turned Cathy into a pale carbon copy of herself.

Cathy has been so dominated that she has never made a decision for herself—not about clothes, cosmetics, friends, — or what to have for breakfast.

Mrs. Bell was crushed when Cathy did not do well enough in high school to be accepted into a registered nurses' course. Without consulting Cathy, she enrolled her in a nursing assistant's course. Cathy graduated, but then announced, in a sudden spirit of rebellion, that she was going to join the Armed Forces. She did so, in spite of tears, pleadings and protests from her mother.

When the Bells visited Cathy at the army base several weeks later, Mrs. Bell criticized living conditions, the food, the discipline and the type of people Cathy was meeting. She sought out the commanding officer and arranged for the limply unprotesting Cathy's discharge. Then she personally went job-hunting for suitable employment for her daughter.

Perhaps Cathy will rebel again. I hope so. But she may never develop as her own person. If only mothers could remember that every child needs an early child—has a right to merge as an independent, responsible adult!

Dear Doris: About the woman who wants to marry the man she loves: I say go ahead. My first husband died five years ago. I was left with six children.

I met this man and fell in love with him. He was a few years younger than I was and we were only going together for two months and we got married. He loves my children very much — just like they were his own.

Just make sure he loves your children as much as he loves you. Love can make a happy home. — A Very Happy Wife and Mother

Dear Wife and Mother: Congratulations on hitting the jackpot.

* * *

Dear Doris: I am 15. My mother thinks I'm too young to stay out after nine P.M. clock on week ends except when I go to a party. She says she trusts me; it's just that my friends that she doesn't trust.

Also, do you think I am old enough to go out with boys or not? I like an 18-year-old boy and I hope that he will love me too if I go out with him but the problem is how to tell my parents about him when the time comes. My parents know his parents and he comes from a very good family. — One in Need of Good Advice.

Dear One: Nine on a Saturday does seem a bit early; but your mother is protecting you from the bad name teenagers bet gy hanging around street corners after dark.

Earlier time and dating age are topics for settlement with the Old Folks at Home. Friend and neighbor parents two sets of parents helps, but Eighteen is usually too blessed mature for Fifteen to handle comfortably.

Leather One of Season's Favorite Fashion Trends

TORONTO (CP) Leather dresses, leather slacks, leather boots, leather coats are all part of one of this season's strongest fashion trends. If they are to look as natty as they are meant to look, especially in a climate that soaks them in snow and brine, they need to be carefully cared for.

Elizabeth Hammond of Montreal, director of the Leather Bureau of Canada, says cleaners, tanners and manufacturers have made improvements in the water-proofing of leather with a view to increasing its resistance to fading. In normal dry-cleaning solvents and the rigors of pressing machines.

She says there are a number of things a proud owner can do to help.

"For one thing, never wash leather unless directions advise you to do so.

"It's important, too, not to let leather garments get too soiled before you have them cleaned. If you wear them until they are badly soiled it will be difficult for the cleaner to do a satisfactory cleaning and finishing job."

As you would any other clothes, try to tell the cleaner what caused a spot or stain. It should help him decide what, if anything, will remove it.

In many communities, Mrs. Hammond says, there are cleaners who specialize in handling leather. She advises going to them if you can.

Between cleanings there are small things you can do to prevent leather becoming irreparably soiled.

"Collars, cuffs, pockets, elbows and creased areas in sleeves are most prone to soil or stain.

"Make it a habit to damp sponge smooth leathers regularly, then wine with a clean damp cloth. When the leather is dry, dust it with a very small amount of talcum powder.

"Gentle brushing with a very soft sandpaper or dry sponge will help restore the surface dirt off suede. Avoid using cleaning fluids — they may discolor suede."

Wear a scarf inside a leather jacket or coat to protect the collar from perspiration and dust.

"You will find that a good-sized piece of art gum is indispensable for removing light stains from leather. Even a ordinary pencil eraser, if it is completely clean, may do the trick. So will any gentle rubbing with a fine emery board, but be careful not to damage the nap."

Mrs. Hammond says you should occasionally brush leather vigorously with a brush to raise the nap where it is worn areas you may, with great care, use "no" grade steel wool to shave down or re-nap an area.

"If you get caught in heavy rain or wet snow, as soon as you come in, wipe off the surface wet with a clean dry cloth and hang the garment to dry away from a stove or radiator, at ordinary room temperature.

"In the case of boots, even though many of them have been given a water-proof treatment, you may need more protection. Smooth leathers should have several coats of silicone at 24-hour intervals. When dry, polish them with a good wax.

"Suede leathers call for the same treatment, except that you should spray them regularly with a suede renewal liquid to keep the nap soft and smooth.

"Stains such as salt will usually yield to applications of a vinegar and water mixture.

Mrs. Hammond says new suede may shed color dust at first, but this will wear off. When it comes back from the dry-cleaner, if it shows lint on the neck, wrists or waist, hand-brush it or use a lint remover roller.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Individual Meat Pies Are Tasty

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Would you be kind enough to print a recipe for individual meat pies? I would like to make some and am interested in a recipe that provides a moist filling and tender crust. I assume that ground beef is the basis. — Mrs. G. J. R.

ANSWER: I am sorry that this recipe did not appear in the column before Christmas because I think many readers would have taken advantage of it during that busy season. However here it is now, early in the New Year.

INDIVIDUAL MEAT PIES (Hamburg)

Make your best pastry and line individual pie plates or muffin tins with it. Fill two-thirds full with —

MEAT PIE FILLING

Two-thirds cup undiluted evaporated milk, 1¼ lbs. ground beef, ½ cup fine cracker crumbs, 1 egg, 1½ tsps. salt, ½ tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. dry mustard, ¼ cup finely chopped onion, ½ cup finely chopped green pepper (optional). Mix all ingredients together and use for pie filling.

Cut out gashed pastry tops to fit top and seal edges. Bake at 450 deg. F. for 10 min., then reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. until delicate brown on bottom — about 30 min. Layer 1 cannot tell you the exact time, for of course, I do not know what size your individual pie tins are. Good luck!

QUESTION: Sometimes you mention Stuffed Baked Potatoes. I am an amateur cook in put it modestly and just don't know how to stuff a baked potato. — Chrissie H.

ANSWER: Fair enough Chrissie.

STUFFED BAKED POTATOES

(Light large halves)
4 outsize potatoes
4 tbsps. (¼ cup) butter
2-3 cup milk
1½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. MSG (Accent)
Parmesan cheese (optional — for topping)

Scrub potatoes thoroughly, and trim out any blemishes. Bake at 400 deg. F.hr. until very tender — about 50 to 60 min. (Test with metal skewer or piercing.) Cut in halves, flatwise. Scoop out centres into heater bowl and beat until perfectly smooth. Add remaining ingredients and beat until thoroughly blended. Refill potato shells, piling up and scoring tops with fork. Sprinkle with Parmesan and place on shallow pan and reheat at 375 deg. Fahr. about 15 or 20 min.

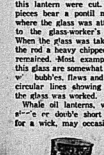
Pierced Tin Lanterns Oldest Type Found

Most barns have a lantern tucked away somewhere. Pierced tin lanterns or candles are probably the oldest type to be found. Although they might have been made of glass, or a tinsmith was available, they usually belong to the first half of the 19th Century or before.

The first known picture of a lantern appears in a frieze from Alabastron, Egypt, thousands of years before Christ. Greek and Roman lanterns were remarkably similar to the one illustrated, but made of bronze with horn, mica, oiled silk or glass shades. It is said Alfred the Great used such a lantern filled with fireflies. By 1400, lanterns were coming into general use and were hung outside from Halloweide (31 October) to Candelmas, (2 February).

The lantern pictured is a combination of tin and glass. As well as being interesting as an example of an early lantern it is an unusual example of early glass. The glass is known as "crown" glass and was made by an early process of blowing and spinning a disc of glass from which panels for this lantern were cut. Some pieces bear a pontil mark where the glass was attached to the glass-worker's rod. When the glass was taken off the rod a heavy chipped scar remained. Most examples of this glass are somewhat faulty with bubbles, flaws and semi-circular lines showing how the glass was worked.



Whale oil lanterns, with a single or double short spout for a wick, may occasionally be found. This type of lantern has a more modern look, with a circular blown or pressed glass chimney, although it dates from about 1850.

Lanterns were dangerous, as witness the Chicago fire, resulting from an ill-timed kick by Mrs. O'Leary's cow. Barns were particularly susceptible to fire and a candle lantern that extinguished itself if knocked over was preferable to a lantern that leaked a combustible fluid if accidentally tipped. Burning fluid lanterns and those with open flames were never popular.

Miners' lantgerns protected against explosions of combustible gases and were in use at the same time as the lantern illustrated. They are usually of brass, bronze or copper so that they would not give off sparks if struck.

Ships' lanterns are frequently brass and the average vessel is still required to carry a considerable number for emergencies, including kerosene port and starboard running lights, binnacle lights, masthead and anchor lights. These lanterns are still usable and are generally re-sold to a ship chandler when the ship is broken up. New lanterns are quite expensive, old ones are far from cheap. A small brass copper or bronze ship's light of any age in poor condition is likely to run $25 to $35.

Safety lanterns of the type hung on construction and road repair sites are common and in most cases the old lanterns still work. A brass lantern is likely to be worth $15 to $25. Tin lanterns of large size or unusual shape, or those designed to fit on the end of a pole like a street light, will bring up to $50 each. Ordinary safety lanterns, old or new are worth up to $5. The candle lantern with crown glass is a museum item beyond price.

Canada's Open-door Policy for Czech Refugees Ends Jan. 10

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government's open-door policy for Czechoslovak refugees seeking a new homeland will end Jan. 10, Immigration Minister Mac Esselchen announced Friday.

After that date, Czechoslovaks seeking a new life in Canada will have to undergo normal immigration procedures. These take months.

The cutoff date applies to Canadian visa applications. Czechoslovaks who apply up to and including Jan. 10 can still enter Canada under the special easy-access provisions.

Mr. MacEachen told a news conference the final net cost to the public treasury for the refugee program will amount to between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000.

Between 10,000 and 11,000 Czechoslovaks will end up Canada under the program, it is estimated. The program began last September, within weeks of the Aug. 20 Russian-led occupation of Czechoslovakia to clamp down on a liberalization movement.

As of Dec. 20, a total of 8,541 refugees had been flown by the government to Canada from Europe on a shuttle service.

To that date, the Canadian government paid out $4,700,000 in loans and grants to refugees. Of this, $1,300,000 is recoverable on repayment of transportation loans. Only a few hundred were able to pay their own transportation in advance.

Most of the other government assistance to help the refugees get settled in Canada is not recoverable. This additional aid consists of language and other courses and subsistence payments, while employment is sought or courses are taken.

Mr. MacEachen said there were several factors that prompted cancellation of the program under which normal, time-consuming immigration procedures were waived for refugees.

He noted that the refugee flow to Canada had gradually declined from the mid-October peak when 1,500 came in during a single week. Only 69 entered in the week ended Dec. 17.

The program had been in effect long enough to permit Czechoslovaks to make up their minds on whether to flee their homeland and remain in Canada.

Moreover, the number of Czechoslovaks biding their time in other European countries was on the decline, indicating that many were returning home. Their fear of persecution if they returned to Czechoslovakia seemed to have been reduced.

Mr. MacEachen doubted there was any serious security risk in permitting so many Czechoslovaks into Canada without customary security checks. These checks and other procedures such as medical examinations were waived for the refugees.

The minister said he did not know of any Czechoslovak immigrants who had returned home after coming to Canada.

Professional Czechoslovaks have been told by Canadian authorities they may not be able to get jobs in their own fields at the outset in Canada because of various factors, he said.

As of Dec. 20, about one-third of the new arrivals had found jobs, most of them in their own occupations.

Rebel Ranchers in Guyana Hold Government Man Hostage

GEORGETOWN (Reuters)—Rebel ranchers and their native Indian cowboys today were reported holding a government administrator and several other persons, some of them women, as hostages in the vast southern hinterland of Guyana.

There was no official confirmation on the situation in Interem, administrative capital of the Rupununi cattle ranching district, but one of several confused messages suggested the rebels seized control there.

Another report said the ranchers and the Indians, armed with machine-guns, rifles and pistols, were in command of all but one of 18 airstrips in the region near the Brazilian border.

Unofficial reports that the Rupununi district commissioner and several other persons were taken hostage circulated in Georgetown Friday night as police released the names of seven policemen killed when the rebels attacked a police outpost Wednesday.

Troops, who had been rushed into the area some 296 miles from the coast, were believed heading for Lethem to recover the bodies of the dead policemen.

Planes landed troops and supplies at a ranch in the area and unconfirmed reports said they would travel overland to Lethem where the rebels occupied the airstrip.

Cause of the uprising was not clear, but observers linked it with the longstanding claim by Guyana's 35,000 Indians for title to land which their forefathers have occupied for centuries.

Prime Minister Forbes Burnham told Parliament Friday the revolt was planned by hostile elements in and outside Guyana. He said no accurate figures could be given for the loss of life.

Security forces claimed arms were flown across the border into the Rupununi Savannah, but they declined to say whether the weapons came from Brazil or from Venezuela.

Continued Mid-east Terrorism Could Be Catastrophic - - Rusk

WASHINGTON (CP) — Continued Arab terrorism and Israeli retaliation could be "catastrophic" to the Middle East, State Secretary Dean Rusk warned Friday in what proved to be a farewell news conference.

A big power meeting of the U.S., Soviet Union, Britain and France might be "constructive," Rusk conceded, but "we do not believe that peace can be found outside the area."

Rusk, the American foreign affairs minister for eight lost, turbulent years, divided his remarks between the Middle East and Vietnam, whose solution still is hung up in fruitless bickering at Paris talks.

But the Arab-Israeli deterioration, marked by recent attacks on aircraft at Athens and Beirut, Lebanon, was the subject of a grave opening statement expressing the U.S. concern.

This rests on the possibility, which Soviet Union apparently also recognizes, that the Middle East is the world trouble spot most likely to drag the two major powers into an unwanted and perhaps fateful crisis.

Soviet diplomats have been promoting the idea of a four-power conference while the U.S. still backs a solution based on a United Nations formula of disengagement.

Master of Dixieland Clarinet, George Lewis, Buried in Style

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — He would have flinched at some of the musical clinkers but one of the greats of New Orleans jazz was tucked away in fine old Dixieland style Friday.

George Lewis, a master of the Dixieland clarinet, was placed in one of the above-the-ground graves which tourists find so curious, in a cemetery almost under the high arch of the Mississippi River bridge.

Three Dixieland marching bands provided the traditional send-off—the mournful dirge to and from the church, climaxed by a jubilant strutting exit from the cemetery.

It was an appropriate finale for the frail little musician, who was born George Lewis Francis Zeno but never used the last two names.

A solemn drizzle bathed the funeral and the crowd of about 500 that stood outside Olive Branch Baptist Church, where services were held. He was never a member of the congregation.

"Lewis was born a Roman Catholic and was a Mason," said Allan Jaffe, who operates a French Quarter room called Preservation Hall, dedicated to Dixieland Jazz.

Nothing New Learned On Cause of Arthritis

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto arthritis specialist said Friday a British report on rheumatoid arthritis did not disclose the actual cause of the disease, much less the cure."

The report said that work done at the Kennedy Institute of Rheumatology in London shows that joint damage results from the escape of enzymes in cells of the joint lining. The report said that vitamins C and K3 "seal up the cell walls."

But Dr. Metro Ogryzlo, director of Wellesley Hospital's rheumatic disease unit, said in an interview: it has been known for the five years that the escape of lysosomal enzymes contributes to inflammation and cartilage destruction in rheumatoid arthritis sufferers.

He said substances such as aspirin, prenisone, gold and phenylbutazone, and vitamins C and K3 have a stabilizing effect on the enzyme release.

"But all this information contributes to the sum total of knowledge regarding . . . rheumatoid arthritis, it really has not brought us much closer to revealing the actual cause of the disease, much less the cure."

Bell Offers Help to Police In Tracking Ottawa's Bomber

A spokesman for the telephone company said Friday night Bell would be "most willing" to place its sophisticated call-tracing equipment at the disposal of police.

Police, investigating a bomb explosion outside an office building here Tuesday night and the discovery of three others in mail boxes Thursday, have been plagued since then with crank calls warning of further bomb placements.

The Bell spokesman said call-tracing equipment on "some strategic telephones" throughout the city might increase chances of tracking down threatening callers, and possibly lead to the discovery of whoever planted the bombs.

Potential threatmakers would also be deterred by fear that calls might be traced, he said in an interview.

Police officials, while reluctant to discuss the offer in detail, said if the calls continue, a meeting will be held among police and Bell officials to discuss this and other ideas.

Friday night, six threatening calls were received saying bombs had been placed in two theatres, a hotel, a stadium and Ottawa radio stations CFRA and CKOY.

News staffs and broadcasters remained in the radio stations but police evacuated theatre-district restaurants of the hotel for about 30 minutes.

The explosion blew a hole four feet deep in the sidewalk, knocked down power lines, and shattered windows on the first five floors of the nine-storey building.

Thursday, three bombs were removed from city mailboxes by armed forces experts after they were found by employees of a firm that picks up mail for the post office.

Ottawa Alderman Don Kay labelled a motion Friday asking city council to provide a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the bomb planter or planters.

A spokesman for the separatist Quebecois in neighboring Hull, Que., called the placing of the explosives in mail boxes "stupid and senseless."

"We want to make Quebec separate, but through democratic and peaceful ways," he said.

A number of similar incidents in Montreal have been ascribed to separatist groups. Lately they have been attributed to labor agitators.

Straphangers' Revolt Stalls Manhattan Subway Trains

NEW YORK (AP) —A straphangers' revolt over a stalled subway train in Manhattan mushroomed into a major snag during the Friday evening rush hour, leaving an estimated 50,000 passengers stranded in the tunnels.

The confusion was compounded when restless riders took to the tracks from their backed-up trains and had to be herded to safety by police and Transit Authority employees.

Once people began wandering through the tunnels, the power was cut as a safety measure. This prolonged the delay and it was four hours before the underground jam was finally cleared.

Some persons were reported to have panicked, smashing windows to get out of the trains. A Transit Authority spokesman termed the delay "one of the worst we've ever had."

The incident began about 5:35 p.m. when a northbound train on the IRT Seventh Avenue line pulled into the station at 110th Street and Lenox Avenue. The doors failed to close properly.

It was decided to take the train out of service and the passengers were asked to get off. Some did but others stood fast and as a result the train could not be moved.

About 6:10 p.m., word was received that passengers were on the tracks and power was immediately cut. This stalled 50 trains, each carrying about 1,000 passengers.

One of those trains was a northbound express that stopped just below 14th Street. Phillip Moore, 48, an investment analyst, was one of those trapped for two hours in the train.

"At first, everyone was annoyed at being a little late," Moore said. "Then it got to be amusing. After a while, the amusing period stopped and then it got to be a little mad. Near the end, about 7:30, when we moved about 100 yards and halted again, it got damn close to revolution."

One mother-to-be, Mrs. Veronica Nicolaou, 19, of the Bronx, started to get labor pains as the train stalled north of 96th Street. A conductor summoned help by radio and a policeman carried her off the train. She was admitted to St. Luke's Hospital.

Another woman was reported to have suffered a heart attack.

One result of the tieup was that buses running on the West Side were so overloaded with passengers that some drivers were reported to have given up trying to collect fares.

RAISE CHINCHILLAS WITH CANADA'S LARGEST CHINCHILLA MARKETING ASSOCIATION

Consider these facts:

- CHINCHILLA — has long been recognized as one of the world's most valuable furs. The velvety softness and light weight of chinchilla has contributed to the spectacular growth of the industry, and the demand for top quality pelts far exceeds the supply. In the tradition of broad research, quality, and consumer demand the "Guild" maintains it's leadership.
- INCOME — Commercial pelting has become a reality. The Chinchilla Guild provides all ranchers a written contract whereby their chinchilla offspring are purchased by the Guild at a minimum guaranteed price. The "Guild's" contract also provides a sire exchange program controlled by IBM machines.
- CONVENIENCE — Chinchillas are generally raised in basements and spare rooms, as they are among the cleanest of animals, odor free, quiet and gentle.
- CARE AND FEEDING — Chinchillas cost less than $3.00 a year to feed and second income families in their spare time produce most of the pelts sold on todays market. You too, can share in the millions of dollars being realized by these people throughout the world.
- SERVICE — Force priming, grading, killing, pelting, dressing and marketing are provided by the Guild including ranch inspection, training seminars and delivery of related equipment and supplies.
- INVESTMENT — The chinchilla business is one of the easiest and best county in which to get started. With financing available from the "Guild" your down payment need not be large (as modest as $700.00). Chinchilla ranching also provides special tax advantages. If you are facing retirement, or in need of a second income and fond of animals, let us show you why "CHINCHILLA" can be a sound investment.

Uncertified Teachers Will Find Jobs Scarce

TORONTO (CP) — About 1,500 uncertified teachers in Ontario's elementary schools are going to have a tough time landing jobs next September, the education department announced Friday.

A department statement said Ontario teachers' colleges have so many students this year that department "letters of permission —allowing school boards to hire uncertified teachers—will be granted only "under very exceptional circumstances."

The department anticipates that an enrolment of 9,300 students in the colleges 19-8 to training term will make it possible to staff nearly every classroom in Ontario with a fully-qualified teacher next September.

Letters of permission are granted to school boards usually in remote areas of the province where qualified teachers are unobtainable.

Flyers Pour 74 Shots at Woodstock

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Barrie Flyers showed Woodstock A's why they are first in the Ontario Hockey Association senior series Friday night but most of the punishment was taken by Sonny Pennington in the Woodstock goal.

Pennington faced 74 shots as the A's lost 8-1.

In other games Friday, Belleville goalie Larry Holmes had more protection as the Mo-Hawks defeated Oakville Oaks 2-1 with Holmes picking up an assist on the winning goal, and Collingwood Kings dumped Kingston Aces 8-6.

John Weeks, Bob Forhan, Wayne Weller and Mike Dubeau each had two goals for Barrie as the Flyers moved six points up on the second-place Galt Hornets.

Playing-coach Davey Jones scored both goals as Belleville overpowered a depleted Oakville team. The Oaks only had 10 players in the lineup. Oakville started strong and took a 1-0 lead on Bob Pole's first period goal.

Clair Alexander and Keith Smeltzer paced the winners with two goals each. Howie Forbes, Glen Barr, Bill Abbott and Dave Sitter added the other goals.

Blues Still Have Seals Pegged

Gordie Howe's HOCKEY

Could the Russians defeat a team made up of National Hockey League players?

Yes.

That answer shouldn't come as a shocker. But, I should hasten to add, it does need qualifying. They might win a game or two, but not a series.

The Russians can shoot, they can skate, they are well conditioned and well drilled. They also throw the puck around.

Those are all plus-factors. Another plus factor, should the Russians play an NHL team, would be national pride. There would be pride riding with the NHL players, too, so this would balance off.

The reasons I've cited make them a tough team to face. And look back over the years when NHL teams have played junior clubs or the Canadian National team. It hasn't always been easy. Juniors play the hearts out against the pros and sometimes win. The New York Rangers also found out what the Canadian National team could do in a set at Winnipeg a couple of years back during the training season. If I remember correctly, the Rangers lost both games.

Let me argue my side of it this way: Should an individual NHL team or a representative team from the NHL play the Russians — league president Clarence Campbell suggests it is a possibility within the next two years — I would say the NHL has everything to lose and nothing to win.

Mr. Campbell doubts the Russians would come over here to play one or two games without reciprocal games in Moscow or some other Russian city or cities. I agree.

But for the games themselves, the NHL would have to send a skating club against the Russians, a team like the Montreal Canadiens. Or if it was a representative team, the players picked would have to be skaters because the Russians play that type of game.

As for what rules the game was played under, I don't think it would really matter.

Bill Gadsby, the coach of the Red Wings, handled a junior club in an exhibition game against the Russians in Edmonton two years ago and he said "the body checking might make a difference . . . at first."

"They (the Russians) have a tendency to come out of their end with their heads down and you can catch them real good", Gadsby pointed out. "But it's something they would adjust to real quick".

But I formed the opinion that the Russians would like the rough going. They are big and tough.

This is a subject that has numerous sides to it and I'd like to continue it another time.

St. Louis Running Away Fast With Western Division Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Until Oakland Seals learn to defeat St. Louis Blues, they might just as well abandon any hope of finishing first in the National Hockey League's Western Division.

The Blues, runaway leaders in the division, downed the runner-up Seals 3-1 at Oakland Friday night to increase their first-place margin to 11 points and they have played three less games than the California team.

Part of the reason for the runaway is Oakland's inability to beat St. Louis. The win Friday night, watched by 6,086, was the fourth in a row this season for the Blues against the Seals.

Since their entry into the NHL last season, the Blues are undefeated in 14 games against Oakland.

Veteran defenceman Doug Harvey and forward Fank St. Marseille scored first-period goals for St. Louis. Oakland's Gerry Ehman and defenceman Ray Fortin of St. Louis exchanged second period goals.

Harvey collected his second goal of the season at 1:11 on a 40 foot shot. Marseille's goal, his fifth, came on a 20-footer which goaltender Gary Smith gloved, then dropped into the net.

The Seals outshot St. Louis 32-23 but Glenn Hall played alert goal for the Blues, making 13 saves during the scoreless third period.

Action resumes today with Montreal Canadiens playing host to Chicago Black Hawks in an afternoon game. In games tonight, New York Rangers visit Toronto Maple Leafs, Minnesota North Stars welcome Boston Bruins, Detroit Red Wings are at St. Louis Blues and Pittsburgh Penguins entertain Philadelphia Flyers.

Sunday, Montreal is at Chicago, Toronto plays in Philadelphia, Minnesota journeys to New York. Pittsburgh is at Detroit and Oakland plays host to Los Angeles Kings.

The Canadiens, tied for first in the Eastern Division with Boston, received good news Friday when goaltender Gump Worsley said he was ready to play.

Worsley, suffering from a nervous ailment and an aversion to flying, left the Canadiens Nov. 26 and has not played since.

He practised Friday with the team and, except for a slightly stiff neck, said he was in good condition.

Toronto, on the other hand, hoped to improve its performance through a trade. Maple Leaf manager-coach Punch Imlach said Friday he would like to acquire left winger Danny Grant from Minnesota North Stars.

General manager Wren Blair of Minnesota said he wouldn't mind dealing with Imlach, "but he always asks too much."

New York said forward Guy Trottier has been recalled from Buffalo of the American League and forward Dennis Hextal sent to the same team.

City Stars Deal Defeats To East York

The Kinsmen Bantam all-stars handed their opponents a 4-3 on goals by John Mulvihill, Mark Coates, Andy Ricketts and Danny Lapenotte.

Meanwhile Belleville's Novice all-stars — the Food City squad — were dumping East York 2-1 on tallies by Paul Hayman, Bobby Crawford and Tony Meagher. Andy Lapenotte contributed a pair of assists to the Food City cause.

Worsley Says Ready for Action

MONTREAL (CP) — Lorne (Gump) Worsley, Montreal Canadiens' veteran netminder, Friday advised the National Hockey League club through the team physician that he is ready to return to action—immediately if necessary.

The Canadiens meet Chicago Black Hawks here in a rare Saturday afternoon contest today. Canadiens currently are tied for first place in the East Division standings with Boston Bruins.

Each club has 47 points, although the Bruins have a game in hand.

Worsley left the team in Chicago Nov. 26 after a bumpy flight that lasted two hours and 15 minutes. The Canadiens were en route to Los Angeles for an engagement the next night against the Kings.

The former Vezina Trophy winner and a veteran of 20 years in pro hockey said at that time he could no face any more flights and instead returned to Montreal by train.

He was ordered to take a complete rest for one month by the club doctor.

Friday, he joined in his first full scrimmage and his only complaint after the workout was a slightly stiff neck. However, his outlook is good and his hopes are high.

The return of Worsley to action would mean that either Tony Esposito or Rogatien Vachon could be ticketed for Houston Apollos of the Central Hockey League. Esposito was yanked up from the Houston club as Worsley's replacement. Vachon returned to action Tuesday night after being sidelined by a broken hand since Dec. 3.

He won that one 4-3 in Pittsburgh, but the Penguins turned the tables on him Thursday night, beating Canadiens 5-2 in Montreal.

STOCKHOLM (CP-Reuters) — Canada's Eastern national hockey team defeated a Czechoslovak team 5-3 Friday night to regain joint leadership in the Star Cup hockey tournament.

In Aharne Cup play, The Victoriaville, Que., Tigers were thrashed 7-0 by Djurgaarden of Stockholm. Victoriaville is in last place in that tournament.

The national Canadian team outclassed the Czech squad from Gottwaldow before 1,500 fans. The first line of Tom Martin, Terry Caffery and Richie Bayes was brilliant, and the score could easily have reached double figures.

Jean Cusson set up Steve King for the first goal, and Martin got Canada's second after Kozela had tied the score. The first period ended 2-1.

In the second period, Bayes made it 3-1, and after Bauer scored for the Czechs, Bob Murdock passed to Kevin O'Shea for Canada's fourth.

In the third period, the Czechs made it 4-3 before Caffery closed out the scoring.

The joint Star Cup leaders, Swedish-champion Brynaes, surprisingly were beaten 5-4 by Finland's B team, registering its first victory.

Hockey Mourns Man Who Discovered The 'Natural' in Hull

By GEORGE H. CARVER

The time was the mid-fifties. The stockily-built fiftyish man sat in Memorial Arena, keen eyes watching every move made by a gaggle of minor hockey moppets going through their paces.

He had been in the city for upwards of a week on one of several visits to this area.

One of the National Hockey League's brightest stars was "born" in that moment of decision.

The man who made the decision was Bob Wilson then chief scout for the Chicago Black Hawks.

Bob passed away the other day at his home in Havelock at the age of 69 years.

The late Bob Wilson was well-known in hockey circles of the city. The quiet-spoken man, not given to long orations made many friends here. He was instrumental in aiding junior B hockey here and bringing a city team under the sponsorship aegis of the Chicago Black Hawks.

But his chief claim to fame was the discovery of Bobby Hull, one of many Hawk players who later made the big jump to the National League team.

"Bobby" he told me later "was a natural. He had pro written all over him. Any NHL 'bird-dog' will tell you that He will go a long way and take the shortest route to the top."

One said Wilson was plunging through the snowbanked sides of an open air arena in Northern Ontario when he came across the future star.

Another wrote Hull came from a village in the frozen areas of Northern Ontario and caught the eye of Wilson while playing on a pond.

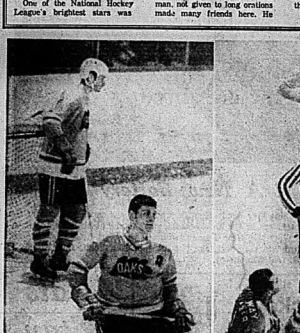
With Mr. Cook were associated Fred Reid, Toots Holway, Ken McNaught, Dick Beare, Dr. Austen Walters and a number of other hockey-minded men.

Eventually, in the early fifties Wilson and Cook and company got heads together and the result was the junior spon sorship by the Black Hawks. At a meeting in the Queen's Motel attended by Mayor Harvey McPartlin of Picton, the juniors became known as the Belleville Black Hawks.

Wilson—then living in Sudbury, sent promising players here for seasoning. These included Hec Lalonde, George Jacklin, Joe Nolan, Hank Therrien and Wilson's son Bob Jr., a sturdy stocky defenceman.



Many crack Junior B teams played here, among them the Weston Dukes under the management of Stafford Smythe. The Dukes boasted such players as Dicky Duff, Brian Glover, Goldie A. Albini, Billy Harris, A. Pitkin and others who made the pro grade.

The Hawks gave a special dinner to their Belleville hosts one evening at Tobe's and the proudest guys there were minor hockey stars who were individual guests of the Black Hawk players.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson made many friends here and along with Hawks manager Rudy Pilous were often guests at the Hull home in Point Anne.

Sportsmen of that era who knew the Wilsons join in extending sincere sympathy to the bereaved family.

DOWN AND OUT — At least two Oakville Oaks had their reasons for sitting down on the job during their Friday night OHA Senior "A" 2-1 loss to the Belleville Mo-Hawks. Burly defenceman Don Currie had to take a third-period rest break after feeling the strain of his team's 10-remember lineup. In the second period, Oaks' defenceman Brian Pryce (4) was on his knees for a different reason—he just came out second best in swinging duel with the Mo-Hawks' scrappy Ralph Plane.

Mo-Hawks Topple Oaks To Narrow Aces' Margin

By MAURICE SWITZER
Sports Editor

Chances are he wished he had one on last night as his former club bombed the Oakville goaltender with 51 shots in registering an impressive 2-1 win over the visiting Oaks.

Despite the onslaught, a pair of second-period tallies by Mo-Hawk playing-coach Davey Jones were the only shots to elude Doucet, one of only ten Oakville players to dress for last night's game.

But the Mo-Hawks, playing one of their finest two-way games of the season, didn't take them out to symbolize with the injury-riddled Oaks, who last week surprised league-leading Barrie Flyers 4-3 with only ten men in their lineup.

The win on the heels of last Sunday's 6-1 thumping of Kingston, left the Mo-Hawks three points behind the Aces in the battle between the eastern Ontario arch-rivals for the eight-team senior loop's sixth and last playoff berth.

Tonight, the locals are in the Limestone City hunting for their first win on Kingston ice this year. The Aces, who dropped an 8-6 decision last night to Collingwood Kings, have won their three home games to date against the Mo-Hawks, while losing four games on Belleville ice.

Last night the Oaks didn't look like a team that was losing beetsize they were short-handed — they looked like a team that was outclassed.

Doucet's goalmouth acrobatics kept them in the game right from the first drop of the puck. Despite outshooting the visitors 17-6 in the opening period, the Mo-Hawks went to the dressing room down 1-0 after Bob Pole put away Pete Bettiol's pass at 14.40 when he was left unguarded in front of Mo-Hawk goalie Larry Holmes.

Both the Bob Taylor - Davey Jones - Ralph Plane line and the George Godson - Wayne McConnell - Ron Riley forward combination had the puck everywhere but across the Oakville goal — line during the opening 20 minutes, but Doucet managed to pounce on every lose puck within — and sometimes without — his reach.

play of the season with Oakville's Brian Pryce off for interference at 1.40 of the second period.

The puck didn't leave the Oakville end until Davey Jones tipped in Wayne "Weiner" Brown's point drive at 3.12 to knot the score 1-1.

Barely two minutes later, Holmes — who only handled 20 Oakville shots in the game — preserved the tie by stopping Marcel Labelle's breakaway effort.

The Mo-Hawk goalie earned a rare assist at the 15.34 mark, when Davey Jones carried the puck from centre into the Oakville zone, skirted a defender, and fooled Doucet with a low drive for the 2-1 Mo-Hawk margin.

In addition to the Mo-Hawk scoring, the crowd of 712 was also treated to some of Ralph Plane's familiar fisticuffs in the middle frame. Plane won a unanimous decision over Oaks' defenceman Brian Pryce at the 14.46 mark, with both players going off to serve minor and major penalties, leaving each team two men short to set the stage for Jones' winning goal.

Ron Riley hit the post late in the period, and was out-gussed by Doucet on a third-period breakaway, and Greg Marchen hit a post in the final period, but the teams battled scoreless through the final 20 minutes.

Morrisons Lose Junior Bout With Defence-minded Hawks

By MALCOLM JOHNSTON
(Staff Sportswriter)

TRENTON — Trenton coach "Red" Gravelle's emphasis on defensive play paid off last night in a 5-1 victory over the Belleville Morrisons, and strengthened the Golden Hawks' grasp on third place in the six team Eastern Ontario Junior "B" hockey league.

Coach Gravelle believes good defensive play is the key to winning hockey and devotes most of his team's practice time to defensive fundamentals and tactics.

The Golden Hawks, a young team with no players having any previous Junior "B" hockey experience, demonstrated the value of good defensive play as they backchecked well all night and gave goaltender John Garrett excellent protection in every period.

The Trenton club took five of nine minor penalties handed out in the first period but the Morrisons were thwarted time and again by the Trenton defence and goalkeeper Garrett, who combined to preserve the Golden Hawks 1-0 lead through out the opening period.

The Morrisons could not mount a sustained attack and the Golden Hawks took a comfortable 3-0 lead at 8.31 of the middle period when Wayne Gillette tipped Dan Goheen's backhanded shot into the opposite netminder Paul Hopkins.

John McConnell got one back for the Morrisons at 12.14 when he came from the side of the net and caught the Trenton netminder looking the other way.

The third period was much the same, with Belleville unable to get untracked as the Golden Hawks applied pressure and capitalized on their opportunities adding goals by Don Potts and Carey Webb, to boost the final score to 5-1.

Coach Gravelle is looking for a similar effort from his squad tonight when they travel to Bellville to meet the powerful Crushmen in a game slated to start at 7.15

Morrison's coach, Floyd Crawford, whose club remains in the league cellar with seven points in 21 games, hopes to dress two or three players from the Belleville Minor Hockey system Sunday in an attempt to bolster his club for their encounter against the third place Cobourg Cougars. Game time is 2.30 at the Belleville Arena.

Leitner A Scream

Ski Coach Operates School of Hard Knocks

VERNON, B.C. (CP) — The only way to catch a thief is in the act.

And when you're teaching people to ski, the same principle is involved, says Willie Leitner, one of Canada's top instructors.

If you decide to take a lesson from him, be prepared for the most embarrassing, most beneficial ski lesson you have ever had.

He literally shouts and screams at he top of his Austrian-accented voice as you ski down the side of the mountain.

"Knees into the mountain, stop bowing, weight on the downhill ski!"

At first, particularly women students are sensitive to such sergeant-major tactics. But when they see their skiing improve, they huddle around Willie at an apres-ski session and say: "Don't worry, Willie, just keep screaming at me the way you do." And he does.

He was born in an Austrian mountain hamlet called Eisenerz, with a population of 70, and started skiing at 2½. The 16-miles ski trek to school at Vordenberg each day was a hazard destined to become an occupation.

When he came to Silver Star five years ago, he promised himself two things. He was going to live on the mountain as he had done in Austria. Secondly, he was going to aim for one of the biggest ski schools in B.C. He had achieved both.

When the snow had gone that first season, Willie learned to use ski-mo as he saw. He began building a mountain home.

Now he has 30 units situated at the base of the lift area, which this year added a 6,000-foot chair that carries skiers to an elevation of 6,000 feet.

Some critics said the area, with a population of only 10,000, couldn't support daily operations. Leitner insisted it could. Less than an hour's flight from Vancouver, Silver Star has attracted Coast skiers with all-inclusive ski weeks as low as $70. Fresh powder snow falls almost daily.

Students come from many parts of North America to take lessons from Leitner. He recalls one young lady, an excellent figure-skater, but no skier. She began the season as a "ski-bunny" and finished as a qualified instructor.

"I guess you'd have to call her my best student," says Willie—about his wife Sylvia.

The Leitners live on the mountain year-round, but also have a home in Vernon.

Even after a full day of teaching, Willie occasionally skis 14 miles down the mountain to Vernon.

"Just to keep in shape," he smiled.

Sulky Favorite A Guest of Honor

TORONTO — Herve Filion, The Angers, Quebec, harness race driver who shattered the world record last year for most victories in one season — more than 400 — will be among the head table guests at the 18th annual Sports Celebrities Dinner at the Royal York Hotel here Jan. 28.

Filion, who last month surpassed the former world mark of 384 set in 1964 by Eddie Freundt of Dusseldorf, West Germany, also figures in seven Canada's highest paid athlete of 1968.

At 28, he has won more than $500,000 in purse money. He receives a percentage of the winnings and has a personal stable of 44 trotters and pacers which have brought home more than $300,000 in purses this year.

Filion started driving at 12, quit school after grade 5 and left home to drive full time when he was 15. He scored 300 victories last year in order to beat his personal best of 257 in 1967.

The dinner, sponsored by the Ontario Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association in aid of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, will raise money to help build a summer camp at Blue Mountain, near Collingwood.

Tickets are available from any Association member, or from ticket chairman Gerry Lougheed, Sports Department, The Globe and Mail, Toronto.

Bullets On Mark

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Baltimore Bullets downed Cincinnati Royals 130-125 Friday to hold their one-game lead in Eastern Division standings of the National Basketball Association.

In the other games, Atlanta Hawks defeated Detroit Bloons downed Phoenix Suns 121-109 and San Francisco Warriors staged a second-half rally for a 104-102 victory over Boston Celtics.

In Cincinnati, Westley Unseld and Jack Marin each tipped in shots with less than two minutes to go to give the Bullets their narrow victory. Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson scored 37 points in the game.

In Milwaukee, veteran Wayne Embry, hampered by a back injury, scored nine points for a career total of 15,936, making him the 11th highest scoring centre in NBA history.

Expansion Expos Sign Scouting Team

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Expos of baseball's expanded National League today announced the appointment of eight additional scouts with territories extending throughout the United States.

Andy Pafko, 47, of Chicago, who played in the National League for 12 years with Chicago Cubs, the Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves, will scout the states of Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota for Montreal's fledgling entry.

John (Honey) Russell of New York will do the same in his home state and neighboring New Jersey. The mid-west states will be under the scrutiny of Floyd Patterson of Queneno, Kan., searching Oklahoma and Missouri as well as his home grounds.

Jim Quigley and Art Sullivan, both living in New York, will look after that city and its suburbs. Billie Harris of Compton, Calif., will scout the southern Rosen of San Jose will be in charge of the San Francisco and Bay area.

The latest appointments bring the Expos scouting staff to 17, half of that state while Hal

DESIGNED TO FILL THE EMPTY DAYS!

In 1890, James Nalsmith was trying to figure out a game to fill the physical education curriculum between the football and baseball seasons. Basketball was the name of his invention (...and it's the most competitive sport of purely American origin).

There's a wonderful invention used all over the world to sell no longer needed basketballs or almost anything . . . here we call it an Intelligencer Ad . . . and you get it by dialing 962-9171.

NERO PLAYED THE BAGPIPES?

Although we think of the bagpipe as a Scottish instrument, it was very popular in ancient Greece and the Roman Emperor Nero, had one, too. Made of leather bag and wooden pipes, the bagpipe was a popular folk and military instrument in Scotland and Ireland.

Tweed

TWEED — Mrs. Ralph McGuire, of Centre Street, Tweed, returned to her home recently, after being a patient in the Belleville General Hospital for some weeks.

Messrs. Russell and George Marsh and Lorne Douglas, of Subside, spent the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marsh, in Hungerford, Quebec.

Mrs. Alice Parks of Actinolite will mark her 80th birthday on January 7th, 1969. She is the mother of three daughters. A son has passed away ago. She has four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

To Your Good Health

Everyone's Arteries Harden Sometime

By Dr. George C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We read your column every day. Our daughter says everyone gets hardening of the arteries sometime during his life. I say no. Who is right? — D. P. K.

Sorry, but she is right.

Hardening of the arteries is not a sudden, acute ailment. It is a gradual change. "Hardening" is not totally the wrong way of describing it. While the walls of the arteries thicken and lose their elasticity, the more important element is that fatty substances accumulate a coating of plaques, or fatty deposits.

The big problems of "hardening arteries" are more likely to occur when at some point in an artery, the lumen, or interior of the artery, had been clogged to the extent that blood flow through it is substantially reduced. Such points of course, can be completely clogged by a clot that, in earlier years, would have passed through without difficulty.

Perhaps the best way to think of hardening of the arteries is to regard it as one of the usual results of aging — our hair changes, our skin becomes less flexible, we get less zest and energy (and the foolhardiness) of youth; our knees and wrists, glandular activity changes.

Some people reach the rocking-chair age as early as the 40's. Others are playing tennis in the 60's and golf in the 90's. Some lose their hair early others don't.

Some people begin having troubles traceable to hardening of the arteries when they are fairly young and others have slight, if any, trouble for many years.

But whether we were born with sturdy arteries or arteries that will tend to obstruct too soon, we all have arteries that start to harden from the time we are born.

So the question isn't whether your arteries are going to harden; they will. The question is whether they will "harden" to a degree that will bother you.

It would be nice if science could discover a pill that would keep arteries from hardening. It would also be nice if somebody could invent a pill that would keep us from growing older. It isn't very likely, is it?

Best things we can do to protect our arteries are to observe a reasonably diet, keep our weight normal, and development of a lifelong habit of regular exercise.

The exercise? Any kind, but make it regular. Get a run every day. Brisk walking is fine. Don't sit all week long and then try to make up for it with too much exercise on weekends.

• • •

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can two vertical, deep "worry lines" between the eyebrows be removed by plastic surgery? If so can you suggest such a surgeon? — J. L.

In most cases this can be done quite readily — but if you can break a habit of tenseness (which so often is associated with such worry lines) you may help prevent them from recurring.

Best way to find such a surgeon in your particular locality is to ask your physician to refer you.

• • •

Note to Mrs. M. K.: Ignore the rumors you have heard about Teflon. Scratching it won't harm you (although it harms the Teflon coating, of course.) And heating it won't "produce harmful chemicals" until you reach a temperature of several thousands degrees, which would be enough to melt down your kitchen stove. It is not harmful under any possible household circumstances.

Canadian Stock Markets Surge Into 1969 With Sharp Rise

By GERALD CLARKSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian stock markets surged into 1969 with a rapid recovery which almost reached the record levels of mid-December.

During the past four-day trading week, the Toronto industrial index, the broadest indicator of Canadian share prices, gained 3.45 to 190.78. The all-time high was 191.07 Dec. 16.

The composite index on the Montreal and Canadian exchanges advanced 2.80 to 187.80.

The leading industrial groups were food processors, banks, chemicals and beverages. Communications, real estate stocks and retailers were slightly lower.

Among the biggest gains, Canada Northwest Land was up 13 to 85, Hand Chemical A 4 to 24, Great Plains Development 3¼ to 31¼, Harvey's Foods 3 to 35 and Patino 2¾ to 50.

The shares of nickel producers moved up in response to their recent increases in the price for refined nickel. Falconbridge rose 5¼ to 109, Inco 3 to 43¾ and Sherritt Gordon 85 cents to $9.45.

Several junior oil shares were the main focus speculation, as trading volume in the group reached record proportions Thursday and Friday. Seven issues traded more than 400,000 shares each during the week.

Vando Consolidated Explorations was the most active performer, with a total of 2,516,000 shares changing hands. The stock closed at 16 cents, down 2 cents on the week, after touching 42 cents.

Brokers and market sources had little positive information about what was going on until Fred T. Pearce, president of Vando, made a statement that there were no recent company developments to account for the market activity.

He said the directors were concerned about rumors that the company holds properties in the Alberta oil fields. Vando's only interest now, he said, is an option on a mining prospect in Quebec.

Small oil companies with an interest in the uranium discovery in the Wollaston Lake region of northern Saskatchewan have been a popular magnet for the last six weeks.

Mill City gained $1 to $4.50, Dynamic 65 cents at $1.75 and Permo 64 cents to $1.88.

Other heavily-traded western stocks were American Leduc, Pacific Davies, Okalta Oils and Northland Oils.

The shares of bigger oil companies, however, tended to lose ground during the week, although they are still close to record prices. The Toronto western oil index fell 4.48 to 247.96.

The latest figures compiled by the Toronto Stock Exchange show the dollar value of all the business transacted last year on Canada's six stock markets — Toronto, Montreal, Alberta, Vancouver, Calgary and Winnipeg — was a record at $7,-500,000,000.

This was a 41-per-cent increase from the previous all-time high in 1967. The TSE, the largest exchange, handled 70 per cent of the trading.

John Kimber, TSE president, said in a recent interview he expects business to go on increasing this year, with industrial trading the main factor in the market.

Charles Neapole, president of the Montreal and Canadian exchanges, anticipates a 15-to-20-per-cent increase in trading volume this year on the two markets.

He said he expects to see this expansion despite the force of separatism which have led to reports of large sums of capital leaving Quebec in search of greater security elsewhere.

On index at Toronto, golds fell 2.13 to 238.32. Base metals rose 1.83 to 115.37. Volume in four days trading was 23,518,000 shares compared with 7,995,000 shares during the previous Christmas week, when the market was only open two full days.

Gains outnumbered losses by 469 to 262.

On the Montreal and Canadian exchanges, combined volume was 4,138,000 shares compared with 2,930,000 in the shortened Christmas week. Gains outnumbered losses by 198 to 154.

New Year Predictions Vary Upon Course of U.S. Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — The New Year brought a rash of varying predictions about the course of the United States economy in 1969.

Most forecasters conditioned their projections on what the new Nixon administration does about holding down inflation which ate up much of the economic gain in 1968.

The U.S. commerce department said this year should be one of "substantial economic progress" if the federal government pursues "adequate fiscal, monetary, and other economic policies" and business and labor co-operate in moving toward stability and balanced economic progress."

Last year the gross national product—total of all government and private goods and services—rose $70,-000,000,000 to $860,000,000,000 in the United States.

The nine-per-cent increase represented five per cent in real gain and four per cent in price increases.

A National Industrial Conference Board economic forum predicted the gross national product would climb 6.5 per cent in 1969 to $915,000,000,000.

It also forecast that inflation would subside, with consumer prices rising about three per cent, compared with 4.5 per cent in 1968.

Tilford G. Gaines, vice-president and economist for Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., and a former official of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, said the U.S. economy appears headed for "a true recession."

He said businessmen are "badly miscalculating" consumer demand by overstocking their inventories and increasing production capacity too fast.

The result, he said, could be that businesses will have to reduce inventories sharply, prices will drop, businesses will have to cut back on spending and unemployment will rise.

On the other hand, Harold S. Geneen, chairman and president of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., was optimistic.

"We believe that a firm but gradual stabilization program is entirely consistent with rising employment and rising incomes in the United States economy," he said. "Such a program, we feel, will lead to a good year in 1969."

Henry W. Meers, chairman of the board of governors of the Association of Stock Exchange firms, predicted that stock market trading volume in 1969 would exceed the record 1968 level.

"We have, in my opinion, a fundamentally favorable economic climate that is not likely to be slowed materially during 1969 by the surtax," he said.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange in 1968 jumped to 2,201,500,000 shares from 1,-530,000,000 in 1967. On the American Stock Exchange, the total went to 1,435,165,734 shares from 1,145,090,300 in 1967.

Automobile production during 1968 was estimated at 10,000,000 cars, up sharply from the 8,-822,557 produced in 1967.

Construction activity was at a record $80,000,000,000, up from $74,000,000,000 in 1967.

Personal income was $760,000,000,000, up from $690,000,000,000 in 1967.

Corporate profits after taxes were $82,000,000,000, up from $75,000,000,000 in 1967.

Retail sales were $365,000,000,000, up from $330,000,000,000 in 1967.

Chateau-Gai Injunction Is Suspended by Quebec Court

MONTREAL (CP) — An injunction forbidding Chateau-Gai Wines Ltd. to use the word "champagne" on the labels of some of its products was suspended Friday by the Quebec Court of Appeal.

The injunction was issued Dec. 23 by Mr. Justice Claude Casgrain of the Superior Court. The judge also ordered the Niagara Falls, Ont., wine maker to pay $5,000 to 15 French shippers of champagne.

Chateau-Gai filed an appeal Dec. 27.

The provisional suspension of the injunction was granted by Mr. Justice Jacques Rinfret and Mr. Justice Roger Brossard of the Court of Appeal.

In his notes on the decision, Chief Justice Tremblay said that for "very many years" Chateau-Gai, T. D. Bright and Co. Ltd. and Jordan Wines Ltd. had been distributing in Quebec "certain wines which they designated under the 'champagne' designation."

The action was taken against Chateau-Gai alone in 1964, the chief justice said. If the injunction remained in force during the appeal, the French champagne makers would gain little.

"In fact," he added, "the appellants (Chateau-Gai's) clientele would go to its two competitors to whom the injunction does not apply, and the sales of the respondents (the French houses) would not be increased by an appreciable quantity.

"On the other hand, it is obvious that the appellant would suffer serious damage by a dimunition of its sales."

Chief Justice Tremblay said that to avoid prejudicing the final decision, the action he would confine himself to observing that "the appeal raises serious questions."

In his decision last month, Mr. Justice Prevost ruled that Chateau-Gai had violated a 1933 treaty between Canada and France stipulating that the word champagne must be used only as a "term of origin" to denote wine made from specific grapes grown in clearly defined areas of France.

It is not yet known when the appeal will be heard.

U.S. Navy Brings Home Man Who Reported Thailand Thefts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The navy said today it has terminated the overseas assignment of a civilian inspector whose information revealed massive fuel thefts from U.S. military supplies in Thailand because military authorities decided his presence in Bangkok was "prejudicial to the interests of the United States."

The inspector, John McGee, was transferred to the navy fuel supply office near Washington as General Accounting Office investigators were drafting their report on the thefts. The report was released this week by Senator William Proxmire (Dem — Wis.).

It said bribery, forgery, collusion and government laxity led to the theft of at least $,500,000 gallons of fuel intended for U.S. operations in Thailand, where hundreds of planes employed in the Vietnam war are based.

The GAO said the thefts were so widespread it was unable to calculate the full extent of the loss to the government.

In its reply Friday, the navy claimed McGee's supervisor, Arlie Rankin, initiated "investigations into irregularities of handling petroleum products in Thailand . . . in January 1968," more than a year before McGee arrived in Bangkok.

"The GAO investigation did not uncover any substantive new elements in the oil/cargo case. . . ." the navy added.

The navy, in explaining its transfer of McGee, referred to grievances he had brought in response to navy personnel action against him, and said McGee requested it. McGee flatly denied it.

"It was decided that both his interests and those of the government would be best served by ordering him to the Alexandria, Va. office so that he would be available for presentation of his case at the headquarters level," the navy said. "This would insure him of maximum benefits and protection of his rights."

Nuclear Sub Men Retiring

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Twenty-nine naval officers qualified for nuclear submarine duty turned in resignations during one week in November, the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot reports.

Admiral Thomas H. Moorer, chief of naval operations, has sent a classified message to the commanders of the Atlantic and Pacific submarine fleets requesting information on the problem of retaining officers, the story says.

It says Capt. William S. Busik, public affairs officer for the bureau of naval personnel, confirmed the rash of resignations.

Articles in official navy publications say the service is losing men because of inability to relate modern sub officers away from sea billets after a reasonable period at sea, long hours, time away from home, attractive job opportunities for trained personnel, pressure to keep abreast of new nuclear developments and monotony of nuclear submarine duty.

Violent Indian Actions Are Feared by Andras

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet minister responsible for coming up with new federal policy on Indians said Friday violence could break out among them this year unless the government begins to act soon on their grievances.

Robert Andras, minister without portfolio in the Trudeau government, said in an interview that the recent row over collection of customs duties at Cornwall bridge "may have been the spark that ignited outbreaks across the country."

Two shots were fired into the customs building there after Indians from the St. Regis reserve were arrested when they blockaded an international bridge in protest over officers collecting the duties.

Mr. Andras said the Cornwall Indians believed a treaty exempted them from paying custom duties. He said there are many other cases "where there were clear-cut violations of treaties or where Indians believed treaties have been violated."

Mr. Andras said consultations between the government and Indians on a new Indian Act had made Indians more aware of their problems and might contribute to any outbreaks of violence that could result from government inaction.

Moderates among the Indians would not like the more-impatient as long as the government tackled the problem soon. And a dialogue had been established.

Mr. Andras, 47, a former Port Arthur car dealer, said he put his "head on the block" with his outspoken criticism over the way Canadian governments have treated Indians.

But the storms apparently won't blow him out of office, he said.

Mr. Andras' relations with the officials of the Indian affairs department have been cool since he took over his portfolio. Informants say relations between Mr. Andras and Indian Affairs Minister Jean Chretien also could use some improving.

Mr. Andras added that he had hoped that the department and the cabinet both could take a fresh look at the Indian problem when the new Trudeau government took office.

Canada hadn't done well by her Indian population and it was best to admit it and to improve the situation rather than defend the obviously wrong.

While the $200,000,000 spent in programs for Indians was not a total failure, the poverty of the people and their alienation from the whites was shocking.

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — One of 48 Mohawk Indians arrested two weeks ago in a demonstration against Canadian customs duties said Friday she will carry on her own individual protest next Saturday at the bridge that is the focal point of the international dispute.

Kahn-Tineta Horn, a Mohawk princess, said she will walk across the Cornwall-Massena International Bridge carrying a beaddress, a tomahawk and peace pipe bought in the United States. She said the Canadian customs officials cannot impose a customs levy on the merchandise because of the Jay Treaty of 1794.

The dispute between the Indians, who live on a border, straddling reserve, and Canadian officials arose because Canada asked customs payments from the Indians on goods bought on the American side.

At a mass demonstration Dec. 18, about 100 Indians blockaded the international bridge for several hours. The arrests resulted when Canadian police tried to move the Indians.

Princess Horn was charged with obstructing traffic and carrying a concealed weapon—a knife. She is free on $500 bail.

U. of T. Scientists Aid In Moon-trip Program

TORONTO (CP) — When the first American sets foot on the moon, Canadian scientists at the University of Toronto's institute for aerospace studies will have helped send him there.

For 20 years institute scientists have studied both the earth's atmosphere and space. They have received financial support from the United States National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the U.S. Air Force, Canada's National Research Council and Defence Research Board and the university.

Currently, the institute is working on 105 research projects.

A satellite stabilizing technique, patented by the U.S. air force, was developed by Prof. Bernard Etkin, an aerodynamics specialist at the institute. The technique uses the same principle of distribution of mass that keeps the moon pointing to the earth.

Prof. Etkin also has done research into problems spacecraft have in returning to earth.

"What we U.S. is doing now about re-entry and recovery is almost at the primitive stage," Dr. J. B. French, a specialist in simulated spaceflight experiments, is anticipating flights to Mars and is working on possible protective measures for both spacecraft and spacemen.

Graduate Aerodynamist James Chamberlain and other Canadian engineers left to join NASA programs in the United States and "they have played a vital role in the design of the Mercury, Gemini and Apollo spacecraft," says Prof. Irving Glass, a U of T professor in charge of education.

Mr. Chamberlain, formerly chief Aerodynamicist of A. V. Roe, Canada, went to Houston after the federal government cancelled Avro's Arrow aircraft program. He now heads an aerospace team in Houston.

Jean Dixon's Horoscope

For January 5

Your birthday today: This is the year of personal effort, achievement, testing. The temptation is to take on too much, ignore both sides, muddle. Cultivate the habit of regular meditation to help avoid needless dissension. Today's natives are often skilled in statistics, economics, and the management of property.

ARIES (Mar 21 — Apr. 19): Share in the community's vitality, then pursue hobbies and creative projects. Other people are not too congenial. Fought scan your creative week.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Under the calm, you're in a jolly restaging frayed nerves and finding acceptance for each other. Don't along.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): It may seem that nobody is going anywhere or doing anything. Let people alone: tend your neglected chores. The evening is somewhat lighter.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): The tendency is for emotion. Fun and surprises are in your loved ones brighten up, with just a little expression of feelings.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Waste no time on trivials. With all the challenging and fun, you know how to project, go right out after what is most important to you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Take care of whatever you have in progress that requires privacy. Make your appearance, however, in your normal day. The evening should be quite interesting.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Give yourself the luxury of a late breakfast. By letting well enough alone, you inspire others to set up just what you want. Follow the mood of the moment experiment with fun things.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Your serious sense of duty comes first this morning, but be tactful. While your temptation is to call it as you see it, you are almost certain to dismay others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): This is one of those rare Sundays that could bring you just what you most need! You'll meet genial self and enjoy this!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): This opportunity to adjust to new conditions is at hand. Stretch a bit to get into step, then, Capricorn. Line up your accounts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Go somewhere, do something, but don't do it alone. Take your mate. The mood is more intellectual than physical. Avoid haste later in the day.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): This day could be unique if you will bring in humor. Pay no attention to gossip, and take care not to spoil anybody's secrets. Make a small party this evening.

For January 6

Your birthday today: The pressure of ambition beasts your life this year. Many last minute adjustments will probably be necessary. Price can interfere with actions required for long-range self-interest. Today's natives often have a natural aptitude for ease on camera, skill in handling prices and film, but seldom achieve either great fame or notoriety.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): The week begins well with concentration on your own welfare. Press forward on details which have been put off. The evening can be mellow with an old sentiment.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): The institution of our social order are more assertive in your opinions today. Close out incomplete business. Tonight brings a bright idea for application beyond the present situation.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): After the last few days, things seem quiet; get done while the doing is good. Your friends are more co-operative, but don't let them carry the whole burden.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Use simpler approaches. Cost-cutting involves more time and personal effort; find the balance point. Somebody is likely to call upon you to help weather a psychological blow, something expected but ill-prepared for.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Push your luck on business and finances for all it's worth. Your mate has a good word, and it's timely. The later hours offer fresh opportunities.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Details are easy to settle; important moves are not yet ready. The simple answer to an old problem is in view and may occur to you suddenly this afternoon. Think before you speak.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Tradition tends wheels for the long poll. Older people are more prominent and have a good deal to say. Listen carefully even if you've heard the story before.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Pay full attention to details, and quality. Present yourself and your work, persistently with all the persuasion you can muster. The evening is for fun; just don't overdo.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Put on your best cloth ing and bring up your mood to match its high quality. You may have to return momentarily to some previous place. Perplexing legal matters can be simplified with the right approach.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Use conservative action for protection of group or family resources. Check for gaps. Do something for your parents' peace of mind.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Get in the heart of matters by giving long-time associates. A good question posed in calm can unlock a world of benefits. The affairs of older people need attention now!

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 22): Past experiences are repeated, but don't be surprised with a different result. Try to recover money and materials lent. Others' comments bring food for thought.

Journalist W. Craick Dies at 88

TORONTO (CP) — William Arnot Craick, whose career in Canadian journalism spanned more than 60 years, died Friday in hospital after a brief illness. He was 88.

Author and journalist, Mr. Craick became editor of Canadian Printer and Publisher in 1906 after graduating with honors in mathematics from the University of Toronto. Three years later he was named the first editor of Busy Man's Magazine, the forerunner of Maclean's magazine.

His books included historical sketches of Port Hope, Ont., his birthplace, and a History of Canadian Journalism.

From 1910 to 1915, Mr. Craick was a free-lance writer and after serving as associate editor with The Financial Post became editor in 1919 of Industrial Canada, official publication of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. He retired in 1950.

He had wide connections with press associations and since 1929 had been honorary-treasurer of the Commonwealth Press Union, Canadian section.

Tradeau Captivating Public at 'Last Chance' PM Conference

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Trudeau, eagerly-awaited "new boy" among delegates to next week's Commonwealth conference, today was due to trade ideas with a man likely to occupy the conference hot seat —Prime Minister Wilson of Britain.

Trudeau, in good spirits as he arrived in London Friday night, planned to spend much of this weekend at Wilson's official country residence, Chequers.

There, the British leader is expected to seek his support on such thorny Commonwealth issues as Nigeria.

But Friday brought more signs that Rhodesia also could be a crisis issue for the 28 delegation leaders.

A lone Communist climbed to the top of Rhodesia House on London's Strand and hauled down the flag of Ian Smith's Salisbury government after controversy flared over its appearance there.

The predominantly green-and-white banner was promptly raised again—as seemed certain to be the case at the conference with the Rhodesian question in general.

One perennial critic of British Rhodesian policy, President Kenneth Kaunda, of Zambia, warned that the meeting will be the last chance for making the Commonwealth an effective organization.

He again urged re-assertion of British authority in Rhodesia.

And a London newspaper, The Sun, says he may receive support in this from Trudeau.

But Lord Walston, a Labor member of the House of Lords, argues in a letter to The Times that London does "not deserve all the criticism that is still being directed at us" over Rhodesia and British policy on non-white immigration.

He called for joint Commonwealth action, as well as discussion, on such issues.

The Guardian, usually sympathetic to the governing Labor party, says in an editorial that the conference must "apply a salutary pressure" on Wilson over both Rhodesia and Nigeria.

Trudeau has plenty of opportunities scheduled for voicing his views. They will go out to a public, world, as well as British whose interest in him has been intensified by a big press and television buildup.

Kennedy, Scott Win Whip Spots

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 91st Congress gets down to business in earnest Monday with Adam Clayton Powell back in the House of Representatives and a more liberalized Senate leadership.

The Democratic-controlled Congress formally opens Friday with something of a bang as Democrat Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Republican Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania upset conservatives to capture their parties' No. 2 positions.

The House voted after five hours of debate and preliminary balloting to seat the ousted Powell if he agreed to pay a $25,000 fine and accept loss of seniority.

Powell, a Negro Democrat from New York, was banished from the 90th Congress after being accused of misusing federal funds. He accepted the conditions, was sworn in and took the seat that represents 500,000 predominantly black voters in New York's Harlem.

The resolution to seat Powell was supported by Democratic Rep. Emanuel Celler (Dem., N.Y.), chairman of the special committee that investigated Powell in 1967 after charges that included misusing travel funds and putting his non-working wife on his payroll.

Final vote on the resolution was 252 to 160. Powell, who lost his chairmanship of the education and labor committee, will have the fine deducted from his paycheque.

Kennedy's defeat of Louisiana's Russell B. Long by 31-to-28 votes and Scott's defeat of Nebraska's Roman Hruska by a 33-to-20 margin drew mixed reaction on whether it would lead to greater muscle for liberals.

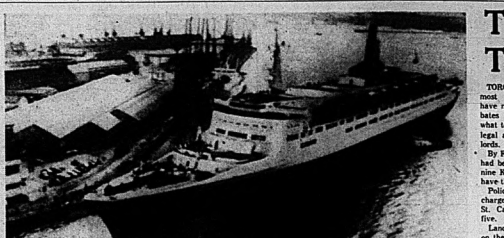
The immediate impact was expected to be more psychological than practical, however, since the whip in either party has seldom exerted strong influence.

It has, however, been a useful stepping stone and Kennedy's victory was seen as a first step toward a possible bid for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972.

"The winds of change that were so evident in 1968 have expressed themselves in the Senate," said the 36-year-old heir to the name embazoned across the U.S. political scene by two assassinated brothers.

"Of all the Kennedys, the senator is the only one who was and is a real Senate man," said Majority Leader Mike Mansfield who was re-elected to his No. 1 spot without opposition.

On the Republican side of the Senate aisle, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois was re-elected unopposed as minority leader.



Fifteen new members—10 Republicans and five Democrats—were sworn in, making the balance of power in the Senate 57 to 43 in favor of the Democrats.

Four new members were sworn into the House. There now are 243 Democrats and 192 Republicans there.

On Monday, the House begins business by taking up the question of pay raises for congressmen, cabinet members and the president.

The Senate faces the biennial effort to change rules on filibustering. Under present rules, a two-thirds majority is needed to invoke closure on debate.

The Senate will also begin debate on the nuclear non-proliferation treaty that President Johnson wants ratified before he turns over the White House to Richard M. Nixon Jan. 20.

Tenants File Tax Charges

TORONTO (CP) — Although most Ontario residents who have not received their tax rebates were undecided about what to do, others began taking legal action against their landlords.

By Friday, at least 20 charges had been filed in Hamilton and nine Kitchener residents are to have their trial date set Jan. 16.

Police in Oshawa said six charges have been made, and St. Catharines police reported five.

Landlords who failed to pass on the tax rebate to tenants by Jan. 1 are subject to $200 fines plus the amount of the rebate on each conviction.

The tax rebate plan, approved by the legislature last spring, is a tax-credit system designed to give each homeowner and tenant a property tax reduction averaging $55 for 1968.

Earlier Friday, Municipal Affairs Minister Darcy McKeough said he was trying to slow down disputes by having tenants and landlords refer the matter to his department.

"We're not trying to rush anyone into court," he said. "We are asking the people involved to get in touch with us."

Crown attorneys in some areas have argued that tenants should take civil action against landlords who failed to pass on the rebates.

Meanwhile, John Anderson, Metropolitan Toronto welfare commissioner, announced that welfare recipients who received their rebate will have it deducted from their monthly benefits provided the rebate was granted during the month they were on the rebates.

The only exception will be for persons who have been paying more for shelter than they received under the General Welfare Assistance Act. They will be allowed to keep part of the rebate.

Welfare recipients are required to list the rebate on their monthly income cards. If they do not, welfare workers may deduct the rebate amount when they learn about it later.

Mr. McKeough told a news conference Thursday that more than $100,000,000 has been paid out to 2,000,000 Ontario households and that about 99 per cent of Ontario's tenants had received their rebates.

Youngster Survives Lake Dip

TORONTO (CP) — Eleven-year-old Ciaran Griffin survived 20 minutes in frigid Lake Ontario waters Friday when an ice floe on which he and three companions were playing floated into the lake.

The other three—James Baldwin, 12, Eugene Kowalyshen, 11, and Alden Griffin, 12, brother of Ciaran—were pulled to safety through the combined efforts of a passerby and city police.

But harbor police had to use a rowboat to rescue Ciaran who had fallen into the 34-degree waters and was clinging to another floe farther from shore.

A cry for help attracted Leonard Brown, 52, who was driving near the scene. Mr. Brown went to the aid of the four youths while sending a companion to phone police.

The rescued youngsters and Mr. Brown, who also fell into the water in his rescue attempts, were treated in hospital for exposure and were kept under observation.

A harbor patrol official said a person usually dies after 25 minutes in frigid water.

"But kids have more resistance than adults," he said.

A safety handbook issued by the Ontario department of lands and forests estimates a person wearing heavy clothing can survive for 16 minutes in 32 degree water.

Joint Committee Studies Hospitals

OTTAWA (CP) — Everything from length of hospital stay to the implications of new expensive organ transplants will be studied in a federal-provincial drive to keep operating costs of health services in check.

A committee, established at last November's federal-provincial conference on health ministers, is expected to parcel out the job to a series of sub-committees.

Informants said Friday the steering group for the committee has proposed full studies of three main areas—efficient use of hospitals, efficient delivery of medical care and cost control through disease preventive measures.

Among the specific areas to come under examination will be hospital construction, hospital functions with particular attention to length of patient stay, the implications of heart, kidney and other organ transplants, facilities for active treatment and custodial care of the aged and of convalescents, establishment of teaching hospitals and virtually any matter that has a bearing on the use of medical personnel whose wages and salaries represent about 70 per cent of health care costs.

At the time the committee was formed, federal Health Minister John Munro made it plain that the recommendations would not be binding on any government.

To guard against running into problems with the profession and to draw on non-government expertise in the health care field, the committee is expected to invite the Canadian Medical Association and the Canadian Hospitals Association to designate representatives on the study group.

Phosphorus Starvation Cuts Milk

OTTAWA (CP) — Many Canadian dairy farmers are losing maximum milk production and shortening the production lives of their cows through phosphorus starvation, a government nutritionist says in a statement issued Friday.

Dr. D. E. Waldern of the federal agricultural research station at Agassiz, B.C., said studies show a 1,200-pound cow producing 75 pounds of milk a day needs 84 grams of phosphorus. Normal hay and grain rations would provide only 66 grams.

A phosphorus shortage in the diet keeps a cow from hitting milk production, interferes with the digestion and causes abnormal heat periods and lowered conception.

Carp Double Murder Possibly for Thrill

CARP, Ont. (CP) — Provincial police were searching today for three armed young men in the wake of a brutal double murder Friday night.

Gerald MacDonald, 31, an Ottawa service station operator, and Kenneth Vallee, 42, of St. Clair Shores, Mich., were gunned down on the roadside in front of their wives.

Police said there was no apparent motive. They did not discount the possibility that the men died at the hands of persons who killed for thrills.

Nothing was taken from the cars being driven by each of the men, related by marriage and on their way to family get-together in nearby Almonte. Their wives were not harmed.

"We can't figure it out," said Mrs. J. H. Vallee of Almonte, mother of Mrs. MacDonald and aunt of Kenneth Vallee, after hearing of the deaths.

The two couples were on their way to stay overnight at her home.

The killings occurred about 8:30 p.m. Friday, along a little-used stretch of highway between Carp, 25 miles west of Ottawa, and Almonte, another 10 miles along the road.

Israel Rejects Soviet Formula

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel has rejected a Soviet proposal for a Middle East peace sponsored by the Big Four, King Hussein of Jordan and the Egyptian press welcomed the Soviet peace formula, and one Cairo paper warned that an "immediate, decisive" effort is needed to stave off another war.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban told the Israeli cabinet Sunday Israel had informed Britain and the United States that the Soviet proposals "could not serve as a basis or a framework for discussion" because:

—They demanded total withdrawal of Israeli troops from Arab lands occupied in the war of June, 1967, without establishment of peace.

—They did not provide for "secure and recognized boundaries."

—There was no reference to Israel's demand that Arab-Israeli relations be put on a "contractual basis."

—They did not guarantee Israel shipping rights through the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba.

An Israeli government spokesman here did not spell out details of the Soviet plan, but the semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahram reported it contained a "time schedule" for implementing provisions of the November, 1967, UN Security Council resolution.

Tension remained high in Israeli-occupied territory.

In attempts to counter Arab resistance, Israeli authorities destroyed six Gaza Strip homes of alleged guerrillas; sentenced three young Arabs in the West Bank city of Hebron to 20 years in jail for sabotage; and jailed nine Bedouin tribesmen from the Sinai Desert for six years on charges of trying to sell to Jordan arms and ammunition they had collected after the 1967 war.

'Good morning, sir! Welcome to Lebanon Airlines.'

Countries Move To Cool Feud

JERUSALEM (CP) — Lebanese and Israeli officials have met to discuss Israeli's charges that Arab guerrillas have been crossing Lebanon's southern frontier to attack Israeli settlements.

The Lebanese government said the meetings were held at the border "within the scope of the mixed armistice commission and under the supervision of United Nations observers."

"Questions discussed at these meetings concerned the investigation of complaints and disputes arising from violations of the terms of the 1949 armistice agreement," the Beirut government said.

Lebanese leaders have claimed repeatedly that the guerrillas do not use their country as a base and that no attacks have been mounted from Lebanon.

Lebanese Defence Minister Hussein Oweini told a news conference Israel had turned down a Lebanese proposal that UN observers be permitted into Israel to investigate the charges that the guerrillas came from Lebanon to launch their attacks.

British Rhodesian View Wins Trudeau's Support

LONDON (CP) — A threatening Commonwealth storm over Rhodesia is likely to be tempered by the injection of Prime Minister Trudeau's sympathetic view of Britain's position.

As Commonwealth leaders gathered for the opening of their 11-day conference Tuesday, senior officials met with Arnold Smith of Canada, Commonwealth secretary-general, to fill in the fine points of the agenda, particularly the time to be spent on Rhodesia.

Leaders of Uganda, Tanzania and Zambia are demanding that Rhodesia be made the over-riding issue, with other items set aside until Prime Minister Wilson is forced to stand by his 1965 pledge that there will be no independence in that trouble country until Negro majority rule. This is known as Nibmar.

But such countries as Canada, Singapore, Malaysia, Australia, New Zealand and India don't want to see a return to the furious outbursts of 1966 which almost caused the conference to collapse.

For Other Stories On The Commonwealth Conference, See Page 12

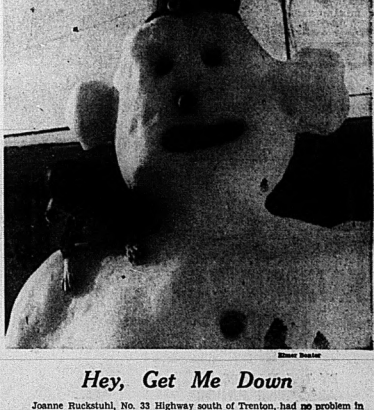
After a weekend with Wilson at his country home, Trudeau told a news conference Sunday that Canada accepted the Nibmar position. But if the "best" solution was not attainable, he would be willing to endorse a "second best" choice, providing this was acceptable to the Rhodesian people.

British newspapers immediately seized on this as indicating that with Trudeau's help, Wilson should have an easier time at his Commonwealth conference.

Wilson reached a "close personal understanding" with Trudeau. The Sun said, and this could "ensure an unexpectedly smoth passage for Britain."

The Express said Wilson gave Trudeau the "persuasion treatment," and Trudeau came away from Chequers "taking a less academic view of the Rhodesian question."

The Express said Trudeau also showed sympathy for the British position on the supply of arms to Nigeria. Britain had been criticized by some Commonwealth countries for supplying the federal regime with arms while turning its back on the military needs of breakaway Biafra. Trudeau described the Biafrans as "rebels."

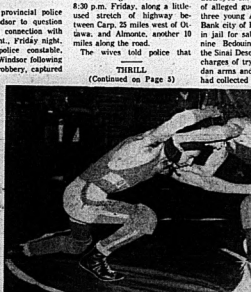


The Canadian leader said that while the best solution would be that no arms should be sent to either side, he realized that Britain had a pledge to the federal side. To halt the flow of British arms might be interpreted that Britain was siding with Biafra.

Czechs Unlikely to Heed Smrkovsky's Renunciation

PRAGUE (CP) — Militant Czechoslovak workers today seemed unlikely to heed an appeal from their reformist champion Josef Smrkovsky to tone down a campaign to have him elected speaker of the new federal legislature.

Smrkovsky, president of the old National Assembly and a key supporter of progressive Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek, went on television Sunday night to dissociate himself from the forced election drive, now threatening to erupt in a wave of strikes.



Trudeau and many other of the 28 Commonwealth delegations want more time spent on developing the future of the Commonwealth rather than on dwelling on its past.

Hard-line Lodge, Talking Softly, Heads Nixon's Peace Team

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Nixon, without stating his own views on the Vietnam peace talks, has named Henry Cabot Lodge to replace W. Averell Harriman Jan. 20 as the chief U.S. negotiator at the Paris conference.

Lodge, 66, has a reputation of taking a hard-line view of the war. He twice was ambassador to South Vietnam.

Lodge will head an almost-new negotiating team that, by its makeup, leaves in question Nixon's own policy attitude toward the peace efforts in Paris.

During two Saigon tours, Lodge generally mirrored the shifting but usually optimistic appraisals of the Johnson administration.

But in a statement issued Sunday in Bonn, where he is ambassador to West Germany, Lodge said negotiators in Paris must have not only a strong desire for peace but also recognition of "the profound and painful sacrifices which have to be made."

He said the talks "offer a hopeful forum for the definition of the interest of all parties involved and for the design of agreements to meet those interests."

While in Saigon, Lodge was seen close to South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Several meeting for- ers be- tow township —another today with Vice- South- Chief Cler- the lower house session- exte- der- ve appoint- ment of Henry Cabot Lodge as chief U.S. negotiator at the Paris negotiations dimmed hopes today that the talks to end the Vietnam war would start before President-elect Nixon's inauguration Jan. 20.

Hellos, Goodbyes for Early Talks Dim

To the South Vietnamese, taking things slowly in the hope of greater sympathy from the new administration, Nixon's appointment of Lodge came as a shot in the arm. The Saigon leaders regard Lodge, whom they got to known as U.S. ambassador in Saigon, as a hardline hawk and a good friend to the present military regime.

In addition to naming Lodge his personal representative and chief Paris negotiator, Nixon through Ziegler signalled these other choices for the Paris delegation:

—Lawrence E. Walsh, 57, a New York lawyer, will be deputy to Lodge. Described by Nixon as having "an outstanding reputation as a lawyer and a negotiator," Walsh was a federal district judge before serving as deputy attorney-general in the Eisenhower administration.

—Career diplomat Marshall Green, 57, will be detached from his duties as ambassador to Indonesia "to give additional professional competence and support to the negotiating team."

—Philip Habib, 48, another foreign service officer who once served with Lodge in Saigon, will remain a member of the U.S. delegation.

As indicated earlier, deputy negotiato, Cyrus Vance, a Johnson friend and appointee, has agreed to remain in Paris for about a month after Jan. 20 so, as Ziegler put it, "no momentum may be lost" and continuity preserved.

Ron Ziegler, Nixon's press spokesman, said in announcing the Lodge appointment that the

McKeough Vetoes Evans' Request For Picton Probe

By DONALD MacKENZIE
Staff Reporter

PICTON. — Municipal Affairs Minister Darcy McKeough has turned down a local farmer's petition for a provincial government investigation of town government here.

The petition, from Athol township farmer Harry Evans climaxed a controversy sparked by a local election advertisement critical of Picton's municipal administration.

The minister of municipal affairs answered the letter personally and stated he did "not feel justified in instituting an inquiry at the present time."

Another letter requesting an inquiry was sent to the OMB by Reginald Moore, the Dec 2 mayoralty candidate who opposed Mayor H. J. McFarland.

As yet, Mr. Moore has received no reply from the board and has refused to comment on the reply received by Mr. Evans.

However one person not the least bit disconcerted about Darcy McKeough's negative reply is the man who wrote the letter.

Mr. Evans said this morning he never expected to have any action taken as a result of his request.

"Come off it," he told the Intelligencer. "Let's be reasonable about this. There was never any chance for an investigation in this town."

Mr. Evans said that he did feel that his action brought publicity to affairs in Picton and that some good may have come of that.

Neither did Mr. Evans feel that the minister, Mr. McKeough, was trying to shield the conservative element in Picton.

"However," said Mr. Evans, "let's face it, the guy (Minister of Municipal Affairs Darcy McKeough) is a Tory man and Picton has been Tory forever. We'll give him the benefit of the doubt this time."

Mr. Evans said he has been told by certain town officials "to keep his nose out of Picton affairs" and mind his own business out in Cherry Valley.

"I don't mind," said Mr. Evans, "as far as I'm concerned Picton is my town too and I'll do what I think is right."

The letter requesting an inquiry of Picton affairs was a seething essay that stated people were afraid for their jobs and their pensions and in general fear of harassment.

Mr. Evans told the OMB that he was fed up with the "establishment" and the fact that citizens must walk in fear of reprisals from the administration.

Today, even though the letter requesting the inquiry was to no avail Harry Evans still feels the same way.

'Hurrah For Us At Hillcrest!'

Hillcrest residents yesterday had good reason for self-congratulation — opening of their own community centre, renovated by themselves with only $3,000 cost to city. Expressing neighborhood's high spirits over accomplishment are Gwen, Kim, Carol and Robbie Schammerhorn.

Youth Plays Role

Hillcrest Opens Own Centre

By HARRY MULHALL
(Staff Reporter)

Hillcrest has fewer youth problems than other districts of Belleville.

That doesn't mean the young people of the northend subdivision are suffering in-grits.

Exactly the opposite — as the Hillcrest community centre proves.

"The teenagers did more work here than anybody," said Bob Trice, chairman of the centre's building committee, as he waited for official opening ceremonies to begin. "We're really proud of them."

Groundwork for the centre was laid by the adults. It became possible when the United Church Hillcrest charge was transferred to Canniff, leaving vacant a church building and Sunday School annex.

Moving force in the project was the Hillcrest Ratepayers' Association. Three-way negotiations between the United Church, the city and the association resulted in the building being transferred to the city for a token $1. In turn the city gave the association a $3,000 grant to renovate the interior closer to community centre specifications.

The building itself is sound — although it's one of the oldest in the area. It was built as a Christian mission house in 1896 — when Hillcrest was part of rural Thurlow township.

Compared with present-day inflated costs, the city's grant could also have been but a token. However, the project wasn't planned that way.

Hillcrest residents needed cash for material and service installations. Labor — the biggest cost factor — they supplied themselves.

It began in November and yesterday with the exception of a few minor finishing touches — was ready for action.

The former church area has been converted to a small auditorium complete with stage. The Sunday school is ideal for dances with its own canteen-kitchen.

"The teenagers expect to be using it more than anyone else," said Mr. Trice.

Among them was police chief Douglas Crosbie who said Hillcrest "is the best section of the city as far as youth problems are concerned."

Mayor Scott commended both teenagers and their parents for energy and resourcefulness.

The work of the Hillcrest residents had created a building which would cost $50,000 to replace, he claimed.

Mayor For A Week Gains Civic Insight

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
Staff Reporter

Not all education goes on in the classroom.

And the best teachers for a specific course may not hold department of education certification.

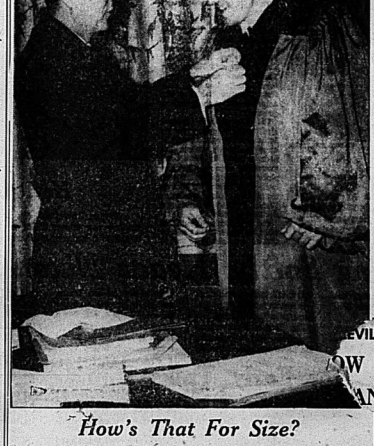
That's the thinking behind a Rotary Club youth committee project — the mayor-for-a week program.

During the next five weeks, an elected student representative from each high school in Belleville will accompany Mayor J. Russell Scott on his civic rounds, "gaining basic education in democracy at work," as the mayor puts it.

First student mayor is Lawrence Dempsey, a grade 12 BCI student. He began his week-long job at 10.30 this morning in the mayor's office at City Hall, with an outline of his duties given by Mayor Scott.

For the remainer of the week Lawrence will accompany the mayor to all council and committee meetings and in all the mayor's social rounds connected with his civic duties. However, the student mayor will be barred from caucus meetings, where personnel problems and finance are discussed.

The Rotary-sponsored program follows the pattern set in other communities, youth committee member George Zezgoor explained.



The Rotary Club distributed nomination forms to the schools and any candidate who can muster five student signatures can stand for election in his school's mayor-for-a-week.

Lawrence Dempsey was chosen from a field of 10 BCI candidates for the honor. Elections were held a week before Christmas holidays.

In order to follow the mayor on his civic rounds during the week, Lawrence has been excused from all except his first two classes in the morning.

"I guess that for this week they figure I'll learn more here at City Hall than I could at school", remarked the student mayor.

The five student mayors, from BCI, Quinte, Centennial, Moira and Nicholson, will relate their experiences later at a Rotary dinner and probably to their fellow students at school assemblies.

How's That For Size?

Mayor J. Russell Scott helps Lawrence Dempsey, BCI's student mayor-for-a-week, into the robe of office at city hall this morning.

Picton Union Report Due Today

PICTON (Staff) — The town of Picton today is supposed to find out just why the International Union of Radio, Electrical and Appliance workers hired an investigator to look into affairs in the community, with special emphasis on those related to the Proctor-Silex - IUE strike.

Expected in town today are both George Hutchens and Glenn Pattinson, the Canadian president and vice-president of the union.

And according to union representative in Picton James Donofrio, the men may be releasing the report filed by the investigator.

"They are supposed to release the report today," said Mr. Donofrio, "but whether they will I can't say for sure."

Mr. Donofrio said there was "not really that much" to the report but he did feel at least parts of it would be released to the press and public later on today.

The union hired a private investigator to look into reports of discrimination against union members and strikers in the community.

Both town officials and private citizens in the community were reported to have cases discriminated against strikers.

IN MEMORIAM

GRANT — In loving memory of a dear mother who passed away Jan. 6, 1963.
Though absent you are very near,
Still loved, still cherished, and very dear.
—Sadly missed by daughters Kay and Mary, son-in-law Jack and family.

JOHNSON — In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Ida Mae Johnson, who passed away Jan. 6th, 1950.
Deep in our hearts lies a picture,
For a loved one laid to rest,
No memory's frame we shall keep.
—Beryl, she was one of the best.

McCOMB, Annie — In loving memory of our dear mother who passed away Jan. 6, 1961.
And while she lies in peaceful rest
Her memory we shall always keep.
—Sadly missed by daughter Ruth and son-in-law Edna and Don.

SAGER — In loving memory of a wonderful husband and father Howard Sager who passed away January 6th, 1967.
Our hearts still ache with sadness,
And tears will never dry,
What it meant to lose you Dear,
Only we who know.
They say time heals all sorrow,
And helps us to forget,
But they do not know the love we have,
How much we miss you yet.
—Wife, son, daughter and family.
And everything goes wrong,
Turn to Him in sorrow, whisper,
Cheer up and carry on.
Then you'll see the picture,
You have painted all wrong,
Don't cry I've only gone before.
—Ever remembered by dad, Joy, Treasure him Lord in your garden of love.
For when on earth he was one of the best.

Contributions by Mayor Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, son John, and daughter Mrs. Ronald Cummings.

Eastern Ontario Communities Vie For Airport Attention

The campaign to woo federal government attention in the biggest development stakes in eastern Ontario history — a new international airport — is now taxiing down the runways of regional public affairs.

In the Quinte district, a brief detailing the benefits of a Lake Ontario super-jet port southwest of Picton will be ready by the end of the week.

Even Premier Robarts has been caught up in the slipstream of public argument as local crusaders mount their campaigns.

Mayor Desmond Newman of Whitby, Saturday was critical of the suggestion by the premier that the new airport should be built west of Metropolitan Toronto.

Mr. Roberts made the suggestion in a Legislative speech Dec. 20.

But, says, Mayor Newman, "the time has come for the provincial government to divert some of the development capital east of Metro."

Failing this, he feared the Whitby-area economy would continue under domination of its biggest employer — General Motors.

In Belleville today, the premier's proposal also was criticized by Donald Joss, prominent businessman and leading Liberal who now is preparing the Lake Ontario presentation.

The new airport should serve both the Toronto and Montreal metropolitan sprawls, emphasized Mr. Joss.

Mr. Joss said he also hoped to have the Quinte-boosting brief ready by the week's end. It is being sponsored by the Prince Edward-Hastings Liberal Association which delegated its most prominent party members as a project pilot group.

Mr. Joss and his fellow Liberals claim an optimum of benefits for their scheme:

Its site linked by road, rail and speedy water craft could service Toronto, Montreal and major U.S. border communities.

The land area proposed already is owned by the federal government — it was once an artillery-rocket range.

Mr. Joss said the group already had acquainted Ottawa party headquarters with their proposal and moves now were under way to set up a meeting on the ministerial level.

Dr. R. T. Potter, MPP Quinte, said the Whitby area — 30 miles east of Toronto — already was a well-developed urban and industrial zone.

"It seems to me too built up," he said.

With his political responsibility focussed in the Belleville-Trenton area, Dr. Potter also mentioned a third alternative site — north of Napanee.

A recent survey by Toronto experts pinpointed the ideal location for an international air terminal serving both Montreal and Toronto.

The experts suggested an area northwest of Napanee between highways 401 and 7, said Dr. Potter.

The proposal had merit — as has the Lake Ontario site, agreed Dr. Potter.

An airport at either location would benefit the Belleville area, he emphasized.

"From our area standpoint it wouldn't matter whether it was in Prince Edward County or north of Napanee. It's going to help us here," said Dr. Potter.

There's Fish - - Somewhere Down There

Somewhere under more than a foot of ice and snow crusting Moira Lake near Madoc there's plenty of fish. Fred Perron, of Halloway, has hopes of snaring his share before the ice season's over. And he has lots of willing help assured from nine-year-old daughter Gisele.

More Snow

Buckle Up Your Overcoat

Forecasts warned of a "swell lot that could unload up to five inches of snow and freezing rain on the region by tonight.

The storm was expected to hit the district early this afternoon as it moved in from the midwest, warned the duty forecaster at Canadian Forces Base Trenton.

Joe fishermen came into their own with the opening of the 1969 trout season and scores of mid fishing huts dotted icebound lakes and rivers.from the Bay of Quinte to the northern townships.

The countryside was intermittently alive with the buzz of snowmobiles — as the sport this year graduates from a novelty to popular pastime.

Zwick's Island lagoon and Bellville harbor were glistening backgrounds for a horde of skaters and impromptu hockey games.

On the Oak Hills and at Batawa skiers thronged the slopes where hard-frozen snow made an ideal crust for the sport.

The weekend was unmarred by serious mishap. Despite a steady volume of traffic on district highways Saturday and Sunday provincial police reported no major accidents.

'I See Ice . . .'

The age-old Canadian sport of ice-fishing demands just as much patience as any summer angling. For the moment, all Fred Perron and daughter Gisele can see on Moira Lake is ice and more ice. Patience pays off however, and they hope to make favorable catch before spring thaw.

Trenton Councillors Optimistic For 1969

TRENTON — Improvement will continue to show in town this year, according to four of seven Trenton council representatives contacted this morning.

And Mayor James MacDonald, while he was more conservative in his statements, agreed in the main with the observations of his councillors.

"From an industrial standpoint, I look for more of the same progress enjoyed last year", said Paul Tripp, chairman of the industrial and economic committee. "A couple of good leads in the talking stage at present may develop into something concrete before long. "Success, however, will depend on whether grants are forthcoming from the Ontario government's industrial subsidy program", he said.

Failure to obtain provincial grants would leave the town no other alternative than to resume an incentive policy which proved beneficial last year.

Industrial chairman Tripp said he had learned that two, and possibly three, local plants planned extensions to their existing premises this year. A lift to the local economy would be expected from more factory space being made available in this way, he said.

Mr. Tripp said he looks for the construction of a new plant to start on land purchased by the Eagle Door Company from Quebec announced earlier.

Councillor E. M. (Ted) Parker looks for taxpayers to find their town better off a year from now due to steady progress throughout 1969.

As a supporter of the proposal to hire Hardys' Services for an administrative review he considers the decision will have an effect on this year's budget. "For example, if the review called for a complete re-assessment of the town, more staff would have to be employed in the town's assessment department, which means an increase in capital expenses."

Councillor Gerald Weaver said he hoped 1969 would bring more physical improvement to the town's commercial area. "I'd also hope council would adopt the suggestion as its biggest challenge over the next few years, as well as taking an active stand against pollution of the waterways within the boundaries of the municipality."

"One of the frustrations for anti - pollution campaigners must be a situation permitted to continue whereby several hundred thousands of gallons of waste material is dumped into the river daily," Mr. Weaver stated. "And the fact authorities are aware of the shocking violation while doing little about it adds insult to injury as far as I'm concerned," he added.

The winter carnival committee, of Tweed, has had a meeting and states "We have nothing to report, other than to say that plans are coming along nicely". Kenneth Little, who is the president of the Tweed Chamber of Commerce, which plans this popular annual event, (it will be on Feb. 8 and 9 this year) is pleased with the shaping-up of everything that is connected with plans so far.

Mr. Stroempl reports that there is a good possibility of members of this group taking part in the Saturday night program at the Community Centre along with other entertainers.

Sunday's program will include the already famous "Pancake Breakfast" and a series of snowmobile races and winter events in keeping with the season.

Hockey games and curling will also be featured during the Carnival, which will open with the usual annual torchlight parade on Friday night.

Fire Damage $20,000

TRENTON — Damage in last Friday's fire in Trenton has been estimated by fire department officials at $20,000.

Trenton fire chief Cecil Elliot said this morning that an investigation team from the Ontario Fire Marshal's office is in town today endeavoring to find the cause of the blaze that gutted the old LaMorre butcher shop on Front St.

Samuel Potts, who bought the building only 18 days before the fire, said the building was insured. He added that he has not made any definite plans on the future of the property. He said the building will probably be torn down before he makes a decision.

GEORGE ALBERT CULBERTSON SR.

DESERONTO — The funeral for George Albert Culbertson, Sr. who died in Toronto on New Year's Day was held from the White and Morris Funeral Chapel on Saturday afternoon.

Rev. F. F. Downing, conducted the service in the chapel and also said the graveside prayers at Christ Church cemetery on the Reserve.

The bearers were Ernest, David and W. J. Fowless, Douglas Green, Peter Smith and Sam Church.

Mr. Culbertson was born in Deseronto, 83 years ago, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jack Culbertson and spent his lifetime in the district. He was a farmer in the area but had been retired for some years.

Mr. Culbertson was a member of Christ Church and served for some years as church warden. Fraternally he was a member of the Orange Lodge, the Order of Foresters and the Woodsmen of the World.

Surviving are his wife, the former Maryann Peling, two daughters Mrs. Levina Saga, Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. Audrey Ileen Hill, Toronto and eight grandchildren.

MRS. VINCENT MAYBEE
Frankford

FRANKFORD — The funeral for Mrs. Violet Mae Maybee, RR 1, Frankford, was held from the Nevee Funeral Home on Dec. 31 with Rev. W. A. Adams conducting the service in the chapel and also the committal rites at Stockdale cemetery.

The bearers were Bob, George and David Maybee, Bob Lane, Bill Chesher and Clinton Cox.

Mrs. Maybee, in her 72nd year, died suddenly in Trenton Memorial Hospital on Dec. 28.

A member of Stockdale United Church, she is survived by two sons, George Maybee, Sault Ste. Marie, and Allan, Frankford.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Fred (Edna) Cleave, Harold, Mrs. Annie Bush, Winnipeg, a half brother, Peter McGowan, Frankford and two half sisters, Mrs. William (Bertha) Easton, Belleville and Mrs. Albert (clara) Blocksidge, Carrying Place.

Thurlow Swears In Reeve, Councillors

The inaugural meeting for the 1969 Thurlow township council was held today with council members being sworn in by Clerk Earl Dafoe.

Only four councillors, Reeve Horace Casey and three council members were on hand for the inaugural. Deputy Reeve Borden Forsythe is recuperating in hospital from the effects of the 7th. Invocation was pronounced by Rev. Abel Parsons of Foxboro United Church.

Clerk Earl Dafoe expected the inaugural to be a routine session with no matters of extreme importance up for decision.

Appointments to the various standing committees and boards were to be made while bylaws to be passed included one for borrowing up to $300,000 to meet township money requirements.

PE Gets 6 Inches Of Snow

PICTON (Staff) — Six inches of soft snow fell on various parts of Prince Edward County over the weekend while most of the Quinte region lay dormant as far as weather was concerned.

Falling primarily on the lakeshore areas, the snow began early Sunday and continued through most of the day.

However, unlike the Christmas weekend, department of highways crews had no trouble this time keeping up with the snow and roads were kept sanded and plowed.

The lack of any movement of air except a breeze or two made the job of keeping roads in good condition a lot simpler, said a spokesman at the highway headquarters in Bloomfield.

Brain Drain In Reverse

In an article in The Rotarian, a U.S. freelance writer, Victor Block, discusses the "brain drain" — the movement of professional people from poorer nations to the richer ones, and in this particular instance to the United States.

Block cites a UNESCO report which states that between 1949 and 1961 more than 40,000 scientists and engineers from overseas went to the United States. In 1964 alone, more than 7,000 were admitted for permanent residence.

Other reports point to a large influx of professional people from Asia and Latin America. Three thousand university-educated Latin Americans are reported to have migrated permanently to the U.S. in the past five years. Argentina and Colombia alone are said to be losing about 1,000 technical workers every year.

The United States traditionally has been the mecca of people from all parts of the world. Hardly a country on earth is not represented. It is this melting pot quality that has contributed so much to U.S. progress. It has also been one of its great weaknesses, for into the melting pot there has gone much that is undesirable. Violence, assassination, domestic upheaval . . . these are some of the more unfortunate by-products of unrestricted immigration.

But to return to the brain drain, the Americans are also finding it desirable to work elsewhere. And Canada is obtaining a considerable number of them.

A survey by The Globe and Mail indicates that Canadian professors soon will be outnumbered by immigrants, primarily from the United States. In 1967 there were about 237,000 undergraduate students and 24,000 post-graduates in Canada. There were nearly 17,000 professors, including about 8,000 immigrants, mostly Americans.

While the employment of such a substantial number of Americans on the staffs of Canadian universities is helping to meet any shortages of trained personnel, it is also giving the curricula a strong American flavor. According to some observers this is alienating students from their own historical background.

With Americans in the driver's seat there is an emphasis on U.S. problems — like the Vietnam war and civil rights. "They even create parallels between the American black and the Quebecois," said one political science teacher.

It is one more reminder of the influence exerted on our society by the United States. We need professional people from other countries, including the U.S., but we need to train more of our own and keep them in Canada. That means making it worth their while financially.

The Brighter Side

As we continue into 1969 there is not much use worrying about 1984 or developing an anxiety complex regarding the next 15 years. After all, there are pleasant days ahead for those who want them. As the philosopher says, it is all in the mind. Life is interesting only in relation to the degree of interest an individual exhibits in the many facets. Ignore people and the world around you, and life can be pretty dull.

Anyway here is some cheerful news for the fair sex. It is from the Margaret Merrill Beauty Service in Dalaash, Florida, and it notes that while blondes may have more fun in the New Year they will have to step aside for the brunettes.

Recent polls apparently indicate that more women are tinting their hair dark brown or black, while fewer are resorting to bleaching. Surveys say dark-haired women make good mothers, capable drivers, are successful in business, have a quick intelligence and are usually good-tempered.

That is the word from Florida, and it sounds pretty good. Nobody is worrying about 1984 down there.

HEART TRANSPLANTS Dentke

A year has passed since the most astonishing medical advance in recent times — the pioneering of heart transplant surgery by Dr. Christiaan Barnard of South Africa.

Other transplants have been performed since in different parts of the world, including Canada, with varying degrees of success. Many of the patients have died. However, Dr. Philip Blalberg, 59, who was Dr. Barnard's second transplant patient, is still alive more than a year after his operation.

More remains to be done in improving surgical technique in this field. The problem of rejection of the organ is one that must be mastered fully. The progress made thus far, however, is notable.

Food For Biafra?

U.S. May Become More Involved in Nigerian Conflict

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — Slowly and reluctantly the U.S. is being forced by public opinion more deeply into the Nigerian civil war.

Public concern is fed by pictures of starving Biafran children and by reports that developed on the official desire to avoid getting mired in a tricky political situation in black Africa.

The struggle between the Nigerian forces and the rebel Biafran regime has failed to go away, as so many other governments had hoped. In American eyes, military aid from France has enabled Biafra to wage a no-win, no-lose war against superior forces, prolonging its resistance while continuing to cam; ign for world sympathy with calculated propaganda use of its starving citizens.

Canadian public sympathy for Biafrans appears to have passed its peak but a determined push here is gaining strength, it appears.

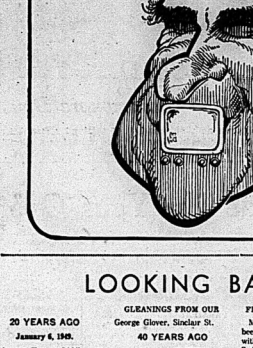
A token of U.S. government reaction to this trend is the decision to "sell" eight giant air carriers to the International Red Cross and a church group, without, however, providing any American crews.

Nigeria has promptly protested this American step.

It has been basic American policy to avoid African entanglements, if possible. The U.S. role in the chaotic Congo still is remembered. The U.S. has given reluctant support to Britain's counter-measures against rebels in Rhodesia.

This is despite strong domestic argument from right - wing groups and even the likes of former state secretary Dean Acheson that Rhodesia has done nothing illegal and should be left alone.

The U.S. in regard to Biafra is well aware too that African states via the Organization of African Unity voted 33 to four to side with Nigeria. Many of them have their own internal threats of secession to watch.



The U.S. is anxious to avoid making new enemies. Arab states in Africa mainly share the view that the U.S. is the prop and stay of Israel and this is a major factor in U.S. economic interests centred on oil.

The U.S. knows too that the Soviet Union has designs on Nigeria and is supplying arms.

Last month, the U.S. state department, nevertheless, began re-examining its Biafran policy because of more public concern.

Private aid from this country has amounted to about $17,000,000. There are signs President-Johnson may channel $20,000,000 or so in food aid to Biafra before he hands over to president-elect Richard Nixon Jan. 20.

Nixon will have to decide just to do if, as expected, Biafran famine worsens steadily and the U.S., as in India, feels compelled to step in with massive supplies.

Welfare Programs: A Reappraisal

Kitchener - Waterloo Record

Among the more sacrosanct aspects of national welfare programs in Canada is the family allowance program, both because it was a sort of pathfinder in the welfare field and because it focuses on one of the more vital areas of human existence.

If family allowance payments are open to reappraisal, all welfare programs will be open to reassessment. And there is mounting evidence that, in these relatively early months of the Trudeau regime, just such a reappraisal is taking place.

The main evidence is a confidential report prepared for the federal department of health taking a cold, factual look at the whole welfare structure but concentrating on family allowances. But a McGill University study published earlier this year makes its contribution to the critical examination.

The McGill study, done by economist Antal Deutsch, details the ways in which the program is not doing what it was primarily intended to do, which was to help low-income families during the critical family-raising years.

The health department study, also convinced that Canada is not getting full value for $500,000,000 in annual disbursements, lists some possible alternatives which concentrate on ways to make the payments more effective in the low-income brackets.

Trying to prove that family allowances are or are not used as intended is an almost impossible task. Though the payments do help low-income families, the extent to which they benefit children specifically is difficult to assess.

The McGill study points to the more identifiable weaknesses. It shows that the program for the most part is taking money from middle-income families in taxes and making payments largely to middle-income families. It notes as well that the program has no specific impact in the more needy parts of the country.

TODAY IN HISTORY

HMS Bramble arrived at Annapolis, Md., 155 years ago today—in 1814—bringing Britain's peace terms for settling the War of 1812. Peace was not signed until Christmas Eve of the same year and even then the Battle of New Orleans was fought before news reached either army. In 1814 the Americans raided the Niagara Peninsula and were turned back at Lundy's Lane and the British attacked south by way of Lake Champlain, where U.S. naval successes wrecked the campaign.

1919 — Theodore Roosevelt died.

1936—U.S. Supreme Court ruled Agricultural Adjustments Act unconstitutional.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1944—the development of a revolutionary new fighter-plane, jet-propulsion and operating at extreme speed, was announced jointly by RAF and United States Army Air Forces; from Russian army turned back at Lundy's Lane and the British attacked south by way of Lake Champlain, where U.S. naval successes wrecked the campaign.

Helicopter Rescue Missions

Boeing Helicopter News

One hundred twenty-five persons were rescued in Canada last year by Canadian airmen flying Boeing helicopters.

The previous year helicopters figured in 124 saves. In addition, 179 mercy flights were carried out as the tandem rotor helicopters logged 800 hours and flew 3,259 sorties. Many flights ranged from transporting seriously ill patients to delivering a fuel pump to a drifting and endangered pleasure boat.

Most of the helicopters' flight time is spent searching for lost civilian aircraft. The combined fleet of Canadian Forces helicopters and fixed wing aircraft accumulated 6400 flight hours in 1968, patrolling more than four million square miles of territory. The versatile helicopters are also used for the actual rescue once the lost party is spotted from the air.

Canada's Department of National Defence has responsibility for co-ordinating and personnel for Search and Rescue (SAR) missions. It divides Canada into four search and rescue areas, each with its own rescue co-ordination centre responsible to a different command for operations. Each centre has its own unit, complete with aircraft, and personnel.

The Communication and Rescue squadrons are designated CH-113, located at Trenton, Ontario (Eastern Region); 440 located at Winnipeg, Manitoba (Western Region); 442 at Comox, B. C., (Pacific Region); and 413 Rescue Squadron at Summerside, Prince Edward Island (Atlantic Region).

CH-113 Labrador began Air Sea rescue operations in 1961. CH-113A Voyageurs, the Canadian Army version of the Boeing 107 helicopter, began operations in 1963. All told, the Boeing-built helicopters in Canadian service have flown more than 60,000 hours.

Frobisher Bay Development

Montreal Gazette

Three contracts have been signed for the construction of a community centre in Frobisher Bay, including a six-storey apartment block. The whole project is the result of one of the newest ideas in such developments, as they can be adapted to Arctic conditions.

This is quite wonderful news, for everyone who looks to the north for the development of Canada's destiny. For some 20 years, there has been a succession of plans for Frobisher, where the U.S. Air Force built a base and attracted some 2,000 residents, Eskimos and outsiders, to form the largest community in the Eastern Arctic.

But each grandiose scheme, a dozen years ago, included a civic centre under a giant plastic dome, to contain the heat, and all kinds of futuristic facilities. Frobisher was to be a model for establishing communities in hostile environments, including the next step on the moon.

At that time, commercial airliners travelling the polar route used Frobisher as a refuelling stopover.

Even jet airliners took over the routes, airliners which do not need refuelling points on route. The dream vanished.

The new plans, though not as fancy as the old, are really quite revolutionary in themselves, considering the geographical site. With them, Canada will move a little closer to the kind of Arctic development which has been accomplished in the Soviet Arctic.

China's Progress With Missiles Causes Anxiety In U.S.

By WILLIAM L. RAN

Associated Press News Analyst

China has set off another nuclear blast, its seventh since October, 1964. This ominous event is bound to undercore a special set of problems for the incoming U.S. president.

The test last week, first in 1½ years, was comparable in strength to the last one, a rup drogen bomb blast. This suggests that China is getting ready for an attempt to thrust itself forcefully into the long-range missile club.

Once again, the deadly equation looms. If China's emergence as a missile power is regarded as a threat to the United States, there is probably going to be pressure for a new missile buildup which in turn can spur the Russians to a significant stepup of their own.

For President-elect Nixon, the shadow of Chinese striking power can bring, also, demands for the opening of channels to Peking, on the theory that it is too dangerous to have such a vast nation, armed with nuclear missiles, isolated from the rest of the world.

The United States already has an enormously powerful missile strike force at its disposal, but that fact is unlikely to deter the insistence in some quarters upon more, with the Chinese prospect as the stimulus for such a drive. Military planners have no doubt that the Russians, too, can deploy a powerful strategic strike force, but that fact is unlikely to inhibit Soviet military men's demands for more, with both China and the United States to point to as justification.

Thus, a China buildup is likely to have a sharply adverse effect on hopes for an East-West meeting of minds which might bring the missile race within the bounds of rationality. China still officially denounces any effort to slow the spread of nuclear weapons as a "gigantic fraud" weapons as a "gigantic fraud" hatched by Russians and Americans to keep their own big power monopoly.

China's nuclear program, once under way, developed with remarkable speed. The first test of an old-fashioned atom bomb was in October, 1964; the second, bigger and more sophisticated, in May, 1965; the third a year later. The fourth, in October 1966, was a relatively big one, a range of up to 600 miles and armed with a punch of 20,000 tons of TNT. The fifth came on Christmas Eve, 1966 and the sixth in June, 1967, a hydrogen bomb.

The program then seemed to bog down. There was evidence of a failure in mid-1968. Then the tumultuous cultural revolution seemed to interfere. There were purges, attacks on scientists for pursuing a "revisionist line" and defence research.

However, the evidence now is that the cultural revolution has been slowed down, if it is not a thing of the past, and that an attempt is being made to restore stability. This would permit scientists to work unhampered, and to go forward in the program again with the speed exhibited in the past.

As they push ahead with their missile program, it is always a possibility that the Chinese will lob a long-range missile into some presumptive area—say the Indian Ocean, to frighten non-Communist Asia, or even in the Pacific, perhaps to demonstrate an ability to reach Hawaii. What impact would that have?

It seems likely that the pressures on the Nixon administration then would become intense from two sides: One to step up America's own missile program; the other for an effort to communicate directly with China—perhaps even to recognize Peking—in an attempt to bring it within talking distance.

Starting Early

This three-year-old is all set for an afternoon's fun on the Oak Hills ski slopes. In eight or ten years she'll be an expert.

Gangway - - Here We Come!

Ski lows at the Oak Hills Ski Club were busy Sunday afternoon as one of the biggest crowds of the season turned out for an afternoon's fun on the slopes. The crowd here is waiting for a turn at the beginners' tow.

Thrill Killings At Carp?

they were riding in separate cars, getting close to Almonte, when another car flagged down the MacDonald auto.

Three young men emerged from the car and, after MacDonald climbed from the driver's seat of his auto, triggered several shots. MacDonald fell.

The Michigan man, following in his car, also pulled over and stepped out of the road. Another crackle of gunfire came from the trio and he crumpled up.

More than a dozen shots were reported fired at the two men.

The wives, stunned, remained huddled in their respective cars. One of the trio smashed in the windshield of the Vallee car, apparently with a rifle butt. The women were not harmed.

All are believed to be in their 20s. The first two were reported armed with cut-down, .22-calibre rifles and the third either with a similar weapon or a shotgun with a sawed-off barrel.

Bullets from .22-calibre rifles were believed to have killed both MacDonald and Vallee.

Head for the Hills

And the past weekend was no exception with ski trails in the Oak Hills and at the Batawa ski slope being well populated.

The biggest crowd of skiing enthusiasts — both tyros, intermediates and experts — was at the Oak Hills ski club where all three tows were seeing popular use.

But it was the beginners' tow and the easy slope of the beginners ski run which were seeing most use. And the number of learners taking instruction indicates that skiing as a winter sport is in no danger of dying out.

Lone Survivor Weds

SAN LUIS, The Philippines (AP) — Corazon Amureo, lone survivor of the 1966 massacre of eight student nurses in Chicago, was married to a childhood friend in Roman Catholic rites Sunday.

The petite, 25 - year - old nurse wed law graduate Alberto Atienza, 22, son of a local businessman.

Miss Amureo, a native of San Luis, identified Richard Speck, 25, as the man who invaded the dormitory where she and seven other nurses at South Chicago Community Hospital lived on July 14, 1966. The seven nurses and an eighth girl, a visitor, were slain as Miss Amureo hid under a bed. Speck was convicted and sentenced to death.

Line of Little Boys' Wear

TORONTO (CP) — Ellen Henderson, who has built up a successful business making little girls' dresses, now hopes to get little boys out of their T-shirts and blue jeans.

For 25 years she has been designing little girls' wear, selling spring and fall collections of about 50 pieces to department stores and specialty shops across North America. Prices range from about $3.50 for a petticoat to $130 for a caftan and jumpsuit ensemble.

She now employs about 20 workers, but says it was only recently she realized "there were all kinds of pretty things available for girls and nothing out-of-the-ordinary for boys."

She recently designed the first line of little boys' clothing, ranging in size from 2 to 6X and priced between $7 and $18. Her designs range from woven-striped Swiss cottons to jewel-tone velveteens decked with metallic gold braid.

SOCIALS

Christmas and New Year's guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kormas, Tresco R.R. 5, were Mr. Prul Trucik of Picture Butte, Alberta; Mr. and Mrs. Andy Stanko and sons Wesley and Douglas and John Megelli, all of Lomond, Alberta.

Slow: Artists At Work

Picasso would be proud. So would van Gogh. The future of art is being left in capable hands and brushes, too. These two young artists, both preschoolers, attend the daily classes at the Belleville Day Nursery, where they participate in a varied program of activities.

And At Ground Level

Climbing, running, jumping. Call them active, creative, and having a ball. At the Belleville Day Nursery, pre-school children benefit from each and every activity in their program day. The most important thing they learn here is, how to play, with two teachers on hand to supervise and spark their creativity.

Hats Are Designed to Go with New Pants Suits

NEW YORK (AP) — From a fashion viewpoint, 1969 may well turn out to be the year of the accessory. And topping off the list of "must" items for every woman's closet will be—what else?—a new hat.

The Millinery Institute of America presented samples from the spring collections of designers like Adolfo, Mr. John and Emme Sunday in the windup of a four-day series of clothes collections sponsored by the New York Couture group. Sunday afternoon began the second of the two spring previews, the American Designer Showing.

Hats were soft and feminine —either in style or fabric, sometimes in both. All the designers stressed the costume look, advocating careful co-ordination among the various pieces of a woman's outfit.

Adolfo showed a white, wide-brimmed felt hat with brim softly turned up on one side, topping a one-piece black jumpsuit and grey coat. Emme matched a turban to the tan and white striped blouse of a three-piece pants suit. And for evening, there was Jack McConnell's visor-like turban of a multicolored print which matched the model's bare-midriff harem outfit.

For the woman who collects "status" items—the Gucci shoe, the signature scarf, the chain belt—there were "status" hats. All had brims and were casually soft. Many, like Yves St. Laurent's fedora, matched a band on the hat to a belt or scarf on the skirt. The St. Laurent featured a gold metal hat band and matching belt.

Opening the American Designer Showing was Arnold Scaasi's collection for Tannel Knits. Ranging in price from $75 to $125, the outfits featured textured weaves giving a bas relief appearance, gently moulded bodices, fitted waists and bias cut sections.

A new idea was vinyl on knits, dramatically shown in a costume including a bright orange vinyl cape, lined in an abstract blue and orange knit and worn over a matching knit dress. Similar prints in different colors and styles were banded with plastic at the neck or hem.

Children Enjoy Activities At Belleville Day Nursery

By LINDA GELDART

It's back to the grind for everyone. Teenagers, preteenagers, in between, and the little ones, too.

After the excitement of the holidays is gone, school takes its place. Even if you are only three years old.

Some of these younger members of the "go generation," attend the Belleville Day Nursery, under the supervision of Mrs. M. Matergio.

The nursery, operates from 7.30 a.m. to 5.30 p.m. daily, the two teachers working on eight hour shifts. The only other staff member is the cook.

Here at the nursery, the children are under constant supervision, and their time, and boundless energy can be harnessed for a variety of constructive activities.

To begin program activities there is usually a period left open for "free play," after which musical games and finger painting occupy the children. Time out for snacks, and a light lunch takes care of the morning.

The afternoon, begins with a short rest period, and continues with free play, a possible rhythm band production with some time left over for some musical games.

These activities form the basis of the daily program. It stays approximately the same, varying with a particular project which the children could happen to be working on, or more or less whatever supervisor, Mrs. M. Matergio feels is necessary.

What about specific requirements for working at the nursery?

She explained that there is no particular academic status demanded, but that the Centre gives preference to applicants with experience in child care, teaching, or preparatory courses. One such course is offered at Mohawk College in Hamilton.

The nursery has been operational for the past two years, and its attendance has averaged between 20 to 25 children.

Supervisor, Mrs. Matergio, has held her position for a year in teaching for many years previously, she is exactly right for her job.

An extremely pleasant softspoken women, she said, "I like my job very, very much."

The fees paid for this service are set according to the individual family's budget. There are, of course maximum and minimum fees, but these are adjusted according to the income level and circumstances.

This situation is ideal for working mothers, who must rely on someone else to take care of their children during the day.

The care provided at the Centre is even more ideal when one considers that the daily activities in which the child engages, follow a regular pattern, so that the child knows what to expect and when.

These pre-schoolers learn through their play, because it is both creative and gives them plenty of opportunities for healthy exercises.

In addition to these benefits, the child learns perhaps the most important lesson of all: how to play .The teachers at the Centre are always close at hand to give guidance, set limits and assist.

By the time he reaches school age, the child is well-prepared for it, and enjoys the challenge.

The Newest Look In Swimsuit Styles

By last year the cover-up, one-piece suit was rapidly gaining in popularity. Cole of California estimates 65 per cent of the market for this year's cruise and resort swimwear will be in "body-suit" styles. Jantzen even has a figure-hugging one-piece that buttons up to the neck and looks like a spaceman's outfit.

Newest look is a two-piecer with a one-piece look. This is the "cage," with the top attached to a sort of wrap-apron skirt that is carve-open at the back, to reveal the brief panties underneath.

Beatrice Pines adds a white collar and a white patent belt to her one-piece navy Helenca suit. Kit Christie includes a stretch terry jumpsuit in violent pink with candy-striped high collar, cuffs and arm-holes. Elisabeth Stewart likes a printed tunic in antron nylon, with a softly rounded white collar and tie.

Gottex of Israel is making a big bid for a slice of the Canadian and United States markets. For spring they are featuring extensive prints by Pucci of Italy, a look of the 1930s in a gangster-striped two-piecer (matching trunks for men) and a harem cover-up in bright blue chiffon with ankle snaps, worn over a braided-effect antron bikini.

But the bare or teasing look in swimwear hasn't disappeared. Cole of California manages a bared effect with open and banded sides in a wet-look nylon one-piecer. Another Californian firm uses transparent plastic in a see-through pattern for the bodice of a black knit maillot.

Cutouts continue to intrigue. Sea Queen has a mini-maillot with its very open midriff bridged by a self belt. Many of the swimwear firms like a halter to provide a completely bare back, to compensate for the modest one-piece front. Eyelets, too, help to keep the bride on vie.

NEW FABRIC

And there's a new swimwear fabric just on the market, called Glaz On. President Andrew Greene of Sea Queen is one of the designers, and at present it is being produced in France on specially built machines. Basically a nylon fibre subjected to three processes, it has the look of eyelet embroidery but has stretch. In fact, the more it stretches over your body, the more the pattern stands out. It is available in both plain and shiny surfaces.

Sleeveless Coats Popular in Showing

NEW YORK (AP) — This spring will be a season for the woman who wants to exercise her feminine fashion prerogative to change her mind.

The ready-to-wear collections presented Friday by the New York Couture Group offered, mildly a variety of compromise clothes—designed for occasions and temperatures when a woman cannot decide just what to wear.

Sleeveless coats topped long-sleeved dresses to be worn on days too cool to go coatless, but too warm for a regular wrap.

Coatdresses, designed to be worn alone without a cover-up, but made to look like a coat, were available with long and short sleeves, single and double-breasted, in fabrics ranging from thin cottons to near-winter-weight wool.

The ever-popular jacket dress for wear from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. brought applause from 200 fashion reporters gathered at a Manhattan hotel for the second day of the four-day showing.

The ultimate compromise, of course, was the pants suit meant to be worn with or without the jacket. Tunics, wrap-around dresses and long shirts topped free-flowing pants, then appeared as mini-skirts.

Originals showed almost every variety of pants available —from a short culotte dress to a tuxedo-like evening suit with a bright silkstripe down the side of the trouser legs.

Among the highlights of the collection—which ranged in price from about $100 to $500—was a fire-engine red jumpsuit topped by a sleeveless jacket of the same color. The one-piece jumpsuit had a high neck, inset collar of white and a loose chain belt.

One Who Knows Mental Illness Wants to Help Others

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: The government and most newspapers complain that nearly 50 percent of hospital beds are occupied by mentally ill people.

Two weeks ago I spoke to a psychiatrist about this. I said that since a child I was very shy and as a result was teased, mocked, chicaned, falsely accused over 35 long years. Finally, nearly insane, I got a book The Power of Thoughts. I got healed.

I know the terrible torture of mental illness and told him I wanted to work in such a hospital or home. I know how to ease the suffering of their lives; I have big love and understanding for these people.

Every unkind word hurts them very much; even more than knocking on an abscess. I asked him where I should go and speak about such work?

A few days later I got a bill "For Professional Services $25." How disappointed I was! I came out a patient but with goodwill and the intention to help these sufferers.

For my goodwill I'm punished. Is that right? — Anonym.

Dear Anonym: I hope you did not pay it. I gather from your name and your way of expressing yourself (which I had to fix up a little) that you are a new comer to Canada. Obviously the psychiatrist did not understand your halting English . . .

Could you take this column to him instead of a cheque?

Your impulse was kind. There are patients in our hospitals who come from your country and might well be grateful for a chance to pour out their hearts, in their native tongue, to someone like you.

* * *

Dear Doris: When this man first asked me my age I said "middle-aged". He told me I looked like 52. I said "I'm 59." But I'm not. I'm 65 and he is 54.

I didn't care as I did not love him, but now I do and he plans to marry me. Dear Doris, please write me a letter to him. — Feel Like Crying

Dear Feel Lik: Dry up those tears and face the music. If his love can't take the truth he's not the one for you.

Say this — but in your own words:

Dear John: When I thought the truth didn't matter too much, I told you I was 50. Now I have come to love you a great deal, and can no longer endure the thought of any falsehood standing between us, even though there is considerable difference in our ages. I am 65.

"I feel very young when I am with you and hope we will have many happy years together. I am told that as a general rule women live greater age than men. Perhaps this means I can stay in good health and we can enjoy each other for a great length of time.

"Please tell me this, will I make no difference in the way you feel about me."

"Freezer Is Expensive Bread Box" Says Bakery Council of Canada

Nobody wins in the bulk purchases of bread at retail grocers and supermarkets, according to the Bakery Council of Canada.

First, by buying up five or six loaves, the householder is storing inexpensive bread in freezer space that costs money to operate. It occupies space that would normally be reserved for more-extensive and less bulky meat cuts, frozen vegetables and fruits and other household items. Bulk products, such as bread cost more to freeze and keep frozen.

The retailer is a loser, too, when he sells bread below cost at "six loaves for $1" or whatever the enticement because he is contributing to the decline in the number of shopping trips the customer makes to his store each week.

In support of its first contention, the Bakery Council points out that in the Nov.-Dec. issue of "Canadian Consumer," the official publication of the Consumers' Association of Canada, it is stated that it costs over 12c per pound of food to operate a freezer each year, but indicates that rate goes lighter "if you have a freezer full of bulky items like bread — a freezer is a very expensive bread box."

Associated with the second condition is the irrespressible urge by some shoppers for "impulse" buying — that is, going out to the store with something or somethings she had no intention of buying when she walked in. And that means a symptom of music at the cash register as far as the retailer is concerned.

While some retailers regard distress selling of products a means to entice customers into their stores, they may not be gaining as much as they are losing, the Bakery Council argues.

"They do get 'impulse' buying through 'loss leader' enticements," states W. D. Harrison, president of the Bakery Council, "but we believe many retail grocers now realize they are losing business through this mass selling medium.

"It stands to reason that if a housewife buys her week's supply of bread once every week, she is cutting down on her trips to the grocer — and undoubtedly cutting down on her additional purchases."

Besides, Mr. Harrison adds pointedly, in the final analysis there is no such thing as a "loss leader."

"Any 'bargain' price a retailer may apply to any product, bread or anything else, must be made up somewhere else in the store. It is purely a lure to get the customer inside the door, but she (or he) isn't saving anything in the long run. In fact, as far as bread ist concerned, the customer is losing because there is nothing more attractive on the dinner table than freshly-baked and purchased bread. A frozen and thawed loaf of bread doesn't taste the same."

Basic Oatmeal Mixture Adds Variety

By MARY MOORE

This Basic Oatmeal Mix with four variations was given here in November of 1965. Because it is economical, efficient and popular with knowing busy mothers I have decided that our advanced cooking students should give it a good try so today I will give you the Basic Oatmeal Mix and two recipes using it. Tomorrow I will give you two more variations so be sure to clip this and slip it into your file marked "Mixes".

BASIC ROLLED OATS MIX
(highly recommended)

(NOTE: Referred to in future as B.R.O.M.)

3 cups skim milk powder
4 cups stirred but not sifted all-purpose flour
4 cups rolled oats, quick-cooking type
¼ cup baking powder
1 tablespoon salt
1½ cups shortening — type that does not require refrigeration

In a very large mixing bowl (I used my large clean dish pan) mix together the five dry ingredients. Cut in the shortening with two knives until size of small peas. (A pastry blender is too squat to cut through to the bottom of this bulky mix.) Take out three cups to make Oatmeal Fruit Muffins (below) and store remainder in covered large canister or strong plastic bag at room temperature for future use.

OATMEAL FRUIT MUFFINS (12 large)

3 cups B.R.O.M.
½ cup sugar
½ cup chopped dates
½ cup chopped nuts (optional)
1 egg
¾ cup milk

Add sugar, dates and nuts (if used) to B.R.O.M. in mixing bowl and combine. Drop in unbeaten egg, add milk and beat until just mixed. Butter your 12-cup muffin pan and spoon in batter equally. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 15 to 20 minutes, being sure pan is on centre shelf of oven. (Note: Skim milk powder has natural milk sugar in it — lactose — which tends to cause products containing it to brown quickly.)

OATMEAL FRUIT DROP COOKIES (3 doz.)

2½ cups B.R.O.M
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup raisins
½ cup coconut Wesiicated or flaked
1 egg
½ cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix together well first 5 ingredients and vanilla and mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls on buttered baking sheet 2" apart. Bake at 375 deg. F. 12 to 15 minutes on centre rack of oven. Watch these to be sure they do not brown too quickly.

(See tomorrow — Tuesday — for two more variations of B.R.O.M.: Bishop's Bread and Fruit Batter Pudding.)

Ridiculous Daydreams Haunt Happy Wife

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been married 12 years to a wonderful man and we have a beautiful family. I know I must be crazy or I wouldn't be writing to you. I am hoping you'll print my letter and the pure disgust of reading it in the paper will cure me once and for all.

ANN LANDERS

These past few months I've been having these wild daydreams about a former love whom I have not seen in 10 years. He was a handsome heel, a heavy drinker, an inveterate liar, and I have congratulated myself a dozen times for having had the good sense not to marry him.

These ridiculous daydreams started to haunt me about three months ago when I heard "our song" on the radio. I began to relive the delicious moments we shared. All those dead passions, long forgotten, began to stir anew. Now I can't get the rotter out of my mind.

Please tell me how to rid myself of this ghost from the past? — NUTTY JOYCE.

DEAR NUTTY: When you feel a daydream coming on, substitute in its place a real life episode, — one of those beauts that made you decide not to marry the louse. Remember that a mental rerun of a romantic fantasy can be twice as good as the real thing. And keep this column handy, as a reminder that your sane self wrote for help.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The other evening three couples (including my husband and me) were leaving a restaurant. One of the men was wearing a bulky tweed jacket. He seemed to be having a difficult time getting his arm through the sleeve of his coat. I was standing beside him and the sensible thing to do, I thought, was to help him. So I did.

The man's wife gave me such a dirty look I felt my face get red. Later that evening I asked my husband (in private, of course) if I had done the wrong thing. He said, "Yes, a woman should never help a man with his coat unless she is a servant."

I am still unconvinced. Is he right? — VA. FROM PA.

DEAR VA.: Manners are nothing more than common sense and consideration for others. You used common sense when you helped your friend with his coat, and in my book, your manners are fine.

Mohawk Indians At Cornwall Test Customs Act...And Lose

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — Mohawk Indians tested the strength of the Jay Treaty of 1794 again Sunday but came out losers.

The Indians, led by Kahn-Tire-to Horn, a fiery model from the Caughnawaga reserve near Montreal, tried to bring goods duty-free from the United States across the Seaway International Bridge to Ontario.

They claim that under the treaty they are exempted from duty payments. However, the Supreme Court of Canada, in 1956, said payment of custom duties applies to all Canadians.

Miss Horn, wearing moccasins and a buckskin jacket, walked across the bridge with peace pipe, head dress and bag of groceries, all bought in the United States.

Canadian customs officials said she would have to pay the duty or take the goods back to the United States.

John Bishop, Canadian collector of customs at the bridge, said in an interview Sunday night:

"She said she wouldn't pay and brushed by one of our men. We called the RCMP and then she took the goods back to the United States."

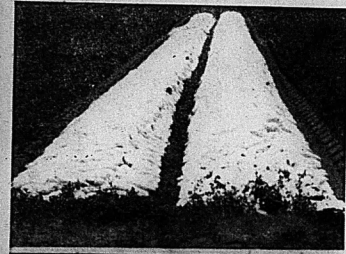
Mr. Bishop said there were other incidents Sunday.

Peter Burns of the St. Regis Reserve returned with a bag of groceries which included bananas, eggs, milk and sugar.

Traveling across the bridge in his pickup truck, he stopped and loaded the groceries on a sleigh. His four-year-old son pulled the sleigh up to the customs' office.

It could not be immediately learned whether his groceries were abandoned at customs or seized because of failure to pay duty.

Mr. Bishop said in another incident an Indian paid the duty required.



On Dec. 18, 350 Indians from the St. Regis reserve, New York State, and Quebec blockaded traffic on the bridge protesting the duties.

Police arrested 45 and charged them with obstructing traffic. Three juveniles were released and 42 appeared in court Dec. 20. All of them, including Miss Horn who was also charged with carrying a concealed weapon, were remanded without plea until Jan. 27.

After a meeting in Hogansburg, N.Y., near the U.S. border, Miss Horn said the Indians will be sending a delegation to Ottawa to arrange a meeting with members of the federal cabinet. No date was given.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the U.S. customs said the U.S. has had no trouble with the Indians, adding that "U.S. laws are more liberal" than Canada's.

He said the U.S. Immigration Service recognizes the Jay Treaty drafted between Great Britain and the United States and named after John Jay, a chief justice of the United States.

Seminar On European Affairs Becomes Tame Confrontation

HULL, Que. (CP)—The academics got together with the professional policy-makers during the weekend for a discussion of Canada's relations with Europe.

The occasion might perhaps have provided the scenario for a slam-bang battle of wits over the shape of Canada's involvement in an area of the world vital to its interests.

However, conference sources indicated it was generally a tame affair, with the frequently vocal academic community scarcely showing its fangs and the policy-makers escaping extensive criticism.

The occasion was a three-day seminar, which ended Sunday, bringing together 11 European affairs experts from Canadian universities and 15 senior government officials, mostly from the external affairs department.

The seminar, tied to Canada's current foreign policy review, was sponsored by the Canadian Institute of International Affairs. The two co-chairmen were Paul Painchaud, Quebec director of the CIIA, and Gordon Hawkins, executive director.

Mr. Hawkins, speaking to reporters after the closed sessions finished, said the seminar was "not in any sense a confrontation." There was not much criticism of the external affairs department. "It was not a matter of the department being up for attack or defence."

The department itself did not loom large in the discussions, Mr. Hawkins said. The issue was Canadian relations with Europe.

Mr. Hawkins said there was a good discussion of Canada's defence relations with Europe. "There was a general feeling this was pretty productive."

The seminar's principal accomplishment, in his view, was that it generated a sentiment in favor of similar bull sessions between government people and other segments of Canadian society.

Some delegates were disappointed that the seminar did not deal more with Communist east Europe. Mr. Hawkins conceded that the Soviet bloc "did not bulk very large" in the discussion.

One reason for this probably was the absence of Robert Ford, Canada's ambassador in Moscow and co-chairman of a task force studying Canadian relations with Europe generally. Mr. Ford was detained in Moscow and could not come to the seminar.

None of the views expressed at the discussions was made public. However, one participant, Roy Matthews, director of the Private Planning Association of Canada, has just written an article for the American journal, Foreign Affairs, on some of the questions under discussion.

Mr. Matthews predicts that there will be a "degree of disengagement" by Canada from military alliances. While the desire not to contribute to a centrifugal trend in NATO at a critical time would keep Canada committed to European defence perhaps into the 70s, "I would doubt very much whether Canadian forces will remain in the European theatre over a longer period."

He also predicts in the article that operation of the North American Air Defence system between Canada and the U.S. will be "completely reorganized."

Harte Family Involved

Troops Crush Guyana's Rebel Ranchers

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (Reuters) — Rebel ranchers and their native Indian cowboys are reported fleeing toward the Brazilian border, pursued by troops sent in to crush an uprising in Guyana's southern hinterland.

Police reports Sunday night told of sporadic fighting during the day in the troubled Rupununi region, which the ranchers with alleged help from Venezuela—wanted to turn into an independent republic.

Venezuela has denied the charge.

Police said troops broke the back of the revolt during the weekend in fierce fighting at two outposts and at the big Pirara ranch of the Harte fam ily — one of two big ranching families alleged to have led the uprising.

They said all outposts seized in the four-day revolt were recaptured and the hunt for the remaining rebels was on in the cattle lands which stretch across the interior of Guyana to the Brazilian order.

The Pirara ranch and other rebel strongholds were destroyed, police claimed.

No details of fresh casualties in the fighting were available. But a native Indian politician, Abel Dorick, was shot and killed during the revolt to 10 — side his home near Lethem, administrative capital of the Rupununi region.

Dorick was a candidate for Prime Minister Forbes Burnham's governing party during Dec. 16 elections. His death brought the known number killed during the revolt in seven police, a Brazilian and an unnamed civilian.

Venezuela, which claims 53,000 square miles of Guyana, has denied allegations by Burnham that it aided the rebels—numbering about 300—and supplied them with arms.

Reports from Manaus, Brazil, said the commander of the 2,000-man Brazilian border patrol force in the area was on a reconnaissance trip to the Guyana-Brazil border region.

Chamberlain's Bid For Peace Defended By Douglas Home

LONDON (AP) — Neville Chamberlain, Britain's pre-war prime minister, signed the 1938 Munich agreement with Hitler because "he thought that a price had to be paid for peace," former prime minister Sir Alec Douglas Home said Sunday.

"In a democracy, I think you have to go to the edge and almost beyond the edge to carry your people into a war," Home said on a BBC radio program.

Home was Conservative prime minister in 1964 when Labor was elected to power. He resigned the leadership of the party in 1965.

In September, 1938, he accompanied Chamberlain to Munich to negotiate the agreement which led to the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

Home told interviewer Roy Trevivian that the "smear" directed at Chamberlain for his part in the Munich deal had occasionally touched him too.

The former prime minister said he remembered Hitler as a "thoroughly horrible person, and so did Mr. Chamberlain."

Northern Ireland Faces Riot Action To Quell Violent Religious Warfare

LONDONDERRY (AP) — "We are sick of marchers and counermarchers," said Northern Ireland's premier, Capt. Terence O'Neill, as he threatened Sunday night to use riot police to quell the religious warfare raging in his territory.

O'Neill called a meeting of his cabinet today. There were indications it would consider a ban on all political parades and demonstrations.

"Unless these warring minorities rapidly return to their senses," O'Neill said, "we will have to consider a further reinforcement of the regular police. ... We most also have an urgent look at the Public Order Act itself to see whether we ought to ask Parliament for further powers to control these elements which are seeking to hold the entire community to ransom."

O'Neill's warning came after a weekend of riots between Roman Catholic civil rights demonstrators and militant Protestants. More than 200 persons, including 22 policemen, have been injured. The Catholics contend that they are discriminated against in housing, jobs and voting rights.

Londonderry's 5,000 Roman Catholics sealed off the square-mile Bogside district in which they live. Behind barricades of rubble and wrecked vehicles, Catholics armed with staves and iron bars formed a private police force to patrol against any invasion.

"Keep out," the vigilantes warned the police. "We will guard our district ourselves."

Earlier Sunday, a crowd of 2,000 massed in Bogside to protest against a squad of steel-helmeted police who they said swept through a street in that district early Sunday and smashed all first-floor windows.

Leaders of the Londonderry Citizens' Action Committee, set up last year to press the Catholic civil rights campaign, persuaded the crowd to send a delegation of 15 men marching in the police barracks at the head of a silent column of 1,000 women.

Home Minister William Long promised the group "an active and immediate investigation" of the incident.

The weekend riots, the worst in a series that began last October, disrupted an unofficial truce between the government and the committee, which had decided to await promised reforms in housing, elections and other segments of Catholic life.

The riots followed the arrival in town Saturday of 200 marchers from Queen's University in Belfast, who identify themselves "the people's democracy."

The students had marched 72 miles from Belfast and over the last six miles they ran a gauntlet of militant rock-throwing Protestants who see the civil rights campaign as a threat to their dominance in Northern Ireland and the section's union with Britain.

O'Neill called the march "a foolhardy and irresponsible undertaking" and said: "Some of the marchers and those who supported them in Londonderry itself have shown themselves to be mere hooligans ready to attack police and others. And in various places, people have attempted to take the law into their own hands in efforts to impede the march."

He also told a television interviewer he could see no end to religious strife in an area where Catholics and Protestants have been at each other's throats for centuries.

O'Neill also said the prospects of united Ireland under one government seemed remote. The six counties of the predominately Protestant North are part of the United Kingdom but their own Parliament in Belfast controls domestic affairs. The 26 counties of the mainly Roman Catholic South are an independent republic.

O'Neill, who has actively tried to improve relations across the Irish border, said that he could foresee an association between the two governments, perhaps in a federal system covering all the British Isles.

Split With Hawks

Lemaire's Pair Boosts Habs to Top

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Pride and a couple of quick goals by centre Jacques Lemaire helped Montreal Canadiens return to first place in the Eastern Division of the National Hockey League Sunday night.

Lemaire scored twice within 78 seconds to help the Canadiens defeat Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 and move one point ahead of the runner-up Boston Bruins.

The victory came a day after the Black Hawks had trounced the Canadiens 6-3 at Montreal, and in front of a national television audience in the United States.

Losing at home and in front of such an immense audience must have stirred up the Canadiens, the defending Stanley Cup champions and a team with a proud history.

Ted Harris scored Montreal's first goal in front of 16,000 Chicago fans Sunday night at 3:28 of the opening period. Then Lemaire, a 22-goal scorer in his rookie season last year, went to

He scored his 14th goal of the season at 9:20 with both teams playing a man short and added his 15th at 10:38 on a pass from Mickey Redmond.

In other games Sunday, Detroit Red Wings shaded Pittsburgh Penguins 2-1, New York Rangers whipped Minnesota North Stars 5-1, Philadelphia Flyers and Toronto Maple Leafs fought to a 2-2 stalemate and Los Angeles Kings and Oakland Seals played a scoreless tie.

Saturday night, Toronto and Boston played to a 2-2 tie, St. Louis Blues upset Detroit 3-1 and Philadelphia and Pittsburgh skated to a 1-1 tie.

Dick Duff scored the other Montreal goal Sunday night while Stan Mikita and Eric Nesterenko connected for the Black Hawks, who have only two losses in their last 11 games.

Harris of Montreal and Bill Orban of Chicago received a minor and major each for a high-sticking duel and slugging match early in the first period.

Rod Gilbert and Ron Stewart scored two goals each to help the Rangers down Minnesota Sunday. Reg Fleming collected the other New York goal and Milan Marcetta tallied for Minnesota.

A crowd of 17,250 at New York was on hand for the five Ranger goals, the most in one game for the team since a 7-3 victory against Pittsburgh last Oct. 30.

The win left the Rangers two points behind Toronto and Chicago, which are tied for third in the Eastern Division.

Gordie Howe scored his 18th goal of the season early in the final period to give Detroit its triumph Sunday night before 10,972 fans at Detroit.

It was the 111th winning goal in Howe's 23-season NHL career and came when he took a pass from Alex Delvecchio, faked Phil Mahovlich and fired a low wrist shot past Pittsburgh goalie Les Binkley.

Philadelphia took a 2-0 lead early in the second period, but Toronto fought back and earned the tie on Henderson's goal at 15:28 of the second period.

Forbes Kennedy of Philadelphia was given a major penalty for high-sticking and drawing blood at 15:14 of the final period, and the Maple Leafs had a man advantage from that point until the end of the game. Flyer goalie Bernie Parent made spectacular saves on Henderson and Norm Ullman to preserve the tie.

Hull Still Sets Pace

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks collected two goals and two assists during weekend play to increase his lead in National Hockey League scoring.

The four points, coming in two games against Montreal Canadiens, brought Hull's total for the season to 56 on 27 goals and 29 assists.

Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings, picking up a goal and assist in weekend action, is second with 32 points on 18 goals and 34 assists.

Oaks Become Known as Poor Hosts

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Oakville Oaks, who less than a month ago were scrambling to stay out of the eight-team Ontario Hockey Association Senior series cellar have earned a reputation as poor hosts.

Sunday, before 1,550 fans, the largest crowd of the season at Oakville, the Oaks dumped second-place Galt Hornets for their 10th straight home ice victory.

The win advanced Oaks to within one point of fourth place Collingwood Kings and dropped the Hornets six points behind league-leading Barrie Flyers.

The Flyers, who have played four more games than Galt, gained ground by belting third place Orillia Terriers 5-2 in Orillia. In Galt Saturday, the Hornets nipped Collingwood 5-3, Kingston Aces thumped seventh-place Belleville Mohawks 8-0 at Kingston in the other Saturday game.

At Oakville, the home club scored five third period goals to erase a 4-3 Galt lead. Marcel Labelle scored two for the Oaks, including the winner at 7:43 of the final period. Pete Bettiol also scored twice for Oakville with single goals added by Terry Cook, Jack Price, Charlie Cipolla and Bob Pole.

John Beechey led the Hornets with two goals; Fern Belanger, Ron Herzott and defenceman Rio Caron added the other scores.

goal and two assists. Dave Lacoste, Mike Dubeau, Wayne Weller and Bob Forhan all scored once for Barrie. George Westfall and Grant Moore replied for the Terriers before a crowd of 1,210.

At Galt, before 1,904 fans, Bill Healy scored two goals and an assist for the Hornets against Collingwood. Bob Ertel, Vance Millar and Pete Brennan scored the other Galt goals. Defenceman Howie Forbes, Clare Alexander and Joe Hamley all scored once for the Kings.

Rod Graham had a big night in front of 1,132 home fans, for Kingston Aces, collecting four goals and an assist against Belleville. John Mercer added two goals with single scores by Rick Black and Ed Long.

The sixth-place Aces now have a record of 10 wins, two losses and one tie on home ice.

Swedes Have Field Day In International Tourneys

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Swedish hockey teams Sunday clinched victories in the Star and Ahearne Cup tournaments despite a valiant effort by Canada's Eastern National team.

Brynaes, the hockey champions of Sweden, defeated the nationals 3-2 in a hard fought game in Gaevle, northern Sweden, to take the Star Cup. The teams had been tied in points prior to the game.

In Goteborg, Bjurgaarden of Stockholm defeated Sparta of Czechoslovakia 5-1 to clinch the Ahearne tournament. There is one round left today, but the Stockholm team cannot be overtaken.

Canada's Ahearne Cup representatives, the Victoriaville, Que., Tigers, dropped a 4-2 decision to Soedertaelje of Sweden.

The Eastern Nationals appeared to have their match—and the tournament—wrapped up when they held the initiative for two periods and led 2-0. Rod Zaine scored the first after three minutes and Terry Caffery the second in the 26th minute.

But Brynaes pulled one back in the second minute of the final period through Steven Carlsson and Canadian goalkeeper Dave Clelland—previously unflappable—began to look shaky.

The Swedes applied the pressure and five minutes later rangy centre forward Tord Lundstroem scored the equalizer.

Goteborg Vaestra Froelunda took second place in the Star Cup by trouncing Gottwaldov of Czechoslovakia. The Eastern Nationals were placed third.

In the Ahearn Cup contest the Victoriaville Tigers led Soedertaelje 2-0 after two periods through goals by Richard Charron and Michele Labrosse but finally went down 4-2.

Vikings Get Fifth Win Outclassing Lakehead Side

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Sweden Vikings used superior skating and passing Sunday to dispose of Lakehead University 7-2 in an exhibition hockey game before 1,600 fans.

The university team was in the game for about the first ten minutes and got the first goal.

But from then on the Swedes took control and never relinquished it as they took period leads of 2-1 and 5-2.

The win gives Sweden a record so far of five wins and two losses in exhibition action. The losses were against Canada's national teams located in Ottawa and Winnipeg.

The Swedes now move to Halifax for their next-to-last exhibition game Tuesday night.

Swede's No. 2 national team got two goals each from Kent Persson and Bengt-Goren Carlsson in the heavy-hitting contest, with Hans Carlsson, Anders Nordin and Kjell-Rune Milton adding single goals.

Lakehead goals were scored by Bill Webb and Jerry Akerval. Gord Bishop, who turned aside 29 shots in goal was a standout. Two of the goals he allowed were on power plays.

Krista Abrahamson went the distance for Sweden and had only 18 shots to handle.

Speedy Takes Three

RICHMOND HILL, Ont. (CP) — Peter Williamson of Toronto, a member of Canada's 1968 Winter Olympics speedskating team, won three events Sunday to take the Ontario closed Olympic-style men's speedskating title.

Williamson, formerly of Winnipeg, edged out his Toronto Grenadier clubmate Peter Duck in the weekend outdoor competition. Richmond hill is 15 miles north of Toronto.

The champion turned in winning times of 44.4 seconds over 500 metres, 2:22.5 for 1,500 metres and 8:54.5 in the 5,000 metre race.

Another Grenadier club member, Mary Jane Duck, won the women's senior title, ahead of Kitchener Sertoma's Rosemary Wiese.

A Relative Rookie

Yes, at 55, Belleville's Jim Begley is a comparatively recent — if talented — newcomer — to five-pin bowling. Jim rolled a 220 season's average in his first year on the lanes at age 46, and has sported a 250-plus mark ever since. He currently is averaging 253 in Major "A" and Quinte Classic play. To top things off, Jim sports the highest (179) average in his 10-pin mixed league!

Blues Win Replay

MONTREAL (CP) — University of Toronto Blues spotted Loyola College Warriors a 2-1 lead Sunday and then scored four straight goals for a 5-2 win and their third straight Loyola College centennial hockey tournament.

The championship game was a rematch of last year's final, in which the Blues also came from behind for a 4-3 victory over the host team.

Brian St. John and Ward Passi scored two goals each for the Blues, who also received a tally from John Wright. Danny McCann and Mike Thomassin were the Warriors' goal-getters.

The Blues sustained an early setback when starting goaltender Adrian Watson was injured in a collision with Loyola's Chris Hayes. Tom Little replaced Watson in the Blues' nets and was beaten for both Loyola goals.

Mo-Hawk Playoff Drive Given Rough Jolt in Kingston

By MAURICE SWITZER
Sports Editor

KINGSTON — The Kingston Aces went out of their way here Saturday night to convince Belleville Mo-Hawks that senior hockey outings between the two clubs really do constitute a "homer" series.

A super-hustling Kingston squad tickled the best part of 1,200 spectators in handing the Mo-Hawks an 8-0 pasting. Belleville's worst season set back since an October 10-0 drubbing at the hands of the league-leading Barrie Flyers.

Their win was the fourth in as many games for the Aces against the Mo-Hawks in Kingston. Meanwhile the Aces have lost on each of the four occasions this season they have visited Belleville.

Saturday's two points gave Kingston a five-point lodge over the Mo-Hawks in the battle for the eight-team senior loop's sixth and final playoff spot, with 13 games remaining in the schedule for each club.

A 6-1 win over the Aces in Belleville a week ago, and Friday night's 2-1 home win over Oakville had given the Mo-Hawks within three points of the Aces to set the stage for a hard-fought battle Saturday night.

But the long bus haul to Collingwood Friday night and an 8-6 loss to the Kings didn't take as much starch of the Aces' speedy attack as the Mo-Hawks might have expected.

It took until only 3.22 of the opening period for Rod Graham to pounce on a bad Mo-Hawk clearing pass, skate in and deke Larry Holmes out of the Belleville net for his first of four goals on the night.

But for the Mo-Hawks, things were to get progressively worse.

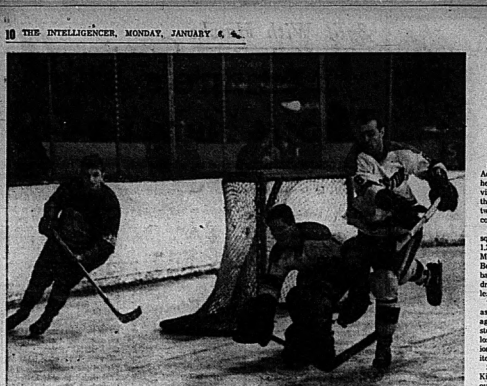
And at 18.07, yet another clearing lapse by the Mo-Hawks left Rod Graham all alone 20 feet in front of Holmes to fire his second goal home Sixteen seconds later, Graham made it a hat trick when he banged a rebound through Holmes' skates for a 4-0 Aces margin.

One of the assists on Graham's third goal went to Bob Rawson, last year's leading Kingston point-getter who was making his first appearance in an Aces uniform this year after being laid off with back trouble.

Hard-rock defenceman Bob Olajos also made his return to the Aces Saturday after a season-long holdout.



The Mo-Hawks couldn't mount any sustained scoring threats and continued to let the Aces carry the play, with goals by Ed Lecg and Graham's fourth tally making it 6-0 for the hometowners going into the third period.

The only thing to break the monotony of the Kingston goal spree came near the 12-minute mark of the second period, when the Aces' fiery Bob Brown and hefty Mo-Hawk winger Al Ferguson staged a slugfest to follow up a first period stick-swinging duel.

Ferguson landed the most punches, but emerged with a bloody nose and a forehead cut where Brown butted him with his head.

Next opportunity for the Mo-Hawks to take another run at a playoff berth comes Saturday night when they travel to Galt.

NO TIME TO WASTE — Kingston Aces' defenceman Bob Olajos almost knocks over goalie Neil Perry in his rush to beat the Belleville Mo-Hawks' George Godson to the puck in an OHA Senior A game in Kingston Saturday night. The Aces beat the Mo-Hawks to the puck most of the night, trouncing the visitors 8-0 for their fourth home-ice win of the season against the Belleville seniors.

Cowboys' Playoff Bowl Triumph May Mark Finale for NFL Runners-Up

MIAMI (AP) — Dallas Cowboys beat Minnesota Vikings 17-13 Sunday in what could be the last National Football League playoff bowl game as it is now constituted—at least in Miami.

The contract between the NFL and the Orange Bowl ended with Sunday's dull game before 22,961 rain-drenched fans. Bowl officials apparently feel the game between second place finishers in the NFL's two conferences lacks interest for fans and players. They are believed to be proposing they be permitted a choice of teams from the NFL and the American Football League, exclusive of the Super Bowl participants.

The NFL has two more years on a television contract for the game, and could decide to continue it at another site—New Orleans is believed interested—rather than change the format. The game has produced more than $1,000,000 in nine years for the players' pension fund.

As presently constituted, the game has nothing at stake, except the $1,200 share per player on the winning team and $500 for losing players. Dallas coach Tom Landry said last week that this is a fun-work week and teams don't give the game the 24-hour concentration needed for a up performance.

"They looked and acted entirely different than they did at halftime against Cleveland. In view of the great disappointment of not making the championship game, the overall effort was exceptional good."

Landry had high praise for quarterback Don Meredith. He rallied the Cowboys from a 13-0 first quarter deficit to 13-10 at halftime. Meredith completed 15 of 24 passes for 243 yards and one touchdown and was voted outstanding player of the game.

Trailing 13-0, Meredith fired a 51-yard touchdown pass to Bob Hayes. Mike Clark kicked the extra point and it was 13-7. Then, he led the Cowboys to the Minnesota four-yard line, where Clark booted a field goal with 55 seconds remaining to make it 13-10 at halftime.

Landry sent Craig Morton in at quarterback for the second half and he hit Craig Baynham again for the 20-yard winning touchdown.

Even O. J. Bogged Down in Hula Bowl

HONOLULU (AP) — The scoreboard at the end of the 23rd Hula Bowl football game might well have read: North 13, O. J. Simpson 7, mud about 42.

The annual college all-star game, which this year assembled perhaps the greatest collection of college seniors ever gathered, was played Saturday on a field turned into a tropical swamp by two days of record-breaking rain.

Both offenses bogged down in the gumbo.

The North turned a fumble recovery on the South 20 and a pass interception on the South 30 into its two touchdowns. Notre Dame's Coley O'Brien, operating at quarterback, made up much of the remaining yardage on keeper plays.

Bill Enyart of Oregon State scored both North touchdowns and won the award as outstanding back.

Bill Enyart of Oregon State scored both North touchdowns and won the award as outstanding back.

O. J. Simpson was practically the entire South attack, carrying 21 times for 96 yards and setting a Hula Bowl record with an 88-yard touchdown return of the kickoff that followed the North's second touchdown.

Morrisons Stave Off Cougars

STAFF — Persistence paid off for Belleville's Morrison junior B's Sunday afternoon, but not for the visiting Cobourg Cougars.

The Morrisons had waited since their Nov. 17, 4-3 home upset of the Oshawa Crushmen for a win until yesterday's 5-4 verdict over their Cobourg visitors.

Still in the six - team loop's basement with nine points, the Morrisons are far from out of the playoff picture, with only nine points separating them and third - place Trenton Golden Hawks.

Cobourg and Kingston's Frontenacs are tied for fourth with 14 points.

Sunday's win for the Morrisons came on Ron Fuller's unassisted marker with only 22 seconds gone in the final period. The locals moved the puck into the Cobourg zone off the opening faceoff, and Fuller's persistence around the Cougar net paid off when he banged the go - ahead goal home with Cobourg a man short.

The Cougars came back with three unanswered goals by Smith, Massey and Hart between the seven - minute mark and 9.51 of the third-frame, but Fuller's goal stood up for a Belleville win.

Cobourg opened the scoring at 9.31 of the second period with Dave Peers' goal.

This set the stage for a five-goal string by the Morrisons: Ted Waite evened the score at 1-1 with 42 seconds remaining in the first; bantam Danny Lupentelle gave the Morrisons a 2-1 edge at 6.12 of the middle frame and Ted Waite completed a hat trick at 6.32 and 17.24 of the second before Fuller's early third-period winner.

Despite the narrow margin of victory, the Morrisons outshot Cobourg 46-26.

Barriage Girls Drump Napanee

Belleville women's hockey teams split scheduled weekend games, with Mel Barriage girls dumping Napanee Royals 7-1 and Legion Branch 99 ladies on the short end of a 10-1 score in their game against the South Shore Rockettes.

Marg Reid paced the Barriage girls with four goals. Susan Morton contributed a pair, and Judy Rappel added a single counter.

ALL TWISTED UP with no place to go high school wrestlers Al McLeskie (top), Moira Secondary, and Jim Skelly, Peterborough Collegiate, struggle to break deadlock at Saturday's high school championship contests at BCI. Referee is Ted Pordham, former outstanding Moira grappler, now doing his mat-work at the University of Guelph. (Results in Tuesday's Intelligencer.)

Minor Hockey Scoreboard

STAFF — From the littlest to the biggest, it was a banner weekend for Belleville's minor hockey ranks.

The Western Tire Juveniles went on a Sunday night scoring spree trouncing Gananoque 16-2.

Lou Smrke's boys got goal contributions from Mallory, Mitchell, Beecher, and Hopkins in the first period, McLaughlin, Hill, Beecher, Sharpe and another pair by Hopkins in the middle frame, and third-period markers by McLaughlin (2), Hopkins' fourth of the game, Wilson, Steer, and Mitchell.

Love replied with both Gananoque goals.

On the other end of the minor hockey scale, Belleville's Food City novices were busy handing Trenton a 10-1 trouncing, paced by Meagher's three-goal effort. Lupenette and Hutchison contributed a pair of goals each, with singles notched by Coates, Crawford and Whalen.

In peewee ranks, Belleville's Smith Fuels all stars got a win and tie out of a pair of games, with goalie Ricky Hutchinson blanking Kingston 5-0 Sunday night, and the Fuels stalemating East York 3-3 Friday.

The only blot on the record came Sunday night, when the Belleville Kinsmen bantams suffered a rare defeat, a 4-2 loss at the hands of Kingston City all-stars.

Lupenette and Foster scored for the Kinsmen.

Picton Gets Win

PICTON — The local Intermediate B hockey team handed Campbellford a 4-1 setback here Sunday night.

Murray Hunter, Gwynn Jacklin, G. Haennel, and L. Pero scored for the winners, with R. Smith's second-period marker accounting for all the Campbellford scoring.

Picton drew three of five minor penalties called.

North Bay Miss Cuts Neat Figure

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP) — Betsy McLean of North Bay moved to first place here Saturday to win the junior ladies' event at the Northern Ontario figure skating championships.

Miss McLean totalled 295.2 points while Marjorie Metevier of Sault Ste. Marie, the compulsory figures leader, placed second with 287.

Betty Jo Bowes of North Bay was third.

In the junior men's free-skating, Glen Laframboise, of North Bay, moved from second to Ontario first spot. Other club mate Tommy Harrison, 2921 to 2884.5. Ray Delisreade, of Fort William, finished third.

Following the initial compulsory figures in the senior ladies' event, Margaret MacCormack of North Bay retained her lead over Peggy Shannon of Sault Ste. Marie. Miss MacCormack totalled 925.70 while Miss Shannon collected 914.65. In third place, was Port Arthur's Faith Elsey.

While no marks were given in the ladies' combination event and ladies' open pair, the team of Michelle Boucher of North Bay and Sharon Dillon of Sturgeon Bay, placed first over Faith and Lark Elsey of Port Arthur.

In the ladies' open pairs, Jo Ann and Judy Lund of Fort William took honors from Faith and Lark Elsey.

In ladies' open, Peggy Shannon placed first, Betsy McLean was second and Shelly McLeod of Fort William third was third.

A total of 41 competitors took part in the 38 events in the championships, which began Friday.

Winners in other events were:

Novice ladies: Katherine Campbell, Fort William 146.85; Laurie Nealin, Fort William 147.30; Debbie McLeod, Timmins-Porcupine 141.70.

Top couple in the juvenile men's division was Sanford Jones Jr. of Fort William, with 94.55 points.

St. Kitts' Version of Ichabod Crane Generates More Junior Excitement Than Hull

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — He wears his uniform like Ichabod Crane, skates like a cat on a slippery floor, leans toward timidity and scores goals by the hatfull.

His name is Bob Sheehan, 19, and he plays for St. Catharines Black Hawks of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series. He scored 26 goals in his first 26 games of the season while prone, off balance or with his back to the net.

He's one of the few U.S.-born players in Canadian hockey and no one, not even Bobby Hull, ever generated the same excitement during the 26-year history of the Hawks.

The Black Hawks have produced an impressive list of stars and super stars during the last quarter century, including Hull, Stan Mikita, Roger Crozier, Pierre Pilote and Doug Favell.

All are scattered through the National Hockey League, but none ever excited the St. Catharines fans quite the way Sheehan does.

Sheehan grew up in Boston, played his first hockey with Weymouth high school and moved to Halifax two years ago to play with the Junior Canadiens, who played only exhibition games because they had no league.

Fred Muller, president of the Black Hawks, spotted Sheehan during one of his club's exhibition games in Halifax. Muller wanted the American-born player immediately, but was unable to pry him loose until this season.

Every time Sheehan steps on the ice, the crowd cheers although he doesn't appear to do anything well.

He doesn't set up plays like Mikita, hasn't got the powerful skating ability of Pilote or the arena-shaking shot of Hull. Sheehan runs on his skates, is always off balance, rarely passes and may be knocked down several times during his heading length-of-the-ice rushes.

His brown hair is tousled, his sweater and pants appear four sizes large and he rarely fights for the puck in the corners. He looks like a pond player, who discovered long ago that you have to go around or jump over the stumps.

Ed Chadwick, former goaltender with Toronto Maple Leafs and Buffalo Bisons, now a scout with Pittsburgh Penguins, has already phoned him under close surveillance.

Chadwick was on hand a few weeks ago when Sheehan scored four goals in the Black Hawks' 8-4 victory over Kitchener Rangers. Two of Sheehan's goals came while he was flat on the ice, another while he was precariously balanced on one skate and the fourth with his back to the net.

"That Sheehan is just too much," Chadwick remarked. "This is the fifth time I've seen him play and I still don't believe he's true."

The big question is whether the acrobatic gyrations will gain him an NHL contract when he graduates from junior hockey next spring.

But wherever he plays, Sheehan will sell tickets. He has already proven it in St. Catharines where attendance figures indicate that all previous records will be broken at Garden City Arena.

The best year to date was 1948-49 when 79,797 fans watched 23 games. This season the average attendance in the 3,080-seat arena is close to 3,300 and will approach the 85,000 mark for the season at the current rate.

Reds Stop Runaway

Only Providence Halted Bears

By THE CANADIA NPRESS

Hershey Bears are not going to run away with first place in the Eastern Division of the American Hockey League, if Providence Reds have any say in the matter.

The Reds scored three final-period goals Sunday to nip the Bears 5-3 and move within four points of first-place Hershey.

Player-coach Dave Creighton, Don McKenney and Jean-Pierre Mallette scored third-period goals for the Reds, who had trailed 3-1 late in the second period.

Buffalo Bisons, on the other hand, extended their lead in the Western Division to 14 points Sunday by edging Springfield Kings 3-2.

In other games Sunday, Baltimore Clippers took Cleveland Barons 6-4 and Quebec Aces defeated Rochester Americans 5-3.

Saturday, Rochester took Cleveland 6-4, hershey downed Quebec 3-1 and Springfield topped Providence 7-3.

Scoring for Buffalo Sunday were Dennis Hextall, Roger Picard and Dennis Kanalon. Ken Turlik and Gary Croteau replied for Springfield.

Quebec strengthened its hold on third place in the Western Division with its victory Sunday against fourth-place Rochester. The Aces now lead the Americans by four points.

Picking up Quebec tallies were Paul Gates, Claude Laforge, Roger Pelletier, Bob Taylor and Serge Bernier. Rochester scorers were Les Duff, player-coach Dick Gamble and Jim McKenny.

Baltimore scored four times in the third period Sunday against Cleveland as the Clippers recorded only their second victory on the road this season.

Sandy McGregor, Willie Marshall and Ed MacQueen scored two goals each for Baltimore. Cleveland goals went to Reynald Comeau, Howie Glover, Wayne Schultz and Richard Sentes.

Gaining goals Saturday for Hershey were Bob Leiter, Don Marcotte and Gilbert. Lou Morrison scored for Quebec.

Billy Inglis scored three goals and assisted on three others to lead Springfield to victory. Lou Well MacDonald scored two goals for the Kings while single goals went to Marc Dufour and Jim Croteau. Providence goals were credited to Eddie Kachur, Tony Goegan, Adain Keller, Ted Macks and Gagne.

Tom McCarthy scored two goals for Rochester Saturday as the Americans broke Cleveland's eight-game unbeaten streak at home. Ron Ward, Barry Watson, Andre Champagne and McKenny also scored for Rochester. Cleveland goals went to Mike McMahon, with two, Coe Hoekstra and Garry Monahan.

Marlies Deflate Flyers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Niagara Falls Flyers, elated by a 6-4 win over first-place St. Catharines' Black Hawks last Thursday, were deflated Sunday as the Toronto Marlboros rapped them 7-2 Sunday in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game.

"That's junior hockey, "shrugged Flyer coach Paul Emms. "One game they just can't do a thing wrong and next time they can't do a thing right."

The Marlboros, however, couldn't have picked a better day for a strong game. Tim Horton was their first on home ice after seven straight losses and they were playing before 4,560 home fans.

In Montreal, the Junior Canadiens continued to draw outstanding crowds as 10,349 fans watched them dump London Knights 5-1 in a game that saw 29 minor penalties, two majors, a double major and three misconducts.

In St. Catharines, Kitchener Rangers found some scoring punch but they were still six goals short as the Black Hawks hit the double figures for the fifth time this season with a 10-4 victory.

In the only other game Sunday, Ottawa 67's scored two goals late in the third period to defeat Oshawa Generals 5-5 before 2,383 fans in Oshawa.

League action resumes Tuesday when the Flyers are at London.

Doug Acomb and John French paced Toronto with two goals each. Acomb's raised his league-leading total to 37, 15 more than he tallied during league play last season.

Other Marlboro scorers were Rick Jordan, Glen Siddall and Gord Davies.

Montreal continued its hot streak as they now are in fourth place, nine points behind first-place St. Catharines. The Canadiens, however, have seven games in hand on the Hawks.

Montreal led throughout the game against London as Guy Charron connected for two goals and Richard Martin, Jocelyn Guevremont and Rejean Houle added one each. Guy Delparte scored London's only goal on a powerplay in the third period.

With 51 seconds left in the game, London's Bert Wilson and Montreal's Rejean Houle clashed and Houle received a major penalty as he was helped off the ice. Wilson was assessed a double major and an automatic misconduct.

A free-for-all followed which delayed the game 16 minutes.

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Patch Pride, driven by Tom Merriman, won the featured $5,000 Invitational mile pace at Windsor Raceway Saturday night in a time of 2:05 2-5.

Owned by Robert C. Kalish of Southfield, Mich., Patch Pride edged out Bold Ruler Pick and Zip Tar.

Kid Bandit, in the first race, and Knight Direct, in the second, combined for a $53.70 daily double payoff.

Rene Alexr and Ace Admiral finished 1-2 in the fifth to produce a $18.60 quinella. In the seventh-race quinella, Winsocki Wick and Tweedy Time returned $38.

A crowd of 6,502 wagered $459,246.

Hull, Fergy Meet Again

MONTREAL (CP) — Two old friends met again Saturday in the Montreal Forum and this time it was a standoff.

Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks and John Ferguson of Montreal Canadiens, who combined for a Pier 6 brawl Dec. 27, clashed again and both received fighting majors.

Hull, who had to retire from the Dec. 27 fight for repairs met Ferguson this time wearing a specially constructed helmet and face guard to protect a fractured jaw.

He lost the protector in Saturday's battle, but apparently emerged none the worse for wear after the second-period clash. Ferguson received an abrasion along his left ear.

"I know he had an injured jaw," said Claude Provost, Montreal winger, "but as far as I'm concerned, if a man is out there on the ice he's fit to play. There's no quarter in this league."

And play Hull did. He scored two goals—his 26th and 27th of the season—to lead the Hawks to a 6-3 victory in a National Hockey League game that was televised nationally in the United States.

It was a rough 1969 debut for Gump Worsley, who returned to the Montreal nets after a six-week layoff, but coach Claude Ruel had not blame Worsley for the loss.

"Worsley did his best. Nature can't wait a time to gain his form after such a long layoff.

"It's not just the fault of one or two men that we're losing, the whole team has gone flat. They are playing, not shooting and not doing many things."

NERO PLAYED THE BAGPIPES?

Although we think of the bagpipes as being a Scottish instrument, it was very popular in ancient India and the Roman Emperor Nero had one, too. Made of a leather bag and reed pipes, the bagpipe was a popular folk and military instrument in Scotland and Ireland.

Whether you wish to sell a good set of bagpipes or any other no longer needed musical instruments at your house, rely on the fast-acting Intelligencer Ad to do it for you! Call 962-9171 for information.

To Your Good Health

Little Can Be Done in Heart Attack

By Dr. George C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My query is about the heart, having been caught twice without quick medical aid when my wife had a coronary attack. What do you do in such an emergency until help can be obtained — H. E. M.

Generally speaking, it is more important to know what not to do than what to do. There is little you can do except keep the patient quiet and lying down.

Let me distinguish here between a coronary thrombosis, which so often comes with little or no immediate warning, and an attack of angina pectoris, or chest pain.

Patients who are subject to recurrent and severe attacks of angina pectoris (not a "heart attack" in the sense of a coronary thrombosis) should have narcotic medication on hand, in case of an attack. This is available in tablet form and can be given by mouth to ease the pain until medical attention is available.

Or, in the more usual attacks of angina, a nitroglycerin tablet under the tongue will usually afford sufficient relief.

A coronary thrombosis is a heart attack in which the blood supply to part of the heart muscle is suddenly interrupted by a clot or embolism, is another and more acutely dangerous matter.

The patient is in severe pain and suffering also from the anxiety naturally associated with a heart attack. Ordinary sedatives, tranquilizers and alcohol are not sufficient to begin to cope with the patient's distress, and it is worse than useless to try to force them on the patient.

Rather, get the patient lying down and as comfortable as possible. Loosen tight collars to ease breathing. Keep the patient quiet, and tell that you will have help for him as soon as possible. If he is cold, cover him with a blanket. But that's all you can reasonably attempt.

It is useless and fatal to call a doctor to the patient rather than trying to move the patient to a hospital yourself. First, the doctor can quickly ease the pain and along with it much of the patient's anxiety.

He can also better judge what special precautions, if any, are necessary for moving the patient.

The essential fact is that you can't do very much yourself. Do what little I have indicated, and be satisfied with that. Trying to do anything further is more likely to harm than to help the patient.

Yes, I realize that is a frightening time for you as well as the patient, but what's fussing over the patient or trying to think of something else to do for him may give you something to do, it won't help him.

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 13 and wanted to try tampons but have heard all these stories, mostly from older women, that they were very dangerous could stop the flow, or interfere with birth when you get older. It just doesn't make sense that 30 million women use them but I've never heard anything medically about the danger — K. C.

There is no truth in the stories you have heard. The only explanation I can see for these yarns is that tampons were not in use when some of your older women were young. You can be certain that the information would be made public at once, because end any such consequences.

* * *

Note to Mrs. R.T.: Some folks have a normal temperature a degree or so below the usual 98.6 F., and nothing to be alarmed about. Some also have a naturally lower-than-average blood pressure. Within limits, that's a good rather than bad thing.

* * *

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Fifty People Killed

Afghan Jet Strikes House at London

GATWICK, England (CP) — The pilot of the Afghan jet airliner that crashed south of London early Sunday killing 50 persons, may have misunderstood the visibility report from the airport, investigators said today.

Capt. Rahim Nawroz, 38, of Afghanistan decided to make a landing run despite a warning from Gatwick Airport that visibility on the runway was down to 100 metres, or 328 feet.

Although the Boeing 727, owned by Ariana Airlines was being guided by the airport's instrument landing system, the decision to land was up to the captain, George Kelley, board of trade inspector, said the minimum acceptance visibility for a Boeing 727 to land was about 400 metres.

The investigators also said the plane should have been 300 feet up at the point where it crashed into a farm house two miles from the runway.

When the pilot called Gatwick for a weather report about 2:30 a.m. Sunday, no aircraft had landed there for 10 hours because of thick fog.

The board of trade said that after being told that the visibility was down to the 100 metres in freezing fog, "the pilot elected to make an approach, indicating that if he oversshot he would divert to another airport."

The pilot survived.

One of the victims was a Chicago co-ed, 18-year-old Karen Mir, whose father is a Pan American Airways employee on assignment with Ariana Afghan Airlines in Kabul.

Miss Mix was returning to Chicago after spending Christmas with her family in Kabul.

Also killed were William and Anne Jones, who lived in a country house that was destroyed as the airliner plowed into it and exploded.

Their 15-months-old daughter Beverley survived.

Sixteen of the 54 passengers and eight crew members on the plane were also taken alive from the wreckage, which was strewn more than 200 yards. But two later died and a third was in critical condition.

Many of the passengers were Indians and Pakistanis returning to Britain after vacationing at home.

Muskie May Seek Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Edmund S. Muskie says he wants to explore his prospects for a presidential try in 1972, and does not discount the possibility of a contest against Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

The Maine Democrat said Sunday he would take advantage of what he called the opportunity opened by his Democratic vice-presidential campaign to take soundings through speaking appearances throughout the country.

"At least I want to explore it," he said. "I don't know whether I want to run for president. I really don't at this point. But I enjoyed the national campaign."

He was interviewed on ABC's Issues and Answers.

Asked if he agreed he and fellow Democrat Kennedy are rivals for the leadership and potential rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972, Muskie replied:

"I would hope there would be a place for each of us in the party leadership if we each have the capacity for it. As to whether or not that would lead to a rivalry in 1972, I think you have got to wait until that comes."

Muskie, who supported Kennedy's election to the No. 2 Senate Democratic leadership post last week, also was asked if Kennedy's victory might hurt Muskie's prospects for 1972.

"Well, it may or may not," he said. "I think it has enhanced Senator Kennedy's political position and I am for that. I think it is good for the country and good for the party if we can develop effective leadership and he is obviously leadership material."

Muskie said he passed up his own Senate leadership ambitions to take presidential soundings through the national exposure route. He said no man could do both.

Muskie indicated he may run again, the national appearances for two or three years before deciding whether to try for the presidency.

Soviet Diplomat Wounded

BANGKOK, Thailand (Reuters) — Soviet diplomat Vladimir Trepolets, 39, was shot and wounded Thursday night by a bullet from a .38-calibre revolver, Lt.-Gen. Chamras Muthkanard, deputy director-general of police, said today.

Chamras told a news conference he did not think there was any political motive. Ballistic examination showed the bullet was deflected and not aimed directly at Trepolets.

Trepolets was wounded in the right shoulder while he was playing dominoes inside the high-walled Soviet embassy. He was reported to be in satisfactory condition.

Trepolets arrived in Bangkok two months ago as administrative officer of the embassy.

Movie Column

Robt. Redford to Film Movie on Skiers' Life

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Robert Redford proposed a movie about skiing, he was told by a film executive:

"Two hours of all that snow? It'll never sell. The audience would get too cold."

As Hollywood has learned, Redford is a strong-willed actor, and he wouldn't be dismissed. He starts production in Switzerland this week on Downhill, which he says will be the first authentic view of the skiing life.

Redford told about the inception of the project:

"I've always wanted to make a picture about the life of a professional athlete. I don't think there ever has been one that really depicted the mean, hard life that most athletes must lead. The Hustler came close, but then, pool isn't really very athletic, is it?

"I was an athlete myself, and I saw what went on. Like when a football coach is under pressure from the alumni to have a fourth winning season after he's already had three. And he produces--or else."

The actor naturally turned to skiing for a film subject. He owns a home in the ski country of Utah, recently bought a ski lodge in Colorado, and spends as much of his non-working, non-sleeping time as possible on skis. He turned down an offer to star in Ski Bum because "it wasn't about skiing." Instead he decided to develop his own story.

But in trying to sell his project to Paramount, he ran into snowblocks, such as the one from the bigwig who worried about frigid audiences. Redford persisted. But then he fell out with Paramount by walking out on Western Blue. He claimed he gave the studio plenty of notice; Paramount claimed he didn't and filed suit for a few hundred thousand.

"Blue turned out to be one of the larger bombs of 1968, and Redford figures that was the turning point for him. His judgment was vindicated, and corporation head Charles Bludhorn sent for him.

"Why make all these pictures about the poor economy of England or problems in Czechoslovakia?" the actor argued. "Why not make some pictures about what's going on in America? That's what audiences want to see."

Redford's pitch succeeded, and Bludhorn gave him the go-ahead on Downhill--for a price. The price was $1,000,000, which is pretty small change for a major movie nowadays.

"We had to pinch pennies," said Redford. "I couldn't send a big camera crew over to the Olympics at Grenoble. I got a half-dozen of my friends together--ski gurus and photographers -- told them the situation and they agreed to help me out."

Redford and his band spent two weeks dodging gendarmes and Olympic officials while they unofficially photographed the action on the French Alps. He himself posed as a reporter and one of his photographers, Dick Fairbanks, wore a fake nose as a disguise. They came home with the footage Redford needed.

TV Column

Charm Is Too Elusive To Carry Series on TV

NEW YORK (AP) Charm is an elusive quality that practically defies commercial packaging. Therein lies NBC's big problem with its new series, My Friend Tony.

The program, which had its premiere Sunday night, started off as a routine crime detection series and precious short on detection at that designed to showcase the appeal of a young Italian actor, Enzo Cerusico.

Cerusico is indeed a charming young man with a nice smile, a gentle manner and an interesting accent, but that is hardly enough on which to construct a weekly action series.

James Whitmore plays a professor of criminology with a flair for criminology with a young partner the charming Cerusico--who together take on outside jobs. In the show they were having trouble with the police commissioner, willing to do anything to eliminate a syndicate boss.

The story moved lightly into the romance department there was a pretty, blonde around and included a bit of gunslinging and even a body in a car trunk. It wound up with the police commissioner in the final scene revealing himself to be an insane fanatic, a pretty tired device.

Through it all Tony, our hero, never lost his cool, that winning smile or his apologetic way with the English language.

Whitmore, an excellent actor, has the thankless role of the senior, the man with the scientific mind and the one whose practical attitudes are designed to contrast sharply with the intuitive and emotional operations of Tony.

The new series has been placed in one of NBC's weaker positions, and, if I'm first show is a sample of things to come, probably won't make much of a dent in the competition.

Sirhan Goes on Trial Tuesday For Murder of Robert Kennedy

LOS ANGELES (AP) The trial of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, the young Jordanian charged with murdering Senator Robert F. Kennedy, opens Tuesday in a small courtroom reinforced with steel plates over its windows.

"We don't want another Dallas," sheriff's deputies have said of precautions taken for the trial. They referred to the slaying by Jack Ruby of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Sirhan, 24, apprehended while Kennedy lay mortally wounded in the kitchen of the Ambassador Hotel on June 5, has waited trial in an isolated cell on the 13th floor of the grey stone Hall of Justice.

Presentation of evidence by both sides is expected to take two months or longer. It is expected that more than 200 witnesses will be called.

Although Sirhan has pleaded not guilty, the defence is expected to seek a verdict which might find Sirhan guilty but which would not warrant the death penalty.

Although 114 reporters have been given credentials to cover the trial, there will be space in the courtroom for only 37. The others will observe by closed-circuit television in a room four floors below.

Defending the slight, swarthy Sirhan will be three lawyers: Russell E. Parson, 69, who had tried nearly .000 criminal cases; Grant B. Cooper, 65, former president of the Los Angeles County Bar Association and Emile Zola Berman, 63, New York City.

On the bench will be Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker, 69, who decreed the death penalty for Caryl Chessman, convicted sex criminal who died in the gas chamber in 1960 after a 13-year legal battle.

Erhard For Bigger Euromart

LONDON (AP) — Ludwig Erhard, former West German chancellor, has called for a stronger and larger European Common Market. He lashed out at French efforts to establish political control over Western Europe.

Erhard also said one of the most urgent tasks facing NATO is to reconsider the alliance's refresh with a view to its internal consolidation."

The former chancellor, succeeded in 1966 by Kurt Georg Kiesinger, wrote his views in the monthly review of Lloyds Bank, published Sunday.

Without mentioning French President Charles de Gaulle by name, Erhard attacked de Gaulle's concept of a Europe stretching from the Atlantic Ocean to the Ural Mountains. He said the widening gap between the peoples of non-Communist Europe must be bridged before links can be forged with Eastern Europe.

Erhard said the concept of Europe as a third force standing between the United States and the Soviet Union must be abandoned.

"We are, by conviction and mentality, a part of the free Atlantic world."

Eleventh-month School Impossible

TORONTO (CP) — Deputy Education Minister Dr. J. R. McCarthy said Sunday that compulsory schooling for 11 months of the year would not be feasible.

Instead of a longer school year, he suggested in an interview that an optional summer school program for extra credits could be introduced for students.

British Spy Hero of Red Film

MOSCOW (Reuters) Spy Gordon Lonsdale, once jailed in Britain for a 21-year term, is the hero of a new Russian film which gives an unprecedented glimpse into Soviet intelligence.

The film, The Dead Season, takes place in an unidentified Western country, clearly intended as the West, and in the Moscow headquarters of the committee of state security, which also directs espionage work.

Playing to packed houses, the movie is introduced by Rudolf Abel, a Soviet agent captured in the United States and exchanged for American airman Gary Powers, whose U-2 reconnaissance plane was shot down on a mission over Russia.

The hero in Konstantin Ladeinikov, an experienced Soviet agent who uses the name of Lonsdale and runs a company selling juke boxes as a cover. Lonsdale, exchanged in 1964 for British agent Greville Wynne, used an identical cover.

Lonsdale's activity was directed mainly against the underwater warfare research station at Portland, on the southern English coast. His spy ring were an American couple, Peter and Helen Kroger, and two British traitors. Al but Lonsdale still are serving sentences.

When Lonsdale was tried for spying, British intelligence maintained he was Konon Trofimovitch Molody, a Russian who had been sent from Moscow to spy out military secrets.

In His Own Story, published in 1965 in a series of copyright articles that ran in The People, a British Sunday newspaper, Lonsdale claimed he was born March 27, 1924, in Ryazan, Russia, of a half-Scottish, half-Indian father and a mother of Finnish origin. He said his family moved from Canada to Poland in the 1930s.

Pay by Loyalty To Mao's Ideas

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Teachers in rural areas of China in future will be paid according to their allegiance to Chairman Mao, Radio Peking said today.

The radio, quoting an article in the official People's Daily, said a teacher would be paid on a grade scale similar to a labourer, plus a government subsidy according to assessment by the peasants of his allegiance to Mao's thoughts.

Litany on a Blue Monday

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Litany on a Blue Monday:

Poverty grinds you down; prosperity puffs you up.

Failure makes you sullen; success makes you smug.

The best you get is a choice of evils, and the odds are always 7 to 5 against.

Parents die, mates wither, children drift away.

The race is not to the swift nor the battle to the strong — but they make as well bet.

Conservatives want to keep what is rotten, and radicals want to change to something worse.

Democracy is the last best hope of man, but man seems unworthy of his last best hope.

The air reeks, the water stinks, the food is stuffed with preservatives — only the aspirins we incessantly take are guaranteed pure.

The while man dislikes the black, who has done all his hard work for him; the black dislikes the Jew, who has done all his batting for him; the Jew dislikes the Arab, who is his only cousin on Earth; the Arab dislikes the American, who has poured billions into his land; the American dislikes the Frenchman, who has always been his ally; and the Frenchman dislikes everybody.

We work too hard but we also goof off too much at the same time; we get up too early, go to bed too late, have more leisure and know less what to do with it than ever before.

The children have all the answers before they have heard most of the questions; and the parents keep asking questions to which the answers have been erased on a rapidly receding blackboard.

The quality of goods is as fickle as the quality of service; products with a shrug, and service with a smirk — and if you don't like it, shove it, go somewhere else, see the manager, write a letter, take it up with your Congressman. I only work here, a buck is a buck, business is business, that's the way the ball of wax bounces, Buster.

Rents are high, taxes are high, prices are high, wages are high — but the wages don't meet the prices and the prices don't meet the taxes and the taxes eat up the rent and the rent eats up the wages and here we go round the mulberry bush once more.

Honesty pays in daily salvation, but dishonesty pays quarterly dividends as well.

The church makes us devout but not decent; the school makes us literate, but not educated; the government makes us docile, but not dedicated; the media of communication think us everything but what we need to know to lead a better life.

Jean Dixon's Horoscope

For January 7

Your birthday today: The coming year will bring you the reputation of being a "live-upper" especially in summer and fall. People born on this date simply are not a definable group. Each individual follows his own very personal path. Every known influence is represented among these "something else" people.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Romantic ventures run into squally weather. Put your main efforts elsewhere. Money amounts wings easily today. Investigate new contacts promptly. Improve health care.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): In the course of today's work an idea of great interest may crop up. Extend your patience to ear the promotion. Varying moods of the people you care about.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Creative projects are strongly favored; you may have to give up something else every now and then don't dawdle. Your outside interests distract you from home affairs if you let them.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Today you are the target for an emotional pitch. Watch your purse and small belongings wherever you go. Take nothing for granted about your appointments, particularly those involving people you love.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): There's little truth in today's gossip; forget it. Check all arrangements even if they surprises are likely. Allow friends the luxury of an irritable mood for the moment; do not snarl back.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): New ideas, possibly financial activities, go well. Set some savings aside. Your progress seems easier, your persuasive powers greater later in the day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Many contrary factors are at work. Use safety rules for avoiding hazards and fire. Postpone major home-fixing chores and clean-ups. The evening is much lighter, entertainment goes well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): You imagine all sorts of dire events, none of which is apt to come to pass. Avoid arbitrary questions, especially personal ones. You learn much more by letting people express themselves spontaneously. Be patient and prepared to cancel social events.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Force no issues. Careless words about money tempt others to try to take advantage. Snap decisions can be faulty. People you have counted on may be sensitive to your moods now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): The way you have organized your affairs comes under pressure. Early, confusing conditions give way to better understanding according to how you project your basic competence and talents. Personal relationships require tact.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Personal plans, original projects, writings are all strongly favored. Finances become confused and entangled in dealing with women and loved ones. Avoid an outright "no" if possible.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): You are probably feeling a bit lazy about everything. Rouse yourself to at least show interest in the plans the world looks for it most: your job, family, young people.

Weak Hose Can Be Costly

By RAY STAPLEY

While driving on the highway recently, clouds of steam started pouring from the car ahead of me. I offered assistance and it turned out that a heater hose had ruptured and the coolant had drained away. While the car was only three years old, all the hoses were mushy and ready to fail. I drove the dejected owner ten miles to the nearest garage and I imagine the cost of replacing the antifreeze and defective hoses, plus towing charges, would have proven to be a bit steep. Also, severe overheating can crack the head or block, which can run into hundreds of dollars.

I could not make even a rough guess as to how many engines have been ruined due to failure of neglected heater or radiator hoses. Many engines are equipped with a "bypass" hose that runs between the engine and waterpump. Often this little hose is overlooked but it too can rapidly drain the system should it fail.

Most cars are fitted with brackets to support the heater hoses and it is important that the hoses be routed through these supports. Otherwise, the hoses will flex at the point where they are attached to the water outlets and gradually tear apart.

Where there are no brackets long lengths of heater hose should be supported in some manner to prevent undue flexing. When subjected to the pressure built up within the cooling system, hoses constantly flex and the coolant pumped through them and they must be capable of withstanding this pressure without rupturing. Worn or mushy hoses can swell up like a balloon and burst.

Hoses should first be examined when the engine is hot and the cooling system's under pressure. This pressure makes it easier to check for possible external cracks and ballooning of the hoses. The system should then be depressurized and the hoses squeezed between the fingers and if soft and mushy they should be replaced. Deterioration usually starts internally and gradually works through to the outside. I have seen hoses so badly worn internally that they swelled up enough to block circulation of the coolant.

Preventive maintenance is far cheaper in the long run than paying the additional costs of road service and replacement. Antifreeze should a hose fail on the highway.

Largest Commonwealth Parley to Cover Multitude of Widely Varied Topics

By REUTERS

British Prime Minister Wilson will preside over the largest-ever Commonwealth summit conference beginning Tuesday in London.

The conference, the first since September, 1966, will represent some 700,000,000 people in 28 countries spread over about 10,000,000 square miles. It will end Jan. 15.

The presidents and prime ministers from Africa, Asia, the Pacific, the Mediterranean and North and South America will review current international political, economic, trading and monetary developments with special emphasis on East-West relations and the world's trouble spots.

Wilson, as host, will welcome five new Commonwealth countries to the conference. These are Barbados, Botswana, Lesotho, Mauritius and Swaziland —all of which achieved their independence from Britain since the last conference.

Four heads of government—President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan, President Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, Maj.-Gen. Yakubu Gowon of Nigeria, and Gen. J. A. Ankrah, head of the National Liberation Council of Ghana—are not coming because of home commitments. But they are sending top ministerial delegations.

The Rhodesia independence deadlock will be a key topic and is expected to generate the most heat at the conference.

Wilson will report to his colleagues on the hitherto abortive British efforts to get a negotiated settlement with Ian Smith's white-minority regime which seized independence in November, 1965, rather than submit to demands for eventual black-majority rule.

But two other controversial issues, the Nigerian-Biafran civil war and Commonwealth immigration, are not so far down on the formal agenda.

The conference—the highest body for ministerial consultations among the loosely-knit Commonwealth—takes no decisions by vote and no sovereign member country is necessarily bound by its decisions.

The countries at the conference are Australia, Barbados, Botswana, Britain, Canada, Ceylon, Cyprus, Gambia, Ghana, Guyana, India, Jamaica, Kenya, Lesotho, Malawi, Malaysia, Malta, Mauritius, New Zealand, Nigeria, Pakistan, Sierra Leone, Singapore, Swaziland, Tanzania, Trinidad and Tobago, Uganda and Zambia.

Kenya's delegation will include its commerce and industry minister, Mwai Kibaki, who announced on New Year's Eve that 3,000 Asian retailers and wholesalers in some 28 specified products—with anything up to 15,000 dependents—would be given notice to leave the predominantly Negro African country in the next few months.

Kenyan officials say there have been exaggerated reports in the British press that the "Kenyanization" policy legislation will possibly lead to another mass exodus of British passport-holding Asians to Britain.

Tanzania's nine-man delegation will be headed by President Julius Nyerere, who is determined to make a major issue of Rhodesia.

The Tanzanian president also will have strong words if the Nigerian conflict is openly discussed, pleading the cause of the secessionist Biafrans and possibly demanding a new Commonwealth initiative to bring the bloodshed to an end.

He and Zambia's President Kenneth Kaunda are the only Commonwealth leaders to recognize Biafra. He was the first of the four African leaders to do so.

Nigeria attends the conference preoccupied with its own tragic civil war.

Its 16-man team of commissioners (ministers), military leaders, ambassadors and officials is led by Chief Obafemi Awalowo, vice-chairman of the federal executive council and commissioner for finance.

Nigeria, Africa's most populous country, will call for an expansion of world trade on equitable basis, and more flexible financial assistance to the developing countries, a spokesman said.

While the Nigerian civil war is not on the formal agenda, references might be made in the annual report of the Commonwealth secretariat, which organized one of the previous abortive peace talks with Biafra, informed sources in Lagos said. The secretariat is headed by Canada's Arnold Smith.

Uganda's President Milton Obote, who arrived in London Saturday to head his delegation, said Nigeria would certainly be an item for the agenda. A reservatory ailment cleared up enough to allow him to make the trip to England.

Immigration into Britain is another subject of concern. Uganda government leaders have recently raised again the status of about 30,000 Asians who hold British passports, and say Britain must accept eventual responsibility for them if they are required to leave Uganda.

Canada feels that all arguments on Rhodesia have been exhausted and that the war between Nigeria and secessionist Biafra is an internal affair.

Canadian officials do not deny, however, that the Rhodesian issue could split the conference and even the Commonwealth. It has been Canada's policy all along to try to avoid such a Commonwealth breakup.

African Commonwealth leaders like Kaunda and Presidents Julius Nyerere of Tanzania, Milton Obote of Uganda and Kamuzu Banda of Malawi say the Rhodesian issue must be discussed at length.

Trudeau said after his country weekend with Wilson that the Commonwealth should worry more about the future than about inherited problems of the past and present.

It was largely an illusion to think the Commonwealth could find a solution to Rhodesia.

The Commonwealth should devote more time to such matters as trade between developed and underdeveloped countries, concepts of law and order, communications, ocean floor resources and urban growth.

Perhaps the developed members could pass on to the others knowledge which would enable them to avoid mistakes previously made in the developed world.

Trudeau said he may express this general view to the conference but that he does not plan any specific initiatives in these fields at this time.

Trudeau and Wilson spent the weekend at Chequers, British prime ministerial country retreat 40 miles west of London.

Trudeau told his news conference in Canada House on Trafalgar Square that Canada supports the principle of no independence for Rhodesia before majority African rule.

He said the solution proposed by Wilson to Smith aboard the warship Fearless last October was "not the kind we would hope for."

He added that the proposed Wilson solution was a departure from Nibmar—no independence before majority African rule.

Trudeau dined Sunday night with Arnold Smith, the Canadian who is Commonwealth secretary-general.

Besides seeing Kaunda, he will confer privately today with Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand. He will have a private meeting with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India at a time still to be set.

Trudeau will lunch privately with the Queen Tuesday and that evening attend the Queen's dinner for all Commonwealth leaders.

God Made Trudeau PM - - Joey

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Pierre Trudeau's rise to be prime minister of Canada was divinely inspired, Premier Joseph Smallwood said Sunday.

"God made him to be prime minister of Canada at this time," the premier said on a local public affairs television program.

He called Mr. Trudeau the "most brilliant" public mind in Canada.

Mr. Smallwood told school student panel "nothing" has happened between him and Mr. Trudeau.

Trudeau Cool to Date's Plea That They Love Each Other

LONDON (CP) — Adoring looks from female autograph hunters, kind comments from journalists and a tall blonde who came to lunch introduced Londoners to Canada's "swinging" prime minister Sunday.

Pierre Elliott Trudeau was given traditional pop-star treatment as he arrived at normally-staid Canada House on Trafalgar Square for a Sunday news conference.

Awaiting him were starry-eyed girls pressing for his signature on everything from notebooks to cigarette packages.

The mass circulation Daily Express joined the fan club, telling its Monday morning readers that Trudeau brings to world politics "an informality and jauntiness which will suit the present age and his own bustling, adventurous country."

The blonde was Eva Rittinghausen, who says she and the handsome Canadian bachelor are in love. She spoke after a luncheon date with Trudeau at a Chelsea restaurant.

But the romance cooled considerably when Trudeau was asked to comment.

He said he had no plans to marry "this acquaintance" and suggested that anyone who talks out loud about such a social relationship could not be as good a friend as she makes out to be.

Mrs. Rittinghausen, quoted in The Daily Mail as saying she now is free to marry, said she was born in Canada and descended from a noble German family.

She said she met Trudeau at the home of the family of former prime minister St. Laurent last August and that it was "love at first sight."

Trudeau Is Willing to Accept Second Best Rhodesia Solution

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau says he is ready to accept a "second best" solution for Rhodesia if the "first best" is not attainable.

By "first best" he meant retaining the old British pledge that there would be no independence for that country before majority Negro rule. By "second best" he meant a solution which British Prime Minister Wilson and Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith could work out that would be acceptable to the Rhodesian people — both black and white.

He said Sunday Britain has departed from its original promise to black Rhodesians that the breakaway colony would not get legal independence before majority African rule.

This statement at a news conference put him on the side of President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia and some other African Commonwealth leaders.

However, unlike Kaunda, Trudeau questioned whether the Rhodesian issue should be raised at the Commonwealth prime ministers conference. It was largely an illusion that the conference, which opens Tuesday, could solve the problem.

Trudeau is scheduled to see Kaunda today privately at the latter's hotel.

The Canadian leader also told reporters that he tried to get answers from Wilson on why Britain is shipping arms to Nigeria but got answers "that we all know."

Informed sources said Trudeau and Wilson went at it hot and heavy on the latter issue during a weekend meeting.

Trudeau said no country should be shipping arms to Nigeria. As a matter of principle, he always put military solutions in last place.

The argument may be renewed today when Trudeau and External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp have private talks at 10 Downing Street with several British cabinet ministers, including Wilson and Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart.

The talks will concern Anglo-Canadian trade and defence, among other matters.

Trudeau had annoyed the British government even before leaving Canada by making public the conference agenda in advance, something never done before.

Australia, New Zealand, Malaysia and Singapore, for instance, feel it is time for Commonwealth leaders to discuss other matters after spending the last two conferences, both in 1966, almost exclusively on African matters.

Girl Reporter Finds Trudeau 'Dishy Man'

LONDON (CP) — A beautiful girl reporter who calls Pierre Trudeau a "dishy man" lifted the Canadian prime minister's press conference on Sunday out of the realm of heavy politics and into the jazzier field of British tabloid subjects.

After a half-hour of discussing world and Commonwealth affairs, Trudeau fell in happily enough with brunette Sally Moore's switch to the subjects of his "image" as an eligible bachelor, whether the prime ministership interferes with his social life and the chances of his marrying this year.

Under prodding from the Daily Mirror reporter, bachelor Trudeau said he was giving "serious consideration" to getting married in 1969.

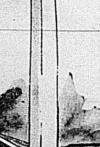
But, as one and all jotted down the quotation, he added that it was "not more serious" than in the past.

The girl reporter's questions on the light side were prefaced with an explanation to Trudeau that he had excited the imagination of at least half the women in Britain.

Afterwards, she explained to a Canadian reporter that her paper "has more women readers interested in dishy men than any paper in the world."

"What's a dishy man?" the Canadian asked.

"A man like Trudeau."



Trudeau's Life Threatened

LONDON (CP) — Security forces were strengthened by Scotland Yard at Heathrow Airport early Saturday for Prime Minister Trudeau's arrival by Air Canada charter DC-8 jet.

A telephone call was received at the airport that Trudeau would not get off the plane alive.

An aide to Trudeau said the prime minister was not aware of the incident, which he described as vague.

Eric Runacres

Eric Runacres Hastings Director of Education

By LENNY WILLIAMSON

Eric Runacres, 43, superintendent of general administration for North York's board of education, has been appointed director of education for Hastings county. He will assume his duties Feb. 1.

His position was ratified last night at the first public meeting of the 16-member Hastings county board of education since it took over county schools Jan. 1. He will receive a salary of $20,000 for the first year.

The director, who began his teaching career in Huntsville High School, brings 18 years of teaching and administrative experience to his new post. He holds both a secondary school principal's certificate, and an elementary school teaching certificate, and is a physical education specialist.

For the last 10 years, Mr. Runacres has been with the North York system as head of physical and health education at a junior high school, a principal, inspector and assistant superintendent.

Since North York merged elementary and secondary schools under one board of education in August, 1967, he has been superintendent of general administration, in charge of budgets, plans and equipment for new schools and additions, enrolments, accommodation and allotment of staff.

Married, he has one daughter now enrolled in Seneca Community College, who will transfer to Loyalist next year in the secretarial science course.

In accepting his appointment, Mr. Runacres told the board he was aware of the important role to be played by an educational authority who understands human relationships and provides forthright leadership.

"The appeal of Hastings to me lay in the agreement of the trustees with my views on equality of educational opportunity," he said.

Trustee Walter (Milford Waller of Thurlow) struck an essential note when he specified that education in the county should meet local needs not those of some mythical provincial standard," added the educator.

"I strongly favor local autonomy," Mr. Runacres said later. "Ir setting up the county educational system it is essential to reach a balance between centralization and decentralization."

The new director said that although he favors centralization of administrative paperwork at headquarters, he would like to see local educational areas created, based on established community boundaries.

"There should be one educational authority in each local area to whom trustees, staff and parents could come with problems," he asserted. "This person in turn would be a vital communication link between local people, the board and headquarters."

Mr. Runacres said he was optimistic about bringing elementary and secondary schools and teachers together in a continuous kindergarten to Grade 13 stream of education.

"My experience in North York has taught me that the two systems, junior and senior, can be integrated smoothly," he said, "but we must go further and bring together all the agencies working in education, elementary and secondary schools, children, parents and community resources."

Although he has had little time to become acquainted with the county educational system, Mr. Runacres sees an audio-visual program as perhaps one of the needs".

He turned aside the question of psychological services, mentioned in his outline of administrative organization, with a quip.

"I'm sure you're all so well adjusted in Hastings that psychological services will be unnecessary."

One Sales Body Urged For All Farm Products

France Halts Arms Sales

From AP-Reuters

France and Lebanon were in the forefront of the latest developments in the Middle East crisis.

France cut off delivery of all military equipment to Israel, including jet plane spare parts, a move that could cripple the air force that is Israel's prime strike weapon.

The Israeli Air Force of French jet fighters scored the first knockout blow in the Arab-Israeli war of 1967, virtually destroying the Jordanian, Syrian and Egyptian air forces in a matter of hours.

Since then, Israeli's Mystere and Mirage fighters have repeatedly attacked Arab positions, particularly in Jordan, in retaliation for artillery and guerrilla attacks on Israeli settlements and patrols.

An Israeli spokesman in Paris said the embargo has been in effect since Sunday. Informed Israeli sources said their air force has enough spare parts to last "many months," but the Paris spokesman said: "We regard this step as having a possibly dangerous effect on our air force."

Hydro Strike Possible

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Hydro's 9,700 employees are voting to decide whether they will begin a rotating strike in alternating areas of the province early next month.

Voting began Monday in 35 Ontario centres with the results to be tabulated in Toronto Jan. 27.

New Farmers Limit Planned

TORONTO (CP) — A special six-member committee recommended Monday that Ontario's full-time farmers merge into a single powerful farm organization, selling their products through a centralized food-supply agency.

The committee on farm income in Ontario, reporting after two years of study, said union is essential to "ensure that adequate incomes are earned by the operators of a maximum number of efficient one-, two- and three-man farms."

The report, given to Agriculture Minister William Stewart late Monday, outlined steps to keep some people out of farming and to eliminate many of those already in it.

It urged tax changes, including a negative income tax in place of welfare programs, and recommended legislation to control machinery and fertilizer prices.

These groups would be co-ordinated by a food supply agency.

The aim of the food supply agency would be to get food to consumers in the quantity and quality they demand and in the most efficient manner.

"At the same time the agency would ensure that the food was offered at a fair price . . . and that the money from sales was shared among those in the food industry according to the services they perform."

Bertrand Desires Plebiscite

MONTREAL (CP) — Premier Jean-Jacques Bertand says he favors a presidential form of government for Quebec along the lines of the United States and French systems, rather than "worthwhile elements" of the Canadian parliamentary system.

On constitutional debate, the premier says he has long felt a general plebiscite of Quebecers would be the best way of sounding popular opinion within the province on the issue of Quebec Independence.

Viet Cong Kidnaps 150 From Village

SAIGON (CP) — Viet Cong guerrillas kidnapped 150 villagers Monday on a raid on Binh Chau hamlet, 36 miles southwest of here, a South Vietnamese military spokesman said today.

The hamlet was considered to be in a secure area and was not defended when the Viet Cong launched their raid.

The villagers were marched off, apparently to become porters for the guerrillas, who for the last month have been moving toward the South Vietnamese capital.

Murder Auto Thought Found

OTTAWA (CP) — Police investigating last Friday night's double slaying on a highway near here said today they have found an abandoned rented car in Montreal containing two semi-automatic rifles, one with a broken stock.

Chief Inspector J. S. McBride, of the criminal investigation branch of the Ontario Provincial Police, told a news conference that the car, a 1969 Chevrolet Impala rented in Sudbury a month ago, was recovered in a Montreal east-end parking lot.

The rifles answered the description of sawed-off .22-calibre Cooey long-range rifles said by police to have been used in the slaying near Carp, 25 miles west of Ottawa. Part of the stock of such a rifle was found at the scene of the shooting.

The two rifles found in the car, along with a third .22 rifle seized in Windsor, Ont., have been sent to Toronto OPP headquarters for ballistics tests to determine if the piece of broken stock found at the scene matches the weapon recovered in Montreal.

Slain on the highway were Gerald MacDonald, 31, an Ottawa garage operator, and his uncle, building inspector Ken-

So Many Ideas

Trudeau Approves Jumble of Demonstrators

LONDO N(CP) — Singing and shouting, hundreds of demonstrators greeted arrivals as the 7th Commonwealth prime ministers conference got under way today. They carried such contradictory signs as "Keep Rhodesia White" and "Black Rule for Rhodesia."

Prime Minister Trudeau, arriving in a limousine, said he thought the demonstrators were "just wonderful" but the placards were so jumbled up he couldn't make them all out.

"There are so many people ideologically involved and representing so many ideas that it's a great thing for the Commonwealth," he said as he entered Marlborough House along with other prime ministers and presidents.

The demonstrators were orderly and though large numbers of police were required they had no difficulty controlling the crowds.

"Only in London can you see this," said Trudeau.

"This is communication. These people have ideas to get across and this is the city to do it in."

One sign carried by Biafrans said that even Canadian members of Parliament agree that Nigeria is using genocide against Biafra.

Behind the scenes, a proposal to send a high-powered Commonwealth peace mission to Nigeria was reported under study.

And pressure built up on Chief Obafemi Awolowo, head of Nigeria's delegation, to agree to conference debate on ways of ending his government's war with breakaway Biafra.

Non-African leaders hoped to limit the Rhodesian discussions and to stress instead Commonwealth co-operation, aid, world trade and the future of the Commonwealth.

Start for Arena?

Ice Pad Approved for Fairgrounds

City council by a 9-2 vote yesterday went on record as approving the construction of an artificial ice pad adjacent to the new fairgrounds recreational building.

This morning Alderman Ellis said current plans did not call for a roof structure over the artificial ice pad. However the pad would be built to a sufficient standard to enable it to be used as the ice surface for a covered arena if and when it was constructed.

Specifically, council voted for the cost of the project not exceeding $80,000 be given favorable consideration in the 1969 current budget.

Mayor J. Russell Scott said the artificial ice pad was badly needed but assured that the cost would be carefully looked into before final approval was given.

He said every effort was being made to keep the tax rate increase for 1969 to within 3½ mills.

The need for an artificial ice pad in the city was generally agreed but two councillors — Aldermen Douglas Boyle and Robin Jeffrey — didn't agree that the fairgrounds was the proper location.

However, an amendment from Ald. Jeffrey asking that the Belleville Fairgrounds location of the proposed pad be deleted was defeated.

Mrs. Jeffrey said the north end of the city was in more need of the artificial ice pad than was the fairgrounds area.

But Ald. Richard Ellis said any other location than the fairgrounds would rule out the pad.

He said the city already owned the land at the fairgrounds and that washroom and change room facilities were already there.

Any other location would boost the cost to at least $200,000 he claimed.

Sunday Fair Decision Upheld By Council

Belleville city council will take no action on a request from the Belleville Ministerial Association to reconsider its decision to allow operation of the Belleville Fair on Sunday.

Late last year council went along with a fair board request to allow Sunday fair operation in the emergency of a regular fair date being rained out.

Ald. Kenneth Soden said he was amazed to find the Ministerial Association request on the council agenda.

He said there was no request to have the golf links or the yacht club closed on Sunday.

"It is apparently okay for their parishioners to golf and sail on Sunday, but they don't want the poorer man to take his family to the fair."

Rather than the Ministerial Association letter being placed on the council agenda, Ald. Soden said it should have been included among communications.

But City Manager J. R. Reynolds disagreed. He said there was no alternative but to place the matter on the agenda.

In any event, council would have to make a decision on the matter, he said.

Ald. E. A. Orr said actually he was pleased to see the matter on the agenda so it gave him the opportunity to oppose. He said he had been absent when council gave approval for the Sunday fair opening.

He took exception to the fact under the council motion there was no guarantee the fair would operate on Sunday only in an emergency.

He asked council to reconsider, stating: "Surely there are more important things in this world than a dollar bill," he said.

But Ald. Soden claimed if council reconsidered the ministerial association request "it would open the door for anyone to question any council decision."

Ald. Donald Williams also got in on the discussion stating he also had been away at the time the Sunday fair operation was approved.

He said he had written to council opposing Sunday fair operation but the letter had not been read by the chairman of the council meeting.

Mayor J. Russell Scott declared the entire discussion was out of order and accused members of cleciioneering on a religious basis.

He said the only way council could reconsider the matter was for it to be brought in as a notice of motion by two of the aldermen who had voted for the recommendation.

Later in the meeting Ald. Douglas Boyle attempted to do just that, but he was brought up short by the Mayor.

"You voted against the motion," he told Ald. Boyle. "but it was a good try."

Nipped in the Bud

PELICAN RAPIDS, Minn. (AP) — It's illegal in Pelican Rapids to dance with anyone but your wife. Village attorney, Richard Nitz, discovered an ancient ordinance which hasn't been enforced for many years. He said he will draw up a new ordinance to keep dancers out of jail.

Getting the Drift!

Failing snow isn't the worst of it in the Quinte district. After the storm comes the drifting — when snow can even find its way around a closed door in this scene at a Wellington home.

Highways Blocked

Bad Drifts in County

PICTON (Staff) — It's an ill wind that blows no good. Yesterday afternoon and evening it was a south wind in Prince Edward County that blew anything but good.

And the snow that caused the problems was already on the ground.

Winds gusting upwards of 25 miles per hour and coming from a south-easterly direction caused serious drifting conditions throughout the county.

And by six p.m. last night Ontario Provincial Police reported all county roads "in bad condition" because of the drifting.

Main traffic arteries as well as the back roads had their problems in places where wind and snow joined forces in creating dangerous drifts that reached two or three feet high across the highway.

Many of the county and back roads were completely drifted across in some places.

Two snow plows and one grader were kept working in the county last night and it was expected that another snow plow which had broken down would be put back on the highways before morning.

Industrial Members Named

The Belleville Industrial Commission has an almost completely changed membership today following appointments ratified yesterday by city council at its first meeting of the new year.

Of last year's 25 members only six remain on the 1969 board including Mayor J. Russel Scott and Alderman Gerald Joyce, members of the 1968 commission directorate.

Also re-appointed from last year's membership are Kenneth Burley, J. C. Houston, Dawson Boyd and Bruce Nickson. The other 19 appointees are all new faces to the commission.

Biggest change in the commission make-up is the fact that the commission this year will be managed by a board of nine directors instead of the previous six.

One of the directors will be the mayor of the city, with the remaining eight to be appointed by city council. Two sitting aldermen instead of the previous one, may be commission directors.

The changes in the Industrial Commission make-up were approved late last year on the recommendation of a special council committee named to review the commission constitution.

Another of the committee's recommendations was for the industrial commission to become a department of industry of the city administration.

The third city council member on this year's commission in addition to Mayor Scott and Ald. Gerald Joyce is Ald. Donald Williams.

Commission members approved yesterday by council are Kenneth Burley, Mrs. Ruby Stapley, James Cathcart, Dr. John Hartt, Fred Pope, J. C. Houston, Frank C. Murray, Robert Iceley, Don Barshaw, Thomas Lally, Bruce Curtis, Lew Lewis, Stanley Kvarda, Ed. Buckley, Doug Dunning, Art Pearson, Jack Harry Burns, Harry Ellis, Robert Aitken, George Zegouras, Bruce Hickson and Al Sweazey.

Herchimer Sidewalk Approved

City council will consider action to improve conditions on Herchimer Ave. which a coroner's jury found were at least partially responsible for the accidental death of a city youth last year.

The jury at the inquest looking into the death of Robert Newton said there should be improved lighting and sidewalks.

Council recommended that the public utilities commission check the street for improved lighting and authorized construction of sidewalks in the area under local improvements.

McKeough Plans Quinte Visit

Ontario Municipal Affairs Minister Hon. Darcy McKeough will be in Belleville on Feb. 19 to discuss regional government.

Ald. Gerald Joyce announced the visit of Mr. McKeough at yesterday's city council meeting.

Municipal representatives from the Quinte area would be invited to attend and take part in the discussions, he said.

Council Vetoes Agenda In Advance for Press

Belleville city council is going to tighten up slightly on pre-meeting information provided for the press.

Yesterday in caucus, members decided that the press and radio would not be provided with copies of council agendas until the time of the meeting. In the past the policy has been for the press and radio to pick up agendas during the morning of the day of the meeting.

Car-train Mishap

William McPherson escaped with minor injuries after his station wagon was struck by a CPR freight at the Water Street level crossing last night. The vehicle was thrown into the ditch on the north side of the tracks by the force of the impact.

Snow Squall Results in Accidents

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Quinte dwellers were back to a back-aching chore today — shovelling away at winter.

Confirming storm warnings, up to 4 three inches of snow swept across the area yesterday, creating a minor rash of traffic accidents.

And poor road conditions were a possibility later today as higher winds were expected to set yesterday's fallout drifting across highways and country roads.

Winds gusting up to 25 miles an hour were predicted for the region later today.

The squall sharply reduced visibility on all provincial highways as it hit a peak by mid-afternoon.

Most of the road mishaps were marked by narrow escapes.

Or like Macdonald - Cartier Freeway west of the Wallbridge turnoff, a Quebec couple escaped with minor injuries when their van skidded, rolled over twice before landing on its side in the median where heavy snow cushioned the impact.

In Belleville, William McPherson of 20 Leslie Drive, escaped with scratches and bruises when his car was hit by a 72-car CPR freight train at James Street.

Mr. McPherson was on his way home from work when the westbound freight — its cargo including 39 tire cars — hit the front of his automobile tipping it into a ditch.

On Highway 7 at the Madoc bypass Gordon Samuel Way, 54, of Ottawa, was uninjured when a stray cow suddenly loomed out of the snow in front of his automobile. The animal was killed instantly, the impact causing $400 to the vehicle.

Cloudy weather moved into the Quinte district today in the wake of the storm and temperatures started dropping.

The overnight low in Belleville was 26 degrees. Tonight the mercury won't stop its descent until it reaches a low of 10 degrees.

Getting Off on the Wrong Foot

That's the way the New Year began for Winston, a two-year-old St. Bernard. Wintry weather created problems for the 170-pound "pup" when he yanked accumulating ice — and hair and flesh — from between his claws. A bandage and daily medication resulted in the melancholy mood.

Recreation Moves Into the Open

PICTON (Staff) — One of the first items of business conducted at the first council meeting of the year in Picton was the authorization to borrow $350,000 to meet current expenditures.

Estimated yearly income of the corporation excluding sale of assets and back taxes is $500,000.

The loan was readily approved by councillors.

One item of interest to residents was a reminder that all ratepayers are responsible for clearing the snow off the sidewalks in front of their homes.

This is not being done and enforcement of this bylaw was discussed at some length.

Also discussed was a swimming pool for the town in one of the parks. Mayor H. J. McFarland mentioned that $80,000 would be close to the probable cost of such a venture.

Offered to the town was a 1955 fire engine and assorted fire fighting equipment from the city of Belleville. The price for all the items was $18,000 and the matter was forwarded to the fire committee for consideration.

It was learned that the rates for prisoners in the county jail would be raised by the department of correctional services to $13 per day for each prisoner.

The matter was tabled for the time being and a committee will study the possibility of Picton building its own jail instead of paying the government rental.

It was resolved that the town of Picton lodge an official objection to Bell Canada because of that company's intention to raise the rates for each customer by about $8 per year.

A letter was received by council from Constance Mowbray of Disraeli St. in Picton who complained of a projected low rental housing development on that street.

Mrs. Mowbray stated that she was representing other citizens in that area who all felt that this would be very unfair since the area is one of the better residential districts in the town.

The owners feel the project would substantially decrease the value of homes already in the area.

And ending the first council meeting of the year was a complaint from the gallery when Mayor McFarland asked if anyone wanted to speak to the fire council.

Andrew Martin of Spring St. in Picton, representing a delegation of irate citizens, complained that their sleep is constantly disturbed by the barking of a large dog.

Mayor H. J. McFarland, among many chuckles, had the clerk take note of it and stated that he would look after the problem as soon as possible.

Council Seeks Harmony

PICTON (Staff) — The inaugural meeting of the Picton town council took place Monday night and an unusually large gallery was on hand for the first meeting of 1969.

New councillors William Land, Margaret Ackerman and Harry Abrams expressed their wish to accomplish business with harmony.

Veteran councillors Bessie Ward, Harold McLoughlin and James Bird, Reeve Barney Hepburn and Deputy Reeve D. Thompson also addressed council and expressed the same intentions.

Mayor H. J. McFarland welcomed the new council and gave a short opening address.

"We only have so much money for each committee," said the mayor, "and we often find ourselves with no money to spend but we must go on and raise funds and act in the best interest of the people who elected us."

The mayor expressed a wish to see expansion of industry in the county.

"We want to prove we are doing our best to encourage present industries to expand and new ones to find a home here."

His Worship invited everyone to "look around at our accomplishments and compare the present with 15 years ago.

Jarvis Stays As Clerk

PICTON (Staff) — It looks as if Andrew Jarvis will remain the town clerk of Picton, even though members of the Citizens Information Committee in Picton have not yet revealed their names.

The first council meeting of the year held last night was the date set by Mr. Jarvis at the last council meeting of 1968 for his resignation to be considered.

"The first matter of business the new council will have, will be to act on my resignation," said Mr. Jarvis in December, "unless members of the Citizens Information Committee reveal themselves."

However at last night's council meeting not one word was spoken about the threatened resignation or the citizens' committee.

The personal storm centre revolving around Mr. Jarvis came to a head last December after the committee was responsible for publishing an anti - McFarland - council advertisement in the Picton Gazette before the Dec. 2 elections.

"As a former member of council I feel that this reflects on mine as well as others integrity," said Mr. Jarvis at the time, as he challenged the authors of the advertisement to come out in the open and make their accusations.

The advertisement traced certain events of Picton councils for the past 18 years and cast serious doubts through its contents on the legility of specific council actions.

At the time Mr. Jarvis threatened his resignation he was supported wholeheartedly for his stand by Mayor H. J. McFarland and all the Picton councillors at the time.

Mayor McFarland even said that if Jarvis resigned the two of them would go out together.

Speakers Ruled Out

City council is cautious about allowing exceptions to its anti-noise bylaw which regulates against the use of auto-mounted loudspeakers for advertising commercial events.

Yesterday it turned down a request for loudspeaker use to advertise a cross country jamboree to be held in the city on Feb. 1.

But at the same time council proved it wasn't entirely opposed to entertainment.

Members approved a $200 grant to the Belleville Rotary Club to help provide scholarships and awards for participants in their first annual music festival later this winter.

A letter from the service club said already 200 entries had been received for the festival and that as many as 1,000 participants were expected.

Fire Fighter at Trenton To Be Town Volunteer

TRENTON — New members of Trenton Fire Department's permanent force will be chosen from the ranks of the volunteer unit.

The volunteers wrung the assurance from town council last night after threatening to cease unit duties their demands were met.

The need for an additional man on the department was brought to light by councilor Gerald Weaver at the last council meeting. Last night the subject again was brought up, when councillor Weaver read to council a letter from the volunteer unit.

The letter was directed to fire chief Cecil Ellis, and the volunteers demanded that they be given first chance to fill the vacant position.

If the new addition was not chosen from their department, the volunteer said they would become "non operative".

At last council meeting fire chief Ellis stated that he would go ahead to get a new man, and it was publicly advertised.

"The volunteers believe that the hiring of an inexperienced man will cut down their chances to become a permanent fire fighters," stated councillor Weaver.

However the vacant position would require a man on a probationary basis for six months, and the volunteers had stated that they felt this too short a period to sacrifice their regular positions.

The volunteers feel that they should have one of their number chosen for the position," added councillor Weaver.

"They do not feel there is a need to go outside the department".

Mayor James McDonald and council agreed with the submission and the volunteer unit will be approached for nominations to allow one of its members to obtain the vacant position. The probationary period will be extended to one year.

Remember That Post Office

By ROBERT AVERY
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — "We have to take immediate action on the old post office, we can't leave the downtown centre like it is any longer."

At a special meeting yesterday Councillor Gerald Weaver demanded town council "get moving and take some sort of action" with the old building.

Councillor Weaver claimed, that while the public chose at the polls to renovate the building for municipal purposes, this choice was outnumbered by the creation of the remaining two on the ballot.

These other two choices would have allowed the town to dispose of the land by sale or to tear down the building and use it for an open park space.

Councillor Weaver said if the town is not able to take the money needed for renovation out of its current revenue, an Ontario Municipal Board hearing would be required.

"And if we go to the OMB there probably will be another vote on the building, but this time only rate payers would be allowed to vote," explained Councillor Weaver.

To avoid an OMB hearing and, according to Councillor Weaver a three month delay, the money should be taken out of current revenue.

"It is time for immediate action. We can't afford to wait any longer.

"We should hire an architect immediately and get moving on this."

Councillor Paul Tripp believed the matter should be looked into one last time by council to make sure all areas had been explored.

"I feel that certain steps should be studied by council, and I believe the matter can be handled by next council meeting."

So council agreed to study the post office problem again. Council meets next Monday.

Belleville Takes Strong Action To Speed Payment Of Taxes

In a move aimed at speeding up the collection of tax arrears, city council yesterday approved a recommendation authorizing the collection of tax arrears by distress.

This means that the city tax collector is authorized to start collection proceedings 14 days after taxes are due.

The procedure for collection of tax arrears by distress was already in the assessment act and is taken advantage of by but comparatively few municipalities.

In Belleville it is understood that a comparatively small percentage of tax delinquents are responsible for a disproportionate percentage of tax arrears.

City tax collector John Grohn said that letters would be forwarded to tax delinquents advising that unless tax arrears payments were arranged, collection proceedings would be commenced.

No Report By Union

PICTON (Staff) — Union leaders in Picton said they had no statements to make about the long awaited private investigator's report about affairs in the town.

Canadian Life president George Hutchens along with the vice-president Glenn Patterson made no comments on the report other than to say it would be at least another two months before anything could be released.

It had been earlier indicated by town officials that today would be the day for the release of the report.

Youngsters Blamed For Trenton Fire

TRENTON — Police today said three children unwittingly caused a fire in this town's business area last Friday which:

- Caused $20,000 damage;
- Saw nearby apartment dwellers evacuated;
- Raised fears of a threat to other valuable downtown property;
- And brought firefighters from Belleville to reinforce Trenton firemen in an hour-and-a-half fight to contain the threat.

Today, police chief Robert Rutherford said the fire was started by a trio of what he described as "just young-sters" playing with an oil burner.

The building, known for a half century as the LaMore's butcher shop, was recently sold and was vacant at the time of the fire.

The chief said the young-sters entered the premises by an open front door and started throwing sticks in the burner.

"Probably one or two sticks hit the floor and that started it," said Chief Rutherford.

The young trio was seen leaving the building by the front door just before the fire began.

Mayor Says Problem With Animal Control

The new Quinte area animal control centre which looks after dog catching duties in Belleville and Trenton has come under criticism.

At yesterday's meeting of city council Mayor J. Russell Bell said he had been receiving many complaints of dogs running at large.

Most of the complaints, he said, were after five o'clock after personnel at the Humane Society - operated pound went off duty for the day.

"There must be a problem somewhere" said Mayor Scott, suggesting that a committee be set up to discuss the matter.

Alderman Robin Jeffrey, however, said she was surprised to learn there were complaints. "I've heard nothing but compliments," she said.

A committee of council will be named to discuss the problem with Humane Society officials.

Jumbo Calendars Thing of Past

What's become of all the calendars which used to be handed out at this time of year?

According to Neil O'Neill, local calendar and specialties dealer, there are many reasons why calendars are not as plentiful as they once were.

One of the reasons for the scarcity is cost — the big jumbos once handed out for display in public places cost up to $5.

Another reason is that business people and dealers have swung to other forms of advertising.

Also specialty forms of advertising such as pens, roll up tapes, telephone rings are being handed out the year round instead of calendars once a year.

And firms handing out the specialty items have plenty of choice. Mr. O'Neil says he carries at least 500 different specialties — as well as calendars.

Mr. O'Neil says people complained of a scarcity of calendars last year and expects the same condition may exist this year.

But at the same time he admits that in years gone by there was a big calendar waste.

At one time he says people made the rounds of business places picking up calendars, then would select a few of the best for hanging in their home and throw the rest away.

Today many business places prefer to hand out small useful articles as goodwill advertising.

Another reason for the declining number of calendars is that today there are few corner grocery stores left.

And the big chain supermarkets which have replaced the small corner stores don't bother handing out calendars.

Many garages have gone to direct mailing of calendars from the parent firm's head office rather than hand them out at the local level.

The cost factor, in many instances is the reason for the switch.

The big oil companies for instance order supplies directly from the printer in lots of 100,000 or more — and at a price which the small local calendar dealer cannot hope to match.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids...and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved ... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Vocational Aids Boom

The boom in vocational and technical courses in high schools and the establishment of community colleges throughout Ontario has meant good business for the Belleville firm of Electronic Controls.

The firm manufactures teaching and learning aids and sells its products in Canada as well as abroad.

William MacPherson of Electronic Controls told Rotarians yesterday the fact that vocational education in the United States was about five years behind the Canadian programs, particularly in Ontario, had worked to the advantage of Canadian manufacturers.

Ireland's Troubles

Northern Ireland's Prime Minister, Captain Terence O'Neill, has warned the country's religious extremists that it is only a "short distance from rocks and bottles to tombstones." The trouble is, asking the Irish to "cool it" is like trying to stop a volcanic eruption.

The wonder is that only sticks, bottles and stones are flying between the Protestants and Catholics in Ulster. There has been mention of gasoline bombs too, but these are relatively mild compared with the bombs and bullets that have been a feature of Ireland's troubled history.

Violence has been part and parcel of the Irish political scene for many years. Long before the civil rights disturbances in Los Angeles, Chicago, Detroit and other United States cities, outright guerrilla warfare by Irish nationalists against Ulster police units was a regular occurrence along the border between north and south.

However, think had more to do with the country's partition than the events today. Then, the Irish Republican Army was campaigning to destroy Ulster as an independent entity within the United Kingdom and bring it under the republican government's fold in Dublin. The IRA was recognized neither by Ulster nor by the government in Dublin and the campaign finally ground to a halt. Relations between north and south improved to the point that Captain O'Neill and his counterpart in Dublin were holding meetings and there was a tacit recognition by both of the political status quo.

Now Irish politics have entered a new phase. Having taught the modern world virtually all it knows about the tactics of civil violence, Ireland after an interim period of relative quiet is now espousing the methods of the civil rights marchers in the United States.

It was on such a march, in the brooding Sperrin Mountain country between Belfast and Londonderry, in the small town of Maghera and near Londonderry itself, that Protestant extremists clashed with the largely Catholic marchers. The latter are protesting alleged discrimination in the allotment of housing and jobs in Londonderry where there is a large Catholic population. The city, second largest in Northern Ireland, was well known to Canadian naval men as a strategic port in the last war.

If Ulster can solve this new ruction without further outbreaks of violence it will be lucky. As it is, the seeds of more serious trouble are already present. Captain O'Neill has promised reforms but only time will gauge their effectiveness in this difficult new phase in Irish politics.

The Winter Scene

When you are heading into the rural parts for a Sunday afternoon drive, and it is the dead of winter, you have to be prepared for anything.

Heading into darkest Prince Edward County on a recent weekend a Belleville couple thought it would be intriguing to see what The Outlet looked like in early January. And even more so when others were driving in, despite a fair covering of snow, and coming out again with apparent ease. Three cars drove in and duly returned. So, in they went, this couple, and after a while began to regret it. Where, they mused, can we turn around without becoming stuck in a snowbank? Turn around they did — but where, amid all that snow on either side? Well, they got out all right, but it was the hard way, — in reverse. A couple of miles of that in snow is hard on the shoulder blades, neck muscles and the system generally.

A week later, nothing daunted, the same pair set out for Glenora but ran into Sunday afternoon's heavy snow. So what better than to turn back and spend a while at Zwick's Island where the gently falling snow and the skaters and the crisp air presented as classic a winter scene as has been witnessed in this area for many a year.

Zwick's Island has now become truly a rendezvous for all seasons.

The irony of it is that out there in the cold there are now perhaps more people exercising on a weekend than during an entire summer say at the tennis courts. Some mosey and go to Florida, but the truth of the matter is that most of us enjoy these invigorating winter days. They are days that make summer all the more enjoyable when it comes.

PM's Problem: How to Tune in to a Reluctant Public

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA: Prime Minister Trudeau left the Capital for his island - holiday - in - the - sun and then for London and the Commonwealth conference still pondering what he says has been his first "disappointment." He has been, privately, willing to confess, "in disappointing people."

He has wanted, as he so many times explained it, more public "involvement" in national political affairs.

Or, as he put it another way, "more participation by people."

Hoping to get it, months ago, soon after taking over in the East Block, the Prime Minister set up an elaborate "communications system" with the public as he referred to it.

But it has not been communicating properly or not well enough to satisfy him.

He has detected its partial failure in his mail.

The postman has been dropping an average daily 200 letters on his desk, and from them he has discovered that for all his "regional information desks," his private personal network of some 200 agents scattered all across the land, his tell-it-like-it-is dinners with Sussex Drive, his Liberal parliamentarians and all his other sources, he still isn't "plugged in on people."

To anybody on this side of his office door, his communications system appears far more elaborate than any prime minister before him ever managed to put together.

But on his side of the door he says he is not getting the message as loud and clear and in the volume he had hoped.

It concerns him, because as any prime minister - watcher well knows, it is the break-down in communications that breaks up a government.

When Uncle Louis St. Laurent got so out of touch with the public as to ram things — even good things like the Trans-Canada Pipeline — through parliament by closure, that was the end.

When John Diefenbaker became fussed out, even of his own cabinet and Conservative caucus, his enemies were able to begin closing in for the kill.

And when Lester Pearson found himself switched off from the people-at-large, his party began nudging him towards the exit through which he had the "honor" to formally step before being pushed.

Not only is Pierre Trudeau not getting the play-back from Canadians he feels he needs, he is not sure how to handle what does come through in those 200 daily letters.

How to answer them?

Who does he reply to personally?

Who rates only an acknowledgement from his staff?

How does the Vatican do it? Or the White House?

There are some of the questions the prime minister threw out at his year-end press conference.

He asked them just that way.

He was asking — in a sort of thinking-out-loud manner, perhaps hoping that any one of the 80 or more newspaper, TV and radio reporters he has given time on the far side of the microphones in his conference theatre at the National Building might volunteer some answers.

But none did, and the puzzled Prime Minister left for his holidays and flight to London with his problem no nearer solution.

It is not that he has not been trying. He has tried harder than any prime minister in the last 30 years.

He has been holding informal private dinners for groups of 12 and 18 guests, from young students — radicals in conservatively-minded business leaders, from churchmen and economists to newsmen and school dropouts.

He has recruited a growing corps of picked persons plucked from a cross-section of Canadian life to file regular reports of how the public all across the nation regards the government and that of the government in meeting the problems and backlog that piles up at Ottawa.

On another level altogether, he has been popping in at certain social functions, a party in Montreal, and over cocktails hopefully listening for realistic appraisals of how things are going federally.

But he may be hearing only what people think he wants to be told, and not what he himself wants to hear.

This is the heart of any prime minister — the reluctance of friends, advisers and even strangers to tell it bluntly the way it is for fear of offending.

Harsh Words

Windsor Star

The Hon. Judy LaMarsh, a retired politician, has written a book in which she speaks freely of that other retired politician, the Rt. Hon. Lester B. Pearson.

Miss LaMarsh's verdict on Mr. Pearson: he was gutless.

Miss LaMarsh retired from politics earlier this year, at age 44, for reasons not entirely clear but possibly connected with the fact that she used a nasty word about Canada's new prime minister. She had served as minister of health and secretary of state.

Mr. Pearson retired at about the same time, aged 71, full of honors and with no nasty words for anyone. He had been prime minister for five years, had compiled an outstanding record as an international leader, and had been awarded the Nobel Peace Prize.

Of the two retired politicians and even making allowance for Miss LaMarsh's criticism, we'll take gutless Mike. And so will history.

Teenage Marriages

Sunday Telegraph, London

It is hoped that the House of Lords will stand by its rejection of the proposal to lower from 21 to 18 the age at which young people can marry without the consent of parents or the courts. Statistics show that these teenage marriages are several times more likely to lead to divorce than are unions between those of over 21. If a change in the law must be made, it should be far more sensible to reduce the age of free marriage to 20. That experiment would be less dangerous and, if it worked, a further reduction could be considered later.

Propaganda Defeat for Washington

Peterborough Examiner

With the release of the 82 crew members of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo the world has been treated to one of the latest performances in theatrical propaganda since the beginning of the Cold War.

The true events of the Pueblo incident may never be fully known. The records of the ship's position when captured by the Americans allege been destroyed or confiscated by the North Koreans. Meanwhile it can be expected that North Korea will make full use of the daily briefings, American confession to promote Communist embarrassment for the West.

Our sympathies lie heavily with the crew of the Pueblo for being the unwitting victims of an international incident which has produced nothing more than doubtful advantage for both sides.

Eighty-two men, their relatives and their friends, have suffered anxiety and anguish while the powerful United States has struggled to withdraw itself from the intimidation of a mouse.

No matter how valueless the propaganda coup for North Korea may be, the United States has been thoroughly embarrassed and its influence in South East Asia must suffer accordingly.

Ivan Rand

Labor-management Expert

Peterborough Examiner

Ivan Cleveland Rand, former justice of the Supreme Court of Canada who died Thursday in London, Ont., was best known to the Canadian public for his determination to bring a new sense of responsibility to labor-management relations.

The Rand formula, arbitration of a strike involving 11,000 persons at the Ford Motor Company of Canada, is probably the now celebrated Rand Formula, whereby non-union workers in a union shop would be obliged to pay dues but not belong to the union, he established a principle that has been widely accepted in Canada and the United States.

His concern for the public's safety in strike situations led to the proposal of a tribunal to promote settlement of labor disputes and recognition of unions as legal entities that could be sued.

Labor-management relations will be the most memorable area of Mr. Rand's contribution to Canadian jurisprudence, perhaps because it affects the lives of almost every citizen. Indeed, he felt that labor relations is "one of the most, if not the most, important internal issues facing Western democracy." He felt that only a concentration of first class abilities in action could evolve schemes that would modify or eliminate the present disfiguring and wasteful procedures of settling labor-management disputes.

Top-level Conference

The Spectre of Protectionism

Montreal La Presse—J. M. McAvity, president of the Canadian Exporters Association, says Canadian exporters are worried . . . that the incoming Nixon administration may impose tighter protectionist measures.

The United States buys a great deal from Canada. . . . Our industrialists have always chosen the easy way out, not bothering to stimulate markets abroad while such a powerful buyer is on the doorstep. If Nixon's advisers succeed in obtaining stiffer protectionist policies . . . we could find ourselves in a fine mess. . . .

Evidently, the picture is not black in the point of disaster. With $14,000,000,000 predicted for our 1969 trade with foreign countries, the situation looks reasonably good. . . . But the continual increase in taxes and duties, which raises the cost of materials, labor and transportation, forces our manufacturers to produce miracles to remain competitive in the international market. . . .

We all know our wheat is selling badly. We all know that the production of pulp and paper is no longer exclusively Canadian. And we all know that our prices are high because we produce in a "short work week." . . . It remains to be seen if the Trudeau government will continue to carry products "Made in Canada" at the prices we propose.

Warm Climate Is No Protection Against Flu

Brantford Expositor

If you've been thinking of going south to escape the flu, or even that chronic winter cold, forget it.

A hot climate is no guarantee against runny noses, sore throats, clogged sinuses and all the other nagging aches and pains of what the medical trade terms respiratory infections.

In fact, it could be just the opposite, according to a four-year study of student ailments conducted jointly by the University of Wisconsin and the University of the Philippines and reported in the Wisconsin Research Newsletter.

Both schools kept track of the causes of all admissions to university infirmaries. Results showed that in the tropical Philippines, almost 50 out of every 1,000 students were hit by respiratory infections on a yearly average, twice the sniffle incidence among students in wintry Wisconsin.

Weather was a factor at both schools — illness peaks occurred during the rainy season in the Philippines and the cold winter months in Wisconsin — not only because it kept students cooped up in crowded classrooms and dormitories, but-house atmospheres facilitating the spread of cold-causing viruses.

In short, the danger lies not in the weather outside but the company you keep inside. While may be some cold comfort to snowbound millions.

Gen. Burns Contemplates Retirement

Ottawa Journal

Lt. Gen. E. L. M. Burns has served his country in a great variety of ways in war and peace but perhaps never under a more frustrating set of circumstances than being Canada's ambassador to the 18-nation committee on disarmament in Geneva. He is now retiring from that post and from the public service, a full career behind him at 71.

Being a man who likes to be active, and who has a mind keenly honed by intense and constructive thinking, "Tommy" Burns will find retirement a trying atmosphere. But he has also a mind at home in books and is himself a writer of quality. As a soldier, a deputy minister, chief of the UN truce organization in Palestine and commander of the UN Emergency Force, and latterly as soldier in search of disarmament he has all the experience he needs, as autobiography useful to Canadian history; let us hope he postpones that real retirement until that essential task is completed.

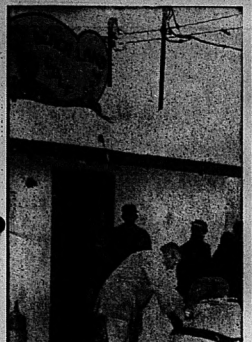
Colors Are Revealing



Brockville Recorder and Times

With the advent of color television, psychologists have been given an opportunity to study another side of the patient's personality. In Britain, Canada and the United States has come up with a theory that the way a person adjusts his color television set can reveal deeper shadings of his character.

If the (or-ship) tuner has red a picture, for example, he may be hasthul and self-assured. It is not explained whether or not it depends on if he's watching a baseball game or a bathing beauty contest.

So much for yellow in your choice may indicate unrealistic optimism, a person that is easily led or, in a con man, deceptive or like could be a sign of sensitivity or gluttony. Violet as a favorite color is a sign that the person could develop neurotic or homosexual tendencies.

As they say on television, very interesting. The doctors should be aware that some people just have no imagination. And there are those, also, who prefer off-color entertainment.

Mrs. Adella Henderson Dies in Ottawa at 80

A former social editor of The Intelligencer for 18 years, who retired in 1955, an active member and Sunday School teacher for many years at Christian Missionary Alliance Church on Coleman Street, Mrs. Adella May Henderson, R. R. 3 Belleville, died in Ottawa Civic Hospital early this Tuesday morning. She was in her 81st year.

Mrs. Henderson was visiting with her son in Ottawa for the Christmas holidays, when she suffered a stroke and was taken to hospital.

She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Goldsmith and received her early education in the Ottawa district. Nearly 45 years ago, Mrs. Henderson moved to her present home at Bayside and from the first day of her arrival took an active interest in community affairs.

Mrs. Henderson had a flair for writing and for some years before becoming a regular member of The Intelligencer staff contributed numerous articles on current topics. On joining the permanent staff, Mrs. Henderson, became social editor, a post she held for 18 years. On her retirement, she continued to contribute articles, especially the travelogue series, sponsored by the Elvada Club. In her post as social editor she showed a keen perception and was delightful in conversation with her sly wit.

In the Sunday School, she taught the senior Bible class for many years and many students passed through her class to be better men and women. She worked actively in all branches of the church.

Surviving are her husband, Pulford Henderson, Ottawa, and one son, Donald F. Henderson also of Ottawa and several cousins.

The funeral will be held at the John R. Bush Funeral Home on Jan. 8 at 1.30 p.m. Visitation will be from Wednesday noon.

Interment will be in Belleville cemetery with Rev. Stephen Tilley officiating.

Interment will be in St. James cemetery.

Killers' Auto Believed Discovered at Montreal

neth D. Vallee, 42, of St. Clair Shores, Mich.

They had been in separate cars when they were flagged down by three young men in a third car. As MacDonald and Vallee got out of their cars they were met with a hail of bullets.

Their two wives watched in horror. After the shootings, one of the three gunmen went to the Vallee car and smashed the front windshield, breaking the stock of his rifle. They then drove off.

Chief Insp. McBride said the car recovered in Montreal, grey-blue in color and bearing 1968 Ontario licence plates 943-SIN, had been rented to one of the OPP cruisers from Windsor where he has been questioning a third suspect.

In addition to the rifles, police also found in the car two extra magazine clips for semi-automatic rifles and a quantity of .22 ammunition. Besides this, there were two windbreakers, one dark brown and one green.

The wives of the slain men told police Saturday that two of the gunmen who attacked their husbands were wearing dark windbreakers.

OPP experts in Toronto are attempting to match the nine bullets taken from the two bodies with one or more of the recovered rifles. They are also going over the Montreal car for fingerprints.

Chief Insp. McBride said it is entirely possible the men sought have holed up in Montreal.

As of noon today, the investigation had not switched to Montreal from the Ottawa area but police said it could pending the outcome of the Toronto tests.

The police investigation had extended from the Pembroke area, 100 miles northwest of Ottawa, to Kingston and Windsor, Ont., before the discovery in Montreal.

Meanwhile, police sought a motorist who passed the murder scene on Highway 44 shortly after the slayings. They believe he may be able to help them.

"He has nothing to worry about," said Chief Insp. McBride. "We simply want his help."

Police said the unknown motorist, travelling in the same westerly direction as the victims and their slayers, ran over MacDonald's body and kept going.

They said he may have thought he had hit and hurt somebody but there was no doubt that MacDonald already was dead.

Chief Insp. McBride said there still is no apparent motive for the killings.

were adopted—refused comment until they had studied the report.

Everett Biggs, deputy agriculture minister and committee chairman, told a news conference that most of the 267-page report is based on adoption by farmers of a single farm organization and creation by government of a food supply agency.

The committee said the role of a general farm organization should extend beyond agricultural problems to bargaining with government, industry and consumers.

Ontario's existing 22 farm marketing boards should be grouped into seven areas of production—meat, dairy, grains, eggs, fruit and vegetables, tobacco and miscellaneous.

In other recommendations, the committee called for:

—A negative income tax with a guaranteed minimum income for all low-income Canadians.

—Introduction of a capital gains tax at the federal level, transfer of education costs to income taxes, accelerated depreciation programs for farm equipment purchases and a plan for partial deferment of farm property taxes.

—Creation of regional development boards and a national land resources commission to plan economic development and land use in all regions of Ontario.

—Combining the Ontario Junior Farm Establishment Board with the federal Farm Credit Corp. in a joint farm credit bank.

—A new farmland Rental Act to encourage rental of adjoining acreage to efficient farmers.

—Creation of a Crown corporation to operate a central warehousing system for farm machinery if manufacturers do not immediately set up one of their own.

—Establishment of a fertiliser review board to licence all fertiliser compositions and to limit their market areas.

—Control of vertical integration by refusal of quotas to farms owned or controlled by "agri-business"—farms owned by processors.

City Snow Removal Questioned, Praised

The city public works department came in for both criticism and compliments yesterday for its snow removal operations.

Alderman Enos David wanted to know if there was any priority for sidewalk snowplowing while, Ald. Gerald Joyce asked about snow removal in the downtown area.

City Engineer Wilbur Purcell admitted there had been a delay in sidewalk plowing following the recent snowstorm but said that present plowing equipment was suitable only for small storms.

He said the sidewalk plows don't do a good job at any time but as Belleville was not in a heavy snow area he said it was a question whether better equipment would be justified.

Mr. Purcell did not agree that snow removal in the downtown area had been appreciably delayed.

The only holdup, he said, was damage to the city's snowblower by reason of a large stone going through the blower.

The machine was out of operation for two hours until a spare blower was fitted, he said.

It was Ald. Paul Russell who had the compliments for the snow removal job done by the works department.

"I have heard several complimentary remarks regarding the speed with which the streets were cleared," he said.

Art Association Holds Seminar at Library

By LINDA GELDART

Today, more than ever, homemakers have innumerable chances to enrich their routine. If they have the desire, they can even learn to appreciate art.

Art appreciation seminars, held under the sponsorship of the Belleville Art Association, and the Belleville Library board sessions the first Tuesday of each month.

The appreciation series consist of a number of lectures based on a series of books, entitled, "the Metropolitan Seminars in Art," from the New York Museum of Art.

The discussions are headed by director, Mrs. H. R. Gibson.

The series was written by John Canaday, of the Metropolitan Museum. Its purpose was to make available comprehensive instruction in art appreciation for those unable to attend a comparable series of museum lecture, to take a course at a university.

With this type of book as a basis, 12 full-color reproductions are viewed at each class. As the volume is read, an unhurried examination of the pictures makes clear the points which Mr. Canaday attempts to make.

The group first started in 1958, but hasn't been continually active as an appreciation group. However, it has had the same core of faithful attendants throughout the years — a tribute to the value of the seminars.

Mrs. H. R. Gibson gauged attendance, on the average, to be about "20 to 25".

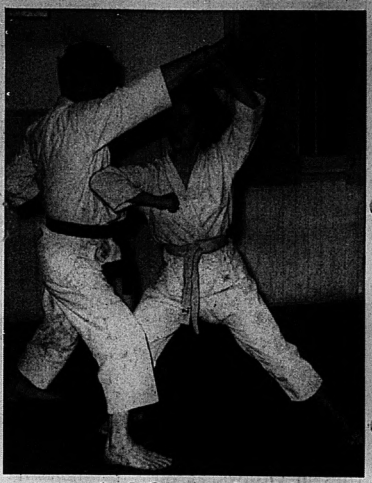
Instrumental in starting the group, Mrs. Gibson explained that the book series, was purchased by members themselves, through their contributions at meetings.

At each session, the book is read by Mrs. Gibson, and the painting reproductions add to the further emphasis and understanding of the text.

The seminars are open to the public, and there is no charge for admission or attendance. All contributions at the meetings are voluntary. It is not necessary to be a member of the Belleville Art Association to join.

Mrs. R. Williamson, president of the Belleville Art Association, explained further, that "each meeting and lecture is complete in itself. If a person cams in for only one session, he would get a great deal out of it."

Explaining the value of the seminars, she said, "they help you to understand art, and are especially helpful when you visit a gallery."



The monthly meetings should finish up by mid-May, with a new series for the Fall. Plans are being made to expand the group by obtaining various speakers.

Mrs. Williamson said she anticipates "an expansion in scope" in the seminars this fall.

The Fine Art of Appreciation . . .

Director, Mrs. H. R. Gibson, illustrates an "artworthy" point at the monthly Art Appreciation Seminar, held in the Belleville Public Library. The sessions are co-sponsored by the Library and the Belleville Art Association, and attract a good number of housewives, particularly because of the convenient morning hour when they are held. The seminars are open to the public, and admission is free. . .

Ultrafeminine Look Reminds Designer of His Youth

NEW YORK (AP) — "I like women to look like women and look pretty," Sarmi said Monday as he introduced his spring and resort collection at the American Designer Showing.

Sarmi, discussing his designs, said: "You don't see navels. You don't see bosoms. You don't see behinds."

He called the ultrafeminine appearance "the look I love—because it reminds me of my youth."

For daytime, Sarmi showed soft, fluid clothes, belted or sashed. There were none of the floral patterns seen in other collections, but there were lots of stripes, particularly horizontal ones.

There were several variations of the shirtwaist, including a signature dress in white with the name Sarmi in orange, green, blue and pink.

For evening, there was a shirtwaist in "the thinnest organza you can find," horizontally banded in satin ribbon and trimmed and sashed in black satin.

Most of Sarmi's dresses had long sleeves—sheer, but long. "I'm so fed up to see bare skin on the street," he said. "Bare skin is good only for bedrooms."

Describe his disclaimer, Sarmi did present a black dress with matching stole, trimmed in pom poms, bare backed and plunging to the waist.

Long evening dresses, many of them shirtwaist style, swirled and swirled with yards of chiffon—yellow, pink, blue, white and orange. Necks were scooped or high, softly cut.

Pyjamas—strictly for at-home wear—usually appear under a long skirt. The exception was an outfit Sarmi called his "powder puff"—a maribou bolero over black crepe, satin cuffed pants, with the midriff left bare.

Pauline Trigere, who showed earlier Monday afternoon, agreed that pants were strictly for at home. "I don't think that women . . . should take the pants away from the men," she said.

Miss Trigere had no qualms, however, about stealing fabrics from the men. Several dresses were made of plaid and tweed fabrics she selected from men's suiting charts and she showed ascots mad of men's tie silk and matching actual men's ties she also designs.

The pants Miss Trigere showed for at home barred tiny triangles of skin just above the waist, between pants and cutway tops, fastened only by a button or two.

There was more skin showing in a black jersey bolero and skirt combination which bared a large section of midriff and which was tied together only by a huge satin tulip running from shoulder to floor.

Arnold – Millar

Harcourt Memorial United Church, Guelph, was the scene of the recent wedding when Rev. McLean united in marriage Bonnie Lynn Millar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant E. Millar, of Guelph, to James Brian Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold of Ottawa. Organist David Brewster rendered appropriate nuptial selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Victorian style gown of lagoda crepe, featuring a high neckline and wrist-length sleeves trimmed with Chantilly lace. A full cardinal train fell from the waist, with Chantilly lace trim edging the hem. She wore a tiered illusion veil with a rosebud headpiece. Her bouquet was American Beauty roses.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Laura Kuperschmidt, was attired in an aqua chiffon empire-line gown with applique of rosebuds and seed pearls. It featured a scoop neckline red full wrist-length sleeves. A flowered headpiece with long veil was further enhanced by the bouquet of aqua and white mums and carnations, which she carried.

Bridesmaids were: Mrs. Diane Genereaux of Belleville, sister of the bride; Mrs. Gail Finston, of London, sister of the bride; and Mrs. Lynda Daoust of Ottawa, sister of the bridegroom. All were attired similarly to that of the matron of honor.

Flower girl was Miss Laurie Genereaux of Belleville, who was dressed identically to the other attendants. She carried a basket of blue and white carnations and 'mums with pastel ribbons.

Best man for the ceremony was Doug Brown of Toronto. The ushers were: Glenn Statler, St. Mary's; Roy Konkel, Toronto; Grant Millar, Guelph, brother of the bride. The ring-bearer was Stephen Arnold of Ottawa, cousin of the bridegroom.

For the wedding reception, held at the Parkview Motel, Guelph, the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a beige and gold brocade A-line dress with jewelled clasps at the neckline. Gold accessories and a corsage of tahuman roses completed her ensemble. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom, chose a winter white two-piece suit with green accessories. A corsage of pink roses completed her ensemble.

For the wedding trip to the Gatineau Hills in Que., the bride donned a plum colored coat and dress ensemble, with white accessories and a corsage of purple orchids adding the finishing touches to her outfit. Upon their return, the couple will reside in Guelph.

Ivanhoe Couple Wed 50 Years

An auspicious occasion took place recently when Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mitts of Ivanhoe were at home to approximately 150 relatives, friends and neighbors on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The home was appropriately decorated for the event with pink and white streamers and white wedding bells adorning the section where the honored guests were seated. The focal point of interest was the tea table adorned with candles and centred with a three-tier anniversary cake which was elaborately decorated by Mrs. Gordon Mitts.

During the afternoon and evening tea was poured by Mrs. David Thompson, Mrs. Vishel Calvert and Mrs. Frank Keller. Others assisting with refreshments were Mrs. Leslie Adams, Mrs. Gordon Mitts, Mrs. Laird Redcliffe, Mrs. Frank Brough and Mrs. Howard Wannamaker. A special guest book outlined in gold was in charge of grandsons Laird Redcliffe and Calvin Bradley.

Mrs. and Mrs. Mitts were married at the West Huntingdon parsonage on June 11, 1918 by Rev. George McQuade.

There are four children, one son John Mitts of Belleville and three daughters, Mrs. Borden (Lily) Redcliffe of Thomasburg; Mrs. Pat (Eva) Bradley of Ivanhoe and Mrs. Harold (Dorothy) McCue of Brampton. There are also four grandchildren, Laird Redcliffe, Calvin Bradley, and Mark and Sharon McCue; also a great grandson, Donald Redcliffe.

The honored guests were presented with a sunburst clock, a coffee table and a smoker stand by their family. Telegrams of congratulations were received from Lee Grills M.P.; leader of the opposition Robert Stanfield and from John Robarts, Premier of Ontario; also a plaque from Clarke Rollins M.P.P.

Successful Living

Plans in Early Life Make for Happier Retirement

By DORIS CLARK

Years are not life.

Years are the shells of life.

And empty shells,

When they only hold days, and days, and days.

What does it mean to be old? Illness? Loneliness? Boredom? Or time one never had before, to do the things one always wanted to do?

Statistics tell us "80 percent of the population age success fully; five percent are institutionalized; and 15 percent have assorted difficulties." An important factor in even physical well-being and stamina is the social (and occupational) set-up.

The better we plan in the early years, the better off we will be in the later ones. Financially, occupationally, and for spare-time fun, this holds good.

Have you spotted your second career yet?

Dear Doris: What is a good way to tell a boy you don't want to go steady with him, you won't marry him or you want to break up with him? — Butterfly

Dear Butterfly: It isn't easy is it? To leave a trail of broken hearts behind one is not nearly as romantic as it sounds.

Try the cheerful approach, plus the truth. "I like you, and appreciate being asked. You are a good friend. But somehow I feel we don't quite hit it off and I do need to get to know other boys."

Would any of our readers who are young men help us out about this?

Suzie's birthday is coming up and Mother is game. She is all set for refreshments, but has asked me to handle some games — me, a spinster, with only a nodding acquaintance with anybody under 30!

I'm game too, because I enjoy the idea of being a chum-type aunt but what I lack is information. Can you help? — Clueless Aunt.

Dear Aunt: You are a sport. With my new leaflet called Eight Games for Very Young People, you'll manage. These suggest activities calling for balloons, peanuts, coloring books, bubble-blowers. Also lists literature and books about games and gifts for children. (Available to readers for 10 cents and a stamped envelope.)

A Continuation of Rolled Oats Recipes

By MARY MOORE

Yesterday I gave here a Basic Rolled Oats Mix and two recipes to be made using it: Oatmeal Fruit Muffins and Oatmeal Fruit Drop Cookies.

Today I will repeat in shortened form the formula for BROM for the benefit of those who did not see yesterday's column (Heaven forbid!) and add two more recipes using it: Bishop's Bread and Fruit (Apple) Batter Pudding.

BASIC ROLLED OATS MIX
(Repeated from yesterday)

(NOTE: Referred to in future as BROM) Three cups skim milk powder; 4 cups stirred but not sifted all-purpose flour, 4 cups rolled oats, quick-cooking type; ¼ cup baking powder; 1 tbsp. salt; 1½ cups shortening — type that does not require refrigeration.

Shortening is cut into dry ingredients in large mixing bowl until size of small peas with two knives.

BISHOP'S BREAD
(a traditional Southern hot bread — delicious)

3 cups BROM
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup chopped dates
2-3 cup light brown sugar
2 tbsps. grated orange rind (or 1 tbsp, bottled orange peel)
2 eggs
1 cup orange juice (may be fresh frozen diluted as directed)
Topping:
¼ cup sifted icing sugar

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

Swiss Steak; Onion Gravy; Whipped Squash; Quick-Cooked Shredded Cabbage; Oatmeal Muffins (see Mon.); Fruit Cup: Apricots, Mandarin Oranges, Sliced Bananas; Coffee.

⅓ tsp. cinnamon

Measure BROM into mixing bowl, add cinnamon, dates sugar and orange rind and mix well to separate date pieces and coat them with mix. Beat in eggs and orange juice until blended. Turn into well buttered 12 x 8" or 9 x 9" pan and bake on centre shelf of oven at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 23-25 min. While hot, sprinkle entire surface with mixture of icing sugar and cinnamon. Cut in squares and serve hot or warm whenever possible. Lovely for a late evening snack with coffee or, as it was intended, as a hot bread in the Southern manner. It is good cold.

HASTY FRUIT BATTER PUDDING (serves 5 or 6)

2 or 3 cups sliced raw fruit (see below)
1 tbsp. sugar
2 cups BROM
¾ cup sugar (second amount)
2-3 cup water
½ tsp. nutmeg (or mace)
1 tbsp. lemon juice

Into an 8 x 8" baking dish put the raw fruit; apples, rhubarb, plums or peaches. Sprinkle the fruit with 1 tbsp. sugar. Beat together the 5 batter ingredients and pour over prepared fruit and bake at centre shelf of oven at 350 deg. Fahr. for 45 min. or until fruit is tender and juice bubbles up. Serve hot with Brown Sugar Sauce: Mix together dry in small saucepan 1 tbsp., cornstarch, ½ cup light brown sugar, ¼ tsp. salt, ½ tsp. cinnamon (or nutmeg). Stir in 1 cup boiling water until boiling. Remove from heat and stir in 1 tbsp. butter. This is an all-purpose pudding sauce. Serve hot.

Ann Landers

Who Carries Child When Out in Public?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been having the same tiresome argument for four years. It's time it was settled. Will you do it, please?

ANN LANDERS

When a couple is out in public, who is supposed to carry the baby? My husband says a husband is supposed to carry packages and suitcases, but the woman is supposed to carry the kids.

Our little boy is almost four and the new baby is seven weeks old. It's very hard for me to hold the boy's hand when I have to carry the little girl. If my husband would help me out by carrying the baby, it would make life a lot easier. Will you please say something? — TIRED.

* * *

DEAR TIRED: Nature has decreed that the woman is stuck for the first nine months. After that, her husband should be happy to carry the child.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 20-year-old boy who would like to respond to "Woodshed Father," the man who believes that most kids today need a crack in the mouth. He also thinks all psychiatrists are nuts, and that you, Ann Landers, are a meddling old hag.

Granted, my father never took any sass from his children, but he never took any love, respect, or affection from us, either. And we had a lot to give.

I tried hard to be the kind of a boy a father could be proud of, but I learned quite young that he wasn't interested in being a father. He never once called me "Son" or even by my name. It was always "Hey, you." I have no recollection that my father ever smiled at me, or held me on his lap. I can't recall that he ever touched me, except to crack me in the mouth. And for some mysterious reason those cracks in the mouth were always a surprise to me. I never knew when one was coming.

Perhaps I shouldn't be too hard on my father. He taught me one thing, and for this I am grateful. I learned from him how not to raise children.

Please, Ann, write your column, Ann. Tell people what they ought to hear. Tell parents that kids need discipline and that they want it, but that they also need love and tenderness from both father and mother. Tell them there is a point at which strictness and inflexibility should end. And if it doesn't end there, love will end there. — INDIANAPOLIS WOODSHED SON.

* * *

DEAR SON: You sound like the kind of a son any father would be proud of, and I'll bet your father was proud of you but he was unable to let you know. Poor man. How I pity him! He missed it all.

Curbs on Young Men Becoming Farmers Recommended By Ontario Study Group

TORONTO (CP) — A combined program for restricting the entry of young men into farming and encouraging early retirement or alternative employment for existing farmers was recommended Monday by the special committee on Ontario farm income.

The committee, appointed by the Ontario government at the request of the Ontario Conference on Agriculture of 1956, attacked present retraining or development programs that send farmers to jobs in big cities, an environment where they often cannot be happy.

It suggested appointment of a cabinet committee on rural affairs under the minister of agriculture which would have a general responsibility for co-ordinating rural affairs programs and could plan needed regional economic development.

The report said the income problems of the farmer "can be resolved properly only if suitable employment is brought within their reach, but the forces which lead to the concentration of job opportunities in a few large metropolitan areas make this impossible."

Outlining general changes needed to help farmers adjust to progress, the committee's report said about 20,000 farm families, mainly located in northern and eastern Ontario, are living in conditions of "serious poverty."

The report said the number of farms in Ontario had fallen from 190,000 to 110,000 in the last 35 years but that this "massive adjustment of the farm labor force" was not enough.

It added that many of those who have left their farms have been squeezed out when they didn't want to go and that many have simply exchanged rural poverty for urban poverty.

The report said that income distribution in the farming industry could be improved by "a combination of restricted entry through quota assignment and a consolidation of retiring farmers' holdings into adequate farm units through public land purchases."

The report made a series of suggestions for improving educational programs for young persons living on farms and for attracting them into other jobs.

It suggested as an alternative that existing marketing boards, or a central food supply agency, set up to co-ordinate functions of the marketing boards, should place limits on the number of quotas granted to new entrants into farming.

The quotas would be part of a system of product management, suggested by the committee, under which farmers will be allocated product quotas to ensure that total farm production is in balance with market requirements.

"Over a longer period of time there could be formal training giving the new entrant a good chance of success, and equipping him with useful skills which could be used in an alternative occupation if this proved necessary.

"The committee considers that the two-year diploma course in agricultural technology fills both these requirements. It should become the minimum entrance requirement for entry into farming by 1960 or sooner if possible."

The report was less clear about just how farmers should be encouraged either to retire or to find other occupations.

It recommended that either the federal Agriculture Rehabilitation Development Administration or a recommended Ontario land corporation could be responsible for consolidating farms into more productive units once farmers have left low-income holdings.

The report said farmers might be encouraged to retire from their land if ARDA provided housing in local towns for such farmers at rental rates the individual could afford.

It criticized present technical and vocational programs for occupational retraining of farmers as "ill-related, fragmentary programs aimed at many different groups of people."

Too often these programs emphasized labor demand "with insufficient attention to the values, inclinations and aptitudes of the applicants."

The committee therefore recommended establishment of a rural human resources council to co-ordinate job placement and retraining for farmers.

Hamilton's Future

Construction is due to start in March on this 30-storey office tower, first step in a $100,000,000 program to redevelop Hamilton's downtown core into a business and commercial showplace. This first stage will also include a one-storey banking plaza and an underground shopping mall, to be ready for occupancy in 1971.

Highlights of Farm Income Report

TORONTO (CP) — Highlights of the report on the special committee on Ontario farm income delivered Monday:

Ontario farmers should form one general farm organization to act as their official spokesman in dealing with the government on all matters relating to the agriculture industry.

Farmers should establish a comprehensive food production and marketing system under the direction of a central association called the Food Supply Agency.

Ontario's 22 marketing boards should be trimmed to seven to handle all produce. The new boards would be divided into meat, dairy, grains, eggs, fruit and vegetables, tobacco and miscellaneous.

Farmers must restrict entry into their profession only to "those persons who stand a good chance of success."

Farmers must find new uses for their land, encourage early retirement for some farmers and offer alternative employment to others.

To combat production costs, a central warehousing system should be established to handle all farm machinery spare parts.

An Ontario farm machinery Crown corporation should be established to handle sales of all farm machinery and prices abroad should be examined to determine if it is more advantageous to import farm machinery.

The food and field service of the department of agriculture should be re-organized and regional offices staffed by specialists in various aspects of agriculture.

A national farm accounting system should be developed.

Education programs in rural schools should be broadened and adult retraining programs should be set up with farmers in mind.

Specialists should be hired by the department of agriculture to help farmers in credit buying.

The Ontario Junior Farm Establishment Loan Board should be combined with the federal Farm Credit Corp. into a federal-provincial farm credit bank.

The government should pass a farmland rental act to bring about improvements in present leasing arrangements. The act should be introduced over a five-year period to allow landlords and tenants time to adjust to new requirements.

Negative Income Tax For Farmers Suggested

TORONTO (CP) — A negative income tax providing low-income families with a guaranteed minimum income of $1,500 was recommended Monday by the special committee on Ontario farm income.

In the final pages of its hefty report, the six-member committee described the negative income tax as a way of offering immediate relief to low-income families while long-range programs are developed to cure the economic imbalance in Canadian society.

To illustrate how the negative income tax would work, the report took the example of a family of three earning less than $3,000, the amount of earnings tax free for this size family under the present system.

This family would receive a payment from the government on half the difference between its earnings and the $3,000 tax-free limit, the report said.

Thus a family with no income would have a final income, after payment of the negative income tax, of $1,500. A family earning $1,000 would end up with $2,000; a family earning $1,669 would have $2,500, and a family earning $3,000 would end up with $3,000.

The committee, headed by Everett Biggs, deputy minister of food and agriculture, said the traditional Canadian welfare approach to persons with low incomes has often been "punitive and degrading."

Crown Firm Urged To Sell Machinery

TORONTO (CP) — Government action to give farmers a stronger hand in dealing with machinery and fertilizer manufacturers is recommended in a report by the Ontario farm income committee.

The committee, in a report issued Monday after two years' study, proposes a Crown corporation to distribute all farm machinery and a fertilizer review board to "determine terms and conditions of sale and review pricing practices."

"These warehouses would be organized to provide an adequate parts service to farmers. Warehouses must be located at a number of strategic points to distribute parts for all companies."

The committee proposes that under a warehousing system any dealer could handle any make of machinery, eliminating exclusive dealerships which it said "should be seriously questioned."

The committee says a warehousing agency would be able to bargain more effectively with manufacturers than farmers can and have strength enough to buy farm machinery in other countries.

The report accuses fertilizer manufacturers of a multiple-pricing policy which works to the disadvantage of Ontario farmers.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

"Since they taped the whole show, why couldn't they tape that idiot's mouth, too?"

Land-use Planning Is Urged

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario committee on farm income, in its report released Monday, recommends formation of a land resources commission responsible for co-ordinating all land-use planning in the province.

"Land-use planning and regulation in Ontario has reached a state of chaos," the report says.

"Municipalities act independently of each other . . . many municipalities have no plans at all and others that have plans make no effort to see that they are implemented."

The committee recommends formation of a series of regional development boards to plan economic development and land use for specific geographic areas.

Subsidies Should End

TORONTO (CP) — Many federal and provincial government subsidies to farmers, which last year totaled more than $13,000,000, should eventually be discontinued and the money allocated to other pojects, says the report of the special committee on Ontario farm income.

The report, made public Monday, said most farm subsidies, such as capital grants, special assistance payments and credit subsidies, do not improve the net farm income of the individual farmer.

Under the subsidy system "the efficient operator is stimulated to produce more, often resulting in surpluses at prices which cannot provide reasonable returns to labor and capital."

Separate School Pupils Move into New Quarters.

Climax of building program undertaken by Belleville district separate school board came Monday when kindergarten pupils moved into their new room at St. Joseph's School. A general purpose room at the same school will be finished this week and at Holy Rosary School the new general purpose room addition is now occupied by two temporary classes awaiting the building of Georges Vanier School. Small girls in Miss Marilyn McGurn's class lost no time in taking over the housekeeping corner of the kindergarten, while a young engineer found the carpeted floor an ideal base for castle construction.

School Administrator Sought By Hastings

Hastings County Board of Education took what its new director termed "an essential first step in setting up a county-wide system" in deciding last night to advertise for a business administrator.

"We must canvass the province to find the man best suited for the job," Eric Runacres told the board.

A committee of trustees, Donald Williams, Mrs. Miriam Graham and chairman James Clarke was appointed to review the applications. Jan. 18 was set as the closing date for receipt of applications.

The trustees began their tenure of office by authoring the borrowing of up to $10 million for operating expenses. The sum, to be borrowed at 6¼ per cent interest, will tide the board over until revenue from municipal levies and provincial grants become available.

The Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce has been selected to handle current accounts on a temporary basis. Capital accounts for building construction will be left in the banks where they were deposited by former boards.

The board decided to spend $3,701 in membership fees in three trustee organizations — both elementary and secondary sections of the Ontario School Trustees' Council and the Ontario Public School Trustees' Association.

Board sponsorship of air cadet squadron 173 at Trenton High School will continue at least until the end of the school year. Everett Fairman made a motion to pay $400, one half the yearly cost, to see the project continued until June.

The subject of school-sponsored air cadet programs will be reviewed at the end of the school year, the trustees decided.

A labor relations consultant will be hired to advise the board on its custodial staff's contracts.

The move followed a request from the Canadian Union of Public Employees that it be recognized as the bargaining unit for school custodians. At present, members of the custodial staff of the former Belleville Public School Board belong to the union. The new board will honor their contract, which expires in June, and take the advice of its consultant in its dealings with custodial staff formerly employed by other county boards.

Concern about a possible county-wide union of custodians was expressed by Milford Waller, Thurlow.

"In some of the small schools the custodians are retired farmers, assisted by their wives," he said. "They couldn't fit into this type of union situation at all."

OPP Turn Firemen, Chase Fire

OPP constables were cruising Highway 37 south of the village about 7 a.m. when they noticed the rear of a passing tractor-trailer transport afire.

With its driver obviously unaware of the threat, the officers gave chase trying to attract his attention.

They finally caught up with the vehicle several miles later at Thomasburg and waved trucker Lee Enses, of Toronto, to a halt.

Belleville Headquarters

It Was A Jam Crowded Room For School Board's Inaugural

The former Belleville Public School Board office at 208 Bridge St. East was named temporary headquarters of Hastings County Board of Education last night at the first open meeting of the trustees, held in the board room.

It was standing room only at the meeting in the room designed for eight public school trustees.

In addition to the 16 trustees around the board table, staff members of former boards, business administrators, the press, four delegates from district Home and School Council and a few city school principals and teachers crowded into the room. Seven people, including former Belleville public school superintendent L. A. Kells could find standing room only.

Director of education, Eric Runacres, said he had surveyed existing office facilities and found the former public school office was the only premise large enough to "give the opportunity to bring all the team together."

However, his choice was disputed by Ward 6 trustee Donald Williams, Stirling.

"How far outside Belleville did you look?" he questioned. "Temporary measures have a way of becoming permanent."

Mr. Williams added that he was disturbed about a meeting of the new director and administrative officials of the former Trenton, Bay of Quinte District High School and the Belleville Public School boards last Friday morning at the same office.

"Why weren't the Tweed people brought down?" he queried.

"It was a matter of expediency," answered Mr. Runacres. "A workable group of academic officials were brought together to start some action going."

The exchange brought a heated reaction from John O'Flynn.

"I'm disturbed to see this matter brought up," he asserted. "I'm not going to get into this regional business. I hate to see fighting over the interests and representation of east, west, and north. We are each here to represent all the children in the county."

MacDonald Smith suggested the board approve immediate expenditure of enough money to renovate the former public school office to accommodate the new director and his staff.

After some discussion of deferring the matter until recommendations could be received at a future meeting, chairman James Clarke asked the director for his advice.

Mr Runacres said his investigations had shown renovations could be made for $2,000. This included removal of some cupboards and laying of new flooring on a rear portion of the building to permit installation of offices.

After former Belleville Public School superintendent L. A. Kells mentioned that even temporary rental or purchase of a similar sized building would cost considerably more than this sum, trustees voted to approve the expenditure and the designation of the temporary headquarters.

School Board Closes Ranks on Announcements

Any future official announcements of the Hastings County Board of Education will have to be cleared with one of three board officials.

Named to approve all announcements were board chairman James Clarke, vice-chairman Raymond Rowe, Frankford and director of education Eric Runacres.

The original motion to this effect by Ralph Weaver, Trenton, was tempered from "any releases to the press to" to "official announcements" after spirited discussion by the board.

"We appointed a director of education tonight. Does this mean I can't mention it to my people in Bancroft when I go home?" asked F. John Follis, Ward 2.

John O'Flynn, who seconded Mr. Weaver's motion, said the intent was only that the chairman, his deputy, or the director, would speak for the board as a corporate entity.

"I don't want any other board member speaking for me," added Mrs. Jean Hutchison, Trenton, in agreement.

"I wouldn't think of speaking for you," countered MacDonald Smith. "Each of us is responsible to the people who elected us. If we put our foot in it, we will pay for it at the next election. That's democracy."

"You're imposing the padlock law!", commented Robertson Collins, Belleville, one of the two separate school representatives on the board. He voted against the motion.

Chairman James Clarke promised to review at a future public meeting the relations of board and press, with a decision on the meetings which would be open to the press.

Urban Renewal to Take New Form Under Hellyer Proposals

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian communities eager to spruce up decayed neighborhoods may have to change their way of dealing with the problem to qualify for federal financial help in future.

The federal housing inquiry under Transport Minister Paul Hellyer is expected to propose changing the conditions municipalities are expected to fulfil to get urban renewal grants from the government's Central Mortgage and Housing Corp.

The conditions are likely to place more stress on renovating old buildings rather than raising a rundown neighborhood and building it anew.

In line with the rehabilitation philosophy, the inquiry report later this month is expected to suggest ways of encouraging do-it-yourself urban renewal for individual property owners in deteriorating neighborhoods.

The methods could include direct cash grants to individual renovators in addition to government-insured mortgages.

The seven-member inquiry, which met Monday to complete details of its report, is known to have concluded that the bulldozer method of urban renewal tends to be wasteful both of money and sometimes of sound community qualities.

A signal of permanent change in policy came almost two months ago when the government suspended CMHC consideration of applications for any new urban renewal assistance pending the Hellyer inquiry's report.

Central Mortgage is meeting commitments to support urban renewal schemes or studies agreed on before the middle of November but has deferred decisions on other applications.

Urban renewal programs normally have been carried out in three main stages which qualify for CMHC grants.

First, the municipality conducted a preliminary study to identify and define the blighted area it wanted to renew. The National Housing Act provides for federal grants meeting up to 50 per cent of the cost of such a study covering a neighborhood, up to 75 per cent if the study encompasses the whole municipality.

The second stage was to prepare a detailed scheme of action. Such studies also have been eligible for a 50-per-cent CMHC grant, if the initial survey bid been judged to rate drafting a detailed scheme.

Finally, if the detailed scheme was approved, CMHC would grant half the net cost of implementing the renewal plan, two-thirds of the municipality's share, which usually amounted to about 25 per cent of the total cost after the province had made a grant.

The National Housing Act briefly and broadly defines urban renewal. But CMHC regulations provide pages of detailed conditions. The municipality has been required not only to satisfy federal lending authorities that its project would genuinely renew the neighborhood, but it also had to say "what's going to happen to every square inch of the scheme area," an official says.

In examining the detailed renewal submissions, federal authorities could encourage the type of renewal desired by policy makers.

Federal housing authorities also have power to encourage rehabilitation of old properties directly through mortgage loans to individual owners.

The National Housing Act provides for a mortgage of up to $18,000 on an existing home if it is in a neighborhood legally defined as an urban-renewal scheme area. Normally, the ceiling on the amount of an individual NHA mortgage on an existing home is $10,000. In practice, the upper-limit loan of $18,000 for a renewal-area home has been rare, a spokesman says.

Some authorities are speculating that the Hellyer inquiry might seek to put more pep into the program for old-home rehabilitation by recommending more CMHC help for individual owners, possibly in the form of cash grants in addition to NHA mortgages.

Such a system would enable individual home owners to carry out a renewal scheme on their own building without waiting for the municipality to come up with a renovation program for the whole neighborhood.

Delay Here A Possibility

Depending on policy decisions made in Ottawa as the result of the federal government's austerity program, Belleville's proposed urban renewal scheme could be delayed.

At yesterday's city council meeting Mayor J. Russell Scott said word had been received from Ottawa to the effect that no further urban renewal studies or schemes would be approved at this time.

Mayor Scott's comment was in answer to a query from Ald. Robin Jeffrey who asked how the city's urban renewal study was coming along.

The Ottawa letter indicated there would be no further approval of urban renewal projects until government policy was decided. The report of the Ottawa study committee is expected some time early this year.

However, the Ottawa decision to temporarily withhold approvals on urban renewal schemes does not effect the study now under way for Belleville's downtown area and Foster Ward district.

The report of town planning engineers Proctor, Redfern, Bousfield and Bacon on the local urban renewal study is expected some time in late spring or early summer.

Under the existing policy the federal and provincial governments pay grants of up to 75 per cent of the cost of urban renewal studies and also for the carrying out of approved schemes.

Marlboros Best Bookworms in Junior Loop

by Maurice Switzer, Sports Editor

Underneath all those wrappings he looked like he might be a hockey player, this fine frost appearition I encountered early one crisp morning walking along Pinnacle Street.

His rubber boots squeaked on the snow-covered road surface as he trudged towards the arena, wrapped in an assortment of scarves, mittens, and sweater-bulged duffle-coat, topped by the familiar white plastic headgear.

He looked at me like I was a lunatic for being up at an hour when any self-respecting rooster would still be in bed, and I marvelled at how he could keep his eyelids open at 6 a.m. without the aid of toothpicks.

Squeak, squeak, the boots plodded by, heralding their owner as if by some homing device, across the deserted market square route to the arena.

When I awoke at work two hours later, my morning's encounter brought to mind that there are hundreds of youngsters in the city that make similar — if not quite so early — treks to Memorial St. in the network of participation that is minor hockey.

There are the dozens and dozens of ankle-skaters who fill the arena with squeals of delight in the packed house league schedules, and the prestigious all-star squads whose members are the envy of their block.

Minor hockey means the oversize team jacket that will fit him until he's 23; the goal he got that was only one of 16 scored in the game, but that is not one bit less important to him than Bobby Hull's fiftieth of the season; the discovery that things work better when teamwork is involved; and friends.

For some, minor hockey means spending a night or two that would have been ideal for curling, television, or bridge at the arena instead, in one of the team boxes trying to make sure each of your four lines gets an equal playing shift . . . and maybe making sure everybody's skates are done up.

It means driving to Kingston, Napanee, Toronto, and, in the event of playoffs, who knows how far?

It can mean being a part-time father, combination baby-sitter-chauffeur for a dozen-or-so boys when it's all you can do to keep track of your own.

All these things come into the spotlight during the week of Jan. 25, this year's designated Minor Hockey Week across Canada.

During those seven days, members of the Canadian public may be asked to buy a tag, help organize a parade, or sell chocolate bars to promote their local minor hockey organization.

There'll be plenty of slogans, like: "Don't send — take your boy to the arena — and stay to watch him play." or "To keep a boy out of hot water — put him on ice."

But there could be no greater donation to the cause of minor hockey — indeed, of any minor sport — than the demonstration of genuine interest.

There's a slogan for that, too: "Minor hockey is a MAJOR community affair.

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Marlboros may not be at the top of the 10-team Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, but they rate the best example for those concerned with combining education with hockey.

Last year, 16 of 18 players on the Marlboros roster attended school and all passed. The two others had already earned their Ontario Grade 13 diploma.

A survey by the OHA, of all 10 teams this season disclosed 87 per cent of all players are attending school, an increase of 17 per cent over the 1967-68 season. A total of 88 per cent of the hockey-playing students in the league earned promotion.

All but one of this season's Toronto team are attending school. The lone exception of the 19 registered Marlboros is goaltender Paul Hoganson, who works for a living.

Oshawa Generals also placed a high emphasis on education, as 14 of 15 players attending high school last year successfully passed into a higher grade.

At the other end of the educational scale, Montreal Junior Canadiens had the fewest students last season and retain that reputation this year.

Only one player with Hamilton Red Wings does not attend school this year, an increase from last season's list of seven non-students. This season, 13 Hamilton players attend high school and two others are university students.

The Toronto entry has always played a leading role in stressing the importance of education. Two years ago, when the Marlboros extended their playing season through Canadian championship playoffs and won the Memorial Cup, the team hired a tutor for the long road trips. They hired a second tutor in May, when the team played in the final at Fort William, Ont., to be involved in two straight 6-0 ties. The first was against St. Louis and the second at Oakland.

While there is little doubt as to the mid-season winners in the goaltending battle, the situation isn't quite as decisive in the scoring race.

Bobby Hull of Chicago appears to have the $500 award for leading the scoring race after all teams have played 38 games, but Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings could be nosed out of the $250 runner-up award by Phil Esposito of Boston.

Chicago and Detroit have both played 38 games, but Boston still has two to reach the half-way point.

Hull, who leads in goals with 37, has 56 points, four more than Howe.

Esposito has 49, which puts him in a third-place tie with Chicago's Stan Mikita. Howe and Mikita share the lead in assists with 34.

The Hart Ross Trophy, for the top scorer, and the Vezina are the only trophies this season which carry half-season awards.

Nevin's Return to Lineup Should Boost Rangers' Output

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New York Rangers may be getting ready once again to take a place among the leaders in the Eastern Division of the National Hockey League.

The Rangers, having difficulty scoring goals this season, broke out Sunday night with a 5-1 victory against Minnesota North Stars.

The five goals were the most scored by the Rangers in one game since last Oct. 30 when they blasted Pittsburgh Penguins 7-3.

With only 109 goals this season, the Rangers have been the worst team in the Eastern Division offensively. Toronto Maple Leafs have 110 goa s.

But the Rangers received some encouraging news Monday when it was announced right winger Bob Nevin, the team's leading scorer, would return to action Thursday night in Philadelphia.

In games tonight, Montreal Canadiens visit Minnesota North Stars and Los Angeles Kings meet the Blues at St. Louis. Wednesday, Philadelphia Flyers are at Toronto and St. Louis faces the Black Hawks at Chicago.

The Rangers are in fifth place with 43 points, two less than Chicago and Toronto but only six off the pace set by first-place Montreal.

The goals brought Gilbert's season total to 12. He has missed nine games with an ankle injury suffered in Toronto Dec. 7.

The return of Gilbert, a 29-goal scorer last season, and Nevin, a 28-goal man, could help the Rangers move up in the standings.

Allan Cup Champs Wind Up Sixth In Ahearne Series

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Canada's Victoriaville Tigers played to a gruelling 1-1 tie with AIK of Stockholm Monday and settled for sixth place in the final round of the 21-game Ahearne Cup hockey tournament.

Djurgaarden of Stockholm, who had clinched the title Sunday on points, won the cup for the third time.

In the other major international tournament, which ended Sunday—the Star Cup—Canada's Eastern National team finished third after a 3-2 defeat by reigning Swedish champions Brynaes.

It was a disappointing tournament for the Tigers, current leaders in the Quebec Senior League and defending Allan Cup champions.

Victoriaville started the tournament with a win but their play-and reputation—deteriorated with each defeat and a rising toll of penalties against them.

Team manager Paul Michel said the Canadians had difficulty in accustoming themselves to the large Swedish rinks and "because nervous as they felt they were not fulfilling public expectations."

Canada won the first tournament in 1953, and since then two Canadian teams have captured the prize—the Port Arthur Bearcats in 1961-62 and Sherbrooke Beavers in 1965-66.

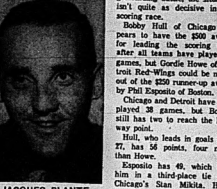
Plante's Play Wipes Away Smirks



MONTREAL (CP) — There were smirks and knowing looks among hockey people when St. Louis Blues drafted veteran goaltender Glenn Hall from Chicago Black Hawks in the Nation Hockey League's initial expansion draft in June 1967, after Hall had announced his retirement.

The looks turned to outright astonishment when one year later St. Louis coach Scotty Bowman softly slipped the name of Jacques Plante into the draft proceedings, picking him from New York Rangers, although Plante had been out of pro hockey since his retirement in 1965.

Hall, now 37, and Plante, almost 40, have since proved Bowman a shrewd judge in a hockey deal.

The two St. Louis veterans have such a lead in the goaltending race that it would take more than a dozen goals by Los Angeles Kings in tonight's game to put their mid-season Vezina Trophy lead in jeopardy.

The goaltenders for the team with the fewest goals against after each team has played 38 games—exactly half this season's schedule—share $250 as mid-season Vezina Trophy leaders.

JACQUES PLANTE

Considering that Los Angeles hasn't scored a goal in its last two games, the pair appear to be a shoo-in for the prize.

NHL statistics released today show that Plante, who leads the league in shutouts with five, has a fantastic average of 1.76 goals against per game, a mark he never attained even while winning six Vezina Trophy titles with Montreal Canadiens in the 1950s.

He and Hall, whose average is 2.46 and who has three shutouts, have a combined average of 2.11. Boston Bruins, with Gerry Cheevers and Ed Johnston, have a combined total of 91 goals against and a 2.53 average compared to 78 given up by the Plante-Hall combination.

Tonight's game is the 38th for St. Louis, while Boston has played 36.

The Kings also shared some of the defensive spotlight last week when they became the first team since at least 1946-47 to be involved in two straight 0-0 ties. The first was against St. Louis and the second at Oakland.

'Cha-Cha-Cha'

It looks like a dance lesson, or a ballet on skates, but the Belleville Mo-Hawks' Al Ferguson and Kingston Aces' Bob Brown had different things in mind. The two players were involved in a free-swinging fracas during Saturday night's OHA Senior A game in Kingston, won by the hometown Aces 8-0.

Rams' Boss Decides to Take Fired Coach Back into Fold

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A doctor helped heal the bizarre rift between the president and the coach of Los Angeles Rams.

Reeves explained at a news conference that he began to have second thoughts about his dismissal action a week ago.

Dr. Jules Rasinski Jr. called Reeves to say Allen had told him that he wanted to return as coach.

"I began to think about it," Reeves told reporters. "If a man is this dedicated, I thought I should reconsider."

The team doctor called again the next day and the owner told him that he would be glad to meet with Allen.

They met for three hours on New Year's Day at the Reeves home and again last Saturday.

On Monday, Reeves announced that Allen's contract, which has two years left to run, remains the same with the same salary—a reported $40,000 a year.

He would have made the same money if he had remained unemployed the next two years.

The firing of Allen shocked players and fans. Several veteran stars of the team threatened to retire or ask to be traded if the coach didn't return.

Reeves denied that the threat of the minor rebellion by players or mounting pressure from fans and news media influenced his decision.

"The reason I had were valid and sufficient in my mind," Reeves said of the firing. He refused to elaborate. But he said later that there was a difference of philosophy between himself and Allen.

"The man works 14 hours a day on football, and it is hard for someone on the outside—I mean someone not technically involved in football—to get through to George."

The owner and coach said they had agreed to forget past difficulties and strive for closer association in the future.

Allen, who remained at the news conference only a few minutes, read from a prepared statement:

"From the meetings which Dan and I have had in the last few days, it is clear that we have each, unintentionally, hurt each other.

"These discussions have, however, been greatly beneficial in establishing communications between us and thereby enabling us to view our problems with clarity and to resolve them with dignity.

"I am therefore very happy to be returning as Dan's coach. ..."

Allen, 46, came to the Rams in 1966 from Chicago where he had been defensive coach for the Bears. He took over a club which had been 4-10 in 1965 and posted records of 8-6, 11-3-2 and 10-3-1.

Super Bowl Feud

Namath Snipes at Morrall As Their Duelling Day Nears

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Joe Namath has started the Super Bowl's first feud.

Namath, quarterback of the American Football League champion New York Jets, said Monday on television that there were at least four better passers in the AFL than Baltimore Colts' Earl Morrall.

Namath listed Daryle Lamonica of Oakland Raiders, John Hadl of San Diego Chargers, Bob Griese of Miami Dolphins, and himself as better than Morrall, the National Football League's Player of the Year.

He also said his backup quarterback with the Jets, Babe Parilli, could have played with Baltimore this year, and might have done a better job than Morrall. He said Parilli throws better.

Namath said he didn't care if his observations stimulated Baltimore in Sunday's Super Bowl battle with the Jets for the professional football championship.

Coach Don Shula of the Colts heard about Namath's comments and replied:

"I don't know how Namath can rap Earl. . . . He had a great completion percentage, led the league in touchdown passes, threw for huge chunks of yardage. . . . We're happy with Earl."

Shula wasn't deterred from praising Namath as one of the top quarterbacks in the game.

Asked how he felt about his team being an 18-point favorite, Shula said he paid no attention to such things.

GORDIE HOWE'S HOCKEY TIPS

The goaltender isn't going to win this little battle.

He's badly out of position, having failed to follow the attacker as he swept across the goalmouth from the side.

The goalie is down and can't move fast enough to keep in the play. If he'd stayed on his feet he could have followed the play and probably saved a goal.

All the attacker has to do now is tap in a soft backhand.

Guy LaRush Gets Fifth At Greenwood

TORONTO (CP) — Guy LaRush, who ranked third among Canadian drivers in 1965 with 115 wins, drove Roxndale Cal to a $7.80 win in the fifth race at Greenwood Raceway Monday night.

It was the first start of the season for the nine-year-old pacer who won nine races in 34 tries last year.

Silver Duke, an $11.80 winner in the first race, and Success Jon combined for a $37.80 daily double. Success Jen paid $4.60.

The exacter of Willow Brook Darby and Jugler in the seventh race returned $76.80. Willow Brook Darby paid $19.00.

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Captain Song started the New Year off Monday night with a win in the fifth race to set up a $117.09 quinella at Windsor Raceway.

After going winless in 1968, Captain Song took the lead with two furlongs remaining in the mile pace to beat Duke Volo at the wire. Captain Song paid $12.05.

Royal Alex finished ahead of Speedy Battle in the seventh race for a $22 quinella. Royal Alex returned $8.10.

Phyllis Diller, driven by George Ursitti, won the featured eighth race by a length over Whirlwind Wick to pay $14.80.

The son of Camp Hanover and Miss Jerry won 13 of 19 starts this year.

Keith Waples, 45-year-old driver from Durham, Ont., was named horseman of the year and Brian James of London, Ont., was picked as the outstanding rookie.

At Contract Time...

Player Unrest Indicated By Reaction to Pension Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball players will receive their 1969 contracts in the mail next week, but there might be few signed and returned.

A poll of players indicates rejection of the club owners' proposal to add $1,000,000 annually into the player pension fund, Marvin Miller, director of the Major League Baseball Players' Association, said Monday.

The clubs must send out contracts by Jan. 15 and the association has recommended that the players not sign 1969 pacts until a pension agreement has been reached.

Miller said the first ballots received of about 800 mailed last week were unanimously against acceptance.

The association's executive committee recommended rejection of the owners' proposal and Miller told the players:

"In the meantime, it is of utmost importance that the players continue their support of the policy of not signing 1969 salary contracts until a satisfactory benefit plan has been reached.

"If players sign individual contracts, we will be forced to accept any meagre offer the owners' representatives care to make."

Bantams Best Picton

Belleville Kinsmen bantams resumed their winning ways last night, defeating Picton 7-1 after dropping a 4-2 decision Sunday in an exhibition game with the Kingston city all-stars.

In other recent action Blake Kerr's Imperial midgets played to a 1-1 tie with East York in an exhibition game Friday night and then dropped an 8-4 decision to Trenton Lions Sunday in a league game.

Danny Lupenette and Paul Ackerman each fired a pair of goals to pace the Kinsmen attack, and Brian Cousins, Mark Coates and Dave Smith added single goals in the rout of Picton.

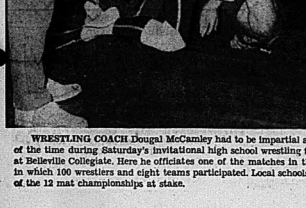
Moira Wrestlers Wipe Mats Clean

STAFF — Moira Secondary School wrestlers came to grips with their opponents in the zipper mauler Saturday and emerged with the team championship at BCI's first invitational wrestling tournament.

The Moira grapplers captured four firsts, two seconds and a fourth as they scored 69 points and dominated the eight - team tournament. More than 100 wrestlers competed in the tournament which was smaller than expected because unfavorable weather and poor road conditions forced seven teams to drop out at the last moment.



Belleville Secondary Schools emerged with seven of the 12 individual weight class championships, with Quinte winning two and host BCI one in addition to the four captured by Moira.

Quinte added two seconds and accumulated 48 points to edge out Peterborough Collegiate by four points and capture second place in the tournament. Peterborough captured two firsts, a second, a third and a fourth, to finish well ahead of Centennial, who came in fourth with 34 points on the basis of three second and one third-place finishes.

The teams point standings were:

1 Moira - 69
2 Quinte - 48
3 Peterborough Collegiate - 44
4 Centennial - 34
5 Cobourg - 29
6 Brighton - 26
7 Belleville Collegiate - 23
8 Campbellford - 18

Local wrestlers who captured individual championships were: B. Hinchey, Moira — 97 pound class; D. Akey, Moira - (105); K. McGarry, Moira - (114); T. Brunt, Quinte - (122); J. Spencer, Moira - (140); R. Scrivens, BCI - (167); W. Casselman, Quinte - heavyweight.

WRESTLING COACH Dougal McCamley had to be impartial at least part of the time during Saturday's invitational high school wrestling tournament at Belleville Collegiate. Here he officiates one of the matches in the tourney, in which 100 wrestlers and eight teams participated. Local schools won seven of the 12 mat championships at stake.

DESIGNED TO FILL THE EMPTY DAYS!

In 1890, James Naismith was trying to find a way to game in all the physical education curriculum between soccer football and baseball seasons. Basketball was the natural solution . . . and it's the only competitive sport of purely American origin!

There's a wonderful invention to fill all over the world. You'll no longer needed basketballs or cricket balls. Today's ad we call it an Intelligencer Ad . . . and you get it by dialing 962-9171.

To Your Good Health

Mother Fears Child-bearing Over

By Dr. Georgo C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Since the birth of my first child several months ago I have been haunted by a fear that I would not be able to have any more children.

I'm sure it is an unreasonable fear as there is no physical reason for me not to have more children.

My pregnancy was perfect and so was the birth. I was happier while I was pregnant than at any other time in my life.

Is it normal for a woman to have the kind of fear? At first I thought it might be just "after-birth-blues" which I read about, but it's been too long for that. — Mrs. A. J.

No, this fear is not normal. And it has none of the signs of post-partum depression, a severe depression which occasionally follows childbirth (your "after-birth blues").

Rather, I would assume that you have wanted children for a long time, wanted them very much, and developed an anxiety neurosis, or worry that has become quite obsessive.

Time (and another baby?) may set your fears at rest; however, that's a rather indefinite consolation right now, isn't it?

I suggest that you talk this over with your physician or obstetrician, and if he can't help put an end to this worry, you may even need a session or two with a psychiatrist.

Digging out the source of such emotional blockages as yours is one of the many ways in which short-term psychiatry can be helpful.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 60. One proctologist, after examining me, advises that I will soon need an operation for an enlarged prostate. Another doctor, a practicing M.D., advises that he can't prescribe medication, possibly many years, by massaging the prostate every couple of weeks.

This he has been doing several months. I can tell no difference; he says I am feeling larger. Is this massaging actually going to prevent the need the prostate operation? J. S.

Massage is one type of treatment, and it succeeds in preventing further enlargement; that's sometimes a loss.

But don't you see what you are doing? You are like a fellow considering a ticket to a ball game — and insisting on knowing in advance who's going to win before you buy the ticket.

Try the massage; if it keeps you from getting worse, that solves your problem. If it doesn't, have the surgery.

For further information of what the prostate does, how it gets out of whack, and what can be done to correct it, send my booklet The Pesky Prostate. To obtain a copy, send 30 cents (coin only, please) in long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What does adeno-carcinoma of the uterus mean? Would one biopsy be enough to tell? Would this warrant cobalt treatment? — A. E. W.

"Adeno" refers to glandular structures and "carcinoma" means cancer. Hence adenocarcinoma of the uterus would be cancer originating in the glandular portion of the uterus.

One negative biopsy would not be proof that cancer did not exist, but one positive biopsy is conclusive that cancer is present. Cobalt treatment, or perhaps surgery, might be used. It would depend on the extent of the malignancy and its location.

TV Column

Educational Television Program, Dull

NEW YORK (AP) — National Educational Television launched, with a marked lack of fireworks, an experimental venture that might be called a part-time network.

For the next six months, under substantial grants from the Ford Foundation and the Corporation for Public Broadcasting plus reduced rates by the telephone company, NET will broadcast simultaneously to some 130 stations for two hours on five nights a week.

NET, with its Ford Foundation growth, has been running programs on these stations on a once-a-week basis since last season.

The expanded project started Monday night with a discussion program keyed to Hong Kong involving four journalists analyzing the situation in Southeast Asia. Discussion shows are not common on television these days and more to the point was the second part, a film showing of starving Biafrans, caught in a power struggle.

The program was raggedly edited and indifferently filmed. It included interviews with leaders of Biafra explaining their war for self-determination, then long interviews with Nigerian leaders pursuing their own views.

But the heart of the program was the material showing small children so thin that every bone showed; and resigned and frightened older people.

Representatives of church groups explained with frustration that they can't provide enough food for refugees and dislocated families—one skimpy meal a day for most of them.

Educational stations are high-minded, worthy and concerned, but it does seem that a little showmanship in programming would help.

Commercial network viewers have a legitimate gripe about the timing of U.S. television's two pet cats, the Ed Sullivan shows. CBS has long turned over a Tuesday night hour to its own division, and sometimes the 10-11 p.m. period consists of a magazine-format show called 60 Minutes every other week.

Now NBC has come along with its new monthly magazine-format show called First Tuesday and dropped it into a time period in direct conflict. NBC, perhaps in a fit of conditioned reflex, has scheduled its new movie.

Viewers who catch the NBC premiere tonight will find an interview with Dr. Philip Blaiberg, the survivor of an early heart transplant, and another with Rita Hayworth. CBS at about the same time will have Otto Skorzeny — an SS (elite corps) colonel under Hitler, telling how he engineered the escape of Mussolini from Italian protective custody in 1943. There will also be an interview with Vice President-elect Spiro T. Agnew.

Greater Watchdog Authority Is Urged Over Work of Credit Reporting Groups

WINNIPEG (CP) — A research study published here urges greater watchdog authority over credit bureaus and other agencies which report on the credit-seeker's working, purchasing habits and general habits.

One recommendation is that all persons who are the subjects of a credit bureau report be notified that a report has been made and may be examined by them at the agency's office.

Others are that the commercial reporting industry should be regulated by means of licensing legislation, and that more publicity should be given to the existence of bureaus and services procedures of the credit agencies.

Co-authors of the study, Research Report No. 1 of the Legal Research Institute of the University of Manitoba, are Professor R. Dale Gibson and Assistant Professor John M. Sharp, both of the university's faculty of law.

Generally, the agencies operating in Canada are given high marks for integrity and accuracy, and recognition is given to the "extremely important role" the industry plays in a modern economy.

But the study adds that their activities do involve serious risks to the privacy of individuals through the danger of inaccurate or misleading information being reported and through the use of accurate information for unjustifiable purposes.

"Truth is a dangerous commodity," the authors say. "Even information which is entirely accurate is capable of causing grievous and unwarranted injury if used in a malicious or unreasonable manner."

But the inaccuracies, the potential sources of error and misunderstanding are many.

The informant may be mistaken. A clerical error in a business' books may result in a delinquency being reported in a credit bureau's files. An interviewed neighbor may pass on unwitting gossip. Material may mistakenly placed in the wrong file by a careless file clerk.

"There is no need to stress the very serious consequences that can flow from errors like these," the study says. "Refusal of employment, insurance, or even credit can cause grievous injury if used in the short and the long run, to the individual concerned and to his family."

The authors find that the present weakness of the credit-bureau industry is that, unlike most industries dealing with sensitive matters vital to the welfare of large numbers of people, it is almost free from government control or regulation.

In our opinion, the reporting profession should be subjected to the same type of public supervision that is imposed on other professions with great potentiality for harm.

A licensing scheme would ensure that all the reporting agencies provide adequate training for their employees and take all reasonable precautions against unauthorized disclosure. It would keep fly-by-night operators out of the field and it would ultimately improve the professional image in the eyes of the public."

The authors would also prohibit this agency from collecting information to officials of a foreign government but not the disclosure of information to Canadian government authorities, at least until the question of creating a general law of privacy has been studied more thoroughly.

They explain:

"Some of the largest reporting agencies operating in Canada are American companies or subsidiaries. One of these companies has announced in the United States that it does operate with government investigators. If this company or others were to provide information about Canadians to United States government officials, it might be some cause for concern in this country."

Shame Named Best Film By U.S. Movie Critics

NEW YORK (Reuters) — The Swedish film Shame, directed by Ingmar Bergman, was voted best movie of 1968 by the National Society of Film Critics Monday. Scandinavian entries dominated the awards.

Bergman was named best director.

Shame is a study of a couple's emotional turmoil as they live through a civil war without taking sides.

The society, representing film critics of U.S. national weekly and monthly publications, virtually ignored big-name Hollywood stars and movies in making its awards.

The critics selected Per Oscarson of Sweden as best actor for his performance in Hunger, a Scandanavian co-production based on the novel of the same name by the late Norwegian Nobel Prize-winning author Knut Hamsun.

Norwegian star Liv Ullman won the best actress award for her performance in Shame.

American actor Seymour Cassel was voted best supporting actor for his role in Faces, a totally realistic drama of contemporary American life. John Cassavetes, who directed and wrote Faces, won the award for best screenplay of the year.

British actress Billie Whitelaw was chosen best supporting actress for her part in Charlie Bubbles, about a bored divorced writer.

Second Crash in Two Weeks Kills 11 at Bradford Airport

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — For the second time in two weeks, an Allegheny Airlines prop-jet crashed in bad weather while trying to land at the airport here.

Eleven persons were killed. Seventeen others, most of them left hanging from their seatbelts when the Convair 580 flipped upside down Monday night, crawled to safety on a snow swept golf course.

A 10-man investigating team from the National Transportation Safety Board, concerned about the "amazing similarities" of the two accidents, went to work today to find out what happened.

A similar team has been investigating the Christmas Eve crash of an Allegheny flight eight miles away that killed 20 of 47 persons aboard.

"There was no panic," said Sandy Chestnut of North East, Pa., a passenger. "It all happened too fast. The 'no-smoking' sign hint already come on and the stewardess was checking the seat belts."

Suddenly, said Jolis Schacks, 16, of Mechanicsburg, Pa., "it felt like someone was slamming the left side with a hammer."

"We can into tree limbs, turned over and slid. I wound up hanging upside down. Somone yelled to go out the back."

Outside the survivors organized and went back for those who couldn't get out.

"No one was thinking of themselves," said Chet Messery, 56, of Downingtown, Pa. "We were just trying to get out everybody we could. The school boys were wonderful. They handled themselves like men. I'm proud of them."

Allegheny Airlines, which has had three fatal plane crashes since it started flying passengers in 1958, said it had no reason to believe there is any link between the two accidents near the 2,100-foot-high Bradford Regional Airport. There are no plans to stop any flights, a spokesman said.

The latest crash was Flight 737, which originated in Washington, stopped in Harrisburg and was bound for Erie and Detroit. The first crash was Flight 736, which goes the other way.

Both were Convair 580s, both were making instrument landings in snow, both turned over. Both had more survivors than dead. Both were coming in after severe winter storms. Neither pilot gave any warnings. Both took place about 8:30 p.m.

Aberlin Gold "said safety officials he could think of only two explanations: "The flight chart for the airport is off, or there is somebody in the area with a citizens' band radio operating on the same frequency as the airport."

Andras Tells Indians Treaties Being Studied

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal cabinet minister Monday told a group of Indians demanding ancient treaty rights that the whole subject of Indian treaties is under examination.

Robert Andras, minister without portfolio, said, however, that quick government action on treaty obligations is rather likely nor possible. Action was months away.

He spoke in his Commons office to a six-man delegation from the St. Regis Indian reserve near Cornwall.

The six had taken part in a demonstration Sunday protesting the right of the Canadian government to impose duty on U.S. goods brought back by Indians across the international bridge at Cornwall.

Mr. Andras, who has special responsibilities "in Indian affairs, said he could not restore rights under the Jay Treaty, which has never been ratified by Parliament.

Mr. Andras declined an Indian request for a meeting with a federal official to discuss the treaty and other problems of the St. Regis reserve. He offered to meet with them himself on future occasions.

He said the federal government has consulted Indian representatives on new Indian policy and will try to work out better methods of consultation.

Frank Thomas, one of the delegation, said later that Mr. Andras "seems to talk pretty nice" but the Indians' body home and himself too were getting impatient with delays.

They are also trying to arrange a meeting with Governor-General Michener for next week.

After their 1¼-hour session with Mr. Andras they discussed Jay treaty with a surprised official of the U.S. embassy who invited them up to his office when they walked in the front door.

At the meeting with Mr. Andras, the minister also told Mr. Thomas that he doubted the Canadian government would agree to the Mohawks forming their own country within Canada. Mr. Thomas said there is support for this move among Indians.

Drugs for Cuban Child Turned Back at Miami

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — An official of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital said Monday postal authorities have refused to forward anti-leukemia drugs to a five-year-old child in Cuba.

Carl Simmons, administrator of the hospital, said the drugs shipped to Dr. Hugo Benaret in Havana Dec. 30 were returned to the Memphis hospital with markings that showed they had been halted in Miami.

Benaret's daughter, Julie Marie, has leukemia and the physician contacted Miami radio station WQAM by telegram, Simmons said.

He heard the station broadcast an Associated Press story telling of a new medicine being developed by the Memphis hospital that eliminated leukemia symptoms in 21 of 24 children to whom it was administered.

Jack O'Quinn of the Miami station in turn contacted the Memphis hospital and they called Benaret in Cuba. Spanish-speaking St. Jude staff physician Dr. Rhoenes Aur got the little girl's case history from her father and agreed to send the drugs.

Simmons said Monday he was unaware why the drugs were returned.

Priest Dislikes Quick Change So Leaves Holland for Canada

THE HAGUE (AP) — A 52 year-old Roman Catholic priest is emigrating to Canada because, he says, he does not like the speed with which the church is being changed.

Rev. J. de Bouvere says that the bishop of Kingston, Ont., has promised him a parish.

Ten years ago he was refused permission to emigrate, he says, but now he has the permission of the bishop of Rotterdam.

De Bouvere said: "I am not against renovations in the church, but against the methods used and the excesses involved.

"It appears as if they are prepared to take the risk of a break with Rome.

"Through my departure I want to draw the attention to the group of Roman Catholics who are not merely conservative but who don't like the haste and the methods for the church renovation."

Asked why he chose Canada, he recalled that he had been there once and that he has no trouble speaking English.

In Kingston, Archbishop J. L. Wilhelm said Monday he accepted Father de Bouvere for work in the diocese because he was "highly recommended by priests who knew him."

The archbishop said this was the only reason the priest was accepted.

Father de Bouvere will be assisting in a parish for "an experimental period," Archbishop Wilhelm said.

Turbos Make Last Journeys

TORONTO (CP) — Two CNR turbo trains completed their last Toronto-to-Montreal run Monday before being temporarily withdrawn from service. All five speed with which the church is being changed.

Rev. J. de Bouvere says that the bishop of Kingston, Ont., has promised him a parish.

Ten years ago he was refused permission to emigrate, he says, but now he has the permission of the bishop of Rotterdam.

Strictly Personal

Trouble-makers Needed

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A high school history teacher was saying the other day that he wished he had a few "trouble-makers" in his class. "The problem with most of my kids," he said, "is that they are too passive and uninterested. They don't seem to have any particular values at all."

I think he is right, and we ought to be grateful for our dissident students in the colleges — who, after all, are deeply concerned with values and goals, even if they don't happen to be the values or goals of The Establishment.

The great majority of students are not so much dutiful as they are unconcerned. Most of them are disenchanted with the educational and social structure they have grown up in, but they aren't looking for ways to reform or improve it . . . they live in a moral and intellectual void, trying to get decent grades and then a satisfactory job.

But that isn't enough these days. Whatever the faults of the college dissidents and there are plenty—they at least recognize that time is running out on the world, that it is not realistic merely to reject old standards without proposing some positive substitutions. To make no choice, as William James said long ago, is itself a choice.

"I believe that they (college students) are protesting the basic values, or rather the lack of values on the part of many, if not most, businessmen of my generation, other than the usual regard for growth and profit. It is, in my opinion, our failure as businessmen to recognize and emphasize individual rights and the need to improve the quality of society that closes channels of communication between us and the generation whose support we need and must have."

Whether we agree or disagree with the dissenters, it is a fact that they care about society, about the future, about war and poverty and prejudice. Their tactics may be distressing, or their solutions wrong, but they are filling a vacuum that no other segment of society is concerned with. It is up to us to channel their energy and idealism into productive paths, not to sneer, to scorn, or to shut them up.

Our real threat comes from the uninvolved, the disengaged, the blank-eyed students who simply go through the motions of conforming and believe nothing — who cynically reject the values of the past without embracing any standard for the future except safety, security and self-satisfaction.

Jean Dixon's Horoscope

For January 8

Your birthday today: Decision making will be your lot in the coming year. A greater portion of your time will be filled with serious meditation. When needed privacy is not available, decisions hinder your morale and confidence. Escapist manoeuvres are costly to the extreme. Today's natives can make great progress in conquering limitations and are at their best striving for an ambitious goal.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): A little extra effort bring a broader results. Surprisingly useful assistance from a people not expected to help. Health concern should reflect as better care and saner habits.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Seek advice and backing from influential individuals. If your projects justify presentation. This evening line up accounts and improve your budget.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Activity is on research fronts. Take your findings to the boss; it could mean a raise. our friends all have different ideas; let them talk, but go right ahead with what is important to you.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Competition is more visible; your work responds accordingly. Do postponed errands during lunch hour. Clear out old equipment, clutter; this is the only way to make room for timely replacements.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Chores should be done early. (The later hours fade in efficiency.) Visitors are probable social manifestation in your home this evening. Relax, let things follow a normal drift.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): ou are much harder on yourself than anybody else could be. Let up a little, and others will let up a bit too. Spend the evening in serious study with some emphasis on music.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Open up a bit, in a lighter vein. Try to settle pending questions. Show off your prized possessions. Pursue romantic interests tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): our friends may seem frivolous; but it's a good idea to join them. Monday is the most energetic part of the day. Make early provision to cover the evening's dining out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Meet competition with your best foot forward and you will have good results. Family situations come to turning points. Bear with the big changes necessary now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Everybody wants something, usually something you can't give at the moment. Patience is rewarding. Do what you have to without spoiling later efforts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): ou can't get at the people responsible for problems, or solutions. The best answer is your persistent effort along conservative lines.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Find time for some exercise. The more drive and energy you bring to your work and play, the better. Go after the things you feel are yours.

Trudeau Describes Blonde as 'Indiscreet' -- Finds Another Date

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau Monday described his Saturday luncheon date as indiscreet and went dining and dancing with another woman who, he said, would not talk to reporters.

Trudeau aides declined to give the name of the second prime ministerial date, an English girl, but said Trudeau had known her for a couple of years.

She was between 30 and 32 years of age.

The 49-year-old bachelor prime minister took his date to Annabel's, a swinging restaurant and discotheque in affluent Berkley Square.

They were accompanied by Gordon Gibson, his executive assistant, and Gibson's wife.

The society question here now is: Will Trudeau have a female escort for the Queen's dinner for Commonwealth leaders tonight?

Trudeau's Saturday luncheon date was Eva Rittinghausen, 35, self-described jet-set divorcee and friend of Greek multi-millionaire Aristotle Onassis who married Jacqueline Kennedy last year.

Trudeau was obviously annoyed about Miss Rittinghausen giving a blizzard of newspaper, radio and television interviews about their meeting.

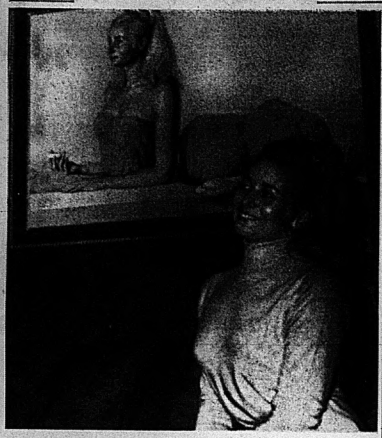
"My personal friends do not talk about me in public," he added.

"If they do, they are not friends but passing acquaintances."

Eva at first told reporters her married name was Rittinghausen. Later, she said it is her maiden name and refused to give her married one.

Her stepbrother, Herman Schaad, a catering manager at a Vancouver hotel, said Miss Rittinghausen was indiscreet in telling reporters she and the prime minister "are in love."

He said he rarely hears from her, getting an occasional postcard. "Eva is very beautiful, a Grace Kelly in looks, but no-where as discreet I'm afraid."



About her age, he said: "She's a bit older than the 35 she is said to be, but I guess 35 sounds fine and it's not much of."

Aides said Trudeau had not seen the divorcee, who has a 13 year-old son in Europe, since last summer but that she had telephoned him a couple of times in Ottawa.

He had telephoned her Saturday after his arrival here for the Commonwealth conference opening today.

Asked about his Monday night date Trudeau said: "A very nice girl and I'm sure she won't talk to you."

She met the prime minister at his hotel and they went dining and dancing for some three hours.

Trial for Sirhan Sirhan Could Be Postponed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan was to go on trial today in a heavily guarded courtroom on charges he murdered Senator Robert F. Kennedy, but there was a possibility the defence would seek a fourth postponement.

Grant B. Cooper, one of three defence lawyers, said Monday it might be in Sirhan's best interests if the trial were delayed.

Cooper has been ordered to appear this afternoon in U.S. district court to answer a federal grand jury's questions — which he has said he will not do — or show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court. The Sirhan case was to start several hours before Cooper's federal court appearance.

Cooper cannot be taken off the Sirhan case except at Sirhan's request. Cooper could withdraw. However, another defence lawyer, Russell Parsons, has said he would not be willing to proceed without Cooper.

Cooper has said he would refuse to answer grand jury questions on how he came to possess secret transcripts in the Friars' Club card cheating case because of the "lawyer-client" relationships. His client was one of five convicted of cheating club members.

Defence motions and jury selection are expected to take two weeks and presentation of evidence by both sides two months or more. There are indications that more than 200 witnesses will be called.

Sirhan, 24, a Jordanian who came to the United States as a boy with his family, is accused of shooting Kennedy last June 5 in a kitchen corridor of the Ambassador Hotel as the New York senator left a victory celebration following California's Democratic presidential primary.

Five bystanders were wounded, and Sirhan also is being tried on five counts of assault with intent to commit murder.

The trial will be held in a tiny armor-plated eighth floor courtroom in the Hall of Justice. Windows have been covered with quarter-inch sheets of steel. Sirhan, arrested at the shooting scene, is held in a cell on the 13th floor.

Judge Herbert V. Walker, 69, will hear the trial in Superior Court. Walker decreed the death penalty 21 years ago for Caryl Chessman, convicted kidnap-rapist who died in the gas chamber in 1960 after 12 years of appeals.

David N. Fitts, Lynn Compton and John Howard of the district attorney's office will handle the prosecution.

Sirhan's chief counsel, Cooper, is a former president of the Los Angeles County Bar Association. Like Parsons, he is a former deputy district attorney. The third defence lawyer is Emile Zola Berman of New York City.

At a preliminary hearing, Sirhan pleaded not guilty but did not enter a separate plea of not guilty by reason of insanity. This is permissable under California law.

However, if he is found guilty, Sirhan could be saved from the gas chamber by a provision of California law which recognizes that a person may be legally sane yet not fully responsible for his actions.

This is known as "diminished responsibility" and allows a verdict short of first-degree murder and a lesser penalty than death. Although little known outside California, the technicality has been reinforced by several court decisions since 1960.

Among the expected witnesses are Sirhan's mother Mary and brothers Adel, 29, and Munir, 21, of nearby Pasadena. Sirhan lived with them. Also expected to testify are several persons who say they saw Sirhan fire at Kennedy with a small-calibre pistol.

New Department Organizes Slowly

OTTAWA (CP) — A new federal government department of supply and services is slowly being organized and statutory powers for it are likely to be sought from Parliament late this winter.

Informants say that the department, built from components of the existing defence production department and some other government offices and services, probably will have two deputy ministers.

Gordon W. Hunter, deputy minister of defence production, is slated to become deputy minister of supply. H. R. Balls, former comptroller of the treasury, was designated deputy minister of services last July.

The new department, to be headed by Defence Production Minister Don Jamieson, will be a general purchasing and services department for all other government departments.

In this, it will absorb several government offices now concerned with printing, including the Queen's Printer and government printing bureau in Hull, Que.

The Commons and Senate are to be asked this spring to pass legislation ratifying the revision of government departments which has been under way since last summer.

Quinte Farmer Believes Canadian Corn Could Feed Starving

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

Canada could greatly improve its world influence and image by becoming the bread basket for hungry people in underdeveloped countries.

This is the feeling of Howard Weese, well known Carrying Place farmer, who yesterday in Toronto came up with a proposal for this country to supply corn to needy countries.

The proposal was made in a one-man brief presented to the special committee on farm income.

In an interview later with The Intelligencer, Mr. Weese suggested that some of the millions being spent by Canada for national defense might be used to supply corn to hungry people in other countries.

"It would improve Canada's influence and Canada could become the market basket for the world," he said.

Mr. Weese's suggestion was that Canada buy Ontario corn and give it to the needy countries.

During the presentation of his brief Mr. Weese displayed three types of dried sweet corn which he said could be ground and mixed with skim milk powder to make many of the products that are common foods in some countries.

"This product might take some time to catch on in Canada where the housewife has been conditioned to convenience foods," the Carrying Place farmer said.

"But to our neighbors in Central and Southern America dried corn has always been a staple food. Many of these neighbors still go hungry to bed. We can do nothing better to insure our future than to insure theirs."

Mr. Weese claims that dried sweet corn has a better flavor than canned or frozen varieties.

He said he had been experimenting for several years with methods of drying sweet corn grown on his own farm.

The best method, he said, was to husk and blanch the corn at its late stage and shell it only after a lengthy drying period.

He admitted later to The Intelligencer that drying sweet corn was "tricky" because of the high sugar content of the corn which made it susceptible to moulding.

To avoid moulding such corn had to be dried by mechanical heater units before being placed in cribs for air-drying.

Mr. Weese has long experience in the growing of sweet corn for canning, and grows approximately 300 acres of this crop annually.

Everett Biggs, deputy minister of agriculture and chairman of the special committee on farm income, said the meeting's major concern was with the problem of field corn grown largely as a cattle feed.

He promised, however, that Mr. Weese's brief would be referred to the agricultural department's research staff for investigation.

Ottawa Police Hold Two In Highway Murder Case

By ROY PEACOCK

And This Is Fair Weather?

This big snow-obliterated electrical sign over a Belleville Plaza store appears to be something of a misnomer, to say the least. The sign says fair weather but the snow shroud rather contradicts the point.

Guns Being Tested

OTTAWA (CP)—Police said today they are holding two men for questioning in connection with last Friday night's double murder on a highway near Carp, Ont.

Ottawa city police confirmed the arrests of Donald Joseph Phillion, 28, and David Breault, 23. Phillion was picked up late Tuesday. His arrest led to Breault's arrest today.

Chief Inspector J. S. McBride of the provincial police criminal investigation branch was conferring with Crown Attorney John Cassells at 11 a.m. EST and an announcement from OPP headquarters was expected.

Police said earlier that a third man was being held in Windsor, Ont.

The chief inspector told reporters Tuesday that Phillion and Breault were two men he wanted to talk to particularly about the shooting of Gerald MacDonald, 31, and Kenneth D. Vallee, 42.

Progressive Slovak Gets Czech Reformer's Post

PRAGUE (Reuters) — Czechoslovak Communist leaders chose Petr Colotka, a progressive-leaning Slovak, to replace Czech reformer Josef Smrkovsky as head of the federal parliament.

A communique from the 21-man party presidium issued late Tuesday night proposed that Smrkovsky be first deputy president of the new parliament as well as head of one of its two equal chambers, the House of the People.

The party announcement recommended Dalibor Hanes, a little known deputy from Slovakia, as chairman of the second chamber, the House of Nations.

It also gave way to recent reformist criticism of a clampdown on information. Observers here said the presidium communique read over Prague radio appeared to be an accelerated effort by the party to put an end to the huge campaign backing Smrkovsky for the parliamentary job.

Colotka was appointed Jan. 1 as deputy premier in the new federal government. He recently held the unpopular post of heading a government commission supervising a reimposition of press censorship.

While some workers groups appeared to be backing the party line, it was still not clear whether Smrkovsky's supporters would not consider the appointment an unacceptable second best.

But Smrkovsky said Sunday he would obey the decisions of concerned bodies on his future — now all but sealed with the presidium proposal to the central committee.

Sirhan's Lawyers Fight Indictment

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defence motions to set aside Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's indictment and his plea of not guilty come before Judge Herbert V. Walker today as his trial resumes on charges of murdering Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

The trial opened formally Tuesday. Within minutes, one of Sirhan's lawyers asked for a closed session in Walker's chambers to discuss motions. After an hour in chambers, four motions were introduced in open court and Walker—after ruling against two—directed the defence to submit written requests today on the others.

The defence also asked Walker for a 30-day delay to prepare the motion on Sirhan's plea and the jury list and requested two juries—one to decide Sirhan's guilt or innocence, the other to set the penalty if he is convicted. Walker ruled against both.

Sirhan, 24, a Jordanian who came to the United States as a boy, was neatly dressed in a grey suit, white, buttoned down shirt and blue tie. He waved to his lawyers as he entered the heavily guarded, 75-seat courtroom. He sat next to them at the left, end of the long counsel table but made no public statements.

Sirhan is charged with shooting Kennedy to death and wounding five bystanders just after the New York senator proclaimed victory in California's Democratic presidential primary. Bystanders seized Sirhan after shots rang out as Kennedy walked through a crowded kitchen area of the Ambassador Hotel, site of the victory rally.

One of the defence lawyers, Grant B. Cooper, told reporters after Tuesday's court session that "it would be silly to deny he did it."

France Defends Arms Sales Ban

PARIS (Reuters) — France said today she imposed a total ban on arms deliveries to Israel to prevent "bloody chaos" in the Middle East.

A government spokesman spent an hour with President de Gaulle after a cabinet meeting and then read a statement to reporters attacking the Israeli raid on Beirut airport Dec. 28 as "unacceptable and unjustifiable."

The statement, giving the reasons for France's decision to impose a total ban on arms deliveries to Israel, was strongly critical of Israeli policy since the start of the war in June, 1967.

The statement today said France helped Israel up to the point when "Israel adopted an aggressive attitude" in June, 1967.

"It was Israel which attacked first and seized territories which former arrangements had not given to it," it added.

The spokesman, Joe le Heule, said the Beirut airport attack led France to take an urgent immediate decision to ban exports of military spare parts as well as offensive weapons which were covered by an earlier embargo. This ban imposed in 1967 cut off delivery of 50 Mirage jets.

French policy is aimed at establishing a durable peace in the Middle East, the subject of close Franco-Soviet consultations in recent weeks, he said.

Trudeau's Aide Phones Blonde Asked to Stop Talking

LONDON (CP) — A member of Prime Minister Trudeau's staff has telephoned Eva Rittinghausen to ask her to stop talking to the press, it was learned today.

The telephone call was made after Miss Rittinghausen told reporters that Trudeau stood her up Monday night.

The blonde divorcee, born near Kentville, N. S., of German parents, lost practically no time in telling the press about the call from the prime ministerial aide, who has not been identified by name.

Trudeau took Miss Rittinghausen, a wealthy self-styled member of the jet set, to lunch in a Chelsea restaurant Saturday. Since then she has given a shower of interviews to press, radio and television.

Trudeau indicated Monday he would not date Miss Rittinghausen again because of her indiscreet talking.

That evening he took Jennifer Hales, 34-year-old London actress, to dine and dance at Annabel's nightclub in May-fair, accompanied by an aide and his wife.

Miss Hales has preserved a discreet silence. Her mother was quoted in The Daily Express as saying:

"Jennie is quite astonished at all the fuss. There is no romance really. They are just old friends."

Trudeau III

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau was unable to attend the afternoon session of the Commonwealth conference today because he was "feeling a bit fluish," his aides reported.

Race Relations Row Simmers at Parley

LONDON (AP) — A row over race relations rimmered behind the scenes of the Commonwealth conference today and threatened to breach the surface calm of the 28-nation summit meeting.

The dispute pitted Africans against Asians and both Africans and Asians against the British. The West Indians were anxious spectators.

Ministers of eight involved countries agreed to form a special group to study ways of regulating the flow of Commonwealth migrants to Britain. But some delegates feared this might be a device to sidetrack the issue. Pakistani Foreign Minister Arshad Husain served notice he might raise the problem before the full conference in Marlborough House.

At stake is the future of thousands of persons of Asian descent who soon may seek new homes in Britain after losing their livelihoods in such African Commonwealth countries as Kenya, Uganda and Zambia.

The Asians are being forced out because the African governments want their businesses for their own people. Most of the Asians hold British passports. But Britain now has severe curbs on immigration and wants the Asians to go to the countries their forebears came from, India and Pakistan. Neither one wants them and feels the immigrants are solely a British responsibility.

Delegates from the West Indies were reported insisting on a thorough review of Commonwealth migration trends. Many of Britain's 1,000,000 colored immigrants come from the Caribbean islands, and their home governments don't want them to be the victims of new prejudices resulting from the influx of Asians.

Interim Tax Levy Shows Four Mill Hike

The 1969 Belleville tax rate won't be struck for some weeks but already the machinery for the collection of the first two interim tax instalments has been set into motion.

City council at its first regular meeting of the new year on Monday passed the bylaw providing for the levying of an interim rate, and also for borrowing of up to $5,022,000 to meet money requirements until taxes are collected.

And, reflecting the inflationary trend of doing municipal business, the amount of the interim levy for residential property this year will be 20 mills — up four mills from last year.

The interim rate for business property will be 23 mills.

The interim billing will be divided into two instalments, the first payable Feb. 28, and the other on April 30.

City Treasurer John J. Groha said that up to 50 per cent of the previous years' total tax rate can be collected through the interim billing levy. Last year's residential rate in the city was 41.7 mills.

The tax collector said this year's increased interim tax levy would increase the city's cash flow and enable the corporation to more easily meet school board money requirements.

To make for a better informed public on municipal tax matters, Mr. Groha said that this year a special information bulletin would be included when interim bills are mailed out.

The information bulletin, either on the reverse side of the tax bill or on a separate sheet, will explain the new county school board organization and will also point out that city council is in no way responsible for determining school costs.

"In the collection of school taxes, council is acting only as agents for the school board," said Mr. Groha.

Also to be explained in the tax information bulletin will be the provincial government tax rebate for residential properties, the education tax relief for owners over 65, the purpose of the interim billing and the due dates for paying of instalments.

Location of Airport Seven Years in Offing

It may be years before the Quinte area knows a federal government decision on location of a new super jetport.

But the time lag is not discouraging sponsors of the project.

"We realized from the beginning this was a pretty long-term thing we were talking about," admits William B. Lane, Picton barrister who heads a local group hopefully boosting the Prince Edward County Lake Ontario shoreline as the site for a new international airport.

Yesterday, communities bidding for federal government attention in the search for a major air terminal site outside Toronto learned they may have to wait up to 15 years.

The news was imparted to a delegation from the Whitby-Oshawa area that met with Transport Minister Hellyer.

Ed Broadbent, NDP MP for Oshawa Whitby who accompanied the delegation, told reporters the group learned that the limited expansion planned for Toronto International Airport is supposed to be adequate until 1983.

Therefore, the transport department might not commit itself to a definite location for a second airport until 1975 or 1976.

Mayor Desmond Newman of Whitby, who led the 14-man delegation boosting his area, said he came primarily seeking information on the government's airport plans.

The information imparted the Whitby group, first community promoters to gain a federal hearing, was no surprise to the Quinte boosters.

"We knew from the start the government wasn't planning anything until about 1980," said Mr. Lane today.

Trenton Adds Man To Board

TRENTON — Trenton will have a majority representation on its own board of police commissioners.

Hubert James Campbell, 58, has been appointed a member of the local police commission. Other commissioners are Mayor James MacDonald and Judge J. C. Anderson.

Mr. Campbell, president of Miller Bros. paper mill at Glen Miller, is replacing Judge W. R. Phillips, of Peterborough.

Mayor MacDonald was happy about the new appointment.

"This is something Trenton has wanted for years," he said.

Festival chairman Linton Read told members that choirs and other group entries would likely bring the total number of performers to about 1,000.

Councillor Walks Out Of Caucus

TRENTON — A town councillor walked out of a caucus here Monday and said Mayor James MacDonald should exercise more control of council.

Councillor Douglas Kinney, in his second year on council, said he would not attend another council meeting until he has assurance the mayor will use more control over councillors.

"I'm tired of being labelled as being against progress whenever I vote the opposite way to councillor (Poul) Tripp," he said. "As far as I'm concerned when a vote is taken that's the end of it."

Councillor Tripp's version of the closed-meeting episode differed from Councillor Kinney's.

He said he was attempting to make a point in a discussion when Councillor Kinney interrupted him twice.

Councillor Kinney said he wants assurance from Mayor MacDonald on the conduct of future meetings.

Pine Acres Group Awaits Decision on Tax Reduction

By ROBERT AVERY
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Residents of Pine Acres subdivision are still awaiting word on a possible 25 per cent reduction in property assessment values.

Approximately one month ago 17 homeowners from that subdivision filed complaints against Riverview Speedway at a court of revision. They claimed the nearness of the track to their homes had a detrimental effect on the values of both dwellings and property.

Residents aired their complaints in a marathon afternoon session at Murray Township council chambers Dec. 17 and were promised an answer in the near future.

Court of revision official Read Budge, said that any decision made would only be a temporary solution to the problem.

Today, James Day, spokesman for the Pine Acres group, stated that there has been no word from the court of revision and no one knows when, to expect one.

"I was talking to Dr. Bunt (vice-president of the Pine Acres association) and he hasn't heard anything yet," said Mr. Day.

And county assessment office, Victor Houston, says he doesn't know when a decision will come.

"I believe there is some sort of statutory time limit on a situation such as this, but I don't know exactly what it is," he said.

Centennial Parks Board Will Be Dissolved

TRENTON — Town council Monday concurred with a request that the Centennial parks board be dissolved.

The request was submitted by Robert Carleton, president of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Carleton said he believed the board had served its purpose during Centennial year for which it was created.

"Additional and unnecessary problems would face this board if it continued as a separate entity," he stated in a letter to council last night.

He believed the proposed amalgamation of the parks board with the recreation and Community Gardens boards strengthened his recommendation for dissolution of the parks board.

"The board's job has been done, and it can do nothing further," said Mayor James MacDonald as he and council agreed to terminate the existence of the two-year-old board.

IN MEMORIAM

WOOD — In loving memory of a dear mother Barbara Ann who passed away Jan. 8, 1967.

I had all the world to give I'd give it, yes, and more,
To hear your voice, and see her smile,
And greet her at the door,
But all I can do dear mother is go and tend your grave,
And leave behind tokens of love, the best mother God ever made,
I like to think in heaven my life is done,
Where heaven has its share,
She'll be standing at the door,
Up there to welcome me.

—Lovingly remembered by daughter-in-law Linda, grandchildren Debbie, David and Sherry Lynn.

WOOD — In loving memory of my mother, Barbara Ann Wood, who passed away Jan. 8, 1967.

Though time as my eyes do not glisten,
And my face is not always sad,
There is never a night or a morning,
But I think of the wife I had.
Not a day do I forget you,
Dear heart you are always here,
For I loved you and miss you,
As I only the second year.

—Lovingly remembered by husband George.

WOOD — In loving memory of a dear mother Barbara Ann who passed away Jan. 8, 1967.

Sadly missed and longed for,
There's a sad deep in my heart,
There the sun will always shine,
For you will never be another to me.

Like rain, Wonderful mother of mine.

—Lovingly remembered by son Douglas.

MRS. DOUGLAS MONTGOMERY
(Sudbury - Frankford)

FRANKFORD — The funeral for Mrs. Helen Marie Montgomery, 346 Homewood Ave., Sudbury and formerly of Frankford, who died suddenly by an accident at Sudbury on New Year's Day was held from the Rowe Funeral Home, Frankford, on Sunday afternoon.

The service was conducted by Rev. John Weeks, who also said the graveside prayers at Stockdale Cemetery. On Saturday evening the members of the Order of Eastern Star Chapter No. 118 of Trenton held a memorial service in the Funeral Home.

The bearers were Frank Moran, Harold Haggerty, Edward Sykes, Ray Rumney, Richard Reid and Harry Wickson.

Mrs. Montgomery was born in Murray township, 37 years ago, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Carriesworth. She had resided in Sudbury for the past year and spent most of her life in the Frankford area.

She was a member of St. Andrew's United Church in Sudbury. Fraternally she was a member of the OES, Chapter No. 118, Trenton.

Surviving are her husband, Douglas Montgomery, two sons, Mark and Brian at home.

Also surviving is a stepmother, Mrs. Ella Charlesworth and three step-brothers, Ernest Anderson, Belleville; Kenneth of Toronto and Charles of Trenton.

ALEX SERO

Following a brief illness, Alex "Mick" Sero, Shannonville former champion softball and baseball star with Point Anne teams and ardent angler and hunter, died at his residence on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Sero was born at Point Anne, 54 years ago, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sero and had resided in the community all his life.

At an early age he joined the Canada Cement Company at Point Anne in the maintenance department and had 37 years of service with the company. He enlisted in 1942 with army service corps at Petersborough, served overseas and was discharged in 1946 and rejoined the cement company.

He was a keen baseball and fielder with both the provincial championship teams in baseball and softball, sponsored by Canada Cement Company. He also played with the Belleville junior baseball team and later with the Alemite team. He was an excellent fielder and wielded a strong bat. When not playing ball he could be found on his favorite stream or river and in the winter took to the woods for hunting.

Mr. Sero was a member of Holy Trinity Anglican Church at Shannonville. He was an active member of the Royal Canadian Legion at Desercnto.

Surviving are his wife, the former Margarette "Peggy" Peterson, one son, Gary Robert Sero at home and one daughter, Mrs. Larry (Vicky) Lewis of Belleville.

Also surviving is one brother, James Sero, Point Anne; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Brant, Sarnia; Mrs. Gordon (Kay) Lewis, Mrs. Charles (Phoebe) Howard, both of Belleville; Mrs. Arthur (Mae) Hill, Deseronto and one granddaughter, Sherry Lee Lewis.

Mr. Sero is resting at the John R. Bush Funeral Home. Service will be held in the chapel on Friday at 1.30 p.m.

Interment will be in Christ Church Cemetery on the Reserve with Rev. F. F. Downing officiating.

JOHN ALLAN BELL

MARMORA — The death of John Allan Bell of Peterborough, occurred in Civic Hospital on Sunday, January 5th. Mr. Bell had been a patient at the Norwood Nursing Home since last fall and was transferred to hospital at Peterborough a few days before his death.

Born and educated in Marmora Township, he was the son of the late John Bell and former Catherine Bailey. He farmed in Marmora Township all his life, moving to Peterborough on retirement 2½ years ago. He was in his 80th year.

Surviving are his wife, the former Mabel Fletcher and children: Mrs. Smith McLean (Margaret) of Dummer Township, Mrs. Carl McMillan (Irene) of Marmora Township, Alex and Philip of Trenton, Graham and Allan of Marmora and Donald of Peterborough. Also surviving are twenty-two grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

MRS. TERRY R. DOLAN

In failing health for some time, Mrs. Kathleen Dolan, 251 John Street, died at Montgomery Lodge on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Dolan was born at Queensboro, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Diamond and came to Belleville as a young girl and had continuously resided in the community.

She was a member of St. Michael's church and was active in the Catholic Women's League of the parish when health permitted. She was also a member of the Women's Christian Association and served on the executive of the Community Concert Association for many years.

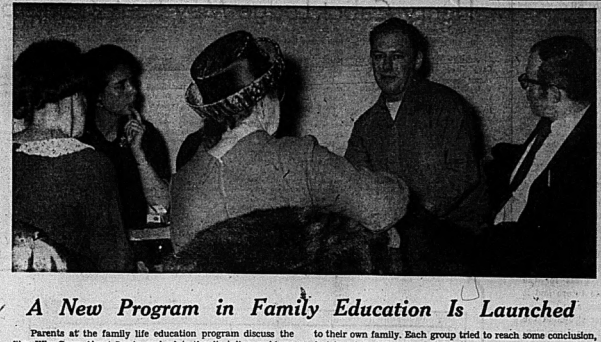
Surviving are her husband, Terry R. Dolan, druggist in the city, one brother, Miss Minnie Diamond of Belleville and one brother Jack Diamond, Toronto. She was predeceased by three brothers.

Mrs. Dolan is resting at the Pinkston and Luscombe Funeral Home. Requiem mass will be celebrated in St. Michael's church on Thursday at 11 a.m.

Interment will be in St. James cemetery.

MRS. GEORGE ALEXANDER GIBSON

In failing health for some time, Mrs. Ethel Gibson died at Hastings Manor on Monday evening.



Mrs. Gibson was born at Flinton, 86 years ago, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Brown and had lived most of her life in the Belleville district.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Mabel McKenna, Trenton, Mrs. Joseph (Dorothy) Daley, Belleville.

Also surviving is one brother, Walter Brown of Hamilton, six grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Gibson is resting at the Thompson Funeral Chapel. Service will be in the chapel on Thursday at two o'clock.

Interment will be in Belleville cemetery with Robert Joy, R.A., officiating.

A New Program in Family Education Is Launched

Parents at the family life education program discuss the film, Who Cares About Jamie, and relate the discipline problems to their own family. Each group tried to reach some conclusion, but found that there is no right answer.

No One Answer Fits All Problems

By ROBERT DUNNETT
Staff Reporter

Discipline was centre stage at the first meeting of pilot program in family education held last night at Queen Victoria School.

This new program is sponsored by the family and children's service of Hastings County and the home and school association for Queen Victoria School.

The idea of the program, said Vincent Castellano, family councelling supervisor for Belleville, is to help parents avoid some of the problems involved in raising children.

"We hope this project will get people interested in family education — it will help in preventing family problems. We hope it might become a permanent feature in the community."

A film called Who Cares About Jamie was shown, giving the viewers a chance to see how parents dealt with the difficult problem of discipline.

After the film, discussion groups were formed where the parents were able to express opinions concerning family problems shown in the film, and relate them to their own.

After each group had had a chance to discuss the subject, a spokesman for each gave the general conclusions and another film was shown of some of the mistakes parents make in disciplining their children.

John Dixon, guidance supervisor for Belleville Public Schools said that there is no one right answer for all problems. All agreed that the right decision depends on the particular child, the parents, and the circumstances involved.

Most of those present agreed that corporal punishment was not the answer, and should be used on very few occasions.

This was the first lecture in a series of six, to be held every Tuesday at Queen Victoria School. Mr. Castellano said these lectures were not just for the parents of children in this school. All parents from anywhere in the city are welcome.

Although this is a new concept in family education in this area, it has been operating in Toronto for some time. It may be incorporated into the Toronto Board of Education said Mr. Castellano.

He said that it is now being recognized that there is a need for family education and counselling.

Divorces Dominate

Divorce once again dominates the Ontario Supreme Court assizes opening in Belleville Monday.

The assizes, before Mr. Justice William Henderson, are believed to have the heaviest schedule in Hastings County records — 67 cases listed for hearing.

Of the total, 37 are petitions for divorce. Damage claims from automobile accidents are second — 24 cases are listed for argument.

The assizes, the first of 1969, have no criminal trials scheduled. This will call for the opening - day ceremony that sees white gloves presented to the presiding judge.

10 Aussies Killed

MELBOURNE (AP) — Bushfires swept townships on the outskirts of Melbourne today, and there were reports that at least 10 persons had been killed in the blazes which roared through the tinder-dry summer grass.

School Board Names Committee Delegates

Hastings County Board of Education has announced appointments of representatives to Trenton and Belleville municipal committees.

W. G. Anderson was appointed to the Belleville Public Library Board for a three-year period. J. M. Cousins will serve on the same board for two years and M. M. Hackett for one year.

David Bell, physical education head at Moira Secondary School, was appointed as the high school teachers' representative on the committee of the recreation department charged with surveying recreation facilities in Belleville.

In Trenton, George Greer was assigned as the board's of education's liaison man with the Trenton recreation committee.

L. G. Phinney will be the board's representative until June on the sponsoring committee for 173 Squadron of the air cadets at Trenton High School.

Serving the board's interests on the Trenton Tri-service Club's Centennial Swimming Pool Committee will be John Forbes and Lewis Aziz.

Railway Non-Ops Consider Merging

About 400 non - operating CNR employees with headquarters in Belleville will be involved if a possible merger between the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers and the Brotherhood of Railway, Airline and Steamship Clerks takes place.

Talks toward the possible merger, a move in the direction of greater rail labor unity, will begin "within the next few months."

The Canadian Brotherhood has about 35,000 members of which approximately 20,000 are CNR non - operating employees. According to Harry Fast, manager of the CN Rideau Area, there are 400 of the latter type of employees with headquarters in Belleville.

Workers in the non - operating category include those not handling trains — office workers, clerks, express workers and accounting staff.

The Brotherhood of Railway, Airline and Steamship Clerks is the largest international non - operating railway union with 280,000 members of which 18,000 work in Canada. All of them are with the CPR.

Guns

The two victims were hit by a total of nine bullets as they stepped from their automobiles on a lonely stretch of road after being flagged down by a passing car.

Search for the men's killers was intensified Monday night when a car rented in Sudbury, Ont., about a month ago was found abandoned in a Montreal parking lot.

Sawed-off .22-calibre rifles found in the car were similar to weapons sought as the murder weapons. The Sudbury rental agency was able to supply the name of the man who had rented the 1969 car, a Chevrolet Impala.

The abandoned car has been studied for fingerprints, and the two rifles were sent to the forensic sciences laboratory in Toronto for tests.

Police hope the tests will determine whether the bullets taken from the dead men were fired from the weapons. One of

Bid For Airport

An international airport southwest of Picton, serving both Toronto and Montreal and Eastern Canada generally is an exciting prospect.

The difference between being chosen for such a formidable undertaking and not is the difference between rapid progress for the Quinte area in the immediate future and it remaining a relatively depressed area.

There are of course other straws in the wind, like the possibility of the Unemployment Insurance Commission establishing a base in Belleville, and a new shopping plaza, but these are still some distance from realization. They should come about eventually — but meanwhile there is this tremendous opportunity to convince the Government of the advantages of establishing an airport in Prince Edward, on the shores of Lake Ontario, away from built-up areas and population yet affording quick communications with the larger centres.

It goes without saying there is competition, but so far it would appear, from one source only — the Whitby area, and it is already a heavy industrial area. Being only 30 miles from Toronto, the noise of modern aircraft amid such a concentration of population could militate against its choice.

A brief supporting the Quinte area's claims to such an airport is expected to be ready for presentation to the Government shortly.

The safety factor alone is one that increases the attractiveness of the Lake Ontario site. Wide glide paths over the lake itself there would be a minimum of disturbance for pilots from ground objects while the area of the airport itself would be relatively free of the kind of urban clutter associated with heavily built-up areas.

Not a few of the world's major airports are located in similar areas, where the approach is from the sea. This is a big opportunity for the Quinte area. Let us do everything possible to make it a reality.

Unclaimed Funds

That $12 million or so dollars left unclaimed by holders of post office savings accounts — what is to be done with it?

Well, as of January 1, 1970, accounts of $25 or less that have been inactive for 30 years will revert to the Crown and will not be recoverable. Accounts not that old may be recovered and accounts of more than $25 will be recoverable in perpetuity.

All this stems from the closing of about 1,500 post office savings banks. Since Postmaster-General Kierans' announcement of their elimination last August about 20,000 accounts have been closed. However, 276,000, worth that estimated $12 million, remain untouched.

This is money that is doing no good where it is. One wonders how many pensioners, for instance, have such accounts. They could make good use of the money in aggregate, the sum could provide not one but several arenas, schools, playgrounds and the like. But privately-owned, as it is, the money should also be beneficial for individuals.

In short, the funds would be better in circulation once again, or re-invested. As a post office spokesman in Ottawa put it: "We just wish someone would come and get it."

War And Peace

France's Folly," it has been called. That is, the Maginot Line, that costly static line of defence which the Nazi invaders countered simply by going around it, through the Low Countries.

France nevertheless has maintained the line, with its guns and fortifications, in working order ever since, more for old time's sake than for any reason, and now is attempting to sell its components.

Certainly if anyone is looking for a nice little summer cottage, albeit underground, overseas, the 300-mile Maginot Line may be able to offer just the thing. The government has already sold some bunkers and pill boxes for figures ranging from $125 to $1,000.'

It is another instance of something built expressly for the arts of war subsequently finding some peaceful use. We are reminded of the old Martello towers built around the British coast to keep out earlier invaders. Some of these have been turned into private homes. And closer to home of course, Old Fort Henry and similar fortifications make interesting tourist attractions.

Henry Cabot Lodge May Seek Compromise on Vietnam

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP)—Henry Cabot Lodge with his hawkish record has been returned to the Vietnam scene by President-elect Nixon to conduct the still-fruitless negotiations at Paris after Jan. 20.

Reaction has been slow and somewhat guarded here as to what the appointment may mean. It seems to confirm that nothing is going to happen at Paris until Nixon takes over.

Nixon has been close-mouthed about the course he will follow in Vietnam, although he gives settlement of the war top priority.

But the naming of Lodge as chief negotiator leads to speculation that Nixon will follow the firm course laid down by President Johnson in dealing with North Vietnam and actually may toughen the U.S. stand.

The objective would be still more time to strengthen the South Vietnamese regime and expand its control of the countryside, while military forces continued to harry the Viet Cong.

The greatest threat to achieving this objective—or some kind of American "victory" in Vietnam—continues to be reaction to the war in the U.S. War criticism has decreased of the Johnson got the war to the conference table but it could flare up again if the conflict continues to grind on without any further progress.

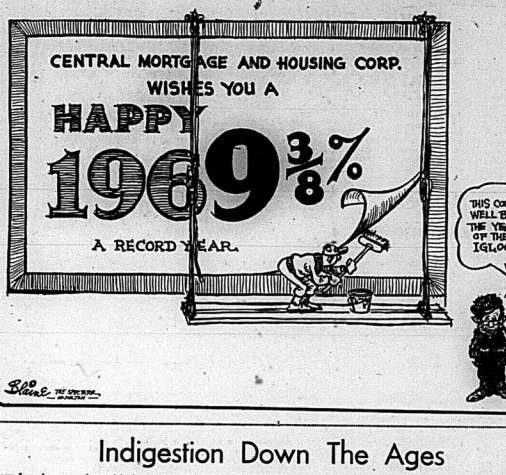
Lodge was in Saigon twice—for the late President Kennedy for 11 months starting in 1963 and then for a second term as ambassador for President Johnson ending in 1967.

The South evidently anticipates an ally if pressure develops in the U.S. for it to make a deal with North Vietnam or, worse from its standpoint, with the Viet Cong in the South.

Bill Moyers, President Johnson's former press secretary and now a newspaper publisher, warns that Lodge "has a very large stake in justifying what has been happening in the last few years."

Senator George Aiken, the respected Vermont Republican, says the choice of Lodge, Nixon's 1960 vice-presidential running mate, to head the negotiations "doesn't increase the chances of any formal agreement at the Paris conference."

Lodge has said many times he expected the war to end with a whimper rather than a bang, perhaps fading away without any clear-cut settlement. He has opposed any "sell-out" of South Vietnam, by forcing them to make concessions to the North or the Viet Cong.



Lodge's statement accepting the Paris job mentioned a need for compromise but Lodge critics want to see just what he means by that word. He has shown no compromise of South Vietnam yet.

Two additional appointments give Nixon the equipment to carry on as before, or take a tougher line. One is Ellsworth Bunker, remaining as ambassador to South Vietnam, and Marshall Green, ambassador to Indonesia and regarded as the American diplomatic expert on China.

President Johnson and his other advisers are leaving office, insisting what they did in Vietnam will prove to be right.

Security adviser Walt Rostow, seen as a hard-nosed advocate of the intervention, says the Johnson years have left an "Asia of some promise" because U.S. allies there are stronger now.

"If we are steady and they are steady, the U.S. can gradually fall back . . . into a junior partnership role as they take more and more of their destiny in their hands."

Today In History

A motley American force commanded by Andrew Jackson beat a brigade of regular British soldiers 154 years ago today—in 1815—at the Battle of New Orleans. The fight took place two weeks after peace had been signed in the War of 1812, but the news had reached neither force. The British suffered 2,100 casualties among 5,400 men, while Jackson's 4,000 men had less than 100 killed. His force was made up of American mariners and regular soldiers, Cajuns and Indians, free Negroes and French pirates from Jean Lafitte's vessels.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1944—Russian troops captured Kirovograd in Kostjer Bend and took Lutsk, 34 miles southeast of Vinnitsa and more than 50 other towns and hamlets: British destroyers in the Adriatic shelled shore positions and damaged three schooners; Allied bombers hit Reggio Emlia by night.

Indigestion Down The Ages

Ottawa Journal

Stomachs prepared to handle coffee and doughnuts are quite surprised by the festive season's peanuts, puddings and pastries. But the 20th century's loosened belts and tightened expressions are "small potatoes" compared with history's gluttony, according to a new book book by William Harlan Hale and the editors of Horizon Magazine, published by Horizon Magazine.

Daniel's account of the feast of Belshazzar in the Bible might give pause to the most voracious appetites. The HorizonCook Book says the thousand or more guests might have included "salted river perch garnished with locusts and seasoned with ginger and coriander," followed by roasted ducks and geese. All was washed down with "a heady brew of barley and a wine of date palms stiffened with guests laced their food with honey." While Belshazzar's sauces, Darius and the Persian armies raced into the capital, ending Babylonian supremacy in Mesopotamia.

Even before this, Plutarch observed, "The seat of war is in the belly." And the Roman general Lucullus proved the point. Whenever he returned from a successful campaign in Asia Minor, the cook book tells us, Lucullus would rent the public arena for a massive feast. Guests included such notables as Cato, Cicero and Crassus. When Lucullus died in 56 BC it was said that half of Rome suffered indigestion.

But eating didn't really become dining until the middle ages. In the 14th century court of France's Charles VI, the cook book describes a truly royal pie, consisting of three partridges, six quails, a dozen skylarks thrushes and diced bacon mixed with a kind of vinegar.

Or what about the 1248 "fast day" menu at the high table of the Prior of Canterbury consisting of fresh fish, crayfish, cabbage beans cooked in milk, eel pies, rice with almonds and powdered cinnamon and finally jacket, tarts and fruits!

In 1454 Philip, the Duke of Burgundy, held a spectacular banquet for the Knights of the Golden Fleece that included an immense pie which opened with 28 musicians playing inside.

Until the Renaissance introduced forks from Italy most Englishmen ate with their knives and fingers. Those who affected forks were regarded as "fops and jackanapes," according to the cook book. Proper English noble women always ate in private too, "since mastication of food supposedly distorted the contours of their face and detracted from their beauty."

Eating and drinking and all the trimmings have changed with man himself. What would Lucullus have thought of cheeseburgers and the drive-in restaurant? It doesn't really matter because, as the gourmet, Grimod de La Reyniere observed, "a fine sauce will make, even of an elephant or a grandfather palatable."

Young Russians Respect Culture

Scott Young in the Globe and Mail

Soviet young people have, if anything, a greater knowledge of and respect for their own traditions of art and culture than our youth has for ours. This respect and love has come because they have been educated not only in what has happened since their revolution, but also, thoroughly, in what happened before. The only almost imperceptible division of these two eras in their minds is that everything that happened before 1917 is known as Russian literature; everything after that date as Soviet culture. So Dostoyevsky, Pushkin, Tolstoy and Tchaikovsky belong to Russian culture, but are nonetheless well known and loved.

Maxim Gorki spanned both eras, being in middle age with much of his best work behind him when he became an associate of Lenin in the revolutionary modern Soviets. In politics they love Lenin — "he was a simple man, and lives as one of the people," a student told me — but they know Stalin and they have been taught about Peter the Great and Ivan the Terrible. Their concept of life under the czars is the same as ours: that it was hell for the people and is therefore had to be changed.

The Soviet young people I met I liked. I couldn't answer many of their questions about the Rolling Stones or the Beatles or the Beach Boys, but I did find them so interested in such matters that a line in one of my notebooks reads: "Pop rock is not quite a Sth column, but it is one of the places where we meet." They have their own miniskirts, their pride in slender and graceful figures, style, cinema at some parts of their educational process, joy in other parts.

Scenic Highway By-passed And Tourist Operators May Feel The Pinch

Brockville Recorder and Times

Remember what it used to be like trying to get on and off the Scenic Highway between Long Beach and Gananoque when that section of road was part of Highway 401? And remember the hustle and bustle around the resort areas, the motels and service stations?

Today the Scenic Highway is a joy for the motorist to travel but it is something else for the person depending on that traffic for a livelihood. The road is, now, what its name implies — a scenic route, uncrowded with traffic. One can take a leisurely drive between Brockville and Gananoque, turn into roadways or pull to the shoulder and get back on the road without difficulty.

All this is wonderful for the few motorists one sees on the road at this time of year. Most of the traffic on the road today is local but the absence of any volume of "outside" traffic is having its repercussions. Business people along the route are beginning to worry what will happen next summer. Business is usually down at this time of year but this winter it has been almost non-existent.

Recently the Lansdowne Chamber of Commerce expressed concern that most traffic would bypass the river area by travelling on Highway 401. Resort operators in the area feel their future is in jeopardy since the Ontario department of highways has refused the erection of any signs along Highway 401 to indicate the existence of the Scenic Highway and the Thousand Island resort area. Briefs have been submitted to the minister and Mr. Gomme to no avail.

At present the only indication that a tourist area exists on Highway 401 has that there is another route is a sign at the Brockville and Gananoque junctions of the scenic highway to show that "2S" is thataway. No stranger would have a clue as to the meaning of "2S". Why not mark it well? Or does the government plan something special for this road?

They hate authority, so what do they want? To become the authorities themselves.

Ameliasburg Faces Increased Township Costs

By ELMER BONTER
(Staff Correspondent)

AMELIASBURG — The cost of the township's operation is likely to increase this year.

At Monday night's council meeting Reeve George Cunningham said council would review wages of all employees and if a raise was decided upon the increase would be retroactive. He was replying to a proposal for council to consider an increase in pay for a works' department employee who had gained the required experience and established a good record.

Supporting the possibility the taxpayer will pay more he have his affairs administered, was a letter from the City of Belleville advising council to expect the cost of fire protection to increase under a new contract. Under the arrangement which expired at the end of 1968 the township paid an annual standby fee of $1,032 plus $32 a hour for calls within seven miles of the city boundary. Over seven miles the per hour rate increased to $64 an hour.

The township has a similar arrangement with the Trenton Fire Department at a higher per hour rate. Trenton, however, asks for no standby fee. The present rates in effect under an agreement between the two municipalities calls for the Trenton Department to receive $300 apiece for the first three fire calls and then $150 a hour on each additional run.

While there were positive signs the cost of the township's operation was on the upswing, council received notice not to look for any appreciative increase in the annual grants from the provincial government. A letter from the department of municipal affairs advised there would be close control over spending for road maintenance and bridge construction this year.

The requisition for supplementary grants have to be into the department by May instead of July this year which means the government is exercising a "hold the line" policy in spending matters according to township clerk William Nightingale.

A communication from the Ontario Water Resources Commission confirmed the commission would be interested in the development of a fresh water pipeline from Lake Ontario when all the municipalities in the area it could service showed interest. In the meantime the OWRC suggested the township look to local sources to expand its needs.

For farmers seeking assistance through ARDA under the Drainage Act the government advised grants were not available after Jan. 1 this year. Council, however, decided to re-apply for the one third grant for the Redner-Cairn project under way more than a year now in the area between Redersville and Ameliasburg village. Land drainage in this particular instance is vital to the stability of the residue of the relocated portion of County Road 23 which runs south of Redersville to Isle County Road 19 at the top of Fingerboard hill.

Council was advised by the OWRC, tests of the industrial waste from the Sprague Food Cannery showed the discharge was not causing a pollution problem.

Council turned down a proposal to change the status of the Salem church for residential occupancy. Two women from Toronto had voiced interest in buying the property for a place to live in during the summer.

Under the zoning bylaw one acre of land is required for a residence in areas designated agricultural.

The place of land where the church is located measures 60x80 feet.

Offering strong opposition to the sale of the church as a place in which to live, Reeve Cunningham asserted he favored tearing down church buildings once they were closed.

"I feel a line should be drawn with respect to the disposal of churches," the reeve said. It makes me sick everytime I have to drive by a church that was sold and turned into a chicken coop. When I see a manure shoot sticking out the church window I'm more convinced it should have been torn down at the end of its useful purpose as a place of worship."

Township building inspector Harry Bisdee reported he had issued permits to cover $15,300 in new construction including the erection of a permanent residence in the Sjhoke's Point area.

Council approved an expenditure for fire insurance in the amount of $15,000 to cover the township museum and its contents.

Bowen Squire, now stored in Ameliasburg township office vault, are admired by Councillor Norman Post, Reeve George Cunningham, Councillor Arnold Wetherall and Deputy Reeve Russell Thompson. School Board Sets Up Administrative Organization

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
(Staff Reporter)

Hastings County Board of Education Monday approved a temporary administrative organization drafted by its new director, Eric Runacres.

"It is imperative that a temporary administrative organization be established quickly to avoid a vacuum of communication and co-ordination and a lowering of staff and public morale," he said in presenting his plan.

Mr. Runacres emphasized that the organization "makes no commitment to the future" and requires no additional staff.

The board turned down the director's recommendation that he be responsible for reassigning the present staff to new duties within the organization. Instead, an amendment made by Ralph Weaver, Trenton, and James Spry, Bonarlaw, calls for the director to report on staff reassignments for board approval at a future meeting.

In the system adopted by the board, functions will be divided into four groups, with the superintendent in charge of each group responsible to the director.

Curriculum, including courses of study, utilization of time, staff, students and space, promotions and transfer of staff, and special, adult and audio-visual education, would come under the jurisdiction of group A and its superintendent. He, in turn, will organize area representatives in Bancroft, Madoc, Trenton, Belleville and Stirling.

"These representatives could be those persons now employed by the board, and some of the Ontario department of education's area superintendents," Mr. Runacres said in his report.

"These area representatives would be responsible for the functions listed under group A. Local staff and other organizations would be notified immediately that these men are available for day-to-day concerns. In addition these area representatives would act as a liaison between local school areas and the central administration," the report continued.

Under group B is included academic services with regard to the staff. A superintendent of this group will be in charge of staff recruiting, contracts and salary schedules.

The superintendent of group C, administration services, will be responsible for budget, transportation, accommodation, equipment and supplies, among other things.

Group D will be in charge of the business administrator, who will be responsible for finances, purchasing, computer services and school plants.

"It is recommended that the present six senior academic officials be assigned within these groupings," the director's report stated.

No mention was made by the board of director regarding the people concerned. However, according to the report of the interim committee charged with planning the merger of former boards into the county-wide system, six academic officials were employed by three boards.

They are D. C. Stirling, superintendent, and L. F. Reid, assistant superintendent, with the Bay of Quinte District High School Board; L. A. Kelly, superintendent, and J. M. Cousins and R. D. Horwood, assistants, with the Belleville Public School Board; and E. T. Morris superintendent of the Trenton Board of Education.

The board will make an official request to Ralph Frouts, regional director of the department of education in Kingston, asking for the temporary services of area superintendents employed by the department.

The director mentioned "fitting them into the organization if the need arises". Area superintendents listed in the interim committee report as serving Hastings County are R. A. Dunsmore, Belleville; G. A. Watson, Bancroft, and F. Tate, Tweed. Colin McLeod, the fourth area superintendent has accepted the position of director of Lennox and Addington County Board of Education.

The director of education, and the staff members assigned to groups A, B, C, and D of the temporary organization will form an administrative council. Its purpose will be to provide a co-ordinating group to plan, implement and evaluate the policies of the board and to attend board meetings as a recourse group.

Five Additions Needed

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
Staff Reporter

Hastings County Board of Education will seek Ontario Municipal Board approval for five school additions in the central Hastings area valued at a total of $1,298,250.

In addition, the board will ask for approval to issue 20-year debentures up to $1,350,000 to cover the cost of construction, architects' fees, furniture and equipment.

The additions had already been approved by the township councils concerned, the county council and the department of education, but final OMB approval was deferred until the matter could be presented by the new county board.

The former Hastings County School Area No. 2 board had called tenders for the proposed construction, and details were outlined to the board last night by Area No. 2 business administrator Clifford Cotton.

At S. H. Connor Public School a library, general purpose, health, guidance, staff and wash rooms will be constructed at a cost of $157,950.

An addition to Madoc Public School of seven classrooms, a library, general purpose, change and health rooms will cost $437,750.

A contract has been awarded for a $146,325 addition containing library, general purpose room, change rooms and guidance room at Stirling School a $119,995 library, area.

A general purpose room, library, guidance centre, health unit, change rooms and seven classrooms at Earl Prentice School in Marmora will cost $346,294.

At Madoc Township Public School a $119,90 Silbray, general purpose room and guidance centre will be constructed.

Twelve Rescued After Ship Sinks

NEW YORK (AP) — The 12-man crew of a research vessel that foundered in the North Atlantic were plucked from a life-raft today after spending 26 hours in the open sea, the coast guard said. The crew members were wet and cold but were otherwise unharmed.

The Easkristine, a Norwegian freighter, picked up the men at 2 a.m. EST, a coast guard spokesman said, after the deck officer spotted flashlight signals.

The 12 men huddled in the single liferaft after abandoning their ship, the Sea Surveyor of New London, Conn., at midnight Monday night, 20 minutes before the vessel sank about 280 miles southeast of New York.

The Sea Surveyor, 118 feet long, was owned by the Electric Boat Division of the General Dynamics Corp. An air-sea search was begun after the ship failed to report its position at noon Tuesday while on its way to a rendezvous with a U.S. Navy submarine.

Harvard Girl Found Murdered

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Investigators searched today for the weapon used to kill Jane Britton, 23, a Harvard graduate student whose body was found face down across a blood-spattered mattress in her apartment.

The body was found by her boy-friend, James H. Humphries of Toronto, and a couple in the apartment next door.

A medical examiner said the daughter of the administrative vice-president of Radcliffe College had been struck a massive blow on the left side of the head behind the ear by a sharp weapon. Investigators theorized a hatchet or a cleaver was used.

Dr. Arthur McGovern of Cambridge, who ruled the death a homicide, said the shape of the wound indicated that the girl was facing her assailant when struck. He said she had been dead 10 to 12 hours when her body, clad in a disarrayed nightgown, was found at 12:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Police said they were without a suspect. They said there was no evidence of a struggle or of robbery.

The slim, petite brunette was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Boyd Britton of Needham. A graduate of Radcliffe, she was in her second year as a student in anthropology.

The Experts Say

Master of Kitchen Every Inch A Top Chef

OTTAWA (CP) — Jean Zonda, master of the kitchen for Canada's Governors-General for the last 17 years, looks every inch a top chef.

When he is relaxed and has nothing pressing to attend to, he is also a delightfully informal person who spices his conversation with humor.

His health, however, has forced him to resign and to leave Government House, the official residence of the Governor-General.

"Forty years is a lot of standing," he said in an interview in his office just off the bright kitchen with its large stove and rows of gleaming, copper-colored pans.

Wearing the traditional white jacket and tall chef's hat set just above his heavy glasses, Mr. Zonda talked quickly in English, a language he picked up by ear. Occasionally he puffed a cigarette.

"Chefs are a little like show people," he said with a broad smile. "In France for centuries most of the chefs have gone abroad to cook for courts and high classes of people."

Mr. Zonda got into the business early. He grew up in Antibes, France, and started to learn cooking in 1929 at the age of 14.

"In our generation the training was behind the stove. We didn't have any school at that time.

"Our trade is concerned very much with discipline. You are promoted by your capacity. In my opinion you need practice in this trade."

Between 1929 and 1941, Mr. Zonda worked in hotels, ending up in Vichy, France.

"If there hadn't been a war I don't think I'd be here," he mused, "because Vichy became a capital."

The government of unoccupied France under Marshal Petain was established there after Nazi Germany overran France in 1940.

"I was working at a hotel in Vichy when they needed a chef for the American Embassy and I went."

After that, he worked for the Spanish and Turkish embassies in Paris and spent five years in London with the Spanish Embassy.

While in London he became known to Vincent Massey, the Canadian high commissioner. In 1952, when Mr. Massey was appointed Canada's Governor-General, he asked Mr. Zonda to come to Canada as chef at Government House.

"He asked me if I would come here and I said yes. It was very simple and quick. I asked my wife if she would like to go to Canada and she said yes. So we started packing."

Since then Mr. Zonda has served under Governors-General Georges P. Vanier and Roland Michener as well.

Although discreet in his comments about those aspects of his job not directly related to cooking, Mr. Zonda did recall that a favorite dish of the late Mr. Massey was lobster a la creme.

Mme. Vanier liked timbale milanaise and Mrs. Michener enjoyed poulet Mayland.

When a new Governor-General takes office, he says, the chef faces a time of transition.

"We have to find out if he likes garlic or not—that sort of thing.

"You have your own idea about cooking but you have to make some concessions where they're not too important."

Centennial Year was the big challenge, however. Scores of royalty and heads of state dined at Government House.

"It was a terrific year. I wouldn't want to do it again but it was a success. I was exhausted but proud, too."

The Zondas plan to return to Europe to visit friends and perhaps sort out some of the things they have accumulated over the years in their Vichy home.

"Now for the first time for a long, long time, I'm going on a holiday without rushing.

"We don't know where we're going to settle down. The only thing is that I get away from cooking. I'll cook for my wife and myself . . . if she'll let me."

Quick and Easy Casserole

By MARY MOORE

A quick and easy casserole for working mothers or career girls may be prepared before departure for work or in short order after they return.

When you buy your groceries pick up a 1-lb. package of sausages and shove it into the for the day this type of meal is necessary.

SAUSAGE, RICE AND VEGETABLE CASSEROLE
(Serves four generously)

1 lb. pork sausages
1-3 cups raw long grain rice
3 cups boiling water
1 tsp. salt
¾ cup chopped onion (preferably green)
¾ cup chopped celery
1 pkge. fresh frozen green peas or frenched beans or one 12-oz. can drained kernel corn
1 cup grated cheese

Cook rice first in boiling water with salt, covered, 25 min.

WEDNESDAY

Dinner Menu

Cut sausages into bite-sized pieces, add to frypan along with onion and celery and cook stirring until vegetables are limp and sausages barely cooked. Add the peas or beans or corn (or thawed frozen or drained canned vegetables of your choice) and the cooked rice and combine. Turn into large casserole. Now lift up about half of the sausages to the surface and sprinkle the cheese over all. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. If this is made in advance and taken directly from refrigerator to oven it may require 20 to 25 min. to heat through and bubble and brown. If it is made and baked immediately bake it at 375 deg. Fahr. about 15 min.

Casserole cooks, please clip and file this recipe in your fast and cheap and made-in-advance file.

Society Canvass Successful

TWEED — The annual canvass of the Canadian Bible Society in the villages of Tweed, the outlying rural routes and Actinolite, was of the amount of $706.10 which was a goodly amount according to the committee.

It consisted of president, Rev. Howard F. Kennedy; secretary, Ernest Tuttle, Tweed, and treasurer, Harry McLean.

They are most grateful to the canvassers and anyone who was connected with making this annual canvass a decided success.

Course on Instruction For Handicapped Held

Some 70 representatives including instructors from the various handicapped schools (retarded, physical, perceptual, blind and deaf), attended the Disabled Swimming Workshop at Breithaupt Recreation Centre, Kitchener, the weekend of Jan. 3 and 4.

The workshop, conducted under the auspices of Kitchener Recreation Centre, presented for the first time a course devised to assist those concerned with the teaching of swimming to handicapped children. Course participants were categorized according to the particular area in which they would be required to instruct. Students from schools for the blind were allocated blind children, those from the deaf, deaf children, and so on. Thus, each group was catered to by a specialist in its particular field.

Those attending on behalf of Belleville's Ontario School for the Deaf were; Cpl. Toni Lizastro, Recreation specialist at the Canadian Forces Bases, Trenton; Miss Doreen Forder, swimming instructor, and Miss Lesley Hockley, counsellor and swimming instructor at O.S.D. For the course duration, they were under the competent direction of Mrs. Donna Hillis, pool Director at Milton's Ontario School for the Deaf.

The many facets of the course included speech training, knowledge of ear functions, types and causes of deafness, techniques of teaching deaf people, general pool techniques, and some of the many and varied problems facing the multiple handicapped child.

All stages of the instruction placed emphasis on patience and a dedicated desire to teach the handicapped child.

At the conclusion of the course the different groups met together and were unanimous in their praise for the workshop. All expressed the hope that there will be other similar courses organized as there is a pressing need for more qualified instructors.

Lines of Poem or Anatomy From Medical Book Requested By Reader

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: All I remember of a certain poem in an old medical book is:

"How many bones in the human spine?
Thirty-three, like a climbing vine.
How many bones in the human hip?
One in each; like a dish, they dip."

Before it was finished it had mentioned every bone in the body. I thought it was lovely as well as educational. Hope someone will have a copy for me. — Hunting Again

Dear Hunting: Sounds like a more or less painless way to learn anatomy. How about it, medicos? Or nurses?

Dear Doris: You were right about me being five-foot-four. Why I wrote you was, I was told that after a hysterectomy you could not do exercises, and also because of a bad back.

I'd do anything to get rid of the stomach, and have been doing the exercises you sent. My husband and son are doing them also; it sure is fun.

Thank you for myself and everyone else you help. — Tummy Trouble

Dear Trouble: I hope you read the part of my letter which stressed getting your doctor's o.k. about the exercises, in your case. I would not want to be even remotely responsible for any further strain.

It's more fun when the whole family gets into the act, isn't it? A friend of mine is doing some Yoga exercises which are supposed to be for women. "For beauty and health", She tells me Jim and Jimmie Junior are doing them too. And loving them.

Let's have a further report when the tummy does the disappearing act.

Confidential to Help Needed: Your friend of 30 may think he is God's gift to a certain teen-ager — you — but obviously you don't. You can't be rid of him by making him jealous, so forget that.

Your iron-clad argument is that he has a wife and two children. You have a right to climb up your high horse and stay there if he becomes a menace, tell your father.

Confidential to Adopted Mom: Couldn't agree more, that a good foster home is worth far more than the money an agency can pay for it. And foster children should never be taken in merely for the board money.

These little ones may have had broken homes — or badly cracked ones—and need some extra special loving. The rewards are great, but not monetary.

When writing in, allow Doris four weeks for private reply, which will be sent if a stx-envelope is enclosed.

Ann Landers
Student Replies To "Concerned Dad"

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please give me a chance to reply to "Concerned Dad" — the father who complained that today's colleges and universities are nothing more than open brothels supported by taxpayers. I could take his argument apart, sentence by sentence, but since space is limited, I'll stick to the central issues.

DEAR CONCERNED DAD: You were correct when you said colleges aren't what they used to be. In some ways, perhaps, they are not as good, but in more ways they are better. It's harder to get into a good college than it was in your day, and harder to stay in.

You seem worried that your son will spend all his time making out, carrying signs with dirty words, and setting fire to the main building. Why? The percentage of kids who do this is small, and usually they don't last long.

The overwhelming majority of college students study longer and harder than you did. They must in order to survive. There is more to learn and the competition is deadly. The kid who can't make it is booted out to make room for someone who can.

You sound as if all schools are like Columbia and Berkeley. I'm not knocking these universities — they are great. But the loud mouths on those campuses are not representatives of the student body.

As far as sex is concerned, kids take to college the morals they learned at home. If you don't trust your son alone with a girl, send him to a nursery, not to college. — NORTH CAROLINA STATE U.

Thanks, Ann, for giving us a chance to be heard. N.C.S.U.

DEAR N.C.: You're welcome. And now a word from a Harvard dean:

DEAR DAD: Colleges are not reform schools. If your son doesn't know how to stay sober, drive a car safely, and respect girls, I suggest you bring him back home.

Colleges are supposed to educate, not serve as custodial institutions for students. More to the point, if you and your wife failed to do your job as parents, don't expect us to salvage him. Sir John Wolfenden said, "Schoolmasters and parents exist to be grown out of." — HARVARD DEAN, CAMBRIDGE, MASS.

DEAR DEAN: Amen, brother, amen.

* * *

DEAR ANN: We waited eight weeks for good seats to a great musical — eighth row, center. Two minutes before the curtain went up, a lady seated herself directly in front of me. She had a two-storey hairdo which stood mysteriously erect — 10 inches above her empty skull.

What would you have done, Ann Landers? — JUDGE G.L.Q.

DEAR JUDGE: I would have tapped the lady on the shoulder, informed her that her hairdo was obstructing my view, and ask that she move her head about six inches to the side.

Points for Parents
By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Johnny says 'no' to everything I tell him to do. He even says it when there are things he wants to do. He's so self-willed, sometimes I have to spank him before he will mind."

A negative reaction seems almost automatic with a 2-year-old, perhaps because "no" is the word he so often hears. Be responsible with him and he will gradually learn to react reasonably to your requests.

Try to decide whether a 2-year-old's "no" is a meaningless response or a real wish. Keep commands to a minimum, and when you do have to enforce them, do it in a calm, not a punitive, way.

Popular Courses

CALGARY (CP) — Family life courses drew more than 2,500 participants in Calgary during the year ended September, 1968, the social planning council says. Various organizations offered a total of about 200 courses on subjects from infants to aging.

Goldwater's Chief Speechwriter in 1964 Now An Anarchist

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater's chief speechwriter in the 1964 presidential campaign—the man who wrote the famed "extremism" speech—now speaks approvingly of the New Left. "Technically" says Karl Hess, "I am an anarch'ist."

Hess, who helped draft both the 1960 and 1964 Republican party platforms, said in an interview: "I take my stand with the anti-authoritarians, and so does the New Left."

"I'm opposed to authority, to state authority at every level and to every area," he said. "I think people should have the absolute right to their own lives and the control of them and I thought this is what the Republican party stood for. I think it's turning out to be the case."

As Goldwater's No. 1 speechwriter, Hess was assigned to draft the Arizona senator's speech accepting the Republican presidential nomination. The final version contained a phrase—"Extremism in the defence of liberty is no vice; moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtu"—that was to be widely interpreted as a challenge to Republican moderates who opposed Goldwater's conservative views.

Hess said he still regards Goldwater as "the greatest American political figure," and indeed he was back in Arizona this year helping his old boss to retain a seat in the U.S. Senate.

He also insisted that his thinking on extremism hasn't changed, and that his progression from the political right to New Left involved merely a return to his basic philosophical position.

"That's why I'm rather fond of the New Left," said Hess.

"This is one of the reasons I find many of the statements and actions of SDS (Students for a Democratic Society) very satisfying, because they're following the precept of the Declaration of Independence."

That precept, said Hess, is "that if the government steadily encroaches on the freedom of the individual . . . that it's the right and the responsibility of the people to overthrow the government. . . ."

Canada Hands Russia Nuclear Pact OK

MOSCOW (AP) — Canadian Ambassador Robert Ford today presented to the Soviet foreign ministry his country's ratification of the international treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons.

Canada is the fifth signer of the treaty to deposit its ratification in Moscow. The embassy said Canadian representatives in London and Washington are presenting similar instruments of ratification there.

While a large number of countries have signed the treaty, the only four who previously deposited ratification papers in Moscow were The Republic of Ireland, Britain, East Germany and Denmark.

Reporters Unhappy Covering Sirhan's Trial by Watching TV

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Reporters watching the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial over closed-circuit television find the reception bad and faces indistinguishable.

The system does allow twice as many newspaper men to report proceedings as would be possible otherwise.

Sirhan, charged with murdering Senator Robert F. Kennedy of New York, is being tried in a tiny, heavily guarded eighth-floor courtroom. There are 75 seats in the public area, about evenly divided between reporters and security officials. Five members of the general public are admitted each day.

The closed-circuit TV is shown in a newsroom four floors below where the trial is taking place. Reporters entering it, as well as the main courtroom, are searched by security officials.

The closed circuit television is shown on three large-screen black-and-white sets. The sets give an overhead view of the courtroom. Reporters debated about the identities of backs of heads, and most of the time it was impossible to tell which lawyer was speaking.

The TV system was initiated when the sheriff's department found it could not accommodate all reporters.

The camera photographing the actual courtroom is hidden in an air conditioner near the ceiling. The air conditioner screen showed up as three bars across the top of the picture and reception was generally fuzzy.

Reporters all agreed the sound system was good—almost too good for a while. At first, the microphones let TV-watching reporters eavesdrop on sometimes humorous asides not heard in actual court. The microphones then were turned off except when court was in session.

U.S. Centre Is Bombed

FRANKFURT (Reuters) — Two Molotov cocktails were hurled through the windows of the U.S. cultural centre in this West German city early today, starting fires which caused an estimated 10,000 marks ($2,500) damage, police said.

The centre, known as America House, has been a frequent target of attacks and demonstrations against United States policy in Vietnam.

AP, Guild Adjourn Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal mediator George Bymes adjourned negotiations between The Associated Press and the Wire Service Guild early today to reconvene at 4 p.m. EST.

During Tuesday's bargaining the Guild unwitted new proposals on wages, the union shop, life insurance, vacations, holidays, and other items including a 37½-hour, five-day week. Under the proposal the top minimum salary for newspaper men would increase to $264 weekly. The top minimum now is $207.

The Associated Press rejected the Guild proposal saying it far exceeded the $5,700,000 package which was the AP's final offer and it contained totally unacceptable union shop provisions.

The union, Wire Service Guild Local 222, has rejected AP's offer of a three-year contract providing for increases up to $48, bringing top minimums to $250 weekly for newspaper men. The offer also contained improved pension benefits.

An Associated Press spokesman said that in the event of a strike basic services in general news, sports, financial and photos would be continued. The Guild said it had obtained strike authorization.

Commonwealth Parley's First Session Called 'Good Opening'

LONDON (CP) — Canadian Arnold Smith, secretary-general of the Commonwealth, has expressed satisfaction with the way the current conference of leaders from the 28 member states has begun.

"We had a good opening day," said Smith after Tuesday's initial sessions. "We are off to a good beginning."

With Prime Minister Trudeau scheduled to speak briefly in today's further discussion of world political problems, there is a discernible sense of relief in London that the much-anticipated conference is at last under way.

The Canadian prime minister, focus of wide attention since his arrival in Britain, confers with Indira Gandhi, the Indian prime minister, over lunch this afternoon.

And he has been urged to take a firm position when discussion of the passion-provoking Rhodesian issue begins at the Marlborough House conference Thursday.

"Commonwealth leaders like Pierre Trudeau . . . can stiffen British resolve to deal firmly with (Rhodesia's Ian) Smith," David Steel, a British Liberal MP, said today.

He suggested that support from Trudeau also would prompt Britain to stick with the formula of no independence for Rhodesia before majority African rule.

"A firm stand on Trudeau's part, not weakened by private talks at Chequers . . . will set a good example to waverers in this country," said Steel.

Since then, Wilson has "continued his cultivation"—as one British observer put it—of the Canadian leader.

But most of Wilson's countrymen, treated to a barrage of publicity about Trudeau, have concentrated their attention on the Canadian's social activities.

Even the fact that he went to Buckingham Palace twice Tuesday—once for private lunch with the Queen, the second time for a glittering royal dinner in honor of all conference delegates—was scored as another socialite coup for Trudeau.

And Jennifer Hales, the long-legged actress taken to dinner Monday night by the bachelor prime minister, is given more publicity today as a result of the distinguished Canadian company she sometimes keeps.

"Jennie is quite astonished at all the fuss," her mother is quoted by The Daily Express as saying.

"There is no romance really. They are just old friends."

The mother lives in Hertfordshire, north of London, and latest accounts say the family went to Canada during the Second World War, returning here in the post-war years.

The actress' first meeting with Trudeau took place "on a voyage from Canada to England 20 years ago," says the William Hickey column in The Express.

About 34, she has maintained the Trudeau friendship but has avoided being "indiscreet" on the subject.

At the conference, delegates discussed such topics as aid and development, Vietnam, the Middle East and the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

One procedure adopted by the conference is preliminary assessment of three hot issues—Rhodesia, Nigeria and race—by final recommendations to delegation leaders.

The race group deals with the working groups which will make and citizenship as well as matthorny questions of immigration ters of racial relations.

Rooting Out A Plague

Dutch elm disease is changing the look of highway landscaping. Work crew now is felling trees hit by the disease along Highway 2, east of Belleville. Smitten elms pose safety hazard and winter project will remove threat between Belleville and Trenton in coming weeks.

Elm Trees Still Hazard

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Highway landscaping in the Belleville — Trenton area has been hit by plague — Dutch elm disease.

The result is a weeks-long works project to cancel a road-safety hazard.

Work crews now are in the midst of the scheme which will remove more than 60 rotting trees along Highway 2 from east of Belleville to the outskirts of Trenton.

The disease is nothing new to the Quinte area. In Belleville alone, hundreds of giant elms — once almost a community symbol — have been ravaged by the blight, for which no economic cure has ever been discovered.

A highways department supervisor says government plans this winter call for removal of some 1,400 trees between Belleville and Prescott — a distance of 115 miles. About 80 per cent of the trees have been hit by Dutch elm disease, along what is one of Ontario's most scenic driveways.

The Belleville - area phase of the project began in late 1968 and crews currently are working on the dual - lane highway stretch east of the city.

The elms dividing the highway are relatively young — as trees go — and work is proceeding quickly. However, the project toughens up in coming weeks when the crews shift west of Belleville.

Locally known as the Trent Road, the 12-mile strip of highway is among the oldest thoroughfares in Ontario. The elms flanking it are correspondingly ancient and among the biggest anywhere in Canada.

Ageless Winter Sport

Two Man Committee Named To Discuss Fire Protection

Belleville city council wants to update the municipality's agreements for the provision of fire fighting services to the neighboring townships.

Mayor J. Russell Scott and city manager J. R. Reynolds will be a two man committee to discuss the matter with Sidney, Thurlow, Tyendinaga and Ameliasburg townships.

Normally a two year agreement with the townships is entered into by the city, but Mayor Scott says "that with rapidly rising costs, agreements are outdated almost before the ink is dry.

If the townships had only one man standing by with a bucket of water it could cost them more than existing agreements with the city," the mayor claimed.

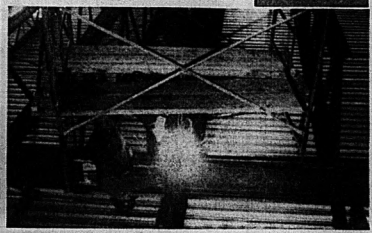
He felt that agreements should be more in line with actual costs taking into consideration the properties to be protected and the population.

Alderman Douglas Boyle felt that in view of steadily rising costs fire fighting agreements should be for one year only.

However, city manager Reynolds said that work contracts with firemen had been approved and department costs could be projected for a two-year agreement.

Foster Is Warden

PICTON (Staff) — The inaugural meeting of the Prince Edward County council yesterday afternoon saw George Foster being elected as warden of the county.



Mr. Foster is reeve of Sophiasburg township. The remainder of the hour-long meeting was taken up with passing the bylaws for the appointments of persons to the standing committees for the following year. No new business was conducted.

Warden Foster told council members he was looking forward to a good year in 1969. He said he was in favor of regional government as long as there were some protection as to the individual needs and rights of communities and townships within the region.

Habs Forge Ahead By Dumping Stars

Hockey goalies, like wine, seem to improve with age.

Glenn Hall, 32, scored his fourth shutout of the season Tuesday night as St. Louis Blues whitewashed Los Angeles Kings 3-0 to fatten their lead atop the Western Division of the National Hockey League.

Hall is second in NHL shutouts only to his team-mate Jacques Plante, who at nearly 40, has five.

In the other game of the night, Montreal Canadiens increased their Eastern Division lead by defeating Minnesota North Stars 6-3. Canadiens, with 51 points, lead Boston Bruins by three.

A three-goal outburst in the first period ruined a try by Gerry Desjardins of Los Angeles to continue a streak of two consecutive shutouts after scoreless ties in the previous two games.

Gary Sabourin began the scoring at 12.31. Ron Schock added the second at 13.16 and Red Berenson finished it off at 16.13. Berenson also counted an assist to move past Dennis Hull of Chicago in the scoring race with 42 points on 20 goals and 22 assists.

Sabourin also had two assists, Noel Picard scored in the second period and Frank St. Marseille in the third.

Another player to move up in the scoring race was Montreal's Jean Beliveau, who counted a goal and two assists that sent him into a fourth-place tie with Jim Peppin of Chicago, each with 44 points.

Ivan Cournoyer of Canadiens also got two goals and an assist and John Ferguson a goal and three assists.

Henri Richard and Claude Provost completed the scoring for the Canadiens in the third period. Wayne Connolly, Parker MacDonald and Duane Rupp counted for Minnesota.

Ugh!

Hull Diet Formula Seems to Pay Off

CHICAGO (AP) — Bobby Hull likes Brownish Ugh.

It's something wife Joanne cooked up as the mainstay of his diet.

He keeps playing and has scored five goals in five games since the injury.

The main thing is to keep up his energy.

He always has been a big meat and potatoes eater. But now he can't open his mouth.

Bobby has three missing teeth on the upper right side of his mouth. Through this opening he can spoon in the Brownish Ugh.

"It looks awful," said Joanne. "If anyone wants to try it, I suggest a very large sprig of parsley could make it look more appetizing.

"You boil three-quarters of a pound of beef in a shallow pan to medium rare. Put a can of beef barley soup and half a cup of half-and-half milk and cream into a blender. After it spins add the milk and let it spin until everything is liquified.

"Then pour the whole mess into a cook pan and let it simmer. Salt and pepper to kill the taste."

Joanne says Bobby has lost 11½ pounds.

"That's not too unusual considering the heavy schedule the team has been playing," she said. "But, before, he was able to put the weight back on. Now he can't do it. And this may go on for another month before the wires are taken out of his mouth."

Some of Bobby's teammates have tasted Brownish Ugh. All they would say was "ugh." It has given them even greater respect for hockey's Golden Jet.

Three 'No Contests' For All-Star Lineups

MONTREAL (CP) — Left winger Bobby Hull, right winger Gordie Howe and young defence star Bobby Orr today emerged as the only unanimous choices of the voters to play in the 22nd annual National Hockey League all-star game here Jan. 21.

Twelve players from each of the East and West divisions were selected in a poll conducted among members of the NHL Writers' Association in the 12 cities. The Eastern Division's pollsters voted for players performing in their own sector, as did their counterparts in the Western Division.

Points were awarded on the basis of five for a first choice, three for a second and one for a third.

Following are the 12 players from each division selected and their point totals:

Goal, Jacques Plante, St. Louis Blues, 66; Glenn Hall St. Louis Blues, 48. Defence, Bill White, Los Angeles Kings, 79; Al Arbour, St. Louis Blues, 65; Ed Van Impe, Philadelphia Flyers, 48; Elmer Vasko, Minnesota North Stars, 29. Centre, Red Berenson, St. Louis Blues, 86; Ted Hampson, Oakland Seals, 36. Left wing, Gary Jarrett, Oakland Seals, 52; Danny Grant, Minnesota North Stars, 44. Right wing, Claude Larose, Minnesota North Stars, 61; Bill Hicke, Oakland Seals, 51.

The remainder of the two teams will be selected by the opposing coaches, Scotty Bowman of St. Louis and the former coach of Montreal Canadiens, Toe Blake. Each will choose an additional seven players later this week.

In other years the defending Stanley Cup champions fared a team of all-stars from the other clubs in the league. This year also marks the first time the players will be paid for their participation, with the winning team members each receiving $500 and the losers $250.

The poll was conducted only to decide participants in the game and the results will not be counted toward the selection of the official all-star teams. These will be decided in a poll among the NHL writers at the conclusion of the regular schedule, as will the individual trophy awards.

Voting was extremely close among Eastern Division writers for the goaltending and left Dallas Smith of Boston and Harry Howell of New York, who tied with 17 points each, by 11 points.

The format for this year's contest has been changed from that of previous seasons.

BOBBY ORR

wing positions behind Ed Giacomin and Bobby Hull respectively. Gerry Cheevers polled 45 points, one more than Bruce Gamble of Toronto, while Mahovlich had a one-point margin over Dennis Hull of Chicago. Jean Beliveau edged Chicago's Stan Mikita by five points at centre in the East, while Bob Nevin's 22-point total was six better than Jim Pappin of Chicago. Pat Stapleton, the fourth defenceman, led

Morrisons Lose 6-2

Juniors Falter in Third at Kingston

KINGSTON — Limestone city hockey teams extended their home ice dominance when Belleville teams last night when the Junior Frontenacs scored four unanswered third period goals and defeated the Belleville Morrisons 6-3 in a Junior "B" hockey game.

The Kingston jinx has been broken only once this season, and that way back in October when the Morrisons downed the Frontenacs 5-2. Since then the Morrisons have dropped three games in Kingston and Belleville's Senior "A" Mohawks have lost four decisions on the road to the Kingston Aces.

The victory last night moved the Kingston juniors into a tie with Cobourg for the fourth and last playoff spot in the six-team league, while the loss dimmed Belleville's playoff chances and left the locals in the league basement with nine points, seven less than Kingston and Cobourg.

The Frontenacs broke a 2-2 deadlock with four third period goals while outshooting Belleville 19-17 in the final period. Belleville outshot Kingston 44-40 on the night, but Kingston netminder Clyde Harris was a stingy man, allowing only two second period shots to elude him.

Dave Higgins' goal at the 30-second mark of the final period proved to be the winner last night, but Larry Brooks scored an unassisted goal at the five-minute mark and captain Scott Nicholson added two more insurance markers later in the period for the Kingston club.

Kingston opened the scoring at 3.55 of the first period when Ron Pratt combined with Larry Brooks and Larry Brennan to beat Morrisons' goaltender Paul Hopkins.

The Frontenacs made it 2-0 at the 7.56 mark of the second period when Nigel Lester scored with Brooks and Brennan picking up their second assists on the play.

Reid Mallory, a juvenile all-star in Belleville, scored at 10.34 of the middle period to cut the margin to one goal.

The Morrisons knotted the count at 16.18 when Danny Lapensée, a member of the Belleville Kinsmen bantams, combined with Johnny McConnell and Ted White to put a power-play goal past Kingston netminder Clyde Harris.

Blake Kerr Imperials Dump Ajax Midgets 6-1

STAFF — The city's all-star representatives in midget hockey ranks came up with a convincing 6-1 win over Ajax at the Belleville arena Tuesday night.

Tom Meagher got a goal in the first and third periods to pace the Blake Kerr Imperials to their win.

Matsamoto ruined chances for a Belleville shutout with his second-period tally for Ajax.

The hometowners drew seven of 11 minor penalties handed out in the contest.

Third Period Spree Carries Cobourg to Victory Over Picton

Cobourg used four unanswered third period goals to overcome a 4-3 deficit and defeat the Picton Merchants 7-4 last night in an Eastern Ontario Intermediate Hockey League game played at Picton.

Gary Sharpe's goal at the start of the final period tied the game up and Paul Wakely's second goal of the night at 11.22 proved to be the winner for Cobourg. Gord Kelly, with his second of the night, and Steve Harold added insurance goals for the Cobourg crew.

The Merchants started the game with first period markers by Jim Guernsey, Sid Faulkner and Paul McGill, while Gord Kelly replied for Cobourg.

Gary Goyer's goal at the 25 second mark of the middle period gave Picton a three-goal lead, but Cobourg came back to within one goal on the strength of second period goals by Max Stevenson and Paul Wakely, to set the stage for their third period spree which won the game.

* Every tire manufacturer publishes a price list covering his line of tires. There is a standard discount allowed to the trade. Anyone can manufacture who lists merely 25% less than the true but comparable quality.

Canadian Tire prices, shown here, are about 40%-50% less than most manufacturer's list prices and that is 25% less than their special "On Sale" prices in the daily newspaper.

Baylor Plagues Bullets

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

In a battle of division leaders, Los Angeles Lakers, paced by Elgin Baylor's 30 points, dumped Baltimore Bullets of the Eastern Division 100-89 in National Basketball Association action Tuesday.

Baylor scored six of his points for the Western Division-leading Lakers in the final 1½ minutes of play.

In other games, Phoenix Suns snapped an 11-game losing streak with a 116-112 decision over Seattle SuperSonics, Milwaukee Bucks reeled off 18 straight points in the second period en route to a 116-101 win over Cincinnati Royals, rookie Tom Boerwinkle's two clutch field goals in the last 37 seconds of play sparked Chicago Bulls over New York Knicks, 102-101, Detroit Pistons stopped a late Philadelphia 76ers rally for a 117-114 victory and San Diego Rockets dropped San Francisco 113-108.

College Payoffs Past?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association said Tuesday that talk of under-the-table payments to athletes and other abuses in U.S. college football are largely folklore and on the decline.

"For the first time in my memory we have no cases before the council this year," said Marcus L. Plant, University of Michigan law professor and head of the NCAA. The NCAA convention ends here today.

"I don't mean that everything is hunky-dory, but our investigating machinery has been so thorough and the discipline has been so severe that I think most colleges who might even be inclined to take a gamble are afraid to do so."

Expos' Prexy Staying

MONTREAL (CP) — Charles Bronfman, chairman of the seven-man board of directors of Montreal Expos of baseball's National League, said Tuesday that John McHale will remain with the Expos as executive president.

"There's no way John is going to leave us to take the commissioner's job," Bronfman said. "We confronted him last week at our directors' meeting about what his plans were and he replied that he had no intention of quitting the Montreal scene to become the commissioner."

Bronfman said McHale, who left the commissioner's office to take up the position of the new Nationals League team here, has a long-term contract with the Expos. McHale also is reported to be a 10-per-cent shareholder in the Expos.

William D. Eckert resigned as baseball commissioner last month. He has agreed to remain as interim commissioner until a new man is found for the job.

Cold War Thaws

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Donald Dell of the United States and Tom Lejus of Russia made tennis history today when they teamed up in the men's doubles at the Victorian tennis championships.

It was believed to be the first time that an American and a Russian played together in a major tournament.

Their partnership did not last long. They were beaten 6-3, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5, by former Wimbledon champions Neale Fraser and Frank Sedgman, both of Australia.

"I wanted to play with Tom for three reasons," said 30-year-old Dell, a Washington D.C., lawyer.

Oddsmakers Favor Colts By 18 in Sunday's Super Bowl

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The football oddsmakers say Baltimore Colts are 18 points better than New York Jets. But you wouldn't guess it from talking with Weeb Ewbank of the American League champion Jets and Don Shula of the National League kingpin Colts.

Both were loud in praise of each other's troops today as they talked of pro football's Super Bowl in Miami's Orange Bowl Sunday.

"We have come a long way since the start of the season," said Ewbank as bit talked of the chance of an AFL team coming out on top in this third clash between the champions of the two leagues. The NFL, represented by Green Bay Packers, won the first two handily against Kansas City in 1967 and Oakland last year.

"This team, as it now stands, has poise and depth in both offence and defence and is proud just to be in the Super Bowl," Ewbank said.

"Joe Namath has to be one of the greatest quarterbacks and he is learning every game. I would call Matt Snell (fullback) a complete player while Emerson Boozer is just ready to go. He has reached the peak he obtained early in 1967 before he injured his right knee.

"He knows now he can go at full speed without hurting it. Then, too, he'll be better in the warm weather than in the cold we have had up north. He's an exciting runner—the kind that makes a coach look good."

Aloid the time Ewbank was heaping praise on his quarterback, two of several top flight runners and a trio of brilliant pass catchers in George Sauer, Don Maynard and Pete Lammons, Shula was getting in a good word for the Jets at the Colts' headquarters a half-mile away.

"The Jets have a great front four in their defensive line," said Shula, a one-time player for Ewbank: He was referring to Gerry Philbin, Verlon Biggs, Paul Rochester and John Elliott.

Shula, who also had praise for the Jets' linebackers, likened the New York team's goal to the great Packers' defence of recent years.

"All are quick and agile. The Jets always have been strong offensively. Now they have added a great defence."

In further discussing his players, Ewbank pat Namath in the class with Colts' Johnny Unitas, then the latter broke in with the NFL champions 13 years ago.

Unitas will be sitting this one out as he has since being injured before the season opened. Ewbank also compared favorably the Colts with Green Bay's great championship teams.

Jets, Cats Top Northern Shop

The Jets topped the Comets 5-4 and the Bear Cats clwed the Flyers 7-1 in Northern Electric Hockey League action over the weekend.

Goodfellow spearheaded the Jets attack with three goals and two assists, while Reynolds and Ford added single goals for the winners.

A four goal effort by Rosbush, and single goals by Pierce, Muldoon and Rivers was more than enough for the Bear Cats to overwhelm the Flyers, who could muster only a goal by Doug Bolte.

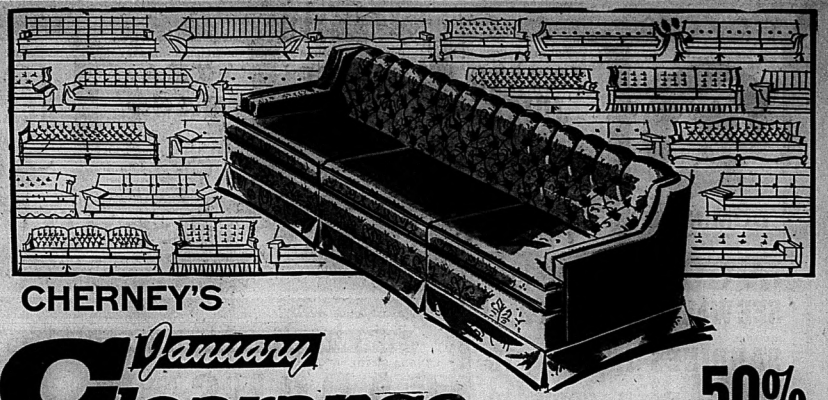
Actress Alleges Libel

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Julie Andrews filed libel suits totalling $6,000,000 against two movie magazines Tuesday because of stories she claims linked her romantically with actor Sidney Poitier and said she neglected her daughter.

One suit named as defendants MacFadden-Bartell Corp. and Bartell Media Corp., publishers of Screenland, and their editors. The second named Magazine Management Co., publisher of Modern Movies, and two of its employees.

Miss Andrews said a Screenland story falsely claimed she had dated Poitier. She said she respects Poitier's professional accomplishments and talent but has not dated him.

A Modern Movies article, she said, falsely states her six-year-old daughter Emma became ill as a result of her mother's friendship with a motion picture director. Miss Andrews is divorced from designer Tony Walton.



The suit also claims the article falsely stated Miss Andrews was indifferent to the welfare of her daughter.

Each suit asks $1,000,000 in compensatory damages and $2,000,000 in punitive damages.

Hurricanes Ruin Crops Says Pravda

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Thousands of acres of winter crops have been damaged in the wheat-growing Krasnodar territory by fierce hurricanes, the Communist party newspaper Pravda reported today.

The winds whipped up dust storms which left many roads in the northern part of the agricultural rich region impassable, the newspaper said.

Corn Board Suggested as Means To End Chaotic Market Practices

TORONTO (CP) — Formation of a single integrated farm organization, established first on a provincial basis but aiming for national status, was recommended Tuesday by the Ontario Farmers' Union.

The OFU, in a brief to the special committee studying farm income in Ontario, recommended that the farm body control marketing functions, also through a single organization.

It suggested that under the marketing agency there should be a corn authority able to regulate imports of corn into Canada.

The OFU proposals were the most dramatic among many recommendations made in seven briefs to the farm income committee at a meeting in the legislature building.

Th committee will hold further meetings at London today and Chatham Thursday as it continues its investigation into problems of the Ontario corn industry.

The committee Monday completed its major report on ways to improve farm incomes in the province, but it has until the end of March to complete its study of the corn business.

Its report included some recommendations affecting growers and others involved in corn.

One was creation of a marketing board that would handle all grains including corn.

The report described corn marketing in Ontario as chaotic, with the province's 22,000 corn producers suffering economic losses as prices drop particularly at harvest time.

The OFU said in its brief Tuesday that if a corn authority is created it should eventually be national in scope, have agency powers and be controlled by producers.

The authority's marketing procedures should have the effect of maintaining a support price for Ontario corn of $1.60 a bushel, the OFU said.

It claimed the average price received in eight counties of was $1.23 a bushel.

There was resentment from all groups attending the committee meeting when it was learned that a value for duty on U.S. corn imports, imposed by the federal government three months ago, had been lifted Monday.

Under the federal regulation, U.S. corn could not be imported into Canada below the U.S. support price of $1.05 a bushel.

The regulation was imposed as a temporary measure after corn growers complained they were being undercut in Canadian markets, notably at Montreal, by imports of cheap U.S. corn.

Field corn, with Ontario its main production centre, has become a major agriculture crop in the last 10 years largely as a feed grain.

The Ontario Federation of Agriculture, in a second brief to proposed creation by government of a provincial corn board to provide market information, establish a pattern of marketing and assemble corn for sale.

The OFA said it supports creation of a corn marketing plan but does not believe it would receive the necessary support from those in the business because it would be opposed by producers who also feed the grain to their own cattle.

The OFA recommended an investigation into the competitive position of Canadian producers in relation to American growers and federal protection of Canadian farmers either through tariff protection, subsidy or assistance in meeting costs of production.

Separatism Not Strong Enough To Shatter Quebec: Lesage

MONTREAL (CP) — Liberal Leader Jean Lesage says he doubts there is enough co-operation among separatist forces to make Quebec independent within the foreseeable future.

While separatism does post a problem, it is perhaps less serious than social and economic difficulties, he says in statements to La Presse.

In today's edition of the Montreal French-language daily, Mr. Lesage is the second of three Quebec political leaders to answer written questions.

He says:

"As things stand now, to believe that there is unity among separatists is the same as believing that the entire population can be fooled."

Forces seeking Quebec's independence were "in the minority" in comparison "to what I would call forces that support federalism."

There also was the fact that despite outward signs of harmony, "the forces seeking independence are disparate."

Such disparity existed even in the alliance of three separatist groups that established Rene Levesque's Parti Quebecois.

"The public wants clear, precise answers on what would happen to an independent Quebec. What of the future?"

A pragmatic public had more interest in solving economic and social problems than in deciding whether to break from Canada.

Premier Jean - Jacques Bertrand, the first political leader to be queried in the series, said Tuesday that he favors a presidential form of government for Quebec along lines of the U.S. and French systems. But he would retain "worthwhile elements" of Canadian parliamentary procedures.

On this point, Mr. Lesage was not altogether "convinced" such a system would benefit Quebec. He was concerned about the possible loss of democracy.

QUESTION: Could you please give me a list of ski resorts in the Laurentians and some information about these. If I take a train to Montreal could I get transportation to these ski resorts?

ANSWER: The Laurentian Mountains region, directly north of Montreal, is one of the most highly developed ski and resort areas of North America, offering guests an unmatched choice of holiday fare throughout the entire year. The Laurentians have some 20 major ski communities, each with its cluster of ski centres. This beautiful area is easily accessible from Montreal by way of a major autoroute. From Montreal in addition to the six-lane Autoroute des Laurentides and Route 11, frequent train and daily bus services are available through the heart of the Laurentian ski region. Most of the major Laurentian resorts lie in an area stretching between Saint-Sauveur and Mont-Tremblant, a span of about 40 miles. There are 103 ski lifts and tows in this region. They offer attractions for every type of skier, from the skilled expert to the ski school beginner. The tremendous choice of accommodations offered by the resorts has also made the Laurentians famous among world skiers. They range from comfortable, inexpensive pensions for the modest-budget vacationer to luxurious hotels with every conceivable facility for indoor and outdoor amusement. These resorts provide expert instruction for all categories of skiers. All have ski shops and equipment rental services.

In the evening guests dance to the music of excellent orchestras, watch movies, join in the singing around crackling logs in huge fireplaces. For the more vigorous, there is night skiing on flood - lit slopes until 10 p.m. at most centres. Picturesque and charming resort villages with names like Saint - Sauveur, Piedmont, Saint-Donat, Sainte-Marguerite, Val - David, Val - Morin, Mont-Gabriel, among others, are located within 60 miles of Montreal. They have a variety of chairlifts, T-bars, J-bars and Poma lifts operating all season, some of them more than 2,000 feet in length.

Farther north, but still within 80 miles of Montreal, the Saint-Jovite and Mont-Tremblant centres offer some of the best skiing in Eastern Canada. Mont-Tremblant, with an altitude of almost 3,000 feet, offers among its many slopes a four-mile, winding downhill run. At this higher point in the Laurentians, the ski season generally lasts a full five months of the year.

All Laurentian resorts offer special package rates for "ski weeks" and "ski weekends," including expert instruction and special entertainment.

Priests Are Afraid of Single Women And Treat Married Women as Mothers

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — Priests are afraid of single women and tend to treat married women as mothers rather than as women, a meeting of the Western Canadian Conference of Priests was told Tuesday night.

In an unprecedented move, the 250 delegates to the meeting listened to the views of three women.

"I can't see beyond the collar and you can't see beyond my sexual image," said Lucille Donnelly of Red Deer, mother of four children.

Mrs. Donnelly said that as a single girl she felt priests had no time for her and now that she was married "... the priest was always so intent on looking at me as a mother that he skipped the fact that I'm a human being."

Barbara Toni of Calgary, single, said it was time some of the barriers between priests and women were broken down.

Miss Toni said she wondered "if there is something in this man-woman relationship that turns priests off . . . and if so, is it the women or the priest that is responsible?"

The third woman, Sister Rhoda MacIntyre of the Order of St. Anne in Victoria, told the priests:

"You've always been told to keep three feet between yourselves and a woman, and make it 10 feet if she's a nun."

Sister MacIntyre said dress, both of nuns and priests, has been a barrier, but now that mode is changing. "It is easier to relate to us as persons."

"We're no longer just the tall one, or the short one, or the one with glasses."

She said friendship between celibates is sometimes criticized because it detracts from the priestly image. She said she disagreed, contending it increases the capacity to love.

The 250 priests were polled in an attempt to get a general trend in their thinking. Of their recommendations were followed, it would mean a dramatic change in the lives of the more than 1,800 Roman Catholic priests in Western Canada.

A prime recommendation in the survey was that priests be allowed to marry and remain in the ministry.

To meet growing dissatisfaction among priests, the survey recommended:

—A gross salary for priests which would make them responsible for their own needs;

—Abolition of stipends;

—More freedom to work in secular-type occupations while still functioning as priests;

—Permission to work with groups of persons with whom they share goals and interests, regardless of parish boundaries;

—Homes, instead of rectories, situated some distance from church and parish offices;

—Freedom to live out of residence for a period of time;

—Assignment to parishes for more than one priest is attached to a parish;

—Apartment living for priests and assigning priests on individual assignment;

—Consideration of compatibility for teamwork when more than one priest is appointed for a single assignment.

The changes in living conditions were aimed at getting priests away from their 24-hour involvement in the physical surroundings of the church and allow them some change, like the businessmen has at home.

Gasoline Shipments Banned

Red Cross Flights to Biafra Suspended

GENEVA (Reuters) — The Red Cross mercy airlift to Biafra has been suspended because the Equatorial Guinea government has banned the organization from ferrying gasoline into Biafra, the International Red Cross Committee announced today.

Red Cross planes fly into Biafra from the Equatorial Guinea island of Fernando Poo.

A statement by the committee said Equatorial Guinea issued a ban on all gasoline shipments by Red Cross aircraft into Biafra Dec. 29.

No reason was given, but informed sources said the Equatorial Guinean government has complained that some of the gasoline ferried in was used for Biafran military vehicles.

The Red Cross statement said gasoline accounted for about 2.5 per cent of all its supplies to Biafra, an i that it was forced to bring in all its requirements because it could not procure gasoline inside Biafra.

Equatorial Guinea, which became independent from Spain last October, banned mercy missions to Biafra for a few days last month and then agreed to a temporary resumption.

Red Cross sources said at the time that the working arrangement in force since before Equatorial Guinea became independent had become too loose and improvised.

The island of Fernando Poo, port of Equatorial Guinea, is one of the two main centres the air bridge into Biafra. The other is the Portuguese island of Sao Tome.

After the temporary resumption, it was announced that August Lindt, Red Cross co-ordinator for Nigeria and Biafra, would negotiate a new agreement covering the organization's operation from the territory.

Today, the Red Cross said that, to maintain its neutrality and ensure control of its entire operation, the Red Cross had to transport its supplies from their point of arrival to distribution centres, and it needed the gasoline for this reason.

The airlift would only be able to function again when fuel supplies needed for transport purposes in Biafra could be taken in, the statement said.

MP's Wife, Two Children Perish in Murray Bay Fire

MURRAY BAY, Que. (CP) — Mrs. Marcial Asselin, wife of the Progressive Conservative MP for Charlevoix, and two of her three children died early today when they were trapped by fire in their home in this community 85 miles northeast of Quebec City.

Dead along with Mrs. Asselin, nee Pierrette Bouchard, are sons Bernard, 14, and Francois, 7, a spokesman for Murray Bay police said. A third son, 12-year-old Jean-Louis, escaped the flames.

The fire swept the Asselin home and two other private residences on Nairn Street, in front of city hall in Murray Bay.

Five families now are homeless.

The police spokesman said the Murray Bay fire brigade and firemen from the nearby communities of Pointe-au-Pic and Clermont fought the blaze.

DESIGNED TO FILL THE EMPTY DAYS!

In 1890, James Naismith was trying to figure out a game to fill the gap between the curriculum between the football and baseball seasons. A peach basket was the name of his invention . . . and it's the only competitive sport of purely American origin!

There's a wonderful invention used all over the world to sell and buy anything . . . here we call it an Intelligencer Ad . . . and you get it by dialing 962-9171.

Gastritis Patients: Avoid Irritants

By Dr. George C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know what causes gastritis and how to get relief from it. — Mrs. A. O. H.

Gastritis is irritation or inflammation of the stomach lining. The term, I gather, is often used for gassiousness or flatulence, but it is not related to that.

Commonest irritants of the stomach are alcohol and highly seasoned foods. Just plain overeating can cause gastritis and the overeater for that is obvious. Don't overload the stomach.

Inflammation can result from contaminated foods (food poisoning). Virus infections also can affect the digestive tract, causing diarrhea and vomiting.

In addition, certain drugs can be irritating to the stomach. For just one example, some folks are unusually sensitive to aspirin. It upsets their stomachs. They should switch to some other drug or, in some cases, should be careful to take aspirin, when needed, only after eating or with a glass of milk.

Continued gastritis can bring about two changes, either a thickening of the stomach lining or a thinning (atrophy). Ulceration and bleeding can follow in chronic cases as well as the more usual symptoms of stomach ache, lack of appetite, vomiting.

I suppose my next remark may seem pretty obvious, but treatment of gastritis involves basically, the avoidance of known irritants. It is curious how often people shut their eyes to this. They don't want to change their accustomed ways. Yet they must. Only to a limited extent can treatment be very successful unless the irritants are avoided.

A bland type of diet (as with ulcers) may be used. In some cases, a small meals taken more frequently can be helpful. Antacids may be necessary—although in some cases of gastritis, the reverse may be the case — there can be lack of hydrochloric acid, which is necessary for digestion, and the true correction may be in the use of very dilute doses of the needed acid or in other medication.

As with so many conditions that I discuss in this column, the correct treatment cannot be flatly prescribed. It can be chosen only after the precise nature of the ailment has been determined. This is true of gastritis. It may be from irritation due to something that is being consumed or it may, as in the case of insufficient hydrochloric acid, be from a systemic change.

I wish ' could give so-me answer to gastritis that would fit everybody — but that just isn't the way things are.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: About 10 years ago I had a spur removed by surgery from the bottom of my heel. Now I have developed one on the other heel, so painful that I can hardly walk. Is there some way of getting rid of the spur now.

A spur is a calcium accumulation which has developed at a place where the bone or tendon has been injured. There is no good way to remove it except surgery. With many spurs, some special padding, lambs' wool, or a felt pad with a hole at the appropriate place, to keep pressure off the spur, is sufficient to keep you comfortable. Elevating the heel sometimes helps. If such measures won't work, then you'd be wise to get rid of this spur the same way you got rid of the other one.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you get an ingrown hair on your eyelid? I have a little lump on my eyelid, and my mother thinks that is what it is. — M. E. K., age 13.

That is possible. It is more probable that the little lump could be a chalazion, that is, a cyst. If so, it can be removed easily and safely.

TORONTO STOCKS

By mid-morning, the industrial index was off .45 to 185.16. Other sections were steady.

Trading volume, which was relatively light, was similar to the previous day. By 11 a.m., a total of 1,187,000 had changed hands compared with 1,115,000 at the same time Tuesday.

The market has posted its worst drop this week in more than three years in response to the sudden slump in New York. The setback was blamed on higher interest rates at U.S. banks and uncertainty over the Middle East and the Vietnam peace talks.

However, brokers now say the decline was so sharp that they expect at least a technical recovery in the near future.

International Utilities fell 1 to 42¼, Falconbridge 1 to 106, Oshawa A ¾ to 39, Seagram ¼ to 23½ and Canada Packers ½ to 20.

Toronto Livestock

TORONTO (CP) — Trading was active at steady prices for all classes and grades of slaughter cattle at the Ontario public stockyards today.

Veal calves and lambs were steady, hogs higher.

Slaughter cattle 3,285: Choice steers 28-29 with sales to 29.30; good 26.50-27.50; mediums 24-26; commons 18-23; choice heifers 26-27 with sales to 27.00; good 24.50-25.50; medium s 22-24; commons 17-21; good cows 20-21; medium s 18.50-19.50; canners and cutters 12-18; good heavy bologna bulls 23-23.50; commons and mediums 20-22.50.

Replacement cattle 200: Good light stockers 26.50-29; good stock steer calves 30-35; good stock heifer calves 26-29; commons and mediums 20-26.

Calves 346: Choice vealers 39-44 with sales to 46; good 34-38; mediums 29-33; commons 24-28; boners 20-23.

Hogs 342: Base price at Toronto 23.25-23.50, currently at Toronto 23.50; stags and boars liveweight 12.85.

Sheep and lambs 559: Good handyweight feedlot lambs 32-34; lights to 40; sheep 5-15.

ROOKED BY RICKSHAW

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — Rickshaw pullers in this beach resort city are grumbling about a new law that requires them to display a rate card. It was passed after tourists complained of being charged more than the legal rate—14 cents a passenger for each half mile.

Among the most active industrials, Bank of Montreal lost ¾ to 38¾ and Northern and Central Gas ¼ to 16¼.

Imperial Oil was up ⅛ to 81¼. Shareholders approved a 4-for-1 stock split.

Among western oils and mines, Home A rose 1⅛ to 41⅛, Ranger ⅛ to 11¼ and Bethlehem Copper ⅛ to 17⅝. Placer lost ⅛ to 33½ and Numac 20 cents to $9.30.

On index, western oils gained 3.23 to 257.99, golds .86 to 362.73 and base metals .02 to 114.54.

The industrial index lost 2.95 to 185.82 on Tuesday, its biggest drop in any day since June, 1965. The index fell 2.21 Monday. Losses out-numbered gains by more than three to one.

NBC Latest to Audition Magazine Format Show

NEW YORK (AP) — With its First Tuesday in its premiere outing, NBC has joined the educational network and CBS in presenting a magazine - format show from its news department.

NBC has a 90-minute, commercial-size show consisting of assorted features which relate to its daily news programs in about the same way that a Sunday newspaper magazine section relates to its news pages.

The initial two - hour show Tuesday night opened with a report on Dr. Philip Blaiberg, now celebrating his first anniversary with a new heart. The South African doctor, who is giving a first-hand report on the surgical procedures for his heart transplanting, said he has "more distcomfort and pain" in the course of the repair of a hernia a year or so before.

The program moved on to a grim report on the competitive spirit of the young girls entered in a national baton twirling contest, making it obvious that most mothers of majorettes are likely to be poured from the same mould as stage mothers.

One little girl, who captured her jugular vein in an accident, and was close to death, was so determined to be in the contest that she was tossing her baton 10 days later — and came in second. The segment showed something that no network ever touches — the tearful, sometimes hysterical backstage reaction of the disappointed losers.

The longest portion of the show was a pictorial report on the state of Castro's revolution, largely interpreted by pro-Castro students — American and Cuban. Activities of Cuban exiles in the Miami area also were shown.

Short features included some film showing Charles Atlas, who made a profitable career out of selling exercises to 97-pound weaklings, and who, now 76, still has a trim muscular body.

The program concludes with a feature on Rita Hayworth, once the film love-goddess of World War pinup girl, who now is frankly 50 and wants to play mature roles in Hollywood—but finds no takers.

Sandor Vanocour, the host of the program, tried to portray Miss Hayworth as lonely, but the pictures of her charming house and pool and the sight of her teeing off at her golf club gave this whole thing the tone and quality of a movie-fan magazine piece.

The program encountered most of its problems because of its length — it seemed to have trouble filling the two hours.

Smoking Pot Weekend Pastime For Many Unskilled Workers

LONDON (AP) — Smoking marijuana is becoming a weekend pastime for more and more unskilled British workers, an official committee reported today.

The committee recommended that the maximum penalty for using pot be reduced to two years from 10. It also urged a review of the powers of the police to make drug searches and arrests.

"We have no doubt that the wider use of marijuana should not be encouraged," said Sir Edward Wayne, the committee chairman.

"But on the other hand, we think the dangers of its use have been overstated and that existing criminal sanctions intended to curb its use are unjustifiably severe."

The report was prepared by the Committee in Drug Dependence in Britain, appointed by the government to investigate drug-taking.

The committee said there had been a gradual growth of marijuana smoking during the last 20 years in Britain, but it was impossible to estimate the numbers accurately.

Earth Too Small to Be Seen

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I was listening to a lecture by an astronomer last month, and he mentioned the relative size of our world in the universe. He said that the best modern telescope can now see so far into space that if we took the whole United States as our model, the Earth would not even appear on it, when looked at with electron microscopes.

This is a hard image to illustrate with words, so let me try again in another way. If that part of the universe we can already see were the size of the U.S., the size of the Earth in that area would be about as small as a virus compared with the whole country. Is that clearer?

How provincial of us, the astronomer went on, to imagine that our galaxy with 150 million stars as large as our sun, does not have other planets with life on them — especially since there are 150 million other galaxies in the universe, each containing as many millions of stars.

Other stars no doubt have planets. Other planets, somewhere, must have pretty much the same environmental conditions that bred life on Earth; and out of this life must have come what we call "intelligent" life on some of these planets — and possibly millions of years before this planet began to cool off. To believe we are unique is the height of anthropocentric arrogance.

If we could steadily see ourselves in this light — as a tiny speck of dust whirling about in one tiny corner of the universe, with the whole timespan of the Earth no longer than a twinkling — we might be able to reach a saner perspective on human and social problems.

Buckmaster Fuller's old analogy of the Earth as a "space-ship" is another useful concept. We are all riding together in a space ship that is smaller than the one the Astronauts went up in, compared with the size of the cosmos. We are locked into this ship together and forever, and we survive or perish together and forever.

The first and absolute imperative in the space-ship of the Astronauts is co-operation, and the subordination of individual will to the welfare of the ship as a whole. Only after that is there room for idiosyncratic differences. Disharmony among the Astronauts means disaster for all.

Man must begin to take the "astronomical" view of himself and his world if he is to survive. It is far too late for any parochial views; too late for politics, too late for race, too late for class distinctions. Our ship is now so highly explosive, so charged with incendiaries, that we have only two options: We stay up, or we blow up. Not to see this, clearly and steadily and primarily, is to perish in the universe as obscurely and ignobly as we have lived.

Jean Dixon's Horoscope

For January 9

Your birthday today: Improvement of your financial situation is indicated! Progress in converting latent assets into material benefits is also promised; necessary effort is concentrated mostly in the early months. Sentimental interests require patience and may suffer postponements forced by unusual circumstances. Today's natives are generally intelligent, enterprising, and self-reliant; frequent encounter with hazardous conditions seems normal.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Expect less co-operation, unsettled working conditions. Avoid undue stress by mastering your impatience and pacing your efforts to fit reality. Meditate this evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Important moves are better postponed. Some people apparently are not yet able to go along with the spirit of change). Let disappointment serve as a lesson. Older people, health care demand your attention now.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Leave friends out of your financial arrangements now. Somebody long known may cause some unexpected expense. Inadvertently. Accept different opinions at face value for the moment to avoid squabbles.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): First impressions are important. Be alert and watching, likewise notice what you are projecting. Partnership matters go somewhat better, but be sure pertinent facts are known to all who need them.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Financial considerations are optimistic but unable to the party-of stage. Luck is promised on all social fronts. Graciousness attracts invitations and favors from friends.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Do not expect quiet or too much co-operation. Just keep putting consistent effort on the line. A breakthrough point is very near for you: ponder on it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Make the most of this rather promising day in your career effort. Play up your personality. Check information before doing anything for a partner, your mate. Plan an evening of sober discussion with people important to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 — Nov. 21): Stick to your own intuitive decisions. Speak up, present your own special talents for productive achievement. You can make it one of the most cheerful days of the season.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Everybody wants you to do something else; heed older better established counselors. Uninvited or unfamiliar personalities provide curiosity and stimulation. If you're in love, this is a day for declaring it!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): With a bit more patience, all comes out well in home affairs. Nobody is quite happy with things as they are, while actually they're not so bad. Have supplies for company at home.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): There is no point in fretting over the past, even an hour ago. Continue pushing, just as if no outcome were possible beyond the triumph of your ideas.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Ideas from last night turn out to have real possibilities. There are bargains available if you take the trouble to look for them; mostly one-of-a-kind things you must take while they are to be had.

Africans Demand Wilson Keep Rhodesian Promise

Trudeau Joins In Questioning

LONDON (AP) — Six African premiers today called on Britain to abandon her plan for a Rhodesia settlement offered by Prime Minister Harold Wilson aboard HMS Fearless last fall.

The African leaders, backed by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India, urged Wilson to maintain a policy of strict sanctions on the breakaway regime of Premier Ian Smith.

And they demanded on the third day of the Commonwealth conference that the Wilson government abide by its two-year pledge to withhold the granting of legal independence to Rhodesia until majority African rule is introduced.

The debate on Rhodesia began in the 28-country meeting with a report by Britain's special minister in charge of the Rhodesia problem, George Thomson, who gave an account of recent exchanges with the rebel regime.

At that meeting Wilson submitted proposals that would transfer power to the Smith regime on the basis of a new constitution containing some safeguards for political advancement of the 4,000,000 Africans now ruled by 250,000 whites.

The heads of government of Tanzania, Swaziland, Kenya, Ghana, Uganda and Botswana spoke in succession after Thomson, and in forceful terms criticized the British Fearless plan as inconsistent with previous British commitments.

The meeting was marked by questioning of Wilson by the Africans and by Canadian Prime Minister Trudeau.

Wilson was under heavy pressure to defend his position, but a spokesman for the Commonwealth secretariat said the session was held in "a good atmosphere."

John Harlley, chairman of Ghana's delegation, said the Fearless proposals "offend all

Sanctions Forever

LONDON (CP — Prime Minister Trudeau told a press luncheon today that economic sanctions against Rhodesia should be applied "forever — or a little less long than forever."

It is essential, he said that the regime of Premier Ian Smith be given no cause to believe that sanctions against Rhodesia would not last forever.

Under them, he said, it would take at least a generation for the Africans to gain power in Rhodesia. He also attacked the CHIEF INSPECTOR J. S. McBride of the OPP criminal investigation branch is shown at a news conference at Ottawa, at which he announced three men had been arrested in connection with the highway murder of two men at Carp, Ont., last Friday.

Murder Charged

Three Men Face Court On Monday

OTTAWA (CP) — An intensive manhunt ended here Wednesday when three men, all in their 20s, were charged with non-capital murder.

All three accused were remanded until next Monday when they will face the charges together in court here. Conviction on a non-capital murder charge carries a mandatory life sentence.

The suspects were charged after two motorists were shot and killed last Friday in front of their wives.

Police said they were not looking for anyone else.

Donald Joseph Phillion, 23, of Cobalt, Ont., and David Breault, 23, of Ottawa, appeared in court here and David Edward Dwyer, 23, of no fixed address, was arraigned in Windsor, Ont.

They are charged in the killing of Gerald MacDonald, 31, an Ottawa garage owner, and Kenneth Valles, 42, of St. Clair Shores, Mich.

The two were gunned down on a desolate section of highway, about 25 miles from Ottawa.

Dwyer was arrested last Sunday night in Windsor on several charges including armed robbery and possession of a sawed-off rifle. Phillion was picked up Tuesday afternoon by Constable Nelson Larose of the Ottawa police just half an hour after the policeman had been briefed on the descriptions of the wanted men.

Wednesday, two Ottawa detectives arrested Breault in a mid-town hotel after they had trailed a friend of the wanted man.

Louisiana Democrat Calls Trudeau 'Canadian Castro'

WASHINGTON (CP) — Representative John R. Rarick, calling Prime Minister Trudeau "the Canadian Castro," says that Canada has "compromised its position with the free world and should be excluded from NATO participation in the interests of national defence and national security."

The right-wing Louisiana Democrat made the comment in a written statement he had inserted in Tuesday's Congressional Record.

Rarick said the U.S. state department and military leaders "must be aware that last month Trudeau's leaders decided Canada should not only recognize Red China, but also seek full diplomatic relations."

The Canadian government has denied published reports that it has decided to recognize Communist China.

Rarick said profit from sale of Canadian wheat to Communist China and Castro's Cuba may be an excuse for "departing from the free world bloc" but "diplomatic relations mean exchanges between Canada and Communist China which can but endanger security with NATO and the United States as well." He adds:

"We Americans can perform one function to help awaken our friends, the Canadians, to their retrogressive leader - - - by boycotting Canadian products and cutting off American finances and investment. Simply tell the Canadian people decide who they need the most — their American neighbors, tourism, and markets or Trudeau, Mao, Castro and the Communist grain market."

Canada to Stay in NATO for Year

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said today Canada will renew its present military commitment to NATO for one year at Brussels next week.

Trudeau added that Canada will not make any long-term commitment to the alliance at this time because it is reviewing policy on whether to pull out of NATO or stay in.

Lebanon May Join Arab United Front

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rashid Karami, who promises a shift away from Lebanon's virtual neutrality in the Arab-Israeli struggle, began trying today to form a new government in Beirut.

President Charles Helou asked Karami, six times premier, to replace Premier Abdullah Yafi, who resigned Tuesday under fire because of Israel's destructive commando raid on Beirut's international airport.

Karami, who led the 1958 rebellion that U.S. marines were summoned to quell, heads the Democratic Front, which commands a slight majority in Parliament.

Sources close to Karami said he would try to form a coalition government, but he is expected to have difficulty because leaders of Lebanon's Christian political parties prefer continuation of the previous ambiguous policy of virtual neutrality rather than a harder line against Israel.

Included in his party's platform are support of the Palestinian commandos and their cause, compulsory military service and adherence by Lebanon to Arab policies.

In Jerusalem, meanwhile, Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol rejected France as a Middle East peacemaker.

Addressing a conference of world Jewry, Eshkol said President de Gaulle's embargo on arms shipments to Israel "damages the prospects of peace in the Middle East."

"This action can be compared to that of binding the hands of one of the disputants in a arena who is threatened by the other, and this by a third party which lays claim to objectivity and to a role of peacemaker in our area. From such a party, the call for peace sounds hollow indeed."

Addressing the same conference, Foreign Minister Abba Eban stressed the idea that Israel would not retreat from the ceasefire lines until she is assured of a lasting peace.

"Never shall hostile armies press against us in a narrow coastal strip," Eban declared. "Never shall international waterways be opened to all nations and closed to Israel alone."

Dutch Body Rejects Pope's Ban

NOORDWIJERHOUT (AP) — The Pastoral Council of the Dutch Roman Catholic Church rejected Wednesday the encyclical of Pope Paul banning artificial methods of birth control.

The country's seven bishops joined with the overwhelming majority that voted 100 to 4 against the ban.

The council seeks to represent the views of the 5,000,000 Dutch Roman Catholics. It is dominated by laymen: only 20 voting delegates are priests.

Kingston Man On Bluenose In Ocean Gale

NEW YORK (CP) — The Nova Scotia schooner Bluenose II, carrying a group of Canadian businessmen bound for a vacation cruise in Bermuda, was being buffeted today by winds of about 45 miles an hour and 22-foot waves.

Among the businessmen is Michael L. Davies, general manager of the Kingston Whig-Standard.

The United States Coast Guard, which reported the schooner was "experiencing difficulty," said the rough seas "were getting worse."

The schooner, a two-masted wooden vessel with auxiliary diesel engines, lost a crew member and two life rafts overboard Wednesday.

Two coast guard cutters were standing by the schooner about 200 miles southeast of New York. The cutters and an airplane were to resume today a search for the missing crew member, Neil Robitaille, 22, of Yarmouth, N.S.

The schooner was taking water in its engine room. However, a spokesman for the owners, Olands and Sons brewery, said in Halifax there was no concern over the ship's safety.

The captain of the schooner also emphasized to the coast guard that there was no danger of the ship sinking.

The two coast guard cutters are the McCulloch and the Vigilant. Asked whether the ship was in any danger, a coast guard spokesman said the fact that the cutters were standing by indicated some concern.

Selection of Sirhan Jury Will Not Commence Until Monday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jury selection apparently will not start until Monday in the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial on charges of murdering Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

Defence motions took up most of Wednesday, as they did Tuesday's opening session, and defence counsel prepared more for submission today.

However, Grant B. Cooper, one of three defence lawyers, said the defence and prosecution had agreed—after a closed session in the chamber of Judge Herbert V. Walker—to begin questioning prospective jurors no later than Monday.

The trial had its first witness Wednesday—an expert on juries. William Q. Goodwin, the Los Angeles County jury commissioner, testified on how prospective jurors are selected.

Sirhan, 24, a Jordanian who came to the United States with his family as a boy, listened attentively. The second session lasted less than an hour.

Cooper argued that the list of prospective jurors should be set aside on the grounds of not comprising "a true cross-section of the community."

Cooper presented motions to set aside the jury list and to quash the indictment.

Judge Walker, as Wednesday's session ended, left rulings on both in abeyance until later in the proceedings.

Cooper also again asked a 30-day trial postponement "for the purpose of preparing a total case in behalf of both these motions." Again his motion was denied.

'Only Logical Move'

Mayor, Deacon Back Regional Electrical Commissions

John Deacon, 1968 chairman of the Belleville Utilities Commission, says that the idea of regional electrical utility commissions is set out in the brief to Municipal Affairs Minister Darcey McKeough would be a good thing.

"It seems to me to be the only logical move," he told The Intelligencer today.

Mr. Deacon said the idea of expanded areas for utility commissions had come up a year ago at the Municipal Electric Association convention.

In view of the tremendous suburban growth on the fringe areas of many municipalities, Mr. Deacon said utilities could not isolate themselves.

"The growth is on the fringe areas and that is where they need the services," he said. Utilities should have some authority to expand their facilities."

As Mr. Deacon saw it there would be no necessity to set up additional utilities.

All that would be needed would be for present utilities to expand their services into the rural areas.

Under the present legislation this could not be done, he said.

Mayor J. Russell Scott was of the same opinion as Mr. Deacon on the matter.

He felt that it was only logical that all utilities — water, sewer, and electric — should be provided on a regional basis.

Under the present regulations Belleville linemen can erect lines only to the city boundary.

In a brief to Municipal Affairs Minister Darcy McKeough, the Electric association said the 335 municipal electric utilities now in the association should be replaced by regional commissions set up as part of Ontario's scheme for regional governments.

The brief stressed that because of its size, Metropolitan Toronto should not necessarily be included in the new scheme.

Under the plan the regional electrical utility commission would be elected by the residents of each region giving "some 540,000 rural customers a voice in the control of their electrical utility for the first time."

The brief said "it would be in the best interests of the users of electrical energy in Ontario" if all retail sale of electricity was handed over to the proposed regional governments.

"This would mean the retirement of Ontario Hydro from retail electrical distribution, except in remote, unorganized areas".

Ontario Hydro's functions should be limited to generation of electricity and delivery of electricity to the regional commissions.

The association said that replacement of the 335 municipal commissions by regional commissions would bring about "standardization of rates, service, construction and accounting, all of which would contribute to economies and, therefore, lower costs".

Membership in the 335 municipal utilities will give a chance to express their opinion on the plan at the association's annual meeting in early March.

Mayor to Exert Tighter Control

TRENTON — At the result of a recent personality clash council meetings here could come under a tighter rein.

Mayor James MacDonald said today he believed "councillors should have manners and should use them."

"If they can't act like gentlemen then some control will have to be exercised," he said.

These statements came as a result of a closed caucus meeting on Monday which saw councillor Douglas Kinney storm out of the chambers after a bitter debate with councillor Paul Tripp.

Councillor Kinney stated he would not return to another meeting until he had a promise from the mayor that stricter control would be exercised.

Mayor MacDonald said today he and councillor Kinney had arrived at an agreement and that the councillor would be back.

"Councillor Tripp had stated that it takes guts to run municipal property," said the mayor. "And I believe it takes common sense."

"And my common sense could have been misplaced in believing that certain councillors could act in a mature and courteous manner."

The mayor said if these certain councillors could not act in a mannerly way, then he was wrong, and council would have to come under stricter control.

"These councillors are mature men and they should use courtesy — if they can't then we will have to crack the whip."

"There is no condoning rudeness," continued the mayor.

Both councillors have different versions on how the shouting match on Monday night began, but basically of who started the rucus it looks as though such arguments will have a harder time finding a home in council chambers in future.

New Package Available

The early morning tinkle of milk bottles has been lessened throughout Eastern Ontario.

Traditional packaging concepts were updated today with the introduction of poly-bag deliveries, introduced into the region by Brooksides Price's Dairy.

The new container packs three quart milk pouches within a single bag dubbed in the trade as a pitcherpak.

Pitcherpak will cost 99 cents for home delivery, a Brookside-Price spokesman in Belleville said today By contrast, cost of three quarts in standard containers is 96 cents.

Wholesale price to chain stores and retailers also will be "a couple of cents more."

The dairy emphasizes the convenience factor of the new packaging to housewives.

Easy to carry pitcherpaks store handily in any corner of a refrigerator. Milk lasts longer because it is hermetically sealed.

With no deposits or returns the disposable package rules out any pile up of returnable empties in homes and stores.

Christmas Is Dumped For Another Year

Christmas is over and there are 350 days until the next yuletide. End of the season is graphically symbolized in this bleak scene near Belleville city dump today. Christmas trees, only a week ago centrepieces of seasonal charm and brightness in many a home, are now being discarded. City trucks are making the rounds to collect the trees for dumping.

Busiest Season Ahead

Taxes Are Their Business

By ROBERT DUNNETT
STAFF REPORTER

The income tax department is getting ready for its busiest season of the year — income tax returns time.

Gerald Foxall, chief assessor for the Belleville office, said that with the change in the Canadian estate and gift tax, fewer estates will be untaxable. The maximum of $40,000 has now been reduced to $30,000, which will mean more estates will be taxed.

Mr. Foxall said this office now has a staff of 96 personnel which he says will be hard pressed for the next months, especially with the change in the estate tax. The department has chartered accountants vaccinies which it has been unable to fill.

Mr. Foxall said it is the errors taxpayers make in filling out their returns which create the.tax load for the district offices. Last year the Belleville office had to process about 10,000 rejected returns before they could be sent to the data processing centre in Ottawa.

For this reason, the income tax department is doing everything it can to help people fill out their tax returns properly.

The Belleville office will extend its hours from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Monday, March 24; Tuesday, March 25; Monday, April 28, and Tuesday, April 29.

Mr. Foxall pointed out that the office was staying open so persons could come in and have their questions answered about their returns.

A newspaper and radio station campaign will also be conducted to encourage taxpayers to read their guide book.

Mr. Foxall said the Belleville office covers 8400 square miles and runs from Lake Ontario to the north end of Haliburton County. Returns accounted for $8,000,000 in income tax last year.

The job that the Belleville office has to do, is to make sure that people pay their proper dues to government. In the 1967-68 season, scrutiny of area returns resulted in an additional $1,059,000.00 fro the taxpayers in undeclared taxes.

Name Change A Problem

Separate Board Holds First Meeting

The Prince Edward Hastings Separate Roman Catholic School Board held their first meeting last night.

Board members were informed that they must retain this title rather than The Quinte Highlands Separate School Board, even though the minister of education had sanctioned the name change. They were advised by the legal branch of the department of education that the minister did not have authority to grant this change.

The new board presides over one of the largest areas in Ontario, stretching 130 miles to north. It includes Prince Edward County, Hastings County, and the southern part of Nipissing District, with a total enrolment of 4,000 pupils.

After much discussion on banking arrangements the board decided that the Imperial Bank of Belleville would handle the payroll and current accounts. The Royal Bank will hold all debenture accounts and the Bank of Nova Scotia will have the capital account.

The board members felt that the accounts should be put into different banks to patronize as many as possible and to help keep the accounts separate.

The board passed a bylaw setting their borrowing ceiling at one million dollars, about half of their budget.

A teacher training internship plan will now be initiated, whereby a person wanting to become a teacher may apprentice in the school for one year, take one summer school course and obtain their teaching certificate.

A contest will be organized for the purpose of obtaining a crest for the new organization. There will be a prize awarded to the winning entry. The contest is open to children aged one to 10.

The insurance committee got permission to cancel all existing insurance, except for the student accident policy and to put a binder policy on all property until tenders can be called.

Obituaries and Funerals

LIONEL J. PATRY
(Kingston - Flinton)

TWEED — Lionel J. Patry, 55, of 367 Alfred Street, Kingston, died suddenly Dec. 31st, 1968, at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, was buried recently in St. Mary's Cemetery.

He was born in Cartier, Ontario, a son of the late Felix Patry and his wife Anna, who survives. Previous to taking up residence in Kingston 16 years ago, Mr. Patry resided in Flinton, Ontario.

He was regional manager for English and Mould Limited, and he worshipped at St. Francois d'Assisi Church.

Surviving are his wife, the former Patricia Spooner, originally from Flinton, five sons, Donald Patry, of Toronto; Wayne, Bryan, Felix and Blaine all at Kingston; his mother, Mrs. Anna Patry, of North Bay; and six sisters, Mrs. Osias (Cora) Durand; Mrs. Arthur (Marie) Cook; Mrs. Jean (Bella) Bourgeault; Mrs. Ronald (Simmons) Turpin, Mrs. Bert (Noella) Cheaney, all of Sudbury, and Miss Rita Patry of North Bay.

Mrs. Stewart Lessard of Tweed is a sister of Mrs. Patry, wife of the deceased man, and they have many relatives in Flinton and district. A number from this district attended the funeral at St. Francois d'Assisi Church.

MRS. DUNCAN McKINNON

MADOC — Following a lengthy illness, Mrs. Margaret Mary (Mae) McKinnon, formerly of Millbridge, died at the Hastings Manor on Tuesday. She was in her 82nd year.

Mrs. McKinnon was born at Millbridge, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Matthews Casey. After her education in Millbridge and Picton, she was employed with the Income Tax Division at Belleville as a stenographer for some years and retired in 1954.

Mrs. McKinnon is survived by one brother, Thomas M. Casey of North Bay. Her husband, Duncan McKinnon, died some years ago.

Mrs. McKinnon is resting at the MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc. Requiem Mass will be celebrated in Sacred Heart of Mary Church, Madoc, on Friday, Jan.'10 at 11 a.m.

Interment will be in Sacred Heart of Mary cemetery.

Two Are Injured In County Crash

PICTON (Staff) — Two people were taken to Prince Edward Memorial Hospital with multiple injuries after a two-car crash in Bloomfield Tuesday morning.

Forty-five-year-old Gertrude Walmsley of RR2 Ameliasburg suffered a fractured nose, a fractured pelvis and vertebrae and lacerations to the face. She was the driver of one of the cars.

The other driver, Clifford Morris, 49, of RR1, Hillier, also suffered a fractured nose as well as fractured ribs and facial lacerations.

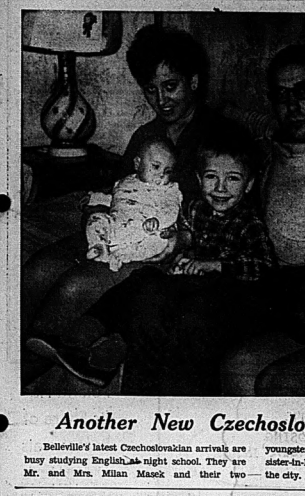
The collision, which caused a total of $1,300 damage, occurred on Highway 14 about one half mile north of its junction with Highway 33 in Bloomfield.

Details on the accident were not immediately available as neither person was able to be interviewed by provincial police until yesterday.

OPP indicate that charges will be laid concerning the incident.

Debate Planned

The men behind the scenes in Belleville's municipal administration come into the forefront in debate next week.



Local government department heads will form a panel to discuss community affairs with Belleville Jaycees at the Sheik Club Monday night.

The event will locally highlight Jaycee Week, Jan. 11-18.

Taking part in the discussion will be city manager J. R. Reynolds, industrial commissioner Ray Brown, planning director Bert Kenny, recreation director Lorne Williams and Ben Corby, president of the Downtown Businessmen's Association.

Moderator will be Jaycee Zdenek Kvarda.

Another New Czechoslovakian Family

Belleville's latest Czechoslovakian arrivals are busy studying English each night school. They are Mr. and Mrs. Milan Masek and their two youngsters Peter and Gabrila. A 19-year-old sister-in-law, Hermina Gruber, has also moved to the city.

Fifty Czechs Settle in City--Most Hold Permanent Jobs

Under the constant guidance of James Stavely, public relations officer for the Canada Manpower Department, Czechoslovakian immigrants to Belleville are laying the basis for a successful life in Canada.

Since the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia on Aug. 20, 8,400 refugees have immigrated to Canada. Of these 30 have settled in Belleville.

Except for the ones who arrived just before Christmas, all are holding permanent jobs in the city and the ones who aren't working are attending English classes.

Mr. Stavely said yesterday that Belleville has done a very good job in placing this many people. Czechs who went to Toronto were not nearly so fortunate in finding jobs because of the language barrier.

Mr. Stavely feels that these people are an asseet to the city — not only because of their ability to hold skilled jobs but also because they add new culture with new ideas.

"Nearly all the new Canadians are skilled and in their late 20's, so their contribution to the labor force will be great over the years," he said.

The most recent Czech family to move into Belleville is that of Mr. and Mrs. Milan Masek and his two children along with Miss Hermina Gruber, a sister of Mrs. Masek.

They have been living at the Belvedere Hotel since their arrival in Belleville on Dec. 16.

Mr. Masek is a draftsman, contractor, and builder, but will not be able to work until he has a better knowledge of English.

Mr. Masek said that he had to give up a lot to come to Canada, but he feels that it is worth it for his freedom, "we are not communists," he said.

When asked how he liked Canada, Mr. Masek replied, "I like being in Canada. There is no discrimination here and everyone accepts you as a new Canadian."

Mr. Masek said that he chose to live in Belleville instead of Winnipeg or Fort William because he wanted to be in an industrial area without the cold weather of the other cities.

Hermina Gruber, an attractive 19 year old blonde was a ceramics worker in Czechoslovakia. Her work was shown in the Czechoslovakian Pavilion at Expo.

Hermina managed to bring with her three beautiful figurines. They were copied from the 600 year old originals in the Church of St. Jakub in the town of Levocal in Czechoslovakia.

Hermina said that she intends to continue with her ceramics when they get settled in an apartment. At present she is learning English with Mr. Masek.

Weather Picture Appears Bleaker

Quinte dwellers faced the dreary prospect of more snow today as winter seemed set to challenge its own bleak record.

Up to three inches of snow — with a dash of freezing rain added — were predicted for the region by nightfall.

The latest fallout adds to a total of 81 inches which has blanketed the Quinte area since November.

This compares with a normal average snowfall of 65 inches for Quinte writers — a mark that should be passed this year.

And if the fallout continues at its present pace-setting volume it will be one of the worst winters yet.

Record snowfall for the area is 116 inches. That was back in the winter of 1959-60, the department of lands and forests at Tweed reports.

The winter records are for a four-month period — Nov. to March.

Welfare Must Be Economically Sound Administrator Tells Picton Rotarians

By DONALD MacKENZIE
(Staff Reporter)

PICTON — Welfare institutions are as much interested in saving the taxpayers money as any other organization says Prince Edward County Welfare Administrator Grant Harvey.

Mr. Harvey spoke yesterday on the monthly meeting of the Picton Rotary Club. He used figures of a sample welfare case, along with a specimen budget, to point out to local businessmen and citizens just how careful local welfare is with their money.

Besides going over a general budget outline and the accomplishments of the county welfare agency over the past five years Mr. Harvey also gave some indication of what the future was to bring.

Although he said as far as he was concerned Prince Edward County did not need "meals on wheels" for older people, he did indicate welfare was going to expand into more home visits for older people.

Other welfare aids such as helping to plan household budgets for people with financial problems are also coming up in the near future.

And to help guide these new plans, Mr. Harvey told Rotarians that three of the welfare workers in the county were attending school to educate themselves in these new areas of welfare.

"One man is attending Ryerson studying social welfare," said Mr. Harvey. "Another is attending Laurentian University studying children's welfare and still a third person is attending Loyalist College in Belleville studying municipal administration."

Mr. Harvey pointed out to the group there had been a gradual increase in case loads in Prince Edward County over the past five years.

"However, this is not a startling increase," he emphasized.

"Some types of work formerly available, especially in agriculture, are no longer available and this accounts for some of the increase."

Besides the disappearance of certain types of work from the area due to automation, Mr. Harvey said many people had started to take additional educational and technical training in order to improve their position.

"That takes many of them out of welfare hands and into the arms of various other government agencies," he said.

In December there were 153 cases receiving welfare assistance in Prince Edward County and compared to some areas, Mr. Harvey said the figure was low.

Automation and modernization have really created a lot of welfare cases in some places in the country but as "Prince Edward County has not been affected that way."

Top World Pianist Appears In Belleville on Jan. 20

A distinguished occasion opens the 1969 calendar of artistic events for Belleville in the near future.

Madame Aline van Barentzen, a leading world pianist, is being brought to the city Jan. 20 under the auspices of the Quinte Arts Council.

Mme. van Barentzen will present a program of works by Chopin, Debussy and Schumann at Belleville Collegiate auditorium.

Arrangements for the concert were made through Mrs. G. H. Rennie, past president of Belleville branch Ontario Regional Music Teachers Association, and William Andrews, in Toronto.

Mr. Andrews, a young musician from the Quinte district on the staff of the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto, is a former pupil of Mme. van Barentzen.

The concert became possible with the artist's current visit to Canada for a Toronto recital and a recording session for the CBC in Montreal.

A native of Boston Mme. van Barentzen at 11 years of age became the youngest student and the first American ever to win the highest award of the Paris National Conservatory.

She later joined the conservatory faculty after studies in Berlin and Vienna and teaching in Philadelphia and Buenos Aires. In 1962 the French government made her a chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

Mme. van Barentzen's repertoire ranges from the classics to contemporary compositions.

Tickets for the concert are on sale at Thomas' Cigar Store in Belleville and Tripp's in Trenton.

Council Meeting Set For Jan. 21

Traditionally scheduled for the third Tuesday in Jan. the inaugural session of Hastings county council this year will be held on the latest date possible.

The Jan. session will open Tuesday, Jan. 21 — a full three weeks after the beginning of the year.

The first business of the session will be to select a new warden to succeed Warden Calvin White, reeve of Dungannon township.

So far two reeves — Allan Ketcheson of Madoc township, and Donald Rodgers of Stirling have indicated their intention of contesting for the wardenship.

Earl Sager was the last county warden from Madoc township (in 1960), Stirling hasn't had a warden since 1936 when William C. West headed the county council body.

Langabeer New PUC Chairman

It's the second time around this year for Lyle A. Langabeer as chairman of the Belleville Public Utilities Commission.

Yesterday at the inaugural meeting of the commission, Mr. Langabeer was elected chairman, succeeding John Deacon as head of the local utilities body. Mr. Langabeer was chairman of the commission in 1967.

Mr. Trudeau In U.K.

Prime Minister Trudeau, while socking some of the old Trudeaumania magic to the British, continues to make a good deal of sense in his public utterances.

There may have been truth in a British newsman's statement that in one interview Mr. Trudeau really had nothing to disclose and spent 40 minutes disclosing nothing. But then, what is there to disclose? At Commonwealth conferences, as in elections at home, prime ministers must be adept at the great art of saying nothing.

On a CBC program the other night, Mr. Trudeau displayed this art as well as any. The prime minister said in effect: "You know what we will be discussing — Rhodesia, Nigeria, the future of the Commonwealth to name a few — but I don't know what is going to happen any more than you do. These matters must be discussed and if solutions can be found well and good. But don't ask me to predict the outcome. If we cannot achieve complete agreement then we may have to make do with second-best solutions."

Mr. Trudeau makes no claim to be a prophet. The Gallic shrugs, the gestures, the realism of the man indicate as much. But he does have a way with him that suggests he puts more faith in logic and reason than in prophecy. In other words, the answers will present themselves as the democratic processes are worked out.

He is still adamant, however, about the need for placing time limits on discussions, in the belief that going beyond the limits of recognized differences merely destroys the arguments of both sides and leads to more dissension.

Is this the Commonwealth's last chance, as one African leader suggests? Mr. Trudeau is not given to making such rash pronouncements himself. Again, he merely shrugged and suggested it is good for the Commonwealth leaders to get together from time to time. And what more can anyone say in the circumstances?

Of the other new boys at this meeting in London, Mr. Trudeau is evidently overshadowing them all, including Australia's Prime Minister Gorton. One to watch however, is Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore. He is young too, articulate, and what he had to say in the CBC's interview the other night showed that he also has his ideas rooted in reality.

The Middle East, said Lee, is the big powder-keg of the moment. Moreover, what happens in Vietnam will have much to do with the future of Asia. Like Mr. Trudeau, Mr. Lee is more concerned with making the best of the world situation and with aid for less-developed areas, than with prolonging old dissensions and opening new wounds, especially with regard to the contemporary scene in Africa.

Highway Murder

The incredible, apparently motiveless, murder of two men on a highway west of Ottawa last week raises questions of public safety which should be pursued.

The circumstances that brought the two men and their wives to that lonely place at that time, to be waylaid by three young men armed with rifles, were tragic indeed. There is some suggestion that robbery was the motive, because a wallet belonging to one of the victims was found farther down the road, but the point is it could have been anyone. The men who perpetrated this dastardly crime were out to kill — perhaps, as also has been suggested, "for thrills" — and these people just happened along.

Nothing now can alter the terrible circumstances of this event near Ottawa, but it does serve to warn the public against stopping simply at the bidding of anyone. The victims were within a short distance of Almonte. The rule in such circumstances should be the same as applies to would-be hitchhikers: DON'T STOP.

Safe Driving Course

The Canadian Highway Safety Council has taken an important step toward reducing the highway death toll by introducing a course on defensive driving.

An advertisement announcing the course's inception in Ottawa pointed out that traffic accidents killed more than 5,400 persons across Canada in 1968.

Defensive driving, as every careful motorist knows, involves constant watchfulness, relative to one's own driving and that of others. Or as the Safety Council says, it is a skill practised by professional drivers — men who exercise maximum driving care every moment behind the wheel.

The course includes films and in Ottawa is being held by the Collegiate Institute Board's adult education division one night a week for four weeks. The fee is $5.

Thirty Percent Raise for Top Civil Servants

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Suppose you are making $21,000 — and among the federal government's 60 deputy ministers, board presidents and commissioners, chairmen, six super-mandarins do.

So how does a $9,000 raise hit you?

Right in the pocketbook, huh — with delightful impact, lifting you to $40,000.

At the nearest round percentage, that is a very security-satisfying 30.

Among the sub-mandarins and by simple arithmetic of 60 minus six there have to be 54 of them — the increase could be only $8,250 to a $37,000 top.

Or a slightly smaller, but still by no means modest 27 or 28 percent.

Those are the maximums — $9,000 and $8,250 — that the federal mandarins could get under the new pay scale approved by the government to begin just a week ago.

There are another 400 senior officers, as they are called, in the Ottawa Executive Suite who are in line for maximum increases ranging from $6,000 down to a rock-bottom $6,500.

All also fat round percentages and all with the blessing of Prime Minister Trudeau.

But where was Finance Minister Benson?

And whatever happened to his stern lecture to business, industry — and yes, his own government's civil service, too — that salary increases and wage raises must be held to between six and seven percent.

It was a case of holding and holding hard on, period, while the inflated and still inflating cost-of-living was not going to balloon out of sight and all reason.

Didn't his own prime minister hear him?

Or wasn't he consulted?

True, the pay recommendations for the mandarins were written by a five - man panel of eminent leaders in the industrial, banking and academic world.

True, too, that solemnly they warned that pay raises ranging between $6,500 and $9,000 on percentages running 27 to 30 were not to be regarded as pacemakers.

They were "special" for "special" cases, some 520 of them.

But who was drawing the line that kind of cautionary talk?

Not likely the other nearly 300,000 federal civil servants who, like the postmen, are gunning for more money.

And probably not anybody in the Canadian working world who worriedly watches his shrinking shopping dollar.

Funny thing, the government, which Ben Benson says must set the stern example of wage and salary "restraint," as he quaintly calls it, seemed to know that few if any taxpayers would put much stock in the ready rationalization that 30 percent is "special."

For the government let go with the approval of more-much-la-for - the - mandarins when it lopped against all reality that everyone would be busy watching the astronauts home in from the moon to notice a little odd pay hike of a mere $9,000.

Maybe it was not managed news as such, but it sure was "handled."

The prime minister's press officers dropped it, without a word of warning, 32 minutes after noon on that day that belonged to the men-from-the-moon.

And then quick as the foxes they are, slipped quietly out to lunch.

There were maybe as many as 15 minutes to go before the final edition deadlines of Ottawa's three afternoon newspapers — with nobody in the prime minister's press office to answer the urgent questions of "how may get this 'special' salary increase and how much is it going to cost?"

The afternoon editions of the three Ottawa dailies are important in terms of public information because the capital is a "company town" if there ever was one. And so, The Journal, The Citizen and Le Droit generally are expected to provide the answers for the rest of the nation's press on their "company town" specialty, the federal civil service.

The answers to some of the key questions, because of the government's shy timing of the announcement, had to wait until the next day's editions, and while it was still big news here in the Capital, it was a day-old story to the rest of the country.

As a result, "managed" or just by happy government accident, the news slipped by in the weekend shuffle with few taxpayers noticing that Ottawa, preaching "restraint", was scarcely practicing it.

But shucks, what is 30 percent or $9,000?

Poland Has Its Share of Bureaucrats

Wall Street Journal

One of the few good restaurants in Warsaw, Poland, was the Kumia, known for its blinis and caviar. Part of the reason for the restaurant's success was its able and energetic manager, a lady named Beata Artemska.

In addition to improving the quality of the food, she entertained diners with old Warsaw tunes and wartime ballads and insisted on what she described as a "pleasant atmosphere free of drunken brawls."

Unfortunately, however, things didn't work out.

Like almost everything else in Poland, the Kumia is state-owned. The lady manager reported that a government agency "kept sending me heaps of ever - new forms instructions and regulations, sanitary and other inspectors." Because she didn't comply with all the rules to the authorities' satisfaction, they kept forcing her to lower her prices.

Finally, she gave up and quit.

In Communist as in capitalist countries it seems that bureaucrats have a knack for making hash out of almost anything. Even blinis and caviar.

Time To Relax!

In Praise of Traffic Jams

Scott Young in the Globe and Mail

It took me a little more than three hours recently to make a trip that normally takes 80 minutes, but I thoroughly enjoyed it. I was in stop-and-go traffic almost all the way. There is a fellowship about such traffic that does not exist in normal circumstances.

One has time to study the fellow drivers. I believe that most drivers are more relaxed in traffic jams than out of them.

This tells us something about human beings that we already know, anyway; we are most peaceful when we have no alternatives, only one course open.

I travelled for many dozens of miles behind a young man, his wife, and their two infant children in a late-model Plymouth sedan. There was a domesticity about them that was most pleasant to watch. He smoked his pipe and kept his eyes on the cars ahead, except when we were stopped — then often he and his wife would look at one another, chat, comment, and smile.

She held a baby in her lap. Another small child seemed to be in one of those interlocking contraptions in the back. If he had been able to travel fast, making a dozen passings per minute, he wouldn't have been able to enjoy the family visit.

I was in the inside lane for much of the drive. There was a Lincoln Continental in the outside lane, towing a trailer on which reposed a small racing car. In the front seat was a burly and dark young man who concentrated on his driving. Beside him was a saucily attractive and well-dressed blonde woman who always seemed to be looking out of the window to her right at the gorgeous trees and the quiet, hazy fields. She wore a hat that leaned precariously over her right eye. They turned up beside me every few minutes. I was always glad to see her, because she was pretty, but I took care not to embarrass her by staring. I never looked at her except when the Lincoln was a little ahead of me and I could see her profile from behind and to the side.

I was alone, except for Mc-Gregor, the Scottie dog. He was asleep in the back seat. I smoked two cigars and one pipe, ate one apple, listened to Elwood Glover, the music, the reports from space, Steve Douglas in sports, the news roundup called The World at Six. It was a quiet and restful three hours and I wish I could do it again.

Discipline Is A Thing Of the Past

Richard Needham in The Globe and Mail

In the old days, people controlled their kids with physical penalties — the strap, the cuff on the ear. Today, the penalties are more inclined to be emotional — anger, sorrow, disappointment. "After all we have done for you" — "You have made us unhappy" — "You don't consider our feelings." The physical punishment left scars that healed, the emotional punishment leaves scars that don't heal.

American Academics In Canada

Montreal Star

Worried about a brain-drain difficulty sleeping since he had for so many years, this country now appears to be presented with a brain-wash—specifically the influence of American instructors in our colleges and universities. The debate should tide us over the cold winter.

To be sure, there are certain subjects. — history and political science, for example, particularly as they relate to the last 200 years — which might be better studied by Canadian students by persons grounded in the Canadian experience. The suggestion that our institutions are hiring too many Americans, however, is to presuppose that there are enough qualified Canadians to fill our professional needs. We hardly think so. Only when Canadian universities graduate more doctoral candidates in a wider array of scientific disciplines will they be able to look to their own resources for teachers.

Ulster: Bigotry on Both Sides

Letter to the Montreal Gazette

I was amazed at the audacity of your correspondent, Thomas Davison, who, as a mere visitor to Northern Ireland, claimed in Monday's Gazette that he knows the exact truth of affairs there.

As one who was born in Northern Ireland and who lived there for 19 years, I think that I can claim to have a better knowledge of the state of affairs in Northern Ireland than does Mr. Davison. His letter seems to be full of faults similar to those which he found in Hal Winter's article.

First Mr. Davison claims that the religious issue is not predominant in Northern Ireland; yet, in his letter eight of the 10 paragraphs mention religion! Religion is still, unfortunately, a predominant issue in Northern Ireland.

Secondly, the fact that gerrymandering exists in Northern Ireland has now been recognized even by the Unionist government. The Prime Minister, Captain O'Neill, in December the appended local government in the city of Derry and has appointed a commission to govern the city until democratic elections are held there.

It is my opinion that both sections of the Northern Ireland community are guilty of bigotry and intolerance. However, give the Unionists are in a majority and form the government it is they who are charged with the duty of bringing Northern Ireland closer to being a true democracy. It is only since the Civil Rights marches in Derry have focussed world attention on Northern Ireland, that the government has realized that it can no longer treat one third of the population as second-class citizens.

On the other hand it is also my opinion that one of the root causes of the bigotry and intolerance in Northern Ireland is the Roman Catholics' refusal to allow their children to be educated in the same schools as Protestant children.

If the children of all sections of the community were allowed to play and study together, I think that one would find that, in later life, there would be much less friction, and, instead of two separate communities — Catholic and Protestant — there would exist a single community of Northern Irishmen.

Conference Threatened

Color Clash Pits White Against Black, Black Against Brown

LONDON (CP) — A color clash which threatens the harmony of the Commonwealth conference pits white against black and black against brown. It is a mixture of racism, nationalism and Powellism larded with bitterness and suffering.

"A ghost of the British Empire," said one British official in touching on the problem which finds Britain shutting out some non-white British passport holders while some African Commonwealth members try to boot out long-time Asian residents simply because they haven't taken out citizenship.

When these now independent African states were British colonies, their people—brown and black—were British subjects. These included Indian and Pakistani traders who had become big shopkeepers in East Africa, including Kenya, Uganda and Zambia.

In time local blacks resented them because, as they saw it, the lifeblood of their economy had passed into the hands of "foreigners."

At the time the African states became independent the British tempting to ensure loyalty at least among some local residents, pledged that those who didn't take out local citizenship could retain their British nationality.

At that time it was a pledge that bore no hardship. But as Britain's own population became tinted with a rush of brown and blacks to take jobs that local whites wouldn't handle, British resentment of non-whites hardened.

In big industrial areas, black ghettoes sprang up, fenced in by antagonistic whites. Britain, with a total population of about 54,000,000, has more than 1,000,000 non-whites. The savage racial battles in the United States added concern in Britain, fanned by such men as Tory MP Enoch Powell, who painted a vision of rivers flowing with blood as a result of "aliens" taking possession of Britain's green and pleasant land.

As racial tensions grew, the Labor government pushed through legislation to enforce laws against discrimination in housing, jobs and public gatherings. But at the same time it started to tighten the screws against non-white immigrants, particularly those who had no firm promises of jobs.

The big clash came last March when Britain announced that non-white British passport holders no longer would have free and easy access to Britain.

There would be an annual quota limited to 1,500 heads of families when more than 15,000 were told to get out of Kenya and when it appeared that total Asians to be booted out of East Africa would be more than 60,000.

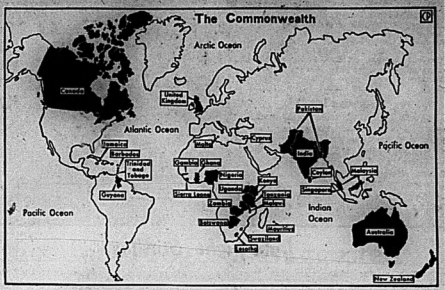
Both Kenya and India maintained that since Britain had pledged entry to these Asians in Africa, the matter was a British responsibility. The British government said it would take them all eventually but would have to restrict the rate of flow to what the British population could absorb. The government wants India to take some of them back.

It appears likely that some compromise may be worked out whereby Britain would acknowledge prime responsibility for these people but India would at the same time take some of them back, providing that at some future time they would be able to settle in Britain.

Meanwhile, many of these Asians already see an uncertain future, their means of livelihood suddenly snatched from them and their security torn away. Most of them are reported to be eager to come to Britain. Few want to go back to return to India and Pakistan which are heavily populated and where living standards are low.

Zambia Changes Economic Policy

LUSAKA (AFP) — Asian and other alien traders in the Monze district of southern Zambia have been given one week to hand over their shops to Zambians, the official Zambian news agency reported today.



The order came from Monze Governor Andrew Sikufwela whom the agency quoted as warning the traders that police were watching to see if they removed any goods from their shops.

Last April President Kenneth Kaunda announced new economic reforms designed to give Zambians a bigger share in the country's economy, hitherto dominated by foreigners.

These reforms included the provision that licences would not be renewed for shops owned by non-Zambians, except in certain specified areas.

About 80 Asian stores in Lusaka have closed because their licences have not been renewed.

$500,000 Report

American Scientists Shoot Down Saucer Theory

WASHINGTON (CP) — A top-level group of American scientists today challenged theories that flying saucers are spaceships from distant planets.

A $500,000 report commissioned by the U.S. Air Force said a two-year investigation uncovered no evidence that flying saucers, or unidentified flying objects (UFOs), were of extraterrestrial origin.

The 1,485-page report was endorsed by the National Academy of Sciences which said there seemed to be no reason to doubt its conclusions without evidence more convincing than now available.

But it seemed certain to set off a new furore from groups which claim the air force tried to suppress information suggesting UFOs might be real and be a threat in U.S. security.

None of the scientists involved in the investigation is a government official or employee.

The report suggested dropping further investigations.

"Our general conclusion is that nothing has come from the study of UFOs in the last 21 years that has added to scientific knowledge," the report said.

"Further extensive study of UFOs probably cannot be justified" at this point in the interest of science.

The scientists, headed by Colorado's Dr. Edward U. Condon, acknowledged their conclusions are bound to stir new controversy among flying saucer-believers as well as other dedicated scientists who want to keep an open mind on the matter.

One of the several flying saucer groups—the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena—scheduled a Friday meeting here to discuss the "Scientific Study of Unidentified Flying Objects." The group charged last May the Condon study lacked impartiality.

Among the study's major points:

—"No direct evidence whatever of a convincing nature now exists for the claim that any UFOs represent spacecraft visiting earth from another civilization."

—About 90 per cent of all UFO reports "prove to be quite plausibly related to ordinary objects" such as planes, satellites, balloons, street lights, beacons, clouds or other natural phenomena.

—Defence needs "probably could be carried out "without the 'continuance'" of the air force's Project Blue Book which has investigated UFO reports since 1947, but this is a matter for the defence department to decide.

—Suggestions by some people that the government possesses extraterrestrial spacecraft and has their crews in secret captivity are "fantastic nonsense."

—Allegations the government has attempted an official cover-up of the flying saucer issue have "no factual basis whatever."

—Some public school students are being "educationally harmed by absorbing unsound and erroneous" reading material on UFOs, and "we strongly recommend" teachers stop giving them credit for reading saucer books and articles.

The scientists presented 35 case histories of "probably fabrication," seven of possible fabrication, seven were classified as natural or man-made phenomena and 12 provide insufficient data for analysis.

None proved to be "real objects with high strangeness."

Since the air force's Project Book began investigating "flying saucers" in 1947, there have been 12,097 UFO sightings, 697 of which remain "unidentified."

The report covered case studies of 59 UFO reports, recounted the history of UFO sightings, looked at UFO study programs in foreign countries and focused on 20 years of past U.S. study of UFO phenomena.

UFO reports around the world vary so greatly, the report said, "it is impossible" to relate them to a single explanation.

"This means that a general explanation peculiar to any one country has to be ruled out, since it is utterly improbable that the secret military aircraft of any one country for example would be undergoing test flights in different countries," the report stated.

"Similarly, it is most unlikely that military forces of different countries would be testing similar developments all over the world at the same time in secrecy from each other."

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock market edged up in mid-morning trading today, interrupting an extremely sharp three-day slump. Volume was active.

The industrial index gained 27 to 184.58 and advances outnumbered declines by almost two to one. The former trend matched a similar small rise in New York.

Brokers said there has been no positive news to affect prices one way or the other since Wednesday, but they say signs of recovery would be the natural reaction to the recent slide.

CPR gained 1 to 74, Steel-Rosco 1 to 19, Hand Chemical A 1 to 22¼, Walker-Gooderham ⅝ to 40⅝, Levy ½ to 30 and Supertest ½ to 16¾.

Among the most active industrials, Harder Exploits jumped 50 cents to $1.30 and St. Maurice Gas 15 cents to $2.85.

Electrohome was up ¼ to 17¼ after the company said that unaudited figures show a sharp increase in annual earnings for 1968.

Among actively traded low-priced mines, Cochenour Willans was up 17 cents to $1.35.

On index, base metals rose .25 to 114.00 and western oils 1.94 to 256.64. Golds fell .08 to 241.52.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 1,596,000 shares compared with 1,147,000 at the same time Wednesday.

Prices dropped sharply Wednesday for the third successive day, although the decline was the smallest this week. Trading was extremely heavy.

The industrial index fell 1.31 to 184.31 in response to a similar drop in New York. The index has lost more than six points since Monday and closed at its lowest level since late November.

Brokers who expected a technical recovery to develop during the day had to give up hope after the New York market started going down. Earlier, they thought prices might revive in a reaction to the severe slump Monday and Tuesday.

The setback has been largely blamed on the prime loan rate increase at U.S. banks to a record 7 per cent, up from 6½ per cent.

The prime rate is a bank's lowest charge on loans to its best corporate customers. The new move had an immediate effect on U.S. share prices Tuesday and the decline spread at once to Toronto.

Tension in the Middle East and the delay over the Vietnam peace talks also takes some of the blame for market weakness.

Neon Products fell 1¼ to 31, Atco 1¼ to 24, Leigh Instruments 1¼ to 43¼, CPR 1 to 73, Seaway 1 to 33¼ and Bank of Nova Scotia ¾ to 75¼.

Among the active traders, Revenue Properties fell ¾ to 16¾ and New Providence Development 10 cents to $1.90.

Maritime Indians Support Mohawks

AMHERST, N.S. (CP) — Micmac and Maliseet Indians in the Maritimes provinces have sent a message of "moral support" to Mohawks at Cornwall Island, Ont. in the latters' efforts to have a 1794 treaty recognized.

Seventy Indians from Maritime bands meeting with federal government officials in Amherst this week sent a telegram to Ernest Benedict, chairman of the Indian Treaty Defence Committee at Cornwall Island.

The telegram said Maritime Indians feel the Canadian government should hold "immediate, serious and sincere discussions" with Indians concerning the Jay Treaty and many other Indian treaty rights.

Maritime delegates meeting here are focussing discussions with staff members of the Indian affairs branch on such problems as housing, education, grants to Indian bands, social assistance and development of Indian communities.

Indians to Confer Saturday

OTTAWA (CP) — Kahn-Tineta Horn, an Indian spokesman, said Wednesday government officials have been invited to an Indian meeting near Cornwall, Ont., to discuss the Jay Treaty.

The meeting will be held on Cornwall Island, part of the St. Regis Indian reserve on the U.S.-Canada border. It will start at 10 a.m. EST Saturday.

A notice from Miss Horn sent to the Parliamentary Press Gallery here said federal officials will be asked to explain their position on the treaty and allied matters troubling the Indians.

Several indians were arrested a few weeks ago during demonstrations at the international bridge at Cornwall to back Indian claims that under the Jay Treaty they are permitted to bring goods into Canada from the U.S. free of customs duty.

Montreal High School Youths Responsible For Two Bombs

MONTREAL (CP) — Two high school students pleaded guilty in Social Welfare Court Wednesday to charges arising from two bombing incidents in the city in the last six weeks.

The two boys—aged 13 and 16—will be sentenced Jan. 22.

Police arrested the boys Tuesday night after about 50 students at the Ecole Secondaire St. Luc in west-end Montreal had been questioned following a bomb explosion outside the school Monday night.

The boys, one of them described by police as being so expert at making dynamite bombs that "he can toss one together in 15 minutes," were each charged with two offences of causing the explosion of a substance that was likely to cause serious bodily harm or death or serious damage to property. The older youth was also charged with two counts of fabricating and possessing explosive devices.

The charges carry a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

Because of their ages, the boys were charged in the Social Welfare Court and their names were not released.

Police said the two boys charged with the bombing, who were students at the school, were arrested at their homes after police took possession of wiring and batteries.

They also found 16 detonators and 17 sticks of dynamite buried near their homes.

Investigators were told the youths had earned how to construct bombs from an account published in a French-language weekly tabloid newspaper.

They were also charged in connection with the discovery Nov. 27 of a four-stick dynamite bomb under a police car in the city's west-end. It was dismantled before it could explode.

The two arrests—and police said they may arrest "three or four other high school students" —were the first break for the police.

The court appearance followed by some hours the second explosion in the city this year—about 100 yards from the residence of Montreal Police Director Jean-Paul Gilbert.

The bomb, described by police as apparently having been "small—with perhaps two sticks of dynamite," caused light damage to the home on Ernest-Lavigne Street.

Five-day Mail Plan To Proceed

OTTAWA (CP) — A bid by the 12,000-member Letter Carriers Union of Canada to delay the scheduled Feb. 1 start of five-day home delivery has been rejected by post office officials.

Union President Roger Decarie released copies of a telegram he sent Postmaster-General Eric Kierans Wednesday seeking to delay the reduction from six-day delivery "by at least a month" to allow time for negotiations.

This prompted a department statement later Wednesday which said the "initial reaction" by officials is that no delay is necessary.

"Hiring in post offices was stopped as of Oct. 1, 1968, to allow for normal attrition and expansion to absorb employees displaced by the five-day delivery week when implemented on Feb. 1, 1969," it said.

A union press release said its contract with the department which resulted from the 22-day postal strike last summer—binds the department to notify the union officially at least three months in advance of any change in working conditions.

Students Strike At Cornwall

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — The president and boycotting students of St. Lawrence College of Applied Arts and Technology were to meet today to discuss student disorder on the Cornwall campus.

The students boycotted classes Wednesday protesting the dismissal of a teacher.

In a statement and petition sent to Education Minister William Davis, 133 students said nine teachers have been either fired or asked to resign in the 15-month history of the college.

Strictly Personal

It is The Unfit Who Rule

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

Our ultimate enemy is not "the Machine" — or technology, in any of its aspects — but our inappropriate and obsolete ideas that will prevent us from using technology for the fullest human purposes, but rather will condemn us to reshape the person to fit the demands of technology.

* * *

Perhaps the most tragic contradiction of our age (speaking of technology) is that just as scientific barbarism is outmoding the whole concept of the "sovereign nation," and making some form of globalism imperative for our survival, at the same time there is a tremendous upsurge of nationalism everywhere in the world — which is like putting a nuclear power-pack on the back of a sabre-toothed tiger.

* * *

When we talk about "education," we almost always mean hard-core learning of facts and systems; but what is really essential today is the re-education of the feelings, so that the total personality will want to do what the trained mind knows is right to do; otherwise, the facts we learn run the serious risk of being misapplied or non-applied.

* * *

Those officially involved in "poverty programs" have a vested interest in the perpetuation of poverty, not in its abolition; which is why the poor themselves must begin to be treated as agents, not clients.

* * *

I have never met a person who was against obscenity or pornography because they were corrupt or inflame the passions, who admitted that his passions were corrupted or inflamed by these media — it is always other people who are thought to be so unstable that they need protection.

* * *

"What does it matter if we know what the cosmos is like?" asks a reader, in response to a recent column. "Doesn't it matter more that we understand our personal lives here on earth?" That question was answered 2,000 years ago, by Marcus Aurelius when he wrote: "The man who doesn't know what the universe is like doesn't know where he lives."

* * *

The only excuse for work (apart from its productive value) is that it must be therapeutic for the individual worker; that is, it must provide an outlet for feelings unsatisfied in other areas of life, and charge up the psychic battery, rather than running it down; using this crucial standard, how many jobs in modern society fulfill this basic need?

* * *

One of the best and briefest mots I've heard in political philosophy was given by the Viennese lecturer who told his classes: "Capitalism is the exploitation of man by man; communism is the reverse."

* * *

Every journalist has long known, and regretted, that the retraction rarely catches up with the original story; what is equally sad today is that the report rarely catches up with the rise — not one person in 1,000 shocked at the Columbia sit-in has read the Cox report on its causes.

Rebellion Threatens

The controversial J. C. (Charlie) Van Horne (left), who returned to New Brunswick politics in a November byelection, seems to be a threat to the unanimity of the province's Conservative party. Van Horne led the party for 15 months before losing a provincial election last February. Now there are signs he wants the job back, a wish many Conservatives are not inclined to grant. With Mr. Van Horne is Richard Hatfield, the party's house leader in the provincial legislature. (CP Photo)

New Ontario Supreme Court Ruling Opens Way for Off Track Betting

TORONTO (CP) — An Ontario Supreme Court ruling has opened the way for establishment of off-track parimutuel brokerage firms in the province, but the Supreme Court of Canada may have the final voice in their operation.

Mr. Justice Walter R. Schroeder Wednesday upheld the decision of a Welland, Ont., magistrate who dismissed bookmaking charges against two Welland men Feb. 14, 1968. But the Crown has 60 days to appeal the case to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Robert Gruhl, 36, and his employee, Howard Brennan, 37, operated the off-track parimutuel office in Welland for three days before the attorney-general's department closed it in July, 1967.

Mr. Gruhl, who advertised that he would take bets to the racetrack at Fort Erie for a fee, said following Wednesday's decision that he hoped to establish the province's first off-track betting service.

"However," he said in an interview, "if it's a gold mine, I won't be alone."

In upholding the decision of Welland Magistrate Joseph Gardiner, Mr. Justice Schroeder said there was "no essential distinction" between the Gruhl case and a case dismissed against a Welland taxi-driver who took money to the track for persons unable to get there.

The Appeal Court ruled that no bets were made on the premises and that Mr. Gruhl and Mr. Brennan were acting as agents when they placed bets for their clients.

The men charged 10 per cent of the value of the bet placed for the service and the minimum fee was 50 cents.

The ruling drew reaction from Attorney-General Arthur Wishart and officials of the Jockey Club Ltd., which holds thoroughbred racing at Greenwood and Woodbine tracks in Toronto and Fort Erie and operates harness tracks at Greenwood, Mohawk Raceway, near Campbellville, Ont., and Garden City Raceway, near St. Catharines.

Mr. Wishart said he would not appeal the decision and added that the reason for the Ontario Supreme Court action was not so much to press for a conviction as to clarify regulations dealing with messengers who carry bets to a racetrack.

"This man was not a bookmaker," Mr. Wishart said in an interview. "He was only acting as a messenger and did not keep the money that was given him to bet. As far as I'm concerned, the matter rests. I'm content."

John J. Mooney, executive vice-president of the Jockey Club, termed the decision "very interesting."

Mr. Mooney said the Jockey Club directors will "take a good look at what it means to us."

Meanwhile, Mr. Gruhl said he will set up a high-volume business, placing employees in towns with track who will receive information by telephone and lay bets for customers.

"I am considering St. Catharines, Niagara Falls and Hamilton, in addition to Welland, but I have no plans to open up in Toronto," he said Wednesday night.

For High School Students

Drug Education Program Suggested

TORONTO (CP) — School trustees have called for a massive drug education program after a survey released Wednesday showed drug use among students in Toronto public high schools is at "serious levels."

The report, issued by the Alcoholism and Drug Addiction Research Foundation after a five-month study, said 9.5 per cent of the 8,447 students surveyed admitted they had used tranquilizers at least once.

William Ross, former chairman of the Toronto board of education, said an intensive school program should be initiated to warn students of the dangers of drugs. The program, he said, should concentrate especially on drugs such as methedrine and morphine.

Alan Archer, chairman of the North York board of education, said he was "shocked and dismayed" by the findings of the survey, but George Cartwright, chairman of the East York board of education, said the report should not be taken too literally.

"I think the figures are not really as high as the survey indicates," he said. "Young people, when given a survey, sometimes have fun with it and exaggerate or play around."

Dr. Reginald Smart, psychologist in charge of the report, said it was the most thorough survey of its type ever undertaken in North America.

Education Minister William Davis came under criticism by Robert Nixon, Ontario Liberal leader, for not having introduced instruction on the effects of drugs, alcohol and tobacco into the province's high schools.

Mr. Nixon said steps should be taken to have teachers trained by the addiction research foundation to pass the knowledge on to students. He also demanded the use of educational television channels to inform parents.

The survey also showed that 7.7 per cent of the students had used stimulants, 6.7 per cent marijuana, 5.7 per cent glue, 4.6 per cent hallucinogenic drugs, including LSD, 3.3 per cent barbiturates, and 1.9 per cent had tried opiates such as codeine and morphine.

Break From Canada

Levesque: A Sovereign Quebec Required

MONTREAL (CP) — Rene Levesque, leader of the separatist Parti Quebecois, says that only a sovereign Quebec would end a current threat to the province's French way of life.

A break from Canada would end "the humiliating and eternal state of anxiety" of a people "eternally unsure" of themselves, he says in an interview with La Presse.

Mr. Levesque says independence would mean "one country, a people at home."

He was the third and last of three Quebec political leaders who answered questions in a special series in the Montreal French-language daily.

The series began Tuesday with questions answered in writing by Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand and continued Wednesday in an interview with Liberal Leader Jean Lesage.

"There would be a psychological alteration" with the people of a sovereign Quebec, Mr. Levesque says in today's edition. "Our language and our cultural values would have the certainty of living."

Quebec was the only example of a majority being assimilated by the minority, in this case by English-language business and culture. It had to be reversed.

Quebec must also "think of itself from the point of view of culture and language." The province was too involved in "the Canadian ambivalence."

"We must think of Quebec, and there are steps that can be taken in the domain of language even by the present (Union Nationale) regime."

Mr. Levesque says, however, that it is difficult for Quebec's old-line parties to help the province because they are controlled by "St. James St."—the heart of the English-language financial circle in Montreal.

He says that French must become the working and living language in Quebec, that minorities must accept, learn and live the French culture.

But this did not preclude minority rights. There should even be state aid for English-language education.

Dief Rejects Suggestion

MONTREAL (CP) — Former Progressive Conservative prime minister, John Diefenbaker, Wednesday rejected as unacceptable Premier Bertrand's suggestion that a presidential form of government would be desirable for Quebec.

Speaking at a news conference prior to a luncheon meeting, Mr. Diefenbaker said Premier Bertrand's suggestion was "separatism under a glorified name."

Premier Bertrand, who was replying to a questionnaire from the French-language daily, La Presse, said in the newspaper this week that he favors a government designed on the lines of the United States and French systems; while retaining aspects of the Canadian parliamentary structure.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that constitutionally, Mr. Bertrand's idea couldn't work and that he hoped the premier was only thinking out loud.

Secretary Becomes Director of Awards

OTTAWA (CP) — Intelligent, attractive Dorothy Patterson has had the exciting experience of seeing a corporation grow from an embryo stage to its present position as a full-fledged information and service association for Canadian universities.

In 1957, with a boost from "sheer, dumb luck," she answered a newspaper advertisement and went to work for a small agency set up to handle federal grants to Canadian universities.

Today the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada takes up two floors of a large downtown office building and employs about 100 people.

Its function, like its facilities, has grown and Mrs. Patterson has become director of awards.

A native of Cornwall, Ont., she started doing secretarial work at age 18 for Gilbert Tucker, then director of naval history in Ottawa. It was a great way to get an education.

Research was being done for a two-volume history on Canada's naval service and the main people involved were not only highly educated but anxious to help her learn.

"There was a ratio of about seven professors to one student—me," she said in an interview.

About four years later, in 1945, she was promoted to doing research herself on the beginning of the Second World War.

"I worked on Privy Council records and in the Parliamentary Library and so began a lay interest in politics."

In 1947 the section closed and Mrs. Patterson married. For about 10 years she was busy raising a family—Lisa, now 19, and Kirk, 15.

When she started working for the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, she and the first director, T. H. Matthews, had a staff the size of her present bright but not particularly large office.

"Our main job was to calculate federal grants and see they got paid," she said. "No one ever really saw what this office would be. When there is no national office of education or education ministry and you open a national office, you fill a gap.

"The universities realized they could have a central information service and from there on there was no place to go but up."

The public, industry and government also found the association a handy way of communicating with Canadian universities.

"In the beginning I licked the stamps, swept the floor, was secretary for the committees and met a lot of wonderful people. There was always an air of excitement here from the beginning.

"For the first 2½ years here I never had a weekend off. I didn't mind because there was so much to do."

Soon the association began to administer university scholarships provided by industrial and business firms. Year-by-year the number grew and, as well, the association took over administration of the Commonwealth scholarship program.

It advertises scholarship competitions on university campuses, receives applications and chooses committees made up of representatives from its member universities to make the decisions on awards.

About five years ago, Mrs. Patterson saw the need for some unit to administer this activity. About six months later G. C. Andrew, the present director, told her she'd been in the job long enough to do it herself, she could.

"My secretary and I started and the minute we did this, more and more companies became interested."

This year Mrs. Patterson and her three assistants dealt with 6,000 general inquiry letters. Her section administers 52 different scholarship and fellowship programs with administration costs paid by award donors.

She has also developed a great interest in "new learning media" such as educational television and is on the board of directors of the Educational Television and Radio Association of Canada.

WEDDING

ROWBOTHAM — BELL

Rev. F. E. Rice performed the recent ceremony at St. John's United Church, in Galt, Ont., when he united in marriage Beverley Anne Bell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. Robert Bell, of Galt, to Laurence Wayne Rowbotham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rowbotham, of Belleville. Rendering the nuptial music for the service was organist, Ronald Kingham, and trumpeter David Argent, both college classmates of the bridegroom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original gown of white French silk velvet with bell sleeves. It fell from a yoke in a soft A-line. The back of the shirt swooped out forming a short train. She wore a cathedral length veil of Chantilly lace, falling from a garland of white velvet loops. Her bouquet was of white roses and gardenias with ivy.

Matron of honour was Mrs. Marc Jolat of Toronto, sister of the bride. Maid of honour was Miss Ann Kaiser of Reidsville. Bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Bell of Galt, sister of the bride; Miss Linda Rowbotham, Ottawa, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Barbara Rowbotham of Galt.

All bridal attendants wore red French silk velvet dresses of which the A-line skirts had large inverted pleat in the back, falling from bows. Their dresses had bell length sleeves. They carried smocked red velvet muffs with a large white gardenia and holly, and wore matching red velvet pillboxes with smocked crowns.

Best man for the ceremony was Marc Jolat, of Toronto. Ushers were Dennis Rowboham, Belleville, brother of the bridegroom; William Murphy, of London; Harry Hall, Toronto and David Livingston, Toronto.

For the wedding reception, held at the home of the bride, the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a lustrous pink brocade dress and jacket ensemble, with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of pink orchids. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom chose a blue and silver silk knit ensemble with blue accessories. Her corsage was of contrasting pink orchids.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride donned a kelly green dress and coat ensemble, and black accessories, with a white gardenia corsage. Upon their return, the couple will reside in London, Ont.

Celebration Marks Couple's Anniversary

They were married at Wooler at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ellis. The attendants were Mrs. Garnet Graham (the former Miss Redcliffe) and Arnold Ketcheson.

The couple, along with their daughter Janet, husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Munro of Oshawa, and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ketcheson had dinner in Trenton, and then returned home for the evening. They received a number of invited guests including Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reid and Mr. and Mrs. Clare Grills of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Moon of R. R. 5, Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander of R. R. 5, Trenton.

They were recipients of a gift from the community, Mrs. Jeffery and daughter, Sharon served a buffet supper and the evening was spent in a social time.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Holland of Belleville announce the engagement of their daughter Jacqueline Rae to Douglas Keith Shannick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Shannick of R. R. 1, Consecon. Wedding will take place on Saturday, Feb. 22, 1969 at 2.30 p.m. St. Thomas Anglican Church, Belleville.

Mrs. Margaret Eady, formerly of 94½ Bonsell Street and Miss Minnie Kane are now at the Montgomery Lodge, corner of Farley Avenue and Dundas Street.

Service Helps People To Help Themselves

Editor's Note: This is the first in a three-part series dealing with services of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada which operates as a non-denominational all-Canadian relief and rehabilitation agency throughout many countries of the world.

By LINDA GELDART

Children a little less hungry, more educated, and healthier. Mothers and fathers who can watch their families grow instead of starve, begin to invest in their community.

This is what the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada is all about.

To millions of men, women and children, it means not only that their tomorrows will be brighter, but it gives them faith that a tomorrow does exist.

The Committee with its headquarters in Ottawa, was founded by present director, Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, in 1945.

To promote a concern for suffering, to give assistance, but most important, to help people to help themselves — these are the aims at the core of the USC.

One of the unique, if not rare, characteristics is its person-to-person approach. This idea is still stressed, even after 24 years of long-standing international service.

Approximately 85 per cent of the aid is directed to helping children. The USC works in close partnership with Unitarian and Universalist local agencies in a number of overseas countries where there are active programs.

The fields of labor for the USC are in Asia, the Middle East and Europe. In these countries, it supports in whole, or in part, more than 30 projects.

Child care and education, emergency aid, and community development compose in ways large and small, the diverse, and practical programs that have made the Unitarian Service Committee known and respected throughout the world.

Essentially, the Unitarian Service Committee operates as a non - denominational all - Canadian relief and rehabilitation agency.

Currently, there are 27 USC branches and work groups from coast to coast, completely staffed by volunteers. Each year, the USC Executive Director undertakes an extensive survey to visit USC projects overseas, lending a truly "personal touch."

In the more than 24 years since its founding, the USC of Canada has acquired an enviable record of integrity, efficiency and far - reaching effective aid.

Until 1952, the USC worked only in Europe; first in Czechoslovakia and France, then moving into Austria and Italy, and finally to Greece.

In that same year, the United Nations Korean Reconstruction Agency lifted the USC to be the first Canadian organization to survey conditions in that war - shattered country. Executive Directory Hitchmanova was the first Canadian relief worker on the scene.

Although the USC today works in many other countries, Korea continues to be its main concern.

The needs of Koreans, of course, have shifted from pure emergency to long term rehabilitation; since the USC believes that education and training are the best means of setting an entire nation back on its feet.

The USC's most beloved project is its Foster Parent Scheme, under which it now sponsors 26 children's institutions in Korea, Hong Kong, India and France.

This is how the scheme works: for only $10 a month or $120 per year, a child may be sponsored in one of the homes by an individual, a church group or a group of friends.

For the older children, the USC encourages vocational training so they will be assured of earning a living when they leave the USC's care.

More and more emphasis is being placed on these training projects in Korea, India and other countries. Several pioneering projects have been begun by the USC in this field.

Some are still in the hands of the Unitarian Service Committee, but many have been handed over to local residents, who are eager to assume responsibility for their country's future.

These projects implement one of the most important principles of the USC creed: that of self-help.

The USC has never spent a cent on publicity, a point which Dr. Hitschmanova stresses, and of which she is justifiably proud. All publicity, whether on radio, TV or newspapers is contributed free.

This policy allows a most important USC principle to be put in effect constantly; that the maximum part of every dollar contributed must go to work overseas.

Looking back on the past 24 years, the USC records will reveal that more than 15 million pounds of relief supplies have gone overseas.

The ailing world of today needs a practical understanding of the needs of others, and a will to do all that is possible to create a better tomorrow — and it is felt the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada has that key.

(Next week will be a biography of the agency's founder.)

Basic Styles In Preview

NEW YORK (AP)—Classic, simple elegance—the kind that never goes out of style-highlighted spring fashion previews Wednesday as Kimberly and Christian Dior-New York presented their new collections.

For the woman who wants moderately-priced clothes, but does not want to sacrifice style, there were the classic Kimberly knits, priced from $70 to $110, with an elan which has such customers as the Duchess of Windsor and Anne Ford Johnson.

The Kimberly collection included two pants suits, both with long, belled overblouses and free flowing pants. There were several short culotte dresses, and Kimberly's standard A-line dresses, some with jackets, others with coats.

New Kimberly details included huge patch pockets, bright brass buttons such as the ones used on men's suits, and usually prints.

Collects Bet

BLUEFIELD W. Va. (AP) — Kenneth English of Jacksonville, Fla., bet his wife he could bring her home some snow after she told him she had never seen any. He hitchhiked north and 20 hours later gathered up some snow, filled two thermos bottles and headed home to collect on his bet.

Ann Landers

One Must Sit Properly in Public

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A good friend of mine was a member of a small (three men and three women) which presented an interesting program at a church meeting the other evening.

ANN LANDERS

Dolores is a real brain but she wears her dresses too tight and too short.

When the curtains were drawn, I wanted to crawl under my seat. Dolores was seated right in the middle to the stage with her legs in a most awkward and unattractive position. Everybody could see past next Tuesday. No one paid any attention to what she was saying. They were so busy looking.

I tried to catch Dolores' eye, but we were sitting too far back. I even considered sending a note up but decided it would be too conspicuous.

The next day when I told Dolores, she was furious. She said others had mentioned it also — "when it was too late" — and added "If you were a real friend you'd have gotten word to me at once." Ann, I don't see how I could have walked on the stage and told her to pull her dress down. Do you?

Please say something in your column about women who don't sit properly, especially when they are appearing in public. Thank you. — DOTHAN, ALABAMA.

DEAR DOTHAN: Now that the skirts are shorter, all women, whether they are on stage or not, should be circumspect about the way they sit. Legs should be crossed at the ankle, not the knees, or both feet should be flat on the floor, side by side and the knees should be together. (Remember, Girls, position is everything in life.)

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife's brother moved in with us when his mother passed away. (They used to share an apartment.) The freeloading bum is 41 years old and the agreement was that he would stay with us until he found a roommate. My wife promised me the limit would be three months. This week it will be 19 months that the loafer has parked his feet under our table. I am sick of looking at him. He borrows my ties, uses my razor blades, monopolizes the TV and hogs the telephone.

We have been married five years and have no children. My wife says we can't afford a baby. (But we can afford to feed this fat clown.) I am slowly falling out of love with my wife and am thinking seriously of a separation. Do you feel I am justified? A yes or no will do. — BELLY FULL.

DEAR B.F.: Yes. But first I'd try throwing the bum out.

* * *

Confidential to SHOULD I MAIL IT?: No. You'd be sorry tomorrow. Just remember that every time you throw a little mud you lose a little ground. One day the facts will come out and you'll be happy you kept quiet.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Father: "When the boss earns it, I told him about my plan - - - Johnnie, be quiet. Mother wants to hear this even if you don't."

"Father: "We will try to take turns telling about what happened to us today. Shall I start or do you have something interesting to tell, Johnnie?"

Neither adults nor children should dominate the dinner, table conversation — but everyone should be encouraged to contribute to it.

WEDDING

LOVELESS — McCLARY

Exchanging wedding vows at St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, on Saturday evening, were Shirley McClary and James Floyd Loveless, Marmora. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McClary, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Loveless. Officiating at the ceremony was Rev. Douglas Miller.

Carrying red roses, the bride, wore a short white velvet sheath with high neck and a wide ruffle at the back to the waist. Her shoulder-length veil was held with a white velvet headpiece.

Miss Sylvia McClary of Peterborough, bridesmaid for her sister, wore a deep blue velvet gown of similar style and carried white baby mums. James Cuddy of Stirdfield was groomsman. Music was by Mrs. Eldon K'Lisa.

Guests were received after the ceremony at a reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents, by Mrs. Loveless.

On return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Loveless were honored at a community shower held in Marmora Town Hall.

They are now residing at 323 Bridge Street, Belleville.

Church Groups

MOUNT PLEASANT CHURCH

RAWDON — Recently at the Mount Pleasant Church Hall, the Sunday School teachers and students were in charge of a special service.

The primary and kindergarten classes sang, and later the junior class portrayed Christmas Around the World. The intermediate and senior classes staged a pageant in costume.

A monologue was contributed by Miss Linda Hoard, and Jim and Randel Scott rendered a vocal duet. The appointment, Howard Jeffs presided, and the pastor Rev. W. C. Cox, gave r message.

Cow Brand, on a moistened tooth brush, is recommended as a safe, effective way to clean teeth. One teaspoon in a glass of water makes a soothing gargle for sore throats too!

Square Dancers Enjoy New Year's Party

FRANKFORD — The Frankford Square Dancers gathered in the Frankford Hall for their annual New Year's party with the decor in the hall in keeping with the event, done by Mr. and Mrs. L. Finnigan.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was A. Clarke who welcomed over 80 persons present. A number of interesting games were played following by a number of square dances, round dances and polkas which were enjoyed by members from Cobourg, Campbellford, Belleville and Frankford.

A tasty potluck dinner followed the welcoming in of the New Year and a number of humorous skits were performed by several members. Dancing was resumed to conclude the evening.

Door prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. C. Pickett and Mr. and Mrs. M. Bird; also spot dances by John Sheridan and Lorcen Campbell and by Mr. and Mrs. W. Branch.

They Never Met

VICTORIA (CP) — Two Victoria women, both named Sarah Marshall, lived well over 100 years. One of them was buried early in December, three weeks before her 107th birthday. For decades she lived only a few blocks from the other Sarah Marshall, who died in 1967 seven weeks before her 102nd birthday. The two women never met.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Chicken Parisienne

By MARY MOORE

Since last May I have been planning to try Mrs. M. S.'s Breasts of Chicken Parisienne but I was put off with one step in the recipe: "heat brandy, set aflame, pour over chicken".

I know the majority of our readers will not make this dish because of that one ingredient so I simply decided to ignore it and leave it out. I am glad I made the dish for even without the flamboyant brandy ingredient it is wonderful.

CHICKEN BREASTS PARISIENNE (courtesy Mrs. M. S., tampered with by Mary) (serves six adequately but not generously)

6 single chicken breasts
4 tablespoons (¼ cup) butter
½ pound scrubbed and sliced mushrooms
4 tablespoons (¼ cup) chopped onion (or bottled flakes)
½ teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon tarragon
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon catsup
1 cup cube
1 chicken cube
1 cup hot water
½ cup 10 percent (cereal) cream

In large frying pan melt butter and in it brown the chicken breasts until golden. Remove chicken breasts to plate and set aside. To pan add scrubbed and sliced mushrooms and chopped onion and saute for about one minute. Then sprinkle over them the garlic salt, tarragon and flour and stir in. Add all remaining ingredients and stir until thickened. Arrange browned chicken breasts on top and simmer covered about 40 to 45 minutes or until breasts are tender. Two or three times during cooking period baste breasts with the sauce. Be sure your heat is turned very low for this thickened sauce could stick if heat is above "simmer".

This is a rich chicken dish you should clip and add to your guest dinner file.

Thank you Mrs. M. S.

(NOTE: Instead of simmering period, this dish may be baked, covered, at 300 deg. Fahr. for one hour.)

Good Preventive Medicine in Helping Others

By DORIS CLARK

Next time you bump up against a moody fellow, or someone who seems always to carry a chip on his shoulder, or sees himself as a martyr, don't just walk away. Ask yourself what goes on under neath.

Sometimes his — or her — unfortunate set-of-the - mind started with a broken home; or with a stressful, fault-finding employer.

It just could be that your warm interest, your stability, your willingness just to listen might mark a turning point.

Try giving yourself away. It is good preventive medicine to invest yourself in other people. The more generous you are in giving your energies to other people, the more mentally healthy you will be.

Dear Doris: (1) Is it proper to give a baby shower when the baby is being adopted?

(2) How much ahead of the baby coming should a shower be given?

(3) Please give me some ideas about gifts, decorations, games. — Best Friend.

Dear Best: (1) Yes.

(2) A month to six weeks.

(3) I have a new leaflet about it. Write in for "Welcome Baby With A Shower", enclosing 10 cents and a six-cent-stamped envelope.

Confidential to Widow: Can't see a reason in the world not to keep your mind open about marrying again, your daughter's scorn to the contrary.

Doris Clark

When she turns 50 she'll find that life is not over, sex-wise! With two unattached males in the offing, you have a right to make some decisions for yourself.

* * *

Confidential to Harried: At the risk of seeming contradictory, I'd say the survival of love between you and your husband is going to depend, not on how docile you are, but on how well you talk back to him. Peace at any price is too all-fired expensive.

Right now it hasn't occurred to him that the way to keep your real devotion is not to demand it, but to understand your need for some variety of interests and a share in the material rewards you have both worked for.

Confidential to Eighty-One: Indeed there are contemporaries of yours holding down office jobs. All you need is your health, and a somewhat shortened day. Aging workers need more rest, so the trick is to taper off.

There is an organization in the U.S. doing some highly successful experimenting with retired typists who take courses in using electric typewriters, and then go out and get jobs. And, believe it or not, they are often preferred to the youthful graduates.

U.C.W. Meeting

MELROSE U.C.W.

The January meeting of Melrose U.C. Women was held in the church basement on Thursday evening with Mrs. John English as hostess. Unit leader, Mrs. Earl Badgley, conducted the opening exercises, including the end of the year reports from the various secretaries and the treasurer.

Mrs. English reported that, due to illness, the guest speaker for the evening, Mr. McKinnon, of Belleville, would be unable to come so no program had been prepared. A part of the time was taken up with a quiz and a discussion on how to make the organization more effective in the year ahead.

The chairman of the nominating committee presented a report and Mrs. Charles Bates Jr. conducted the election and installed the officers. Vacancies had been filled and the following will fill the various offices in 1969.

Unit leader, Mrs. Lois McGhan; 1st assistant leader, Mrs. Don Macfarlane; 2nd assistant leader, Mrs A. English; secretary, Mrs. Mae Lasier; treasurer, Mrs. Jack Macfarlane; pianist, Mrs. S. Demille; assistant pianist, Mrs. Charles Bates; librarian, Mrs. Harold McMechan; auditors, Mrs. William English and Mrs. Roy Badgley; press reporter, Mrs. G. McLaren; social committee, Mrs. Jack Sherman, Mrs. Vincent Pascoe, and Mrs. C. Hagerman; card committee, Mrs. S. Demille and Mrs. Sherman Lazier.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Roy McLaren when Mr. McKinnon hopes to be able to keep his appointment. Since the speaker's subject will be of interest to the men of the congregation, they are invited to attend.

A social half hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Mrs. English, Mrs. Roy McLaren and Mrs. Roy Badgley.

Your Dollars
House: Build, Buy?

After deciding that home ownership is preferable to renting for your family, you must decide on a type of house. There are four main types: older existing homes, builders' homes, a house you build yourself and co-operative units.

Older, existing homes offer the advantages of landscaped lots, established neighborhoods and improvements that are paid. But you may have larger repair bills, be required to live a larger down payment and have higher heating costs.

When buying an old house be certain you know the remodelling or initial maintenance costs. Unless you are a fair handyman, it may be to your advantage to bring in several firms to make estimates on all repairs.

Pay close attention to the exterior of the house. Is the paint and siding in good condition? Check the walls and roofs for sags or bulges. Examine the plumbing, heating and electrical systems. Is the basement cracked, sinking or wet? If it is, it could mean a large repair bill.

When buying a builder's home, that is, a home being built by a contractor, you must be aware of other areas. Many houses of this nature are built on a mass production basis. Usually one or two designs are used for many houses. Each house may look a little different but is essentially the same.

These homes offer the advantages of newness, small down payments, lower maintenance costs in the early years and the opportunity to landscape to your liking.

When buying this type of home, you must rely mainly on the builder's integrity. You must trust that he built a well-constructed house. Important construction features are often hidden and can be examined only by an expert.

To check the reputation of the builder, get the names of half a dozen families who at present live in his houses. Arrange to talk to them: they can give you a lot of good information. And, you might have an expert "carpenter or architect examine the house for you. His fee would be small compared to the cost of the house. Finally, know and understand the guarantees that the builder is offering.

If you prefer to be more creative and know a fair amount about building, you may wish to have a contractor build a house to your specifications. While building your own house provides for individual design and taste, you must also be prepared to assume some worries.

When firing a contractor, again be certain it is a reliable firm. Examine houses built in the past, talk to families who live in these houses and anyone else who is familiar with the contractor.

Examine carefully the contract you make with your builder. It should include the completed price, date of occupancy, responsibilities of the builder and other pertinent facts. Consult your lawyer; have him read and advise you on the contract. Do not make the final payment until the house has been completed.

The final type of homes are the co-operatives, row houses and condominiums. They are different in many respects but are the same in that you buy a housing unit in relationship with other families. The advantages are usually lower costs. But you must be prepared to sacrifice privacy because you live in close proximity to other families.

Before investing in a home, take time to investigate which home is best for your purposes. It is probably the largest investment where you will spend your dollars.

Israel Denies U.S. Report It Soon Will Have Atom Bomb

TEL AVIV (CP-AP) — The Israeli Atomic Energy Commission today denied New York reports that Israel either has a nuclear bomb or will have one soon.

"This is not true," said a commission spokesman.

In New York, NBC News reported Israel "either has a nuclear bomb or will soon have one." It said Israel embarked on a crash program to produce a nuclear weapon two years ago.

Similar reports have circulated from time to time ever since Israel built a nuclear reactor at Dimona in the Negev Desert in 1963. Israel is known to have the technological capacity to produce such a weapon, but there has been no confirmed information that she is using the Dimona reactor for anything but peaceful purposes.

Political circles in Jerusalem called the latest report the product of a "very developed imagination."

The commission spokesman said Israel's atomic reactor at Dimona is solely for "research and development."

Another centre near Rehovoth, south of Tel Aviv, also is "purely for research," he said.

Political circles said reports that Israel now is an atomic power are "completely unfounded."

Premier Levi Eshkol and former premier David Ben-Gurion have said in the past that Israel will not be the first to introduce atomic weapons to the Middle East. But they added that if another country began production Israel would have the capacity and the scientific potential to enter the race.

Two FBI Agents Slain

WASHINGTON (AP) — A man charged with slaying two agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation surrendered meekly in the attic of an apartment house Wednesday night, climaxing an intense house-to-house manhunt in the capital.

The capture of Billie Austin Bryant, 28, an auto repairman and prison escapee, came less than seven hours after the agents who sought to question him about a bank robbery were found dead in the hallway of his estranged wife's home.

Pension Boost Wiped Out

TORONTO (CP) — Donald MacDonald, leader of the Ontario New Democratic Party, Wednesday called the Ontario government "Scrooge-like" and accused it of reducing family benefit allowances to wipe out a recent increase in the old-age pension.

Mr. MacDonald said in a statement that since "the old age pension and guaranteed income supplement have been increased by the princely sum of $2.10 a month, the Ontario department of social and family services has been busy sending out letters to family benefits recipients advising them that their welfare benefits will be reduced."

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1969

by Maurice Switzer
Sports Editor

Joe Namath — hippiedom's contribution to professional football — continues to show that he can get more mileage out of his upper lip than simply by growing a mustache on it.

(Namath has parted company with his familiar Fu Manchu adornment in a reported $10,000 swath of commercial gimmickry.)

The New York Jets' $400,000 bonus baby has talked himself into a feud that will undoubtedly be the featured attraction of this Sunday's Jets - Baltimore Colts Super Bowl game.

For his pre-game warmup, the controversial Jets' quarterback faded back into a pocket of reporters this week, and let fly with a verbal toss at Earl Morrall — the Colts' pride-and-joy pivot.

In typically Namathian modesty, Jolin' Joseph said not only was HE a better pigskin flinger than Morrall — (who was, incidentally, the National Football League's Player of the Year) — but proceeded to name three other junior circuit Q-backs who "could have done just as well" for the NFL champion Colts.

Baltimore coach Don Shula's somewhat less than vehement rebuttal — ("We're happy with Earl") — probably is the above-surface segment of the iceberg. Professional grid sentiments running as high as they do, Shula's defensive neanderthals are probably under standing orders to spa Namath's helmet for a cleat-cleaner Sunday.

Besides revenge for Namath's taunts, the Colts have a more substantial reason to climax their season by thumping the upstart Jets in the grandaddy of the Bowl games — 25,000 reasons per Colt, to be exact.

Each Baltimore roster member earned $10,000 for the 34-0 NFL title win over Cleveland's shell-shocked Browns, and each winning team player's share from the Super Bowl is $15,000.

Nobody expects a representative from the nine-year-old AFL to win, and the Jets are currently 18-point underdogs.

On the other hand, if the Jets should happen to come out on top, they'd be the lousy of the sporting world, the collective sports surprises of the year, and an unending cause of embarrassment for the formidable Baltimore club.

They have the underdog syndrome going for them — you know, that thing the Detroit Tigers used to full advantage.

In addition, the Jets are spurred on by a desire not to let coach Weeb Ewbank's former charges deal him a personal indignity.

Ewbank piloted the Colts to two NFL titles in nine years of parading the Baltimore sidelines, and this season's AFL win by the Jets made him the first coach ever to win championships in both leagues.

The Jets think a Super Bowl victory would make a neat grand slam, as it were.

Unfortunately for the Bronx boys, the Colts happen to be the best team in professional football at the moment.

Namath will have to put his passing arm where his mouth is to find loopholes in football's toughest defence.

And the Jets' linemen must play with the same enthusiasm they did all season, when they pooled $10 each per game to pay to the defender who tackled the opposing quarterback most often.

We don't think the Colts will be 18 points better Sunday.

In any event, the Jets can't do any worse than Cleveland.

Favell Kicks Out 40 For Flyers

Bower Gets Boos From Leafs' Fans

By SCOTT BUTTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Keith Allen has to make a difficult decision before each game involving his Philadelphia Flyers—but other National Hockey League coaches aren't sympathetic.

Allen's problem—one any coach would be glad to have—is to decide whether to use Bernie Parent or Doug Favell in goal. It's a tough one because both goaltenders are 23, competent and improving.

Wednesday night Allen selected Favell, and he must have been satisfied with his choice. The Philadelphia goalie stopped 40 shots to help the Flyers gain a 4-4 tie against Toronto Maple Leafs.

In the only other NHL game Wednesday night, Chicago Black Hawks moved one point ahead of Toronto and into third place in the Eastern Division by downing St. Louis Blues 3-1.

Favell, selected by Philadelphia from Boston Bruins in the 1967 expansion draft as was Parent, had a jittery first period against Toronto giving up three goals, but was almost unbeatable after that.

Allen has shown a slight preference for Parent this season. Favell has appeared in 15 games and has a goals-against average of just over 3.00 while Parent has played in 25 games with an average of 2.46.

Scoring for the Flyers, who have four consecutive ties, were Jim Johnson, Dick Sarrazin and Jean-Guy Gendron, with two goals. Toronto scorers were Norm Ullman, Mike Walton, Ron Ellis and Bill Sutherland.

Johnny Bower, in the Toronto goal, was at work as Favell was strong. He gave up all four Philadelphia goals before being replaced by Bruce Gamble early in the final period. Toronto outshot Philadelphia 44-19.

Walton's goal at 3:08 of the final period gave the Maple Leafs the tie just 72 seconds after Gendron had put Philadelphia ahead 4-3 with his second tally of the game before 16,331 Toronto fans.

Goals by Bobby Hull, Stan Mikita and Pit Martin carried the Black Hawks to their victory before 16,666 Chicago fans. Gary Sabourin replied for St. Louis.

Hull's goal at 18:18 of the second period, his 29th of the season, was the winner. Defenceman Gilles Marotte set up the play by sweeping behind the St. Louis net and laying the puck on Hull's stick at the goal crease.

Guess Who's Ahead?

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks scored his 29th goal of the season Wednesday night to increase his lead in National Hockey League scoring.

Hull, who picked up the goal during a 3-1 victory over St. Louis Blues, now has 57 points. Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings is runner-up with 52 points on 18 goals and 34 assists.

Stan Mikita of Chicago moved into third place with 50 points when he scored his 19th goal of the season to move one point ahead of Phil Esposito of Boston Bruins.

Meet Jan. 21

Vancouver Expansion On Governors' Agenda?

MONTREAL (CP) — The National Hockey League's board of governors is preparing for its annual pre-all-star game meeting in Montreal Jan. 21 and already the transfer-expansion pot is boiling over in such far-removed spots as Oakland, Vancouver and Buffalo.

Vancouver newspaper reports indicate the board will discuss expansion possibilities for that city at the one-day session. David Molson, president of Montreal Canadiens and a league governor, is quoted as saying the league is committed to Vancouver as the next city either through a franchise grant or the transfer of an existing franchise.

In Montreal, Molson said he had told Vancouver newspaper sources he personally would favor a transfer going to Vancouver, but that the NHL is not committed to his personal view.

Meanwhile, Buffalo moved back into the picture Wednesday again with reports that the failing Oakland Seals franchise would be shifted there.

Similar reports Dec. 23 were heard from Buffalo, but were denied by the Oakland owners. NHL president Clarence Campbell and Reuben Pastor, owner of Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League.

Throughout the ensuing confusion, Campbell has maintained that there is "no expansion discussion at present on the agenda for the Jan. 21 meeting."

Asked Wednesday about renewed reports from Buffalo that the Seals will end up there, Campbell said:

"Anything that develops at this point in Buffalo is their doing and is strictly between Buffalo and the Seals."

Buffalo's bid for an NHL expansion franchise two years ago was passed over in the initial enlargement of the league as a 12-team, two-division setup. But a group of businessmen there have continued their efforts to get an NHL club.

"We're not in the business of promoting transfers," Campbell said. "In order to implement any change based on such a deal it would be necessary for the parties concerned to first gain league approval."

However, he did not entirely rule out the possibility of the shift or that the subject of a transfer or further expansion would not be added to the agenda the next two weeks.

"It is possible that an Oakland transfer to Buffalo is within the range of possibility," the NHL president said.

At last June's annual meeting here the owners of Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League applied for a franchise in the NHL and were told by league governors that at the next expansion the Canadian, West Coast city will be included.

Gordie Howe's HOCKEY

The last time around, the possibility of an NHL team playing the Russians came up and, according to league president Clarence Campbell, the game, or set of games, may become fact within a couple of years.

To me, one of the big questions to be answered is when would the games be played? And where?

If the National Hockey League agreed to such games, and Mr. Campbell feels that the Russians would insist on reciprocal games in Moscow or some other Russian city, I think they would have to be played after the playoffs were finished. That would mean mid-May.

A possible suggestion for sites of the games would be Montreal, Chicago and Los Angeles. I'm sure all three cities would be solicous and such a game on the West Coast would certainly be a shot-in-the-arm for hockey in Los Angeles. And all three cities have big buildings.

Where the games were played in Russia I don't think would matter. It certainly would be an interesting adventure to play them, and I would love to have a chance to be on the NHL team.

A few years ago I almost made a trip to Europe to work at a hockey clinic in Austria, but the project fell through at the last minute. Alex Delvecchio, Terry Sawchuck, Tim Horton and Marcel Pronovost were also going and we were all looking forward to it.

So maybe I'll get my chance yet.

And the world is absolutely every day. Like recently I read somewhere about the Atlantic Ocean and because of jet airliners it was referred to as the Atlantic River. That's true and it's not impossible that we will have NHL teams playing in Europe, probably the Russians, on a tournament basis.

Under such a setup, the Russians would come over here and play 12 games — one in each NHL city. Think of the interest such a tour would stir up.

How would it work going the other way? It might mean selecting one or two teams to make a 12-game swing. Or a representative team from the NHL could go over for the games.

Remember, too, the Russians are not the only good hockey players in Europe. The Czechoslovakian's have good teams and Sweden is getting stronger every day.

It would be interesting, eh?

Bowling Is Begley's New 'Bag'

His Newest Sport Shoes

By MALCOLM JOHNSTON
Staff Sportswriter

Bowling is his "bag" now, but in his youth, Belleville's Jim Begley was a prominent Canadian distance runner.

Among his running accomplishments Jim lists the Ontario Junior mile championship in the Canadian record time of 4.23, back in 1931, and in the same year the Canadian Junior three-mile title in the record time of 15 minutes, 13.4 seconds.

The west Toronto native had a banner year in 1932 capturing the Canadian walking championship in both the two and ten mile events, the latter in the record time of one hour and nine minutes. In addition Jim placed eighth in the famous Boston Marathon that year after breaking the existing record for the first 20 miles, and leading the event after 23 miles.

His time in 1932 or the marathon was an excellent two hours and 26 minutes, a rate of over ten miles per hour for the entire 26 mile - plus distance. Jim's previous best in the Boston Marathon was a 11th place-ish in 1932, when he finished a very respectable ninth in a field of over three hundred starters, many of them world - class competitors.

A five - foot-seven-inch 170 pounder, Jim was trained by his father James, a former Canadian 15 mile champion. Jim's sacrifices were many when he was training, for he was up at five in the morning and in bed before ten at night. He didn't smoke or drink and trained all year round, both indoors and out.

"The important thing about any sport is the sportsmanship one acquires," he says. "You don't get out of sport and life what you put in it and you must be able to take a beating in order to become a winner."

In his younger days Jim was the third baseman on the Ontario Intermediate "A" softball champs, the Long Branch Aces, and he played intermediate lacrosse for Long Branch as well.

An ardent golfer, at the age of 15 he shot a 72 to capture the Ontario caddy championship held that year at the Mississauga Golf Club.

Bowling attracted Jim nine years ago at the age of 46, and he has two "1000" triples, seven 400 games and two local holidays Classic championships to his credit. Jim consistently averages 250 and he said "Bowling is under-rated. It's not accepted as a true sport by many people, but it requires as much time and effort as any other sport."

"I believe more people my age should be bowling," Jim added. "It's good exercise and gives one a better outlook because you're always something to look forward to."

A Colt Assignment

Pair of Jet Backs Will Bear Watching

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Don Maynard and George Sauer are two big reasons why New York Jets will meet Baltimore Colts in Sunday's Super Bowl.

Maynard, 31, a veteran of 11 years in professional football, is "a great athlete — one that doesn't smoke, never takes a drink and trains the year round even when teaching school during the off season," said coach Weeb Ewbank.

Sauer, 24, son of the Jets personnel director, is "as fast as Ray Berry," said Ewbank, referring to the one-time great Baltimore end. "Berry was not fast, but he ran great patterns. George is fast and also is a master at patterns."

Sauer edged Maynard 66-57 in passes caught during this season. But Maynard hung up a pro record of yardage gained, surpassing Berry's old mark of 297 yards and 10 touchdowns. Sauer picked up 1,141 yards and scored three touchdowns.

Maynard was asked what he thought of the odds which make the Colts 18-point favorite.

"The odds make no difference to me," Maynard replied. "I never even think of them. This is just another big game."

Colt Likes to Hit

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Someone once quoted Baltimore Colts' linebacker Mike Curtis as saying:

"When I'm off the field I'm a gentleman. When I'm on the field I'm an animal."

Curtis was asked about that Wednesday during a practice for Sunday's Super Bowl game between the National Football League champion Colts and the American Football League champion New York Jets in Miami.

Curtis has the reputation of a killer on the field. He doesn't limit it to the opposition. If a team-mate rifles the one-time Duke fullback in practice he's just as liable to pop him.

"I don't know what makes me so aggressive," said Curtis. "I guess it's just that I like to compete. I don't like to be beaten. I enjoy contact a lot. I like to hit somebody."

Trio of Olympic Horsemen Pick of Ontario's Athletes

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Athlete-of-the-Year award usually is won by an individual but this year it's there for the price of one.

Canada's gold medal equestrian team of Tom Gayford, Jim Elder and Jim Day was collectively named the province's top athlete in a poll of sportswriters and sportscasters announced today.

There is no team award in the balloting, but officials of the Ontario Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association, which sponsors the event, felt it would not be fair to split the team for consideration on an individual basis.

The trio won Canada's only gold medal at the 1968 Summer Olympics in Mexico City. They placed first in Prix de Nations jumping.

The three are from the Toronto area—Elder from Aurora, Gayford from Gormley and Day from King City.

Elder and Gayford, both veteran international stars, won a gold medal in the three-day team event at the 1959 Pan-American Games in Chicago.

Day added his Olympic gold to one he took by winning the individual stadium jumping at the 1967 Pan-American Games in Winnipeg.

The three picked up 16 first-place votes, 13 second-place nominations and three third-place votes for 122 points, based on a 5-3-1 allotment.

Second was A Balding, Toronto golf pro who joined George Knudson of Toronto on the 1968 World Cup team championship in Rome. Balding, low individual golfer in Tucson and Phoenix, received 91 points in the voting.

Knudson, a native of Woodyard, tied for third with halfback Bill Symons of the Eastern Football Conference Toronto Argonauts. Knudson won the Professional Golfers' Association tournaments last February in Tucson and Phoenix.

Knudson and Symons each pulled 45 points.

Teen-agers Stage Upset

MELBOURNE (AP) — Bob Lutz and Stan Smith, the world's best amateur doubles team from Los Angeles, were upset by a pair of unheralded Australian teen-agers Wednesday in the second round of the Victorian open tennis championships.

Bob Giltinen, 19, and Syd Ball, 18, turned back the Americans 7-5, 6-3, 6-8, 6-2.

U.S. Davis Cuppers Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., and Charlie Pasarell of Santurce, P.R., won two matches over Australians to reach the doubles semi-finals. They stopped John Cooper and Douglas Wright 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, then defeated Davis Cup champions Phillip Dent and John Alexander 6-4, 10-8, 6-2.

Also reaching the semi-finals were Australian Davis Cuppers Bill Bowrey and Ray Ruffels, who defeated Fred Sedgman and Neale Fraser, each former Wimbledon singles champ.

Earlier in the day Sedgman and Fraser had eliminated Donald Dell, U.S. Davis Cup team captain, and Russian Toomas Lejus 6-3, 6-2, 2-6, 7-5.

Australian Margaret Smith Court created big news in the women's division when she announced her second retirement from big-time tennis.

The two-time Wimbledon queen, who retired in 1966 and came back a year later, announced her latest retirement after defeating Lesley Hunt, Australian junior, 6-2, 6-1 in the quarter-finals.

Trojan Jrs. Yet to Lose After Bombing Centennial

STAFF — Moira junior Trojans defeated Centennial 55-22 in BCI seniors whipped Western 79-39 last night to highlight the resumption of Class "AA" basketball play. Moira's junior win was their fourth in a row and gave them undisputed possession of first place in the BCI. The senior win was their fifth victory moved them into a first place tie with Picton.

In other games Trojans swept four games from Napanee, the juniors winning 72-43, the bantams 24-13 and the bantam "B" squad 26-19, while Moira senior bombed Centennial 52-44 and Centennial bantams prevented a Moira sweep by defeating the Trojans 37-31.

Six foot-four inch Paul Hayes hooped 18 points for Moira juniors, while Paul Noble added nine points and Jim Wiggins seven. Glen Malcolm topped the Centennial scorers with 12 points.

Ken Richardson with 24 points, Bill Macdonald with 21 and Bob Wright with 18 sparked the Collegiates senior win over Napanee, who got 13 points from Henry Dornakerup and six each from Dave Cechetto and Jim Stewart.

Dave Wright's 33 points were high for the junior Collegiates, and Brent Gallupe added 14 points, while Dave Cunningham had 14 for Napanee.

Moira senior scorers were Rolston with 13, Mason with 11, and Gee with nine. Neron and Chow each had 11 for Centennial, and Koch added ten.

Nudity Like Violence Can Defeat Own End

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Charlton Heston in a nude love-making scene?

It happens in Pro. Heston's new film which concerns professional football but includes some bedroom athletics as well. The actor was indulging in some of the latter with co-star Jessica Walker on the last day of filming. The set was closed to all but necessary workers.

Later, a fully-dressed Heston commented:

"I'm pleased and proud at the way that sex has been handled in this picture. We've done two or three erotic scenes, but not the baring of one breast. Yet I think audiences will find the once is embarrassed, the onlookers are not swept up in the passion of the moment."

This may come as news to many of today's actors who seem to be playing sexual brinkmanship in exploring new vistas of screen passion. Heston is distressed by this trend.

"Yes, I know there are some film-makers who believe their only responsibility is to film," he remarked. "I don't believe that."

Heston was recently elected to another term as president of the Screen Actors Guild. With so many actors and actresses being required to appear nude nowadays, does the guild offer any protection to those who don't wish to?

"There's nothing in the contract with the producers that covers that," he said, with no pun apparently intended. "An actor has the responsibility to protect himself, and we urge our members to do so, particularly in the field of stunts.

"If an actor is asked to take a scene fall and he thinks it's dangerous, he should decline to do it. Likewise if a girl is asked to do a nude scene and she doesn't want to, she should say so. I certainly think the guild would support her."

But wouldn't she lose the job? That happened recently to a actress and stimulated a debate in which the actors are shown nude.

"Nudity on the screen is like violence: It can defeat its own ends.

"For instance, if a scene shows a knife being stuck into a body, that is shocking and repugnant; it is much more effective to show the knife being drawn and then show the face of the victim.

"Likewise, if a picture shows too much sexuality, the cash-Broadway actress who accepted a role in a new play. When the play was re-written, she discovered she was required to play one scene totally nude. She declined and was fired.

"Usually that could be avoided in films," said Heston. "If it's a shot in bed, she could cover up with a sheet or else ask for a close shot. If it's a long shot, she could request a double. That's what happened in War Lord, when Rosemary Forsyth didn't feel like playing a nude scene in a stream. And I understand Elizabeth Taylor did the same thing."

Nova Scotia Tops Ontario

Nova Scotia's Dartmouth Big Red defeated Ontario's Toronto Marlboros 5-3 in the Canadian junior hockey championship at Toronto Wednesday night.

Dartmouth, which won the Memorial Cup in 1967, now leads the best-of-seven series 3-1.

Dartmouth's Bill Nyrop scored the winning goal at 15:30 of the second period.

Toronto's Bill Flett scored twice in the first period and Dartmouth's Bill Lochead and Toronto's Bob Stewart scored in the second.

As one old gentlemen once said, "We're glad to see holidays and relations come along but, we are sure gladder to see them go". The holidays are over, the relations have gone home and the work a day world is getting back to normal. It is hoped that the weather will do likewise.

Remember Thursday evening, Jan. 9th and be on hand for the election of the officers for the 1969 executive. Advance poll will be open on Wednesday and Thursday until 6 p.m. On account of weather conditions, cars will be on hand for the senior veterans who would like to vote. Call 968-8116 after 1 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday.

Chairman of the sick committee reports the following comrades confined to their homes at present: R. Feather, A. Mandeville, J. Browning and W. Storms.

In hospital are Cdrs. D. Grass, 226 and N. Gallagher, 112. All have been looked after. Also on the sick list over the New Year's was Dominion President J. C. Lundberg and the members were glad to see he was able to be up and around again by Saturday.

Rev. David Hawkins offers some suggestions for the Anglican Youth Movement's latest project a monthly magazine called Revelaytion. Not taking his advice seriously are (from right to left) Wendy Watkin, editor Faye Ellis and Judy Settle.

Mini-paper Involves Youth

By LINDA GELDART
Staff Reporter

The young people at Christ Church are doing ambitious things. Newspaper, mini-magazine type things.

They are a part of the AYM — the Anglican Youth Movement, with a core of about 25 members. The unique feature of the movement is that it is completely non-denominational.

"Revelaytion" is the name of the publication. The different spelling has a reason — to emphasize the founder organization, Anglican Youth.

The whole thing was the brain child of Rev. David Hawkins. He got the idea from his fellow-clerics in England, who have been successful in similar ventures with their young people's groups.

Rev. Hawkins termed Revelaytion as a kind of "unofficial magazine." He explained that the purpose in setting it up in the first place was to establish a "definite communication link between adults and young people in the congregation."

He sees the idea as a tremendous opportunity for them to express their views on any subject, which may be important to them. At the same time, adults reading the "almost magazine" can reach a better understanding of what teenagers are thinking about.

So far, it has only been sold to people in the congregation, and the hope is that they will support it.

What has been the congregation's reaction?

"Excellent," Mr. Hawkins remarked. Some parishoners commented, "It's the best thing that's happened to Christ Church in a long time."

When Mr. Hawkins first suggested the scheme to the group they received it with enthusiasm. After talking it out in discussion, and electing the staff, things started to happen.

Things like working out the format, deadlines, ideas and artwork, suddenly took on new meaning, and responsibilities. With editor Faye Ellis as focal point, and seven staff members to help, things began to happen.

December's edition was their first, and if it is any indication of what is to come it will be a practical and successful investment for future communication.

To meet deadlines every month does take some getting used to, though. So does the planning and effort which must be an integral part of every edition.

Mr. Hawkins explained that his capacity is merely one of an advisor, not a "doer".

However, as in any fledgling venture, there needs to be a great deal of encouragement, and "you-can-do-it" tonic. That is what the clergyman tries to provide.

He does a good job, because it is his belief that "young people's work is the front line of the church, a kind of untapped source."

Projecting into the future, Mr. Hawkins put forth his hope that a project such as this could develop into something a kind of "cross-examination, with adults involved in the writing as well as young people."

Revelaytion articles are not necessarily church oriented, but can be secular if the writer so desires.

In this way, the publication becomes a platform, "unveiling our opinions and thought" as Mr. Hawkins put it.

It could turn out to be quite an unveiling, if present indications are followed through.

"This is the way the church should be — involvement", the clergyman concluded.

Trenton Opens Coffee House

By BOB AVERY
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — A few teenagers here have taken things into their own hands and have started the town's first coffee house.

Although there are many such establishments throughout the Quinte district, Trenton has gone without.

Well, now it has Pax Something Weird.

No typographical errors here — Pax Something Weird is the name of the shop situated in the basement of the King St. United Church. And after a month of operation the venture is showing the earmarks of success.

Three senior students got the show on the road, John Bullee, Christopher Smith and Robert Goheeh.

"Mostly it is some place to go when you have nothing else to do", said Chris.

Rev. William McDowell, one of the chaperons during coffee house sessions, labelled Trenton's new cafine centre as "conformity to the non-conformists".

A strict set of rules keeps everyone in line during the four hours on Saturday when the coffee house is in operation. And they are being followed very closely as the operation has not been hampered by rowdy behavior.

While some performers have come from as far away as Otawa most are from the local area and include mainly folk singers — both soloists and groups.

"If your tastes run towards a game of chess or cards you can find them here. With a minimal admission charge of 15 cents a person or 25 cents a couple the coffee house is making enough money to stay in operation.

Said one patron, "My friends and I have been looking for some place like this, you know — where you can come in and just talk if you want to."

Sharon Farrell

Rocking Chair Routine Streamlines Figure

By REBA and BONNIE CHURCHILL

Rock-a-bye exercise is the name of this streamline game. It's played with a rocking chair and a yardstick and is designed to strengthen back, arm and leg muscles. As actress Sharon Farrell demonstrates, sit on a sturdy chair, grasping a ruler in both hands. Keep left foot grounded, and slowly rock back, elevating arms and right leg. Lower them as you come forward. Stretch, not speed, is your goal, so try to make those leg lifts higher and higher. Alternate limbs for a stimulating 10 rocks.

Although these "sit down" routines are easy, they're loaded with bonus benefits. For instance, sit with legs and arms extended. Hold yardstick at chest level, then lean forward and touch ruler to ankles. Feel those leg and back muscles elongate? Now practice routine again. This time, elevate chin and contract stomach before bending. The extra advantages are immediately apparent. Rehearse five times, gradually increase to 10.

Another way to "keep in step" is via an in-place march. Sharon, seen in the MGM film "Little Sister," sits back in chair with arms outstretched, the ruler at shoulder height. Humming a military tune, she alters a tidy touches knees to yardstick. Movements are brisk and precise. Remember, don't slump and don't lower arms, thighs legs or arms to a stick. Practice can vary from 8 seconds for beginners, to 15 seconds for intermediates, to 20 seconds for pros.

Add 10 Minutes

Nicholson Marks Yule

By JUDY SCHRIEDER

Christmas is over, but the festivities which accompanied the holiday will not soon be forgotten by Nicholson students.

On the evening of Dec. 19, a majority of the student body, as well as the faculty, returned to the school and made their way to the north gym. But the gymnasium was not as it had been left at the time of dismissal that afternoon. The room had undergone a mysterious transformation. Streamers floated from the basketball hoops. A staunch fir tree, decked with bulbs and tinsel, protected the presents piled around its trunk.

In keeping with the Christmas spirit, music was provided by the celestial rock of the Raven Angels. During the band's intermission, the gym was filled with happy voices, as all present joined in the traditional sing-song of Christmas carols.

The highlight of any Yule-of Santa Claus, and the tide gathering is the arrival Nicholson party was not without a visit from old Saint Nick. Mike Coughlin has perhaps the fondest memories of that jolly old man!

The Christmas party was the last big event of 1968. The New Year will hold even more for Nicholson students.

Book on Air Travel Aviation Blizzard

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Author Ken Crossley takes you flying through a blinding blizzard of aviation facts to a dazzling glimpse of the future.

"The decade ahead will see the greatest evolution in aerial development since the Wright Brothers' first plane left the ground," Mr. Crossley writes in Airlines, Airports and You.

"The progress of the war years and the technological breakthrough that brought the first transport jets will be dwarfed by the advent of the supersonics. Jumbo jets and the air buses.

"Sleek, needle-nosed SST, as the supersonics are called, will cleave the fringes of space up to 70,000 feet above the ground at speeds two and three times that of sound.

"Then, in the jet lanes below, will come Boeing's 325-ton subsonic Jumbo 747s, carrying up to 490, and air buses like the Lockheed L-1011 or the Douglas DC-10. These new giants will help the airlines beat in-flight congestion by transporting more people in fewer planes. . . .

"The crowded ground," says the author, is the biggest obstacle to aviation development because the world is in the grip of an airport crisis, terminals almost everywhere being swamped by planes, passengers, baggage and cars.

"Modernization is often slow and expensive, and many airports are still struggling with the first jet age, let alone planning for jumbo jets and supersonics."

This comprehensive book on air travel contains fuselages full of fascinating detail from the past plus chapters on such topics as fares and "the pampered passenger."

Taking a look at stewardesses—as who hasn't at one time or other?—the author discovered: "One California airline even toyed with the idea of topless hostesses, but for the sake of airline propriety.. if nothing else, the idea was dropped."

Hostesses—once called "sky girls"—have few secrets left, anyway. One West German researcher discovered that those who fly east-west "suffered more menstrual irregularities" than those on north-south routes.

A chapter on "crime in flight" relates the doings of hijackers, bombers and drunks, but also includes the lesser-known fact that thieves around London airport used the roar of climbing planes to drown out safe-blowing blasts.

Mr. Crossley, who has travelled many of the airlines he describes, previously wrote Stamps—Their Lure and Lore.

DESIGNED TO FILL THE EMPTY DAYS!

In 1890, James Naismith was trying to figure out a game to fill the physical education furnace period between the football and baseball seasons. Basketball was the name of his invention — and it's the only competitive sport of purely American origin!

There's a wonderful invention used all over the world to sell no longer needed basketballs or almost anything else — here we call it an Intelligencer Ad. And you get it by dialing 962-2171.

NERO PLAYED THE BAGPIPES?

Although we think of the bagpipes as being a Scottish instrument, it was very popular in ancient Italy where the Roman Emperor Nero had one, too, which he played on the bagpipes. The bagpipes was a popular folk and military instrument in Scotland and Ireland.

Whether you wish to sell a good set of bagpipes or any other no longer used musical instruments at your home, reply on a fast-acting Intelligencer Ad to get you sold! Call 962-2171 for information.

Silicone Injections Not Desirable

By Dr. George C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 20 and my figure lacks firmness. I have had a child and several miscarriages, and my breasts are now small and flat. I really hate this as I am used to being "endowed." The skin around my waist and hips is flabby. I am not fat, just not firm.

I was wondering about this silicone injection I've heard about for increasing bust size. — K. C.

Forget about "silicone injections." Yes, I know there's been some publicity and a great deal of loose talk.

Last time the subject was mentioned in this colun, seven research centres had permission to experiment with this process. Since then, even these seven have stopped because the U.S. Food and Drug Administration withdrew permission to use silicone for this purpose. Not enough is known about the process to adjudge it safe to use. What is to keep the silicone in position? Will it flow into an unwanted place? What other consequences need to be guarded against?

Such silicone as is being used in the United States for this purpose (if any — I presume some is) is "bootleg" material from other countries, material which never has been rated as satisfactory for even experimental work.

The one type of silicone use that is approved involves a suitably shaped sack which contains the silicone. The sack is firmly anchored to the chest wall. The silicone does not come in direct contact with tissues, and the sack makes the material stay in the shape and position desired.

It is not an inexpensive procedure. The cost will vary depending on circumstances, but roughly speaking a patient must be prepared for a fee of $500 to $1,000.

Therefore, women who hope for an easy, inexpensive way to enlarge the bust are doomed to disappointment, regardless of some of the glowing stories that have been bandied about so freely.

My specific advice to the young woman who asked today's question is that she look for some more prosaic answer. Since she mentions that her waist and hips are flabby, too, my assumption is that she has in recent years gained a good deal of weight and lost it again.

Such gain and loss is not very good for female (or male) figures. Women especially must be on guard against gaining too much during a pregnancy. That may have been Kim C.'s trouble. Some gradual gain in weight, plus plenty of exercise to tone up muscles and keep the new flesh firm, may well be her best answer. She's only 20, and that helps!

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My grandchild, 10 months old, has been visiting with me. A retired pediatrician told me the baby's sclera was blueish which indicated a lack of calcium or maybe anemia. Is this true? The baby has a pediatrician at home, but perhaps they miss things. Still, I don't want to alarm my son unnecessarily. — Mrs. E. F.

The sclera (covering of the white part of the eyeball) does have a bluish cast because the membrane is thinner in infancy. There also is a condition called blue sclera due to heredity.

I would think twice about alarming, no any alarm, as I feel sure that a pediatrician, regularly attending the baby, would spot any nutritional deficiency if it existed.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible to repair a detached retina of long standing? — G. E. M.

Impossible to answer without knowing the particular circumstances. In general, I would say that much of such a defect of "long standing" would be on the doubtful side, however.

Cuban Says Thousand Killed Trying to Reach Guantanamo

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A young Cuban refugee who braved killer dogs and machine-gun fire to reach the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo said Wednesday about 1,000 persons have been killed in the last year trying to cross the fence to freedom.

The 18-year-old youth was one of 87 refugees who dashed into the base Monday morning in what is believed the largest mass escape from the Castro regime.

However, for every two persons who made it across the fence Monday, one stayed behind, he said.

"It was horrible for the ones who didn't make it," said the youth, who wouldn't give his name. "I saw the guards shoot three of the prisoners at close range. They just tumbled over."

Eighty members of the group arrived in Miami Wednesday aboard two U.S. Navy planes.

One of the men said three members of the group were cut down by machine-gun bullets and a woman was torn apart by dogs let loose by Cuban guards who patrol around the naval base.

The man, who also declined to give his name for fear his relatives in Cuba would be harmed, said two guards were felled by escapees' bullets.

Transported to Miami were 46 men, 13 women and 21 children. Seven remained at the naval base.

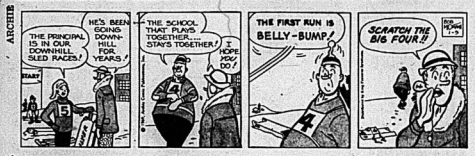
One of the leaders said the escape began early Monday when the group stole a truck in Havana and began a 600-mile westward journey to the base, picking up passengers as they went. By the time they reached the base, more than 120 were crammed into the truck.

"We parked the truck about 600 metres from the base and ran for it," said one of the men. "The men carried the children . . . and a lot of those who didn't make it were women and children."

He estimated about 30 members of the group failed to get across the base's barbed wire fence.

"We ran like rabbits and fell over each other when the guards began firing," said a slim youth. "Then they turned loose about a dozen dogs. I think they were Russian dogs, big, black dogs."

"Most of us were near the base when the shooting started," he said. "Once inside I looked back and saw the guards keep others from entering."



"Shootings there are not unusual," said the 18-year-old. "About 1,000 persons must have lost their lives in the past year trying to get inside."

In Washington, the navy refused to discuss the incident, which is the normal policy.

Hundreds of Cuban workers used to cross daily to jobs on Guantanamo but six years ago the Cuban Army stopped the crossings and cleared a wide swath of brush away from the chain-like fence girding the base.

Cuban machine-gun posts now surround the perimeter.

Jean Dixon's Horoscope

For January 10

Your birthday today: Liquidation, clearing the path for a new way of living is the tendency this coming year. Long-standing responsibilities may dissolve suddenly so unexpected freedom of action is at hand when you are least prepared to make full use of it. Where considerable personal adjustment has been in progress for a while, romantic interests are favored. Today's natives generally are fond of physical action; many are strong-willed, determined to achieve goals adopted early in life.

ARIES (Mar. 20 — Apr. 19): You may be rash in sounding impulsively. Make deals with your associates; do things for your friends. Romantic interests are live and moving.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Get past your modesty a bit and show off your abilities; your skill and know-how. You attract new information, fresh opportunity to apply what you already know.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Your creative interests should keep you jumping in all directions. Stay with your first decisions all day; follow them through. Romantic ideas burn bright now.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Today it is normal for you to attract talkers of jokes, casual visitors, chronic borrowers. Try not to involve anybody else. This is not the time to ask for a raise, although favorable comment could be solicited.

LEO (Jul; 23 — Aug. 22): Try unusual foods, entertain friends and connections, plan travels. Speculative activity is apt to loe all around. Look through your home; consider selling, trading or discarding items.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Close associates for the moment can work well with you on creative projects. Busines negotiations may come to suitable agreements. The evening promise exciting news.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Change in the air — probably good financial news! Your friends have more interesting stories; gather some for a cheerful evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Be an extrovert while pursuing busines opportunities. It can be fun as well as profitable. Your emotional ties are deeper now, increasing as the month wears on.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Your general morale and luck improve. Be sociable, but first be sure your work is complete; a last-minute detail needs checking which makes all the difference. Sentiment is to the fore.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Your career advances with today's progres. Brief travels are productive and potentially profitable. Strive to put together durable agreements. Emotional interests thrive this evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Today a sight-seeing trip, just for the education even if it is in your own home town. The evening brings out the gentler side of your nature.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): A trade or purchase of property is fortunate now. People meet you more than halfway for social enjoyment. Move in today's lively atmosphere.

Prayer Said Answer To Church Renewal

"Man stands at the height of his manhood when praying," said Rev. David Hawkins at the opening service of the Week of Prayer last evening. But, as is so often the case in such week night activities, men made up less than a third of the congregation of 100 people.

The preacher emphasized the fact that Jesus relied on prayer. He prayed earnestly. In Gethsemane, He sweat, as it were, great drops of blood. He prayed confidently, saying to the Father, "I know that Thou hearest me."

Man should not pray as though he were pushing a button for a bellboy. He needs to come before God in resignation saying "Not my will, but Thine be done." His desire must not be to enforce his will on God, but to learn God's will.

Everywhere it is freely acknowledged that the church needs renewal and revival. The way to that renewal is the way of prayer, said Mr. Hawkins.

The service held in the College Hill United Church was conducte l by the minister Rev. Roy Vessey. Roy Stevenson read the Scripture lesson and Mrs. Jean Cornell sang a solo. The church choir was assisted by the choir from Tabernacle United Church.

Tonight, the service will be held in Trinity Lutheran Chuch with Rev. Charles Savage speaking. The final service will be on Thursday night in Victoria Avenue Baptist Church with Lt. Col. W. T. Hawkes of the Salvation Army as the speaker.

Behind The Glass

The biggest event in the curling schedule for the Quinte Curling Club members is coming up on Friday and Saturday. It will be the occasion of the Sportsman's spiel for the Steve Flintoft trophy, who inaugurated the event. On this occasion the club will be barred to the distaff side of the species and the male members will stuff themselves with turkey, roast beef and all the trimmings and topped off with desserts of all kinds plus a feed of hamburg and hot dogs and the committee has promised something extra for Friday night.

Ninety-six curlers have signified their intention of competing with a number of spares on hand to take care of the casualties. There will be three draws on Friday and the same number on Saturday. The Friday draws will start at 5.30 and spaced two hours apart and the draws on Saturday will start at 8.30 a.m. with the last draw at five o'clock. The committee has worked for weeks to prepare a real good time for all participating and there is no doubt this spiel will be as good or better than those that have preceded. Of course a little bridge, some card shuffling and other games will be organized during the spiel and there will be plenty of participants.

The following are the members of the several rinks and the times of draw for each. The skip, vice, second and lead are named in order.

Trudeau, Wilson In Sharp Clash

Canada Backs African Stand

LONDON (CP) — An exchange yesterday between Pierre Elliott Trudeau and Harold Wilson over Rhodesia was reported today to have shown sharp differences.

The Canadian prime minister spoke on the issue during Thursday's debate at the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference.

Informants said that Trudeau in effect argued that Prime Minister Wilson owed the conference an explanation on why Britain had watered down its original pledge that there would be no independence for Rhodesia before African majority rule — Nibmar.

President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia today urged a military invasion of Rhodesia to topple the white regime of Prime Minister Ian Smith.

The African leader argued that a military invasion now would mean less bloodshed in the long run.

Urging the 27 other Commonwealth members to help the African guerrillas operating in Rhodesia, he told the conference they already were receiving support from Communist countries, China in particular.

President Hastings Banda of Mugawi argued earlier that force would not be practical. He was quoted as saying that if his capital was used as a base for military action against Rhodesia it would be destroyed.

Banda was the only speaker of the 21 taking part to explicitly back the British plan for a compromise with Rhodesia.

Other African leaders all said that majority rule for Rhodesia's 4,000,000 Africans must remain a Commonwealth goal.

Commonwealth Secretary - General Arnold Smith of Canada said that while the conference remained cool and moderate in trying to find as much agreement as possible on the Rhodesian issue, "how much agreement can be reached remains to be seen."

After Wilson's talks with Rhodesia leader Ian Smith aboard HMS Fearless last October, the British leader expressed readiness to provide Rhodesia with independence before majority rule. He said he would ask the Commonwealth to be allowed to withdraw his Nibmar pledge if he saw substantial change in the Rhodesian situation.

Trudeau is reported to have maintained that Wilson owes the Commonwealth a more explicit explanation for acceptance of the Fearless proposals. He said he wanted to know how the conference could ever accept these proposals or anything like them when it was already dedicated

PM 'Free Agent'

"Want to make up a foursome tonight?"

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau is a free agent and will take out any girls he pleases, an aide said today.

He was commenting on rumors circulating in Canada that Trudeau has been shocked by public reaction to his first London date—divorcee Eva Rittinghausen—and has agreed to have all his future dates investigated before he takes them out.

"That is a complete misrepresentation," said Victor Chapman, an official on Trudeau's staff.

Bluenose Resumes Cruise to Bermuda

HALIFAX (CP) — The schooner Bluenose II, her sails tattered and her power steering system out of service, was under way for Bermuda today after being battered by an Atlantic storm for three days this week.

"Everything is under control," the owners here reported Thursday night.

The vessel was heading south at 7½ knots after hope was abandoned for a 22-year-old member of her crew, lost overboard when a giant sea crashed across the sleek schooner's deck early Wednesday.

Neil Robitaille, 22, of Yarmouth, N.S., and Craig Harding, 22, of Liverpool, N.S., were washed off the schooner. Harding managed to get back on board but Robitaille was lost when a rescue rope broke just as his mates were reaching to pull him aboard.

Czech Strike Avoided

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's embattled Communist leaders have mastered another political crisis by persuading the country's largest trade union not to strike on the issue of National Assembly President Josef Smrkovsky's political future.

London Daily Mail Reports Israeli Atom Bomb Coming

LONDON (CP) — Speculation continues to grow that Israel is edging towards production of nuclear warheads.

The Daily Mail, in a report from Nicosia, says that despite all denials "the breakthrough has come."

"The atomic plant at Dimona, near Beersheba in the Negev Desert, is probably ready to produce nuclear warheads," writes correspondent Anthony Carthew.

Asked to comment, the British foreign office said it noted there have been many stories that Israel may have the bomb but Britain had no evidence that the little Middle East power was on the point of producing a nuclear warhead.

A foreign office official said, however, that Israel probably has the capability of producing such weapons if it decided to do so. Britain has urged Israel to sign the nuclear non-proliferation pact but so far Israel has refused.

"If the Israeli bomb is a fact, the Americans will be seriously embarrassed," The Daily Mail story says. "They have always accepted Israel's guarantee that she will not be the first nuclear power in the Middle East."

In another item the newspaper says it believes Israel intends ultimately to place her nuclear bomb on a ground-to-ground rocket with sufficient range to bring Cairo and other Arab capitals under threat.

It quoted British intelligence sources as saying Israel will at first produce Hiroshima-type bombs to be carried on her French-built jet bombers.

Cairo Seems Unworried

CAIRO (Reuters) — The authoritative Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said today if Israel produced an atomic bomb the Arab nations "will find the means to rectify the balance."

Al Ahram said that despite reports indicating Israel was in possession of a major part of the technical knowledge enabling it to manufacture the atomic bomb, it has neither the means nor the apparatus to manufacture it.

Israel May Seek Canadian Arms

PARIS (Reuters) — The Israeli embassy here has received no word from Jerusalem that arms missions may be sent to Canada, West Germany and The Netherlands in the face of a French arms embargo, an embassy spokesman said today.

Asked to comment on press reports that Israel may send such missions, the spokesman said: "We in Paris have heard nothing about any such decisions."

The spokesman declined to comment on the likelihood of such a move by Israel following the French clampdown officially announced Tuesday.

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — American diplomats today were reported in continuing contact with Big Power and Middle East governments in efforts to strengthen United Nations mediation between Israel and the Arab states.

Official sources said the outgoing Johnson administration was working flat out in a series of contacts intended to give new prestige and support to the stalemated year-long mission of UN mediator Gunnar Jarring.

Prime Minister Trudeau of Canada, in London for the Commonwealth summit conference, told a news conference that the only way out of the Middle East impasse was for Israel and the Arab states to accept the efforts to the Jarring mission.

Russia was reliably reported to have made new proposals to the United States during the last two weeks. The state department was preparing a reply in order to keep channels of communication open and in hopes that progress could be made soon after the Nixon administration takes over.

State department officials refused comment on reports Russia proposed a package which would provide for some degree of "underwriting" by the four major powers—the U.S., Britain, France and Russia.

Diplomatic informants said the Russians were pressing for concerted influence by the Big Four rather than a four-power conference on the Middle East.

They said the new Russian initiative also envisaged assisting efforts by Jarring to bring the two sides together.

Trudeau Plans To Visit Pope

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau will fly to Rome Thursday to see the Pope and Italian political leaders.

Canadian officials said today Trudeau will make a brief courtesy call on Italian President Giuseppe Saragat and then will have a private audience with the Pope at noon Thursday.

Trudeau is expected to leave Rome Friday morning for Ottawa.

It is understood that the main object of the visit is the audience with the Pope which probably will last about one hour.

The announcement immediately raised speculation that Canada will send an ambassador to the Vatican.

Montreal Police Deny Report Student Bombers Separatists

MONTREAL (CP)—Police have described as "absolutely false" published reports that linked a group of west-end juveniles, arrested in connection with a high school bombing, to a separatist terrorist organization.

Assistant Director Paul-Emile Olivier of Montreal city police said in an interview Thursday that "no statements made by the students indicated they were linked to any terrorist organization."

Reports that they were part of a separatist group were "absolutely false."

Det.-Lt. Casmir Krysack, who headed the investigation, said the four youths carried out the bombings for "kicks" and because they didn't like the principal and a teacher at the school, and "for no other reason."

Two students aged 13 and 15, were arrested at their homes in Notre-Dame-de-Grace Wednesday night.

Tuesday night, two others, aged 13 and 16 were picked up at their homes in the city's west end.

All pleaded guilty in social welfare court to charges of planting bombs, but the presiding judge refused to accept three of the pleas on the grounds that the youths' parents were out of town. They will be brought before the court Jan. 22.

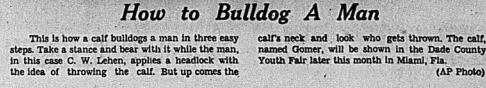
Police said the two students arrested Wednesday night will face additional charges arising from the theft last July of 24 sticks of dynamite and 50 detonators from a construction site at the University of Montreal.

One of the youths is to face an additional charge of planting a bomb under a police car on a west-end parking lot last Nov. 26. The bomb was dismantled before it could explode.

Police, who have been investigating 30 bombs incidents in the Montreal area over the last nine months, said their first break came from the mother of a student attending the school which was the site of last Monday's bomb explosion.

Her son mentioned the name of one of the students alleged to be involved and she immediately notified police.

Israel Blames Lebanon for Attack



TEL AVIV (Reuters) — Israel will charge Lebanon with responsibility for an Athens terrorist attack on an El Al Airliner Dec. 26 in a complaint to the International Civil Aviation Organization, it was confirmed today.

Lebanon previously complained to the organization about an Israeli retaliatory raid on Beirut airport Dec. 28.

Confirming the Israeli complaint, a spokesman for Israel civil aviation authorities said it was not known if both charges would be heard simultaneously. The date for the Lebanese hearing was fixed for Jan. 20, in Montreal.

"Our note to the ICAO council president is now being drafted," an Israeli spokesman said today. It will be submitted early next week. Israel has not received the Lebanese complaint but knows the contents, he added.

Soden, Ellis Head Committees On Parks, Arena, Recreation

Inaugural meetings for the city parks board and for the recreation-arena committee were held yesterday afternoon at city hall.

But with the ever increasing responsibilities there has been a change this year in the make-up of the two boards.

For instance, the two boards no longer have identical membership and also this year separate chairmen for the two bodies have been elected.

Alderman Kenneth Soden, last year's chairman of both the parks board and recreation-arena committee was re-elected as head of the parks body.

But Alderman Richard Ellis was elected chairman of the 1969 recreation arena committee.

Alderman Paul Russell is vice chairman of the parks board and Alderman Arthur Keegan is vice chairman of the recreation-arena committee.

Aldermen Soden, Russell, Keegan and Ellis are council representatives on both boards but other council appointees now sit only on the one board.

The reason for the change, according to Mayor J. Russell Seed, was the ever increasing responsibility.

Besides council members, appointed members for the parks board are J. D. Templeman, W. Phillips and one new member Douglas Burley.

Non-council appointees to the recreation - arena committee are all new members, Mrs. John Guthrie, J. Cox and C. J. (Sonny) Belch.

During the meeting Mayor Seed cleared up what he termed was a "misunderstanding" on the part of some of the general public with respect to the artificial ice pad proposed for the Belleville fairgrounds.

In voting for the ice pad at the fairgrounds, city council had no intention of circumventing the decision of the electorate last December in turning down the fairgrounds arena complex.

Rather, he said the idea of the open air artificial ice pad was to serve the needs of the younger generation.

He hoped the fairgrounds ice pad would be but the first of a series of such rinks in the city.

Arena Question Raised

New members on the city Recreation and Arena committee haven't forgotten the one time proposal to renovate the 40 year old Belleville Arena.

The question was raised yesterday at the inaugural meeting of the committee by Joseph Cox who asked if any consideration was being given to the provision of heat and better seating.

He said he had heard many people say they wouldn't attend functions at the arena.

"They say they don't want to sit on the "dirty boards" or "freeze to death," he said.

Committee chairman Richard Ellis said there were no plans for arena renovation of this magnitude although money was being spent on regular maintenance items.

It was here that complete renovation of the arena including removal of the steel pens, as proposed some years ago, was mentioned.

One member said the plans for this proposal "were around somewhere" but said today's costs of such renovations were of such magnitud; that the proposal was not feasible.

Alderman Russell said the estimated cost of post removal and other renovations at the time of the proposal was $450 000.

"At today's prices the cost would be $720,000 — you might as well build a new arena," he said.

Today, however, the figure given by Alderman Russell was questioned by Ex-Alderman Tice, chairman of the Arena committee at the time an removal renovations were proposed.

Mr. Tice said the estimate at that time for post removal new seats and heating was less than $200,000.

Lady Farmers Are Winners

New Playground Possible

Representatives from the Belleville Kinsmen Club yesterday unveiled proposals for the development of a playground park in connection with their present swimming pool on Dundas Street East.

Club spokesman Donald Isner told members of the Belleville Parks and Recreation committees that the Kinsmen planned the installation of slides, swings, monkey bars and a whirlaway.

The playground equipment would be set up on city owned property on which their kiddies wading pool is now located.

The cost of the playground development is estimated at $8,051 of which $4,200 would be for equipment. The play-ground proposal has still to be approved by the club membership.

However, the service club is asking the parks and recreation committee to provide fencing around the property.

If the city agrees to do this, Mr. Isener said the service club would be prepared to pitch more money into playground equipment.

Attendance at the Kinsmen pool in 1968 was said to have been 27,300 and Mr. Isener estimates that if the playground complex were approved, the attendance this year would jump to between 35,000 and 40,000.

Parks board members voted to give the service club permission to erect playground equipment on the city owned property and also voted to place an item for $2 400 in the year's budget to provide fencing.

It was pointed out, however, that the $2,400 for fencing would have to be approved by city council.

Bell Circulates New Phone Book

The most important book of the year is now being circulated free through the Quinte district.

It's the 1969 Bell Telephone directory which went in the mails this week for commercial and domestic distribution.

The new book of numbers is a jazzier, slightly bigger version of its 1968 predecessor.

The brighter look comes with its slightly - psychedelic covers, a motif based on basic communication symbols. A series of white circles dotting the traditional telephone dial girdles 10 squares — size of the new push-button toning system. (Push buttons, available in the Kingston area won't make an appearance for some time in the Quinte district.)

The directory section has 109 pages compared to 104 last year. The increase is partly due to inclusion of Deseronto subscribers. Up to this year, Deseronto numbers, while in Belleville's dialing area, were available only by calling the information operator.

The Yellow Page section is a mite bigger — 62 pages to 61 in 1968.

As for names, the Smiths are more than keeping up with the Joneses in the Belleville area. They passed them long ago.

The 1968 Bell directory lists 126 Smiths along with a scattering of derivatives — four Smits, one Smyth. There are 59 Joneses.

In fact, the Joneses don't come close to such local Bellevillle names as Reid and Thompson.

This year, Bell lists 79 Thompsons and 91 Reids.

Most alphabetical listings are respectable in size — even Z has 29 entries. Smallest group is under X. There is only one name listed in the entire directory from Bancroft to Picton to Brighton—Xerox.

Train Demolishes Car in Belleville

A Gananoque man and woman can consider themselves lucky today following an early morning collision between their car and a freight train. The vehicle was completely demolished in the accident.

According to a Belleville city police report the mishap occurred about 2.35 this morning at the Dundas Street East railway crossing near the Union Carbide plant.

Owner of the car, John Scott Harding, 22, and a female companion, Frances MacFarland, were driving east on Dundas Street looking for the nearby crossover to the Dundas Street lane that carries traffic west.

The Gananoque persons was Mr. Harding turned down what he thought was the cross-over only to become stuck on the railway tracks. The snow had covered the tracks.

He tried to free the car by rocking it, but failed. Spotting a train coming he ordered Miss MacFarland out of the vehicle. In a few moments he himself had to get out of the car to witness its demolition by the 90-car CPR freight train.

The concussion of the collision carried the $3,000 vehicle 750 feet down the track.

The train was driven by engineer Bernard Farrar of Dundas Street, Trenton. Neither of the Gananoque persons was injured.

Tatham Elected President

W. C. Tatham has been elected president of the Quinte Construction Association for 1969. He was elected at a recent meeting of the association.

Mr. Tatham succeeds L. J. Belanger in the post.

Other officers elected were D. Holmes as first vice president, J. H. Wiggers as second vice-president and O. F. Bradley as secretary.

Directors in the association will be L. J. Belanger, K. H. Carr-Brains, J. D. Coad, J. A. Cox, A. R. Dafoe and W. Dejong.

In accepting the position, Mr. Tatham stressed the importance of a close liaison with the Ontario Federation of Construction Associations, particularly with regard to the Labor Relations Bureau.

He also spoke in favor of the formation of a Bid Depository and expressed the hope that this facility would be introduced by the Quinte Construction Association within the next few months.

Belleville Man Pushes New Project To Provide Workshop for Handicapped

All retirement has accomplished is to divert his energetic enthusiasm to a vitally personal project.

That enthusiasm also is a lifelong accomplishment in ill-will.

In 1908 when he was 11 months old he was stricken with polio. He is still in a wheelchair.

But the confinement has only been a physical challenge to overcome — as yesterday proved.

Mr. Mitchell is now exerting himself in the cause of a sheltered workshop for the handicapped in Belleville.

During the past year he has labored to animate official interest in what he calls Handicaps Unlimited.

And, yesterday, he did just that.

For nearly three hours at the Canada Manpower Centre his idea was examined by almost a score of community and medical spokesmen, federal, provincial and municipal government representatives.

Sum total of the debate was no final realization of the Mitchell project. But there was one reassuring result. The experts decided the venture merited a needs study.

Tom Mitchell had little to say during the session. But he did reveal the brand of stimulus with which the meeting originated.

"I; seems to be a handicapped child is shielded by his parents from the troubles of the world and (later) they're afraid to go out in it."

The Handicaps Unlimited workshop is envisioned as an intermediary zone of development for handicapped people — coming between school and entry in society's work forces.

"When I got out of school I had to fight like mad to go and ask a man for a job. I was so scared I didn't know what to do."

The challenge has been lifelong. In his early years, when polio left him with a limp, he earned his spending money setting up bowling pins in an Oshawa bowling alley.

His parents moved to Rochester, N.Y., where he continued his education going to night school five nights a week. He became editor of the school paper and year book.

On graduation the New York state rehabilitation bureau slipped him in an industrial workshop to keep books and records. The pay was $5 a week.

It was the depression era and his next job was as a typist with a county planning authority. During this time he also married his wife, Goldie.

Then came unemployment and the search for more work — from operating a lunch counter to helping on a chicken farm.

World War 11 found the Mitchells back in Oshawa and after a two-week search — a job as proof reader on the local newspaper.

Finally, came employment as a timekeeper at a nearby flying training school. There were even better developments. A son was born to the Mitchells and they borrowed a home down payment.

Two years later he sold the house and arranged to build another home, doing most of the indoor work himself.

During this period he branched out for himself — successfully getting up a bookkeeping and duplicating service. Just three years later he sold the business for a profit and the Mitchells left Oshawa — their first in 15 years.

Later came a fling at farming and a move to the Quinte district — to Bonarlaw. Originally the Mitchells had planned the farm as a child ren's summer Bible camp. Help failed to show in clearing nearly 150 acres planned for recreation areas.

"I tried to sell nursery stock," recalls Mr. Mitchell.

But cedars and firs sprouted faster than he could clear them and "I proved to be a poor salesman," he recalls.

In 1953 he went to work as an accountant for snack - foods manufacturer W. T. Hawkins at Trenton, moving with the company to Belleville when their plant burned.

In 1957 he became office manager, a job he retained until his recent retirement.

The Handicaps Unlimited plan was conceived nearly a year ago, when Mr. Mitchell was undergoing examination of another problem — the strain on muscles and nerves from years of manipulating crutches.

"A handicap often has an inferiority complex," he explains.

In earlier years, the handicapped are dependent on parental aid.

"Then to turn (them) out on their own to find a job is impossible.

"Physically handicapped people can't hide a bad leg or arm. So when they apply for work the employer makes up his mind not to bother."

Then again, the handicapped employee may become disturbed at the newness of his situation, make mistakes — and lose the job.

"He feels he flunked his chance," says Mr. Mitchell. "He must be prepared before that first job."

His ideal is a workshop where the handicapped person will work in his chosen field, earn some money, and — reinforced with actual job experience — find regular employment.

It should inspire confidence and independence.

"I feel," he stressed to the meeting yesterday, "handicaps can do better than the ordinary person if they want to."

Key people at the discussion were M. F. Schubert, administrative officer of provincial vocational rehabilitation services and Allan MacDonald, local Canada Manpower Official.

Mr. Schubert explained the provincial government workshop) assistance included 25 per cent of capital construction costs and $20 monthly for each person employed.

However, because of current financial cutbacks funds may be limited while allocations for the coming year already have been made.

Frisch Bellstedt, chairman of the Kiwanis sheltered workshop project, stressed the problem of obtaining sufficient work. The Kiwanis workshop is based on secondary contracts from local industry and — together with a workshop for the retarded — now is absorbing about 75 per cent of available work.

The meeting ended on Mr. MacDonald's suggestion that a committee be organized to investigate the needs and work possibilities of such a workshop.

Mr. Mitchell was delegated to co-ordinate the committee.

If the project does not materialize, Mr. Mitchell says he will go ahead and start his own business to employ handicapped people.

"I was able to make my own way," he said determinedly. "I don't say it was a big success, but I'm sure other people can do the same thing."

Man With A Project

Tom Mitchell (here with wife Goldie) has had polio since he was 11 months old. Now, after a lifetime of making his own way, he has hopes of encouraging interest in setting up workshop for handicapped.

Prince Edward Snowstorm Ties Up School Buses

PICTON (Staff) — All schools in Prince Edward County were student shy this morning after a heavy snow fall and drifting winds made roads almost impassable for the third time in two weeks.

A snow storm dropping four to six inches of snow along with easterly winds gusting up to 25 miles per hour created the problem.

According to the department of highways office in Bloomfield, "main roads in the county are passable now if drivers use a little common sense. They are snow - packed and slippery in spots."

At any rate roads in the county were bad enough this morning to prevent school buses, in most cases, from fulfilling their duties.

Roll Call at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute this morning showed only 120 students in attendance. Three buses were able to make it on the snowcovered roads to school.

Ah'ough the high school had its staff present this morning and a few students, the school was officially closed.

There are usually about 1,400 students in attendance at PECI.

In Wellington, principal C. K. Snider of the public school there, said that only the students in the village plus those who came in from the Highway 33 school bus route were present in school today.

With main roads "snow-covered and slippery" it is not hard to imagine what conditions on concession and county roads are in. "Many of them are completely blocked off again," said a highways spokesman in Bloomfield, "and in some cases they are still drifting in."

Township snowplows were out first thing this morning, trying to clear the roads and ease the problem as soon as possible.

"Township roads are pretty well filled," said Corporal Gordon Oliver of the Picton OPP detachment. "It was quite a storm we had last night."

Police reported the roads this morning to be in "a bad to dangerous condition."

'Lack of Funds'

Guild Won't Enter Competition

Belleville Theatre Guild will be unable to enter a production in the three-act Dominion Drama Festival in March.

The decision was made last night at an interim general meeting at the Guild's workshop at Belleville Plaza.

The 50 members in attendance were told that lack of funds would prevent a Guild entry in the annual country-wide competition.

Cost of entering the festival, estimated at over $2,000 would deplete the organization funds for the remainder of the year. With $3,300 in the bank at the present time, the Guild decided to abandon the idea of mounting a festival production.

A local production, without the entry fees and transportation costs necessary for a festival play, costs about $1,200 to $1,700.

The Guild plans three local productions for the remainder of the season.

The first will be a farce, See How They Run, scheduled for mid-February. Another show is planned for the Quinte Arts Festival in April. A third production will be given before June.

Technical director William Butcher issued pleas for people to train for backstage work. The Guild has experienced difficulty in recruiting a large enough force of back - stage workers for its heavy production schedule.

The Guild also plans a program of reading and evaluation of the work of local authors. This will lead eventually into discussion groups for those interested in playwriting.

Housing Project Outlined

Construction of an additional 96 single family row rental houses, and 45 senior citizens apartment units could start in Belleville by early summer according to an Ontario Housing Corporation representative.

Douglas McBride, development officer for OHC. in Belleville yesterday laid out line contract specifications to local builders said that tenders would close on Feb 3.

Purpose of last night's meeting was to interest as many local builders as possible in tendering for the low rental housing.

Three Belleville builders, Maurice H. Bolton, Charles Lambert, and Don Kella- attended the meeting at city hall, while at least three outside contractors are expected to tender on the construction.

Mr. McBride said the single family low rental units could be constructed on properties in different parts of the city, or could be all in the one area.

"It; all depends on the builders' proposals," he said.

Contractors may tender on the construction of any number of the 96 houses to be built.

Trent Authority Meets

TRENTON — If last night's general meeting of the Lower Trent Valley Conservation Authority is any indication, the upcoming inaugural meeting of the group should be nothing short of a fantastic success.

There were 44 persons present, and 25 of these came as merely interested spectators. The remainder were representatives from various participating municipalities.

Chairman Bill Lawson said the Conservation Authority has a budget of $8,600.

Reports were received at last night's meeting, but will not be made public until the inaugural meeting on Feb. 18, which will take place at Brighton.

Mr. Lawson said he was especially pleased with the turnout, as interested onlookers came from the Trenton, Belleville and Brighton areas.

The Conservation Authority, which has been in existence a little over four months, covers an area of over 1,000 square miles.

Marsden Speaks To Club

Michael Marsden, assistant professor of geography at Sir George William University in Montreal, will be guest speaker at the Belleville Canadian Club meeting Monday night in Sir Winston Churchill school.

Mr. Marsden will offer an address entitled "Explorations of the Arctic."

He was born in Newcastle, England and he graduated from Cambridge where he was an exhibitioner at St. Catherines College.

Indian Rights

It is time Ottawa sorted itself out on at least one issue regarding the rights of Indians. And that is, Canada's refusal to adhere to the Jay Treaty of 1794 between the United States and Britain.

The treaty guarantees the Indians the right of free passage between the two countries. At least it does in the United States — but not in Canada.

In another test of the treaty by Indians at the international bridge at Cornwall on Sunday, Indian rights advocate Kahn-Tineta Horn of the Caughnawaga Reserve near Montreal, had some U.S.-purchased groceries seized by the Canadian customs.

A treaty may be nearly 200 years old, but it is still a treaty and Ottawa had better learn to respect this fact. After Sunday's incident, a spokesman for the United States customs said the U.S. has no trouble with Indians bringing goods across the border.

"They are decent people and we have had no arguments. But then again, our laws are more liberal."

Too liberal in some respects with regard to possession of lethal weapons for instance, but then that is another matter. There is a treaty that should permit Indians to bring a bag of groceries, not to mention other legitimate articles, across the border without payment of duty. And the more so since the St. Regis Reserve straddles both sides of the border.

The federal government cannot go on ignoring its obligations with regard to Indian rights indefinitely. If it feels the Jay Treaty is outdated then it should draft legislation that fits the needs of the day, but without weakening the intent or purpose of the original edict.

No End To Inflation

Why inflation? We don't know. Nobody seems to know, not even the economists. Everyone from the Governor of the Bank of Canada warns it should be avoided like the plague, yet no one shows any ability, let alone desire, to halt the trend.

Least interested in ending the spiral would appear to be the federal government. Ottawa correspondent Richard Jackson's latest revelations about the 30 per cent wage increase to the already highly-paid civil servants are indicative of this.

On the local municipal scene things are little better. In Belleville the interim tax levy for residential property this year goes up four mills to 20 mills. The rate for business property is 23 mills.

Education is claiming much of the tax dollar. This is clear from City Treasurer John Grohn's statement that the increased interim tax levy will increase the city's tax flow and enable administration to meet school board monetary requirements more easily.

Meanwhile, in Ameliasburg township the story is the same. The cost of the area's operation is likely to increase this year. One straw in the inflationary wind there is the prospect of an increase in the cost of fire protection.

So it goes, on the economic scene, and nationally as well as at the municipal level. Increased taxes . . . a dollar that is worth less and less with each passing year. Theoretically, it could end with a depression. But who needs that? The tragedy, as we have noted, is that no one in authority seems to know for sure at what point the economy will pass the point of no return.

Motorized Cradle

What next? The Information Service of India, in its latest bulletin from Ottawa, tells of a 13-year-old boy who has invented a cradle that begins to rock as the baby inside starts crying.

The boy is Mitra Das, a 9th standard student of the Central School in Cochin. Young Das fitted in the cradle a microphone which converts the sound waves produced by the baby's crying into electronic impulses. Two valves amplify the impulses and actuate a relay which starts a motor. A connecting rod starts the rocking cradle.

The invention won Das first prize in the electrical gadget section in a regional exhibition. It also won a prize for the best overall exhibit.

What with all the babies in the world the Indian youngster should be on a good thing. We hope he has taken the trouble to patent his invention. Otherwise there may be little financial gain in it for him.

Rotary Volunteer, 71, Boosts Agriculture in Central America

The Rotarian

Ernest E. Tooovsky is 71, an eleven-time grandfather, and the founder-owner of a prosperous florist and nursery business. He could be at home with his family in Edwardsville, Illinois, enjoying the fruits of a lifetime of productive work. What, then, is he doing in Honduras, dibble in hand, setting seedlings in the hot, tropical soil? "Ernie" himself answered last year after a pleasure trip to Honduras: "I saw people there who need to grow more and better crops and I more or less appointed myself to help them do it."

It was the kind of statement those who know Ernie Tooovsky — his fellow Rotarians in Edwardsville, for example —have come to expect. Ernie tackles a problem and prescribes a solution in one breath, illustrating with generous sweeps of his broad, work-toughened hands. They would also agree that if anyone can "help them do it," Ernie can. With 45 years' experience as a businessman and horticulturist, Ernie has a "green thumb" on both hands — he knows how to make green things grow. He is the kind of man, he soon learned, that the Rotary Volunteers Abroad program is seeking to take on useful projects worldwide.

Begun this year, RVA aims to fill requests for help from Rotary Clubs everywhere in the world with qualified Rotarian volunteers who, while guests of the sponsoring Club, will share their business or professional expertise to improve the health, education, or economy of the host locality. Right now six RVA projects in four countries are underway or in planning.

Early this year Ernie Tooovsky became the first Rotary Volunteer Abroad. His project: to establish an experimental agricultural station in La Ceiba, Honduras, and demonstrate that tress and farm crops not now grown in the area can be usefully introduced. His objective: to make possible a more varied and healthful diet for La Ceiba's people and to develop new economic opportunities for local farmers.

The La Ceiba station is 10 acres of jungle land, now partially cleared and so far planted with 40 varieties of crops and trees. Here Ernie receives help from the Rotary Club of La Ceiba, which filled an RVA request for assistance to get the project started and which provides housing and meals during Ernie's visits; the Interact Club of La Ceiba, which turned out 35 boys daily to help with the initial jungle clearing; and the country's National University and Ministry of Public Education. Ernie early told his fellow nurserymen in the U.S.A. about the project, and soon generous donations of materials began to flow into La Ceiba, shipped at no cost to ships of the Standard Fruit Company. Fruit and nut trees (many of them from California and suited for growth in the tropics); chemicals; sprayers; and, thinking ahead to the improvements to the station, Tim cows and a bull from Pennsylvania — all more than $3,000 in goods.

Shakedown Cruise A Flop

Brockville Recorder and Times

There was a startling contrast in the stony-faced crowd of 200 who watched the Queen Elizabeth II limp into Southampton on Thursday and the smiling, cheering thousands who watched it leave on its shakedown cruise 10 days earlier. The 65,000-ton vessel which failed — rather miserably — on its trial run has now been dubbed "the ship of shame" and there are demands for a government investigation into the two-thirds of its $72,000,000 cost was financed by government loans.

Attempts to single out the guilty parties in this humiliating event have pointed up what is wrong with many industries today, in Britain and elsewhere: the lack of co-ordination, the lack of hard deadlines, and the red tape which leaves clouds of confusion on what each party's responsibility actually is. The buck-passing was something to see, the Cunard Line criticizing both workers and management of the shipyard; shipyard workers blaming their union; union bosses blaming local management; and the shipyard, in turn, blaming Cunard. Mr. Eric Dale, secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Woodworkers, charged: "The management is entirely to blame. Earlier this month, they paid off 500 joiners and then, 10 days later, asked us to transfer 100 joiners to the ship from another yard. We were then trying to find work for the 500 who had been paid off and who were familiar with the ship. It just did not make sense.

The production manager of Upper Clyde Shipbuilders, while insisting that the fitting out of public rooms was the responsibility of Cunard and its direct contractors and not the shipyard's, conceded that: "We were trying to do too much too quickly. We should have given ourselves more elbow room."

TODAY IN HISTORY

Jan. 10, 1963 .....

The American freighter Flying Enterprise sank off the coast of England at 4:10 p.m. 17 years ago today—in 1962—minutes after her heroic captain Kurt Carlsen jumped into the sea and was rescued by the tug Turmoil which was trying to tow the ship to safety. Carlsen had refused until the last to abandon ship, remaining aboard for 16 days after it was first battered by a hurricane.

Is It Indecision...or Just 'Thinking Out Loud' Trudeau-style?

Ottawa Journal

There's Trudeau saying after a talk with Wilson that he had no plans for an exit of NATO, yet he coyly observed a while back that our review of foreign policy might well mean getting out of NATO. True, there is no precise contradiction in those statements, but there is a mischievous fetting off of rumors and harmful uneasiness.

Similarly his views on the Commonwealth have seemed to depend on the quality of his breakfast: in the last month he has been in and out and indifferent.

So, too, with his "relaxed" thinking out loud in a year-end message about the uneasiness in the Canadian defence forces. This uneasiness was caused by the very off-hand kind of talk that he was at that moment indulging in.

The Prime Minister in one mood makes sounds of wisdom by saying he will do nothing about anything until he finds out what he should do. Everyone applauds. What day he discards the "review" principle and implies or allows the public to infer that his mind is fully made up for or against and that the eventual "review" will only confirm his wisdom or how it's down to it.

This is all done in that "cool" way of his, conveying that nothing ruffles him, that nothing is disturbing, that everything is being given the quiet treatment of sober common sense.

At first glance it is impressive, but the effect can be harmful to whatever good or even brilliant decisions he will come up with.

Trudeau is not playing it "cool"; he is playing it hot and cold. It rather reminds one of the nursery game in which one youngster ran around the backs of the circle of children saying: "I won't bite you, and I won't bite you and I won't bite you, but I WILL bite you." Everyone was kept in a tizzy.

Prime Minister Trudeau, we think, has the mind and dynamics and attraction to make him a good Prime Minister. But we'd like to see him settle down to the job, so that the country too may settle down.

Siege Of Derry Cannon Lies In Churchyard At Kingston

Anne MacLennan in the Kingston Whig - Standard

The tale of an ancient cannon which can be seen on the grounds of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Kingston began more than 300 years ago in Londonderry, Northern Ireland, a city plagued then and now by religious conflict.

The gun at St. Andrew's was used during the three sieges of Londonderry, the Maiden City, in 1641, 1649 and 1688, according to a report in The Newly Brit. Ch Whig of July 20, 1928, which also stated that "in commercial language, she is worth but so much old iron but as a historical relic, no price could be named adequate to express her value."

That report was published the day after the gun arrived in Kingston aboard the steamship Moravian on her last trip, out from Londonderry. The old cannon had been brought here by William Shannon, the first Provincial Grand Secretary of the Loyal Orange Association of Ontario East, then known as Central Canada, who had come to this country four years earlier.

Named "Queen Bess" by her owner "in honor of that great Protestant Sovereign in whose reign the Plantation of Ulster was undertaken," the cannon was described as a "field piece about six feet in length, 1,000 pounds in weight and is a six-pounder," by the newspaper.

"She lay in the Depot of the Grand Trunk Railway during the day where she was visited by hundreds of anxious and thoughtful spectators," the reporter wrote.

It is believed that this is the only piece of ordnance used during that momentous period in that doomed city that ever was permitted to leave it, and the man must have strong claims upon his fellow countrymen to whom this veritable relic has been forwarded," he concluded.

Once in Canada, "Queen Bess" was never again to relive her warring past. The closest she ever came to the color of those days in the 1800's was when, each year for several years, she was given a special place in Loyal Orange Association parades on the Glorious Twelfth, celebration of the anniversary of William of Orange's victory over James II.

Today, in her 104th year in Canada, "Queen Bess," given to St. Andrew's in 1909, sits proudly and peacefully on a new mounting. Before the year is out her value as a link with history will be officially observed when a plaque is erected by St. Andrew's to mark her long and colorful life.

Russia First With Big Jet

Montreal Gazette

The Soviet Union has scored another first in thenewspace sciences and is justly proud of the accomplishment. It is the first to put a supersonic airline (SST), into the air.

The British - French concorde is a two-nation effort, has it also plagued by difficulties, both technical and financial. The last flights of the first Concorde, assembled in France, were due to begin last February; the second Concorde, assembled in Britain, was to begin tests last October. Neither has been airborne yet.

The United States' SST project, for an airline much larger and faster than either the Concorde or the Tupolev, is still on the drawingboard.

Meanwhile, brilliant citizens' groups in the United States, Britain and France threaten to cancel out the whole idea of commercial supersonic travel before any of the airplanes go into operation.

These groups have made professional studies of the effects the sonic boom would have on populated areas and their protests have already made it obvious that SST's will never be allowed to operate over such areas, automatically cutting their value to the airlines, and the potential market for them in half.

The opposition was joined this week by Dr. John Feeman Loutit, a British radio-biological authority, who stated in the British Medical Journal that the high-flying SST's would subject their passengers to dangerous radiation from sudden solar flares.

The redoubtable Tupolev and Son have shown the world again the excellence of Soviet engineering. In the end, their science, like the British-French effort, be for naught.

The Americans, untypically cautious about the whole idea, may prove the market-wisest of the three by retiring with the smallest losses.

Violence On The Increase

Windsor Star

Such terms as great and just have been coined to describe today's society. Violence, crime and violence increasing at a record-breaking pace, one must conclude that we are living in a sick society.

Canadians can no longer sit back and criticize the United States for allowing violence to become part of day-to-day living. We live in a society that face the facts and the facts can only be described as sickening. Murders, rapes, muggings and beatings are becoming more and more frequent. The slaying of two policemen, one was, the shooting deaths of three policemen in two separate incidents and the rash of armed holdups in Windsor and other centres during recent weeks is proof our society is deteriorating.

To combat the increasing crime rate, steps must be taken to place stricter regulations on the ownership of firearms. Citizen cooperation with the police is also essential or the criminal element will continue to grow.

Vicious and brutal. Those are the words an Ontario Provincial Police Inspector used to describe the ghastly shooting on Highway 44 near Carp. After gunning down two men what kind of a mentality hates us enough to smash a car windshield?

This and many other questions remain unanswered in the apparently senseless shooting. Such horror is difficult to comprehend in an age struggling to come to terms with its own humanity.

The first missionaries who traversed this beautiful valley had in some ways less to fear than we who live here today. Man's march is not all forward.

From our file copy at this time in 1939: "Yesterday afternoon rain fell heavily and towards evening the wind began to blow from the west, steadily increasing until by six o'clock in the evening a violent gale had developed. People with the occasion to be on the streets found it extremely unpleasant. The storm continued all night, and towards morning snow succeeded the rain and fell in vast quantities and was piled high in drifts. It is impossible to estimate the damage done by the storm but it is considerable."

Hahn in goal stopped a number of difficult attacks on his goal. Substitutes W. Holway and Coon replaced players at intervals and played to good advantage.

Mr. Buchanan, the new boys' secretary at the OHA has arrived here to assume duties.

MPs Call for Three Nations To Build New Biafra Airport

LONDON (CP) — Two Canadian members of Parliament left here for Washington today after urging the Commonwealth prime ministers conference to call for an immediate ceasefire in the Nigerian civil war and to initiate a peacemaking commission.

They also called upon the governments of Canada, Britain and the United States to underwrite the cost of a new airstrip in Biafra to receive daylight relief flights.

The parliamentarians, Andrew Brewin, NDP member for Toronto Greenwood, and David MacDonald, Progressive Conservative member for Egmont, P.E.I., are scheduled to meet with U.S. senators and congressmen Saturday, including Senator Edward M. Kennedy. The meeting will discuss the possibility of gaining U.S. government support for the airstrip project.

During their week in London the Canadians have conferred on the same topic with British members of Parliament, including veteran left-winger Lord Brockway, and with various relief agencies and Biafran officials in London. The federal Nigerian government has indicated in principle its willingness that such a strip to be built, the parliamentarians said.

They added they did not know where such a strip would be located in Biafran-held territory.

Brewin and MacDonald, whose trip was made possible by funds raised through church members based in Toronto, plan to urge Canada's participation in such a scheme on their return to Ottawa.

Before leaving for Washington, Brewin and MacDonald told reporters the Commonwealth prime ministers should hold a full discussion of the Nigeria-Biafra conflict—although it has been stated that this "internal" matter will not figure on the formal agenda.

The two men also called upon the Commonwealth leaders to commit themselves to a peaceful solution in Biafra and to "consider their role in peacemaking."

Consideration must be given to the establishment of a Commonwealth truce supervisory commission, said MacDonald.

"The prime ministers should call now for immediate ceasefire discussions and the establishment of a truce commission at the earliest possible date," the P.E.I. member added.

The parliamentarians have not approached Prime Minister Trudeau in London. But they say if the Commonwealth leaders leave London having failed to discuss the Nigerian conflict, "they will have failed the very nature of the Commonwealth itself and called its future very much in question."

Jurors to Be Questioned Behind Closed Doors

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some questioning of prospective jurors in the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial will be conducted behind closed doors, the defence says.

Grant B. Cooper, one of three lawyers defending the 24-year-old Jordanian charged with murdering Senator Robert F. Kennedy, revealed plans for the secret questioning during an inconclusive conference Thursday at the end of the third day of Sirhan's trial. The trial was in recess today. Jury selection is expected to start Monday.

Cooper said Judge Herbert V. Walker wants prospective jurors cross-examined individually in the privacy of his chambers in areas "of a sensitive nature."

Cooper defined as sensitive any questioning about opinions prospective jurors might have on Sirhan's guilt or innocence. "What they may have seen on television or read in the newspaper."

But Cooper said questions about the death penalty would be asked in open court.

Hawkes Special Speaker

The Week of Prayer services, sponsored by the local Ministerial Association, were climaxed Thursday evening by a stirring message from Lieutenant Colonel W. T. Hawkes, Commander of the Mid-Ontario Division of the Salvation Army. He spoke from the words to Israel, "Stay Yourselves and wonder" (Isaiah 29:9).

Mr. Hawkes said that this is referred to as the "Go" generation, but many don't know where they are going. We have an open Bible, but are rapidly moving into an open Sunday.

We have freedom of religion, but are closing churches. We have a living faith, but are raising a faithless generation. There is a strong tendency to drift, against which we were warned in the Scripture lesson from Hebrews, chapter two.

At the Older Boys' Parliament meeting in Trent University, Peterborough, a seventeen-year-old boy challenged the group by saying the church is dead, ineffective and meaningless in ministry, and in some ways, is different to basic needs.

However, God is alive. We must see Jesus (Hebrews 2:9), who suffered death for us and rose again. Then, in spite of all, we have a message for the suffering and frustrated, he said.

The service was conducted in the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church by Rev. A. L. Sutherland, president of the Ministerial Association. The church choir sang, fervently, "Surely Goodness and Mercy." A youth, R. Wright, Jr., read the Scripture lesson.

Hydro Expands

Trudeau and Wilson Clash on Rhodesia

to Britain's original pledge to black Rhodesians.

Wilson is reported to have dismissed Trudeau's line of questioning as hypothetical.

In public statements Trudeau has suggested Rhodesia is not the acid test for the Commonwealth's future and that sometimes second-best solutions must be accepted as more realistic.

And with a day of low-key discussion of the explosive issue behind them, the debate on Thursday night gathered at Wilson's official London residence 10 Downing Street—for a formal reception.

At a press conference Trudeau was questioned about the plight of those Asians with British passports ordered from their homes in Africa.

Trudeau said Canada will study the possibility of speeding up the process of taking some of these Asians as stateless persons and in other special categories.

In the meantime, Canada will be represented on a special Commonwealth committee which is to discuss the general problem of such persons—an issue which, together with Rhodesia, has stirred most controversy at the conference.

Though expressing support for the Nihmar principle in the discussion of Rhodesia, Trudeau also warned against what he called making a fetish of majority rules.

Such rule in the case of many countries has not brought democratic benefits to their minority groups, he said.

He cited Negroes in the United States and Indians in Canada as well as the Asians living in Africa.

"It's clear the Fearless agreement is not acceptable," Trudeau said.

The majority of the African and Asian countries, led by Tanzania, have called on Wilson to abandon the British plan for a settlement offered to Premier Smith last fall aboard the warship Fearless off Gibraltar.

This included terms already rejected by Rhodesia: That disputes on racial discrimination in Rhodesia be referred to the Privy Council; a legislative veto for black Africans; formation of a commission on racial discrimination; speeding up education of black Rhodesians and taking blacks into a broad-based interim government while other provisos were being implemented.

The central objection to the "Fearless plan" was expressed this way by President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania: "Power would be transferred to a minority government"—meaning Smith's regime elected essentially by Rhodesia's 250,000 whites.

Once such a die had been cast, Nyerere argued, the deed could never be undone, for no one in the world would have the right to intervene.

The African leader told Wilson that no new constitution approved by Britain could be put to the test of white and black Rhodesian opinion, while Smith's regime was in the saddle and guns at the ready.

"We are fearful of the Fearless," he added Prime Minister Forbes Burnham of Guyana.

The bearers were Albert Wilkins, William Grant, Stanley Wiggins, Edward Follwell, Robert Miles and Stephen Garvin.

MRS. FULFORD HENDERSON

The funeral for Mrs. Adella May Henderson was held from the John R. Bush Funeral Home on Thursday afternoon.

Rev. Stephen Tilley conducted the service in the chapel and also the committal rites at the Funeral Home before proceeding to Belleville Cemetery for interment.

The bearers were Myles Morton, Donald Bend, Lorne Hunt, S. Kenny, Emile Masse and George Millard.

CPI Evaluates Belleville

TORONTO (CP) — Commercial redevelopment for downtown areas of small eastern Canadian cities is planned by Canadian Pacific Investments Ltd. of Montreal. Michael Griffith of Toronto said Thursday.

Mr. Griffith, area manager for Marathon Realty Corp. Ltd. said CPI property holdings located near railway stations in many communities would be ideal for small shopping centres.

He said Marathon has discussed the moves with civic officials in Galt, Ont., and Brockville, Ont.

CPI's largest plan, a proposed $10,000,000 shopping centre and offices in Sudbury has been shelved because city council refused to grant a zoning bylaw change for the project, but Marathon has the option of appealing the decision to the Ontario Municipal Board.

The Belleville Industrial Commissioner Ray Brown said in the past he had worked with Mr. Griffith in helping to review and appraise CPR holdings in this city.

He said the investment firm were still currently evaluating the possibilities of development in Belleville.

Malaysia Buys Planes

TRENTON — Maj. Gen. Chester Hull, commanding officer of Air Transport Command, is currently in Malaysia negotiating on the transportation of nine Caribou aircraft to be purchased by the Malaysian government.

The deal was confirmed today. The planes will be delivered in July. They are worth $750,000 each.

A spokesman at the Canadian Forces Base here said four Malaysian pilots are currently undergoing an intense seven-week course here at the base to get acquainted with the light-transport Caribou.

The aircraft will be flown to Malaysia by airmen of 424 Squadron here at the base.

The Caribou is designed for takeoff in confined spaces and is described as an "all-round workhorse."

Research Study on Public Attitudes Towards Teachers Is Completed

An extensive research study on public attitudes towards Ontario's elementary and secondary teachers was recently completed for the Federation of Women Teachers' Associations of Ontario. The study, one of the first of its kind commissioned in Canada by a professional teachers' organization, involved 3881 personal interviews with Ontario residents 21 years of age and over.

Completion of the study was announced by L. Dorothy Martin, executive secretary, FWTAO, who said it will be made available to all teacher organizations in Canada, as well as to school board trustees and departments of education in every province.

"We plan to distribute our study to all interested groups associated with the teaching profession because we are anxious that this study make a contribution to the teaching profession across Canada, not to our membership alone," Miss Martin said.

The study revealed that most respondents are satisfied with the quality of teaching in Ontario public schools. Sixty-nine percent feel that the quality of teaching in Ontario is as good as in the United States, but only 40 percent feel it is as good as in the United Kingdom or Europe.

Respondents seemed to be in step with many of the present trends in education with 67 percent feeling that teachers should have more influence on the curriculum, and 59 percent feeling teachers should have greater influence on local school boards.

However, despite the recent attitude against corporal punishment expressed by Ontario's Minister of Education William Davis, 59 percent of the respondents feel that discipline is too lax in Ontario schools. Concern about the lack of discipline is also indicated by those respondents who had recommendations for improvement in the public school system. Almost one third of these stress that more discipline is needed in the public school system.

Miss Martin noted that the respondents have a high opinion of both Ontario's elementary and high school teachers.

"It is encouraging for Ontario teachers to find that 80 percent of the respondents rate their child's last teacher as good to excellent", she said.

The study also revealed that: 71 percent of respondents feel that public school teachers are well qualified for their job; Eighty-two percent feel that public school teachers care about doing a good job; 91 percent feel that most teachers have a good character; 87 percent that most teachers have a lot of ability, and 81 percent that most public school teachers are progressive in their thinking.

Despite the generally favorable opinions expressed in the study, elementary school teaching is still not regarded highly as a career choice. Only four percent of the respondents indicate they would choose elementary school teaching as a career for their sons. Nine percent prefer high school teaching, 15 percent law, and 29 percent medicine. As a daughter's career elementary teaching is selected by 11 percent of respondents, compared to 17 percent choosing high school teaching, and 34 percent nursing.

"The main reason many parents do not consider elementary school teaching a suitable career for their son is because of the relatively low salaries paid to elementary school teachers. This is also true when considering a choice of career for a daughter", Miss Martin said.

"However, with increasing public awareness of the important role of the elementary school teacher, and recognition of the need for reasonable salaries in order to attract the best young people into our profession, this situation is bound to improve", Miss Martin noted.

The extent to which parents rely on teachers to assume responsibility for their child's development is well established by the survey. Sixty-six percent of respondents feel that teachers should share the responsibility with parents for teaching good citizenship to children; 63 percent feel keeping the child interested in school work is a shared responsibility, and 30 percent feel that it is mainly the teacher's responsibility; 58 percent feel teachers should share responsibility for developing the child's character: 54 percent feel that sex education should be a shared responsibility; 71 percent that encouraging an interest in sports should be a shared responsibility, with 15 percent feeling it is mainly the teacher's responsibility; and 65 percent that the teacher should share responsibility for ensuring the child to do home work.

"It is evident from the study that parents are ceasing to think of the elementary teacher solely as instructing pupils in basic skills. Parents are recognizing the broad and heavy responsibility the teacher bears in the young child's development", Miss Martin said.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

UNIONDALE W.I.

The Uniondale W.I. held their initial meeting of 1969 in the Scout-Uniondale Hall recently. President, Mrs. R. Burkitt welcomed everyone by reading a quote for a Happy New Year, by William Packer.

Mrs. George Greer of Trenton, representing the Canadian Cancer Society, was the guest speaker.

She showed three films concerning the types of cancer particular to women. Mrs. Greer then discussed the lodge at Princess Margaret Hospital in Toronto, for cancer patients. She explained that Ottawa and London both have such homes, while Kingston and Hamilton are in the process of building them.

The larger centres have units of the Cancer Society, and smaller centres are members — Trenton for example, is a unit with Frankford and Wooler as members.

She then continued by telling her audience that the Cancer Society uses 75 per cent of its funds for research purposes, and the remaining quarter is used in and around the district collected.

Mrs. Greer answered many questions, and was suitably thanked, and presented with a cheque. Later in the evening, lunch was served, and a social time was enjoyed.

City Churches Join for Week of Prayer

Rev. Charles Savage, minister of Emmanuel Baptist Church, was a speaker at the Week of Prayer service Wednesday evening.

In his message, he emphasized that a state of contentment is possible for the individual, in spite of unfavorable circumstances.

More than 150 people from various churches were present for this service in Lutheran Holy Trinity, conducted by the minister, Rev. Donald Himmelman.

The choir from St. Columba Presbyterian Church sang, after which laymen Stephen Hetherington and Harold Hildebrandt led in prayer. The service was conducted by Rev. J. A. Dunlop of St. Margaret's who read the Scripture.

Designers Choose Foremost Spring Styles

NEW YORK (CP) — With the end of fashion week in sight, there's no question as to what the designers consider the most important spring style. It's the pants outfit.

However, it's a pants style that isn't disastrous for most figures as were the initial pants-suits of last season with their high jackets. This spring the jackets are actually short coats and cover the derriere strategically.

The jumper is the biggest look outside the pants suit, says fashion expert Eleanor Lambert, co-ordinator of the American Designer Showings. Usually the jumper has contrast sleeves or blouse but can be worn sleeveless.

Such an ardent advocate of jumpers is Geoffrey Beene that he built the nucleus of his spring collection around them. Many team up with pants but several are intended as dresses only.

Miss Lambert noted that spring 1969 has three moods. The pants suit is, of course, away out in the lead. It runs the gamut of every facet of living from beach outfits to casual weekends, from street wear and travel to evening elegance.

Then there is the romantic mood. This shows up mostly in late-day clothes. However, there aren't as many ruffles and lace trims as last spring but the softer silhouette and the soft dotsheer fabrics, the return of floating chiffon, all these help to create a romantic approach.

The third look is nudity. Pauline Trigere confines nudity to the waist, to show off a suntan. Bared midriffs added spice to most collections, not only in pants for the beach with a brief bosom-topping but also as hostess pyjamas with tie-on abbreviated blouses.

Then there is the veiled nudity. See-through fabric blouses with nothing underneath. Even a whole see-through jumpsuit of white lace appeared, worn with a nude body stocking.

Nudity also is seen in the return of the plunge neckline, sometimes so open as to be slightly embarrassing.

Rain Pantsuits Popular in New Spring Collections

NEW YORK (AP) — Rain, rain don't go away. There are too many pretty costumes to wear when it showers.

Victor Joris, designing for Cuddlecoat, included several rain pantsuits in his spring collection, previewed Wednesday at the American Designer showings.

Several featured full length coats—in the fit-and-flare silhouette Joris predicted would be the most popular spring look—over full-legged pants with hemline slanted from front to back. One outstanding coat was laced up the back in criss-cross style in leather.

For fair weather, the designer showed similar pantsuits in different fabrics. Highlight of the presentation was a bright red 1940s-style jacket over matching pants. The jacket featured a long rolled collar, fitted waist and single button.

For the woman who's wondering what to wear under all those pantsuits, the lingerie firm of Olga presented several alternatives, among them an extra-long legged girdle for a smooth line from waist to knee.

At the other extreme, there were mini-girdles and mini-slips for mini-skirts and even an all-in-one outfit, that looked kind of like a girl's gym suit except in nylon tricot.

Noting that many women now are wearing night gowns as evening gowns, the commentator introduced a new type of lingerie—called loungerie—and designed to be worn either for sleeping or as a hostess costume. One of the prettiest of this line was a long, blue shirt-waist - style tricot gown, trimmed at the neck with flowered ribbon and ruffle to be worn belted or unbelted.

Women Astronauts 'No': Borman

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — Apollo 8 astronaut Frank Borman gave a cold-shoulder Thursday to aspiring lady astronauts.

"I have never been one who felt it was required for women to go into space," he said. "I don't look to the day when we will have lady astronauts."

Borman, married with two children, was asked about the prospect at a news conference where he reported on the moon-circling flight he commanded two weeks ago.

He now becomes deputy director of flight crew operations for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Borman said women could apply for an astronaut job but he knew of none who was qualified. He said with "long hours and a low rate of pay I don't know why they should want to do it."

He held out some hope for women reporters accompanying a future space trip.

"I don't know when the first reporters will go, but I hope they will wear mini-skirts," he joked.

Close Friend Borrows Clothes Continuously

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A close friend has been borrowing my clothes for the past five years. Mitzi can afford to buy what she needs, but she says my taste is better than hers and when she wants to look exciting she feels more confident in my clothes than her own.

We are exactly the same size, and Mitzi is a very neat girl but I don't care how careful a person is — it's impossible to return a dress or a pair of shoes in exactly the same condition. A seam goes here, a bead comes off there, a knitted skirt snags, a patent heel gets scratched — something is bound to happen.

Mitzi has borrowed everything from my evening bag to my wig. I have never borrowed anything from her.

Last night I went to put on my best cocktail dress and Mitzi had the shoes that match it. My husband was furious. He gave me orders never to lend her anything again. How can I say no without losing her friendship? I can't tell her my husband has given me orders, can I? What excuse can I give? — BIG HEARTED BERT.

DEAR BERT: You don't need an excuse. Just tell Mitzi you've decided not to lend your clothes anymore. Leave your husband out of it. Offer to shop with her occasionally when she hikes your taste. If your refusal to lend her your clothes terminates the friendship, you haven't lost much.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in the letter from the woman who insists that alcoholism "runs in families" and is therefore an inherited illness. She went on to say all her husband's brothers are drunks. I'm from a large family who doesn't touch the stuff in his sister. Then she added, "Charlotte is a religious nut. A couple of drinks might improve her personality a lot."

What this world needs is fewer, boozers and more religious nuts. I am sick to death of being with bright people who proceed to pickle their brains in alcohol the minute the sun goes down. It's a sad sight to witness a charming woman who suddenly talks gibberish, laughs too loud and makes a complete fool of herself. I've seen too many brilliant men become repetitious, belligerent and vulgar after three drinks. It's sickening.

The pity of it is that these people imagine liquor improves their personality when nothing could be further from the truth. At the risk of being called a Blue Nose for the millionth time, will you say it again? I can't put words together the way you can. — STAR WITNESS.

DEAR STAR: Thanks for your testimony. There's nothing wrong with the way you put words together, dear. You spoke the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

A Hearty And Robust Bean And Bacon Soup

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: In a menu you have homemade bean soup which sounds wonderful for this wet, snowy time of year. Do you have a recipe for a hearty, robust bean soup? — Mrs. Len M.

ANSWER: Here are two of the heartiest you have ever tasted.

FRIDAY

Dinner Menu

Lamb Stew with Dumplings; Cheese-Stuffed Celery; Chocolate Cornstarch Pudding; Tea.

BEAN AND BACON SOUP
(Serves 8 to 10)

One pound dried white navy beans
10 cups cold water
½ to ½ lb. end smoked side bacon
1 med. onion
2 slices lemon
1 bay leaf
½ tsp. salt
2 chicken Ono cubes

Wash the beans under running water in a fine sieve. Soak them in soup kettle overnight in the cold water in a cool place. In the morning drain and cook. Then put through grinder the smoked bacon end, onion and lemon slices and add to soup pot. Also add the bay leaf, salt and chicken Ono cubes, cover and simmer 3 to 3½ hrs.

NOTE: If wanted to puree this soup, I cooled it down to room temperature which thickened it a little. I beat it in the beater bowl on "slow" to break up most of the beans. (It could have been strained, but I wanted to retain the little bits of bacon.)

SENATE BEAN SOUP

1 lb. white navy beans
10 cups cold water
1 med. onion, chopped
6 oz. raw smoked ham chopped or 1½ lbs. smoked ham hock (see below)
1¼ tsps. salt
½ tsp. Accent
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ tsp. garlic salt
2 tsps. sugar

Wash the beans and soak overnight or all morning in the cold water. Add the onion and the chopped ham or smoked ham hock and bring to boil, then simmer covered, 4 hrs. Add all remaining ingredients and simmer half hour longer. Taste to see if this soup has enough salt for you; if not add some.

NOTES: 1) Two or three readers told me they had difficulty buying smoked ham hocks. I did too. I had to settle for sliced smoked ham. If you can order and buy smoked ham hocks in your vicinity they would be more economical and would have to be removed from the soup when they are tender, bone discarded and meat cut up and returned to soup. 2) If you have a leftover ham bone from a roast smoked ham leave some meat on it and use it instead of the smoked ham or ham hocks listed in the recipe. 3) In one version of Senate Bean Soup recipe, one large potato, chopped, was added. 4) In another, I cup diced celery and 2 minced garlic cloves were included.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Jim: "I'm not supposed to use my sled in the street."

Joe: "Oh come on, what can hurt it? We can watch out for the cars and they'll stop when they see us."

Father: "You must never under any circumstances coast in the street. It's almost impossible for a driver to see a moving sled in time to stop. Pull your sled over to the hill in the park."

Explain and emphasize the dangers of sledding in the street and strictly enforce safety rules so your child will not be one of the thousands killed in sledding accidents each year.

Reader Reads Between The Lines

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: I can't for the life of me understand how in the world a trained person like you would not have an ounce of compassion for a person with a problem.

It's just plain clear to see that Disinterested in Sex feels the way she does for a reason good reason. Maybe she is not married to a "reasonable" man but, to a cold unfeeling boor, who only uses her just like a tool for his sexual exercise. Would "Not A Sex Maniac," be "nice, warm and sexy" to such a man? Not every woman can just up and leave a despised and tormenting husband.

If a man is after a meaningful love relationship he treats his wife with tenderness and humanity, and sex follows naturally without any demand or force.

Just as it's a wonderful life when you are happily married to the right person, it is a hell on earth when you are tied up to the wrong partner, and may be unable to escape lifelong misery. — Your Constant Reader

Dear Constant: Score for you — and thanks for pointing it out. Doubtless there was a cause for the bitterness behind DIS' tirade.

My protest was against the way she generalized about men. I simply couldn't accept her cynical attitude without comment.

* * *

Dear Doris: What vocation could one choose that requires you to dress very sophisticated, be in a city or travel from city to city, and have to do with society? — Small Town Girl

Dear Girl: Might as well ask for the whole carload of watermelons. Dress, travel, city life, society!

I'd guess that just about any career girl who has risen to executive status would experience these things. Trouble is, you don't start at the top.

Girls, who enjoy travel often enjoy air hostessing — if they have the poise and discipline that goes with it. The dress-conscious may succeed at modelling, if Ditto.

Doris Clark

Just which Society, or whose would you prefer?

* * *

Dear Doris: My problem is a moustache. I am a girl 18, and I keep the hairs bleached as much as possible, but it still shows.

I get teased about it. One boy even told me to go home and shave. Others tell me I should never shave. I cry over it.

My mother says it is only normal, since my hair is exceptionally thick. But I hate it. What do you say, Doris? — Mortified

Dear Mortified: Either:

(1) Remove with tweezers (if growth is light)

(2) Use a depilatory.

(3) Use a wax hair remover, which acts like a large scale tweezer. Hurts, but not as much as those cutting remarks.

(4) Shave (done more often than you think).

(5) Have the hairs permanently removed by electrolysis.

Most people have some down on their face; but in this day and age no one should put up with an out-and-out moustache. Removing it should be a regular part of beauty routine.

New Strikes Cripple Italy, Challenging Rumor's Government

ROME (CP) — A new wave of strikes crippled Italy today as unions called tens of thousands off their jobs and the army moved in to transport thousands of Romans to work in the Eternal City which was hit by a public transport strike, the second in 18 days.

From Venice to Bari, workers walked off their jobs in textile mills, metalworking shops and other industries over a variety of issues, mostly wages.

The new wave of strikes came just a day after lawyers and judges demanding a major revamping of the country's creaky court system staged a new riot outside Rome's Palace of Justice.

The widespread labor unrest, coupled with continued student demonstrations and occupations, posed a serious challenge to the newly seated centre-left government of Premier Mariano Rumor.

The Rumor government, formed Dec. 12 and certified by confidence votes in both houses of Parliament just before Christmas, has pledged to push for full employment across the land, better conditions for workers and reforms for universities and high schools.

Workers shivered in near-freezing temperatures as they were ferried into Rome by open-top military vehicles. Thousands of others trudged to work.

Unions sponsoring the 24-hour transport strike sought higher pay for their members.

But other labor strikes which the Communists claimed hit 17 Italian cities today were aimed primarily at eliminating the "salary zone" system in Italy. Under this system workers in mid-Italy and farther south earn less an hour doing the same work as laborers in the more prosperous north.

'Better Days Ahead' Says Mayor Sharpe

DESERONTO — Optimism was the keynote of Mayor James W. Sharpe's inaugural address to his council Monday evening. He envisages Deseronto as having aroused itself from its lethargy and as now being the scene of much preparation for the "better days which lie ahead."

"We are on the threshold of a progressive and successful year," he stated, "with an ambitious and an enthusiastic council to bring that success with harmony and co-operation we can make this the best year in the history of our town," he emphasized.

"There are a few loose ends to tie up," the mayor warned. "One of the most urgent matters is to set up the sewer rater, and our auditors are now working on this."

As part of this preparation for a new day, the mayor proposed to set up a new committee whose chief duties would be to clean up unsightly areas in the town. The new Parks and Civic Improvement Committee will take the place of the former Welfare Committee, which has now gone out of existence since welfare has become a county responsibility.

The new committee will also lighten the load of the streets committee, whose hands have been so full with keeping up the streets that such matters as grass cutting and weed eradication have often had to be postponed. The new committee will now be responsible for this work, and such work as tree-cutting or tree-trimming. The large burned-out building on the north side of Main St., near Centennial Park has long been an eyesore. Now the new committee can take up the task, the mayor said. "With all these extras off their hands the streets committee can really do a good job on our streets," he pointed out.

Turning to the industrial and publicity committee, Mayor Sharpe noted that in the past it had been comparatively inactive, and for a good reason. This committee has had very little to offer. However, he noted, this has changed within the last year. Any prospective resident or industry asks four questions when investigating the possibility of settling in any town.

"Have you good schools?" he will ask. "Have you a good sewer system? Is the town water adequate and pure? Is there sufficient good housing?"

A year ago the answer to all four questions would have been in the negative. Not so today. The quarter million dollar addition to the school is an accomplished fact, making it one of the most modern in the county. Most of the formalities have been cleared away, and Deseronto is assured of a good sewer system and disposal plant, and of its own water system and purification plant.

As for whether the town has adequate housing or not, the answer must still be in the negative. It is virtually impossible to rent or buy a good home in Deseronto, and it is here that the industrial and publicity committee must concentrate its efforts, Mayor Sharpe believes. New streets must be opened up. Building lots must be made available. Shacks unfit for human habitation must be torn down and the property cleaned up. Building must be encouraged. The mayor urged his committee to concentrate on housing first, and on enticing industry afterwards. "Let us get ready for industry, and then go after it," he advised.

Committees Appointed At Council Meeting

DESERONTO — At its inaugural meeting Monday evening Deseronto Council made decisions on several matters of business, and appointed committees which are under its jurisdiction.

Signing of the contract with the Lightfoot Construction Company of Belleville was authorized. This firm will erect the concrete base for the water storage tank. The engineers were on the site the following morning, and what work can be done in winter will be done.

A letter from the town's engineers, Hisey and Barrington of Toronto, brought council up-to-date on plans for the new water system. The firm's engineers had met with the OWRC the letter stated, to consider plans made up to this point, and to talk over further plans. The suggestion was made that administration of both waterworks and sewer system be housed under one roof. The water purification plant and the sewage disposal plant must be at least a mile apart. The intake pipe will probably be in the vicinity of Forester's Island.

An offer to buy the former high school building for $5,000 was not accepted. The plan was to turn the building into apartments, but the work was not to go ahead until water and sewer systems are completed.

Since approximately 50 Deseronto boys are playing with teams in Napanee, Council made a donation of $200 to the Napanee Minor Hockey Association.

Deseronto has had no taxi service of its own for some time, and so Council did not hesitate to grant a taxi licence to Wayne Herman.

Gerald Lott, former mayor, was re-appointed to the Napanee Region Conservation Authority.

Members of the library board for 1969 are: Mrs. Barbara Armitage, Mrs. Florence Smamlin and Peter Morris, all re-appointed and Miss Beatrice Risen, a new member.

Appointed to the Cemetery Board for two years were: Mrs. Blanche Defoe and Hubert Howard. Peter Morris and Gerald Lott will serve one more year on this committee.

There are two new faces in the Deseronto Council Chamber this year, John (Jack) Layfield and George Lyons, both successful businessmen. They will serve for two years, Mrs. Dorothy McCullough was re-elected for a second two - year term.

Mayor J. W. Sharpe, Reeve Donald Armitage and Councillors Clayton Brooks, Eddie Gordanier and William Saunders will be in office for another year. The reeve was a flu victim and was absent from the meeting.

Committees for 1969 were set up. In each case, the first - named is the chairman of that committee. These are as follows: finance: Reeve Donald Armitage and Councillors, Mrs. Dorothy McCullough and William Saunders; property: Councillors, Mrs. McCullough, Eddie Gordanier and Clayton Brooks; fire and police: Councillors, Gordanier, Brooks and Layfield; streets: Councillors, Brooks, Gordanier and Layfield; by-laws and printing: Councillors, Lyons, McCullough and Saunders; industry and publicity: Councillors, Layfield, Lyons and Armitage; parks and civic improvement: Councillors, Saunders and Lyons and Reeve Armitage.

The recreation committee for 1969 consists of: Earle Murphy, Wayne Brant, Darrell Weaver, Mrs. Kay Hood, Mrs. Jean Griffiths, and Councillors Jack Layfield and Clayton Brooks.

Serving on the parks committee for this year are: Bert Lloyd, Donald Kimmett, Ralph Lawlor, Mrs. Kay Hood, Mrs. Jean Griffiths, William Higgins, and Ernie Davey; Councillors Jack Layfield and Clayton Brooks; Mayor James W. Sharpe; and Clarence Wagar, foreman of the Streets Department.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, JANUARY 10, 1969

by Maurice Switzer
Sports Editor

After he's had a couple of belts, nobody in their right mind would insult Bill Vance.

The instructor at Belleville's new Tsuruoka Karate School, already a brown-belt judo practitioner, joined an elite group this past week when he was awarded his black belt in karate.

Until recently an air force corporal stationed at CFB Trenton, Vance's qualifications make him a rarity in a community the size of Belleville.

Vance is not one of those who jumped on the Karate bandwagon because he wanted the short route to spectacular, sideshow stunts like breaking boards with bare hands — although he can do that too.

"A great deal of mental and physical concentration is required which, if achieved, can promote excellent discipline in the body," he once told me.

That discipline is particularly called for when beginners have advanced to the sparring stage, where they must strictly go through the motions without allowing any of the potentially lethal foot or hand thrusts to land on a sparring partner.

One slip, and it could be "sayonara."

Like judo and its other sister Oriental practices, karate involves the scientific practice of unarmed self-defence.

The difference would be evident the instant a karate expert hit you. Karate is like a gun — you shouldn't use either unless you're playing for keeps.

In the eyes of law, the analogy holds up — attacking someone with karate is tantamount to assault with a deadly weapon. (For this reason, professional boxers are treading dangerous waters if they get involved in any extracurricular brawling.)

Move Imminent

Oakland Franchise Shuffled to Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Four years of frustration appeared ended Thursday when a group of Buffalo sportsmen announced the purchase of Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League.

The exact purchase price was not disclosed, but a spokesman for Niagara Frontier Hockey Inc. said the sum was "well in excess of $2,000,000."

The figure was a reference to the amount paid by each of the owners of the six expansion teams when the NHL expanded last season. Buffalo bid for a franchise then, but was turned down.

Seymour Knox III, Buffalo millionaire president of the Niagara group, said his company had submitted a transfer application to the NHL that would be taken up at the league's next meeting Jan. 21 in Montreal.

If the transfer is approved, the Buffalo group expects to have the move completed in time for the 1969-70 season.

Thus the Seals, who are currently in second place in the Western Division, would become the first of the expansion teams to change cities.

"The Oakland area has been sour for hockey," said Robert E. Swados, an attorney for Knox and a member of the Buffalo group.

"The Buffalo area has been one of the best in the country," he said.

Knox said that he was "really excited at this second chance to bring major league hockey to Buffalo."

"There are hundreds and thousands of fans on the Niagara Frontier who, at the present time, cannot see major league hockey action, and I'm sure that this development will be great news to them," he said.

He said the seating capacity of the city's Memorial Auditorium would have to be increased beyond its present 9,800.

An enlargement to 16,000 had been planned in 1965 and was approved by Mayor Frank Sedita and city council, Knox said. He added that he expected the two to approve the plan again.

Two Oakland officials, reached at Montreal where the Seals played Thursday night, expressed surprise at the announced sale.

Bill Torrey, Seals' executive vice-president, and Frank Selke, general manager, both said they had no knowledge of the transaction.

The Buffalo group must pay indemnification to the American Hockey League, in which the city now has a team. The AHL received $450,000 when Pittsburgh left to join the NHL.

Nine of the 12 NHL teams must give their approval before the Seals can be moved to Buffalo from Oakland. The Knox group claims to have the necessary votes.

Knox also said some key personnel in the Oakland front office would come to Buffalo with the team.

The announced sale comes as a disappointment to fans in Vancouver because that city has been intrigued in obtaining the Oakland franchise since last summer. Vancouver, however, has been guaranteed a franchise in the next NHL expansion.

Kings Relieved To At Least Score

By SCOTT BUTTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Peter Stemkowski of Detroit Red Wings outscored the entire Los Angeles team Thursday night, but Kings' coach Red Kelly still must have been satisfied.

The Red Wings, led by Stemkowski's three goals, blasted the Kings 6-2 for their first victory over Los Angeles at Detroit since the National Hockey League expanded last season.

The source of Kelly's satisfaction, however, came from the knowledge that the Kings had finally broken out of an incredible scoring slump. Los Angeles, the lowest scoring team in the NHL, had been shutout three consecutive times before Thursday night.

St. Louis Blues and the Kings played a scoreless tie Jan. 1 and Los Angeles and Oakland fought to another scoreless tie Jan. 5. Then, St. Louis blanked Kelly's team 5-0 last Tuesday night.

Frank Mahovlich, Garry Unger and Bruce MacGregor scored the other Detroit goals.

In other games, Boston Bruins shut out Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2 to stay within three points of the first-place Montreal Canadiens in the Eastern Division, Montreal bombed Oakland Seals 8-4, New York Rangers downed Philadelphia Flyers 3-1 and Pittsburgh Penguins trounced Minnesota North Stars 7-2.

It was the second game this season in which Stemkowski, usually a light scorer, has picked up three goals and it brought his season total to 12.

Mahovlich's goal was his 20th of the campaign and marked the 10th time in his NHL career that the big left winger has scored at least 20 goals. He has 323 regular-season goals during his 13-year career.

A crowd of 9,896 saw Los Angeles outshoot Detroit 34-32, but Roy Edwards, in the Red Wing net, kept the Kings from having a big night offensively.

Two of Stemkowski's goals came within 37 seconds of each other midway through the second period.

Yvan Cournoyer scored two goals for Montreal and narrowly missed a third when he scored against Hodge just after the siren sounded to end the game.

Other Montreal scorers were Henri Richard, Jean Beliveau Dick Duff, Gilles Tremblay, Claude Provost and Jacques Laperriere, Ted Hampson picked up two Oakland goals and Gerry Ehman and Carol Vadnais added one each.

Smith allowed the first five goals before being replaced by Hodge at 1:03 of the second period. Hodge allowed three more goals in the same period.

The Bruins took a 2-0 lead against the Maple Leafs late in the second period, then withstood a two-goal rally by Toronto in the final period.

A crowd of 14,699 at Boston was entertained by a first-period brawl in which Toronto left defenceman Jim Dorey with a major for fighting, a 10-minute misconduct and a game misconduct. Referee John Ashley handed out 59 minutes in penalties for the altercation.

Selling scored on a lazy 90-foot shot late in the second period to give the Rangers' the crucial 2-1 lead. The long shot carromed into the net off the toe of Philadelphia defenceman Joe Watson.

Blake Bolsters Lineup for Latest Coaching Assignment

MONTREAL (CP) — The National Hockey League Thursday announced the names of an additional 14 players picked by Toe Blake of Montreal and Scotty Bowman of St. Louis to bolster their rosters for the 22nd annual NHL all-star game here Jan. 21.

Bowman is coach of St. Louis Blues, who last spring were defeated in the Stanley Cup final series by Montreal Canadiens, at that time coached by Blake, now assistant general manager of the club.

This year's game will depart from the format of previous seasons when the defending Stanley Cup champions took on a team selected from the rosters of the other clubs. This season it will be the East Division all-stars against a similar group from the sophomore West Division.

Bowman added the following seven players to the list of 12 previously selected in a poll of West Division members of the National Hockey League Writers' Association:

Defenceman Doug Harvey and Noel Picard, right winger Jim Roberts and left winger Ab McDonald, all from St. Louis; centre Danny O'Shea of Minnesota North Stars; right winger Ken Schinkel of Pittsburgh Penguins, and goaltender Bernie Parent of Philadelphia Flyers.

Blake's seven additions to the 12 players selected in a similar East Division writers' poll are:

The players already selected by the writers in the West Division are:

The East Division writers picked:

Of the 19 players who will represent the West, eight are from Bowman's Blues, who currently lead their division standings, four from Minnesota, three from Oakland, two from Philadelphia, and one each from Los Angeles and Pittsburgh.

Montreal, Boston and Chicago each has four players on the East Division side, while New York has three and Toronto and Detroit, each has a pair.

Hewitson Served Sport Well

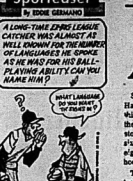
TORONTO (CP) — Bobby Hewitson, 76, former curator of the Sports Hall of Fame and sports editor of The Telegram, died Thursday in hospital after suffering a heart attack.

Hewitson also held posts as a racing official, hockey referee and football executive.

The National Hockey League recognized his contribution as a referee by naming him to its Hall of Fame in 1963. He was only the fifth NHL referee to be so honored.

He also was secretary of the Canadian Rugby Union for 25 years and until 1956 had never missed a Grey Cup. He was absent that year because he was en route to Australia to cover the Olympic Games.

He joined The Telegram in 1913 after working for The Globe. In 1949 he gave up many of his other interests to concentrate on his job as sports editor of the Telegram until his retirement in 1957.



Hewitson served as curator of the Sports Hall of Fame until he left the post last February because of poor health.

Many Canadians remember Hewitson as an original member of the Hot Stove League radio program during intermission of NHL games.

Hewitson also was one of the organizers of the Ontario Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association and was president for one year. He helped organize the association's annual Sports Celebrities Dinner which has raised more than $400,000 for the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

He leaves his wife Edith and a son Glen. Funeral arrangements were not immediately known.

Mo-Hawks Under Gun As Playoff Race Near Wire

STAFF — The Belleville Mo-Hawks are under the gun twice this weekend within 24 hours as they fight to overtake the Kingston Aces in the race for the sixth and last playoff spot in the eight team OHA Senior "A" hockey league.

The seventh-place Mo-Hawks travel to Galt Saturday night for a game against the second place Hornets and return to Belleville for a Sunday afternoon encounter with the fourth place Collingwood Kings.

This is only Belleville's second trip to Galt this season, and the first trip was a happy one for the Mo-Hawks who tripped up the Hornets 3-2 in a defensive battle.

Galt later evened the score by dumping the Mo-Hawks 7-2 in Belleville, and then took a two to one lead in their series by edging the locals 5-4 in overtime here in Belleville just before Christmas.

Mo-Hawk coach Davey Jones said "We could use a couple of wins this weekend, and we've got to start winning our road games in order to make the playoffs." "We've played well defensively against Galt and I'm looking for a win Saturday night," he said.

Several players missed Wednesday night's 11 o'clock practice and Bobby Taylor and Jones himself are saddled with the flu bug. Thus Jones isn't sure of his lineup yet for the weekend games, but he said that they could Collingwood if they played the hockey they're capable of.

Belleville currently trails sixth place Kingston by five points, and the Collingwood Kings play the Aces Saturday night in Kingston before they tangle with the Mo-Hawks Sunday afternoon at the Belleville Arena.

The Mo-Hawks are coming off an 8-0 loss to Kingston, and will be out to avenge their 5-2 loss in Collingwood on December 27. That was the night which the Mo-Hawks had to battle a snowstorm as well as the Kings, and were not quite up to the task.

Morrisons Meet Crushmen In Home Stretch

STAFF — An elusive fourth and last playoff spot is the goal of Belleville Morrisons who Saturday night get a chance to move a step closer when they play host to the second place Oshawa Crushmen in a nine o'clock game at the Belleville Arena.

The Morrisons are currently in the basement of the six team Eastern Ontario Junior "B" league with nine points, and they trail Kingston and Cobourg, who are tied for fourth spot by seven points.

Coach Floyd Crawford said "We've still got a strong chance to make the playoffs, but our work is cut out for us. We've got to win the majority of our ten remaining games and a little help from the schedule wouldn't hurt either."

Coach Crawford is hoping that the top teams in the league will consistently beat the Morrisons' closest rivals, Cobourg and Kingston, to hinder the playoff chances of these two clubs.

Left — tinger defenceman Gord Donaldson is expected to miss tonight's game with a shoulder separation suffered in the second period of last Friday's game in Trenton with the Golden Hawks.

The Morrisons have a shortage of players and are likely to dress a few juvenile all-stars for tonight's game in an effort to gain a valuable two points.

One need only go back to the last Belleville - Oshawa encounter to find a second reason why the Morrisons will be going all out tonight. On that occasion the powerful Crushmen came to town and thrashed the locals by the score of 17-2.

The Morrisons are idle after tonight's game until Monday night when they travel to Cobourg for a crucial contest with the Cougars.

Sports On All Fronts

HELSINKI (CP) — Finland won the second unofficial international hockey tournament with Canada Thursday night by defeating Victoriaville Tigers 3-2 before about 2,000 spectators. The Finns, coached by former Czech star Gustav Bubnik, defeated the Canadians 5-1 in Tampere Wednesday for a 10-3 margin in the two-game series. Clement Boudreau and Jacques Michel scored for the Tigers, current leaders in the Quebec Senior Hockey League and defending Allan Cup champions.

BARLEY WILL CONTINUE TO INCREASE IN '69

HERTA BEST FOR FEED

Because of its stiff, strong straw, plump kernel size and resistance to lodging and shattering, Herta will be considered the best feed barley for this area. Six-rowed Keystone and Chinquin are also becoming increasingly popular as the technology of barley-growing becomes better known.

Success with barley depends upon two major factors: high fertility and earliest possible planting on well-drained land. When all economic factors are considered, barley is a close competitor to even a cash crop and a good deal safer to grow.

IT WENT THATAWAY! — Central Taxi goalie Ken Genereaux slides out of his net to try and thwart a scoring attempt by Stinson's Construction players Rick Denard and Paul Stinson. The Builders went on to win the Quinte hockey league game 3-1.

Aluminum Stars Pace Quinte League

Aluminum Stars whitewashed Belvedere Hotel 5-0 to maintain their four point lead, while Stinson's Construction solidified their hold on second place by defeating Central Taxi 3-1 in Quinte Hockey League play last night.

Ron Post, Billy McQuire, Hugh Pointer, Bob Chappel and Paul Zakos were the marksmen for the league-leading Stars, who have accumulated 14 points in nine games this season.

Stinson's win over the Taximen moved the construction crew four points ahead of Central Taxi and Belvedere Hotel, who are at the bottom of the four team league with six points each.

Paul Stinson, Rick Denard and Bruce Symons scored single goals to lead Stinson to victory. Paul Fleming tallied the lone Central Taxi goal.

Wings Trail Pack

Morysville broke a seven game winless streak last night and won their first game of the Gas House Hockey League season by defeating the second place Mustangs 2-1.

Mulroney's Sunoco continued to dominate the league, remaining undefeated by shellacking the Wings 8-2. Wings fell into the basement of the four team league with the loss, their sixth in eight games.

Marysville's initial victory of the season lifted them out of the cellar and into third place with four points in eight games.

Soccer To Cope With Rowdies

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — A national federation or an organizing club may be held directly responsible for unruly spectators in a European Cup game under new and more severe penal rules of the European Soccer Federation published Thursday.

If dissatisfied crowds start letting off fireworks or throwing bottles on the lawn during a game, the federation's disciplinary commission may decide sanctions against the host club or the national federation, depending on who is the organizer of the match.

Hamilton Makes Move

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The surging Hamilton Red Wings have moved to within striking distance of first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

The fired-up Red Wings chalked up their 10th win in a row Thursday night, whipping Niagara Falls Flyers 4-2 at Hamilton. The win put the Red Wings into a second-place tie with Peterborough Petes, both with 39 points, six behind the league-leading St. Catharines Black Hawks.

The Petes lost a chance to gain ground by losing 6-3 to Montreal Junior Canadiens in the night's only other game. The Junior Canadiens, with 38 points, are right behind the Red Wings and Petes.

Harvey fired two goals and picked up two assists. Climie had a goal and three assists. Gilmour scored once and helped set up two others.

Doug Brindley and Bob Walton scored for the Flyers who outshot a listless first period and 3-1 going into the third.

Rick Thompson of the Flyers received a misconduct in the third period, one of only five penalties issued. Flyers outshot Hamilton 32-18.

In Peterborough, the Petes played with a complete lineup for the first time in a month but they were no match for the high-flying Canadiens.

Rejean Houle scored twice for Montreal. Other Montreal scorers were Robert Guindon, Marc Tardif, Gilbert Perreault and Jean Bordeleau.

With The Trotters

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Driver Gerry Bookmyer picked up his third win Thursday night with Good Time Minnie in the ninth race to set up a $20.20 exactor at Windsor Raceway.

Driving in frigid 10-degree weather, Bookmyer brought his win-total to eight in the last three days, with Grand Champ in the featured fourth race and Bret Johnston in the eighth.

Grand Champ paid $10.50 in winning the $2,300 one-mile pace. Bret Johnston returned $8.20.

Marlyne Bel, a $5.50 winner in the first race and Pride's Tina in the second, combined for a $70.80 daily double. Pride's Tina paid $19.80.

The fifth-race quinella of Fishing Lady and Donna Chief paid $19.80. The quinella of Whirlwind Wick and Big Bart in the seventh returned $39.10.

A crowd of 2,974 wagered $238,336.

TORONTO (CP) — Seaway Ben, a six-year-old gelding, had little difficulty in winning the third race at Greenwood Raceway Thursday night, finishing 6¾ lengths in front of Miss Dean Grattan to pay $26.10.

Bill Carroll, who drove Seaway Ben to victory, picked up his second straight win with Jack's Gift in the sixth race. The six-year-old pacer paid $8.90 and helped set up a $30 exactor.

The daily double of King Direct, a $9.10 winner in the first race and Frank McNab returned $26.40. Frank McNab paid $6.90 in the second.

A total of 5,329 racing fans wagered $368,467.

NERO PLAYED THE BAGPIPES?

Although we think of the bagpipes as being a Scottish instrument, it was very popular in ancient India and the Roman Emperor Nero had one, too. Made of a leather bag and reed pipes, the bagpipes was a popular folk music instrument in Scotland and Ireland.

Whether you wish to sell a good set of bagpipes or any other instrument or just need musical instruments at your home, you need a fast-acting Intelligencer Ad to do it for you! Call 962-9171 for information.
